The Printing Square Fire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Among the occupants of the burned building were the Scientific American office, the Scotch American Journal, the Turf, Field and Farm, and Thompson's Bank Note and Commercial Reporter, the Advertising Agents, S. M. Pettingill & Co., Jno. T. Phillips & Co., Chas. Meyer & Co., J. Walter Thompson, Nicola Monachesi, A. R. Thompson, Levi A. Desrow, and Leander H. Coult.

The top floors of the burned buildings were occupied by various manufacturies and by weekly newspapers, which employed women as compositors. A woman and two men are said to have been seen at the window on Nassau street, and then to disappear in the flames.

The following statement regarding the origin of the fire is by one of the occupants of the building: I was passing down the rear (or the Nassau street) stairs, of 37 Park Row, and when near the foot of the stairs the flames burst up through the new elevator shaft from the basement. Nothing had occurred indicating an explosion up to that moment. The flames rushed up the shaft like a flash of lightning, and almost as quickly up the stairway, in terrible torrents of fire, with dense black smoke, which almost instantly cut off all possibility of egress. Passing back through the building and calling the alarm, I came out on the Park Row side.

The engine rooms adjoins the bottom of the elevator shaft and the fire must have begun there and gained its impetus before any alarm was given. I fear the rapidity with which the flames and smoke filled the narrow stairways cut off escape for many of the occupants of the upper stories. An old gentleman with white hair got out of the fourth story window on the Beekman street side. He stood on the sill for nearly five minutes holding on to the narrow piece with his hands. The flames were approaching him but he saw no chance of escape. The firemen raised a ladder but it only reached to the story below him. The crowd in the street got a tarpaulain and a score of willing hands braved the dangers of falling debris and cinders, and a shout went up plainly plainly heard by the old gentleman to "Jump, jump for your life; we will save you!" but he looked at the 60 feet distance below him, and could not muster up courage to make the attempt. He turned forward facing the street and with his hand behind him stood like a statue braving death. Meantime two brave men got a short ladder, went up the long fire ladder and held it up to him and steadied it while he slowly climbed down. Just as he reached the long ladder the flames burst through the window where he had stood; but he reached the sidewalk in safety amid the cheers of the crowd.

When the flames did break out they raged with extraordinary fury. They leaped from the bottom to the top of the building like a flash and rolled upward in great sheets. Another occupant said: I was in the office this morning when I smelled smoke. I went out into the hall and saw a heavy volume of smoke coming up the hoistway. I went back into the office and said to the two men who were in the office, "The building is on fire and you had better get out as quick as you can," and I grabbed my hat and overcoat and ran out into the hall, and there the flames were rushing up the elevated shaft and also up the well hole in the centre of the building. I ran down the stairway on the Park row side of the building, for the flames were all about the stairs on the Nassau street side, and it was impossible to escape in that way. I am certain I was the last man down stairs, for I turned about as I reached the door and looked up stairs and the whole entrance to the building was apparently in flames.

The two men whom I left in the office were named Still and Brown. The man who gained the roof and escaped by way of the Times building, shouted to his rescuers that other human beings were perishing there. Chas. White, of the Pacific Newspaper Publishing Company, had his office on the fourth floor of the burned building. He said. "You can see I have been pretty close to the flames, as my hair, beard and eye-brows are singed; but I early found that after my escape from the building the fire was not altogether a surprise to me. In fact, an hour or two before it broke out I spoke to the workmen in the building, and told them that something of the sort was about to happen, as there was something wrong with the heating apparatus, although I can't say just what it was. At all events the walls about the closets were so hot there was evidently danger of some kind, as I concluded when I put my hand upon them."

The one who escaped says: The two men Still and Brown whom he left behind him in the burning building, must have perished, and from the screams and cries on the upper floors and hallways he heard as he ran along, he fully believes ten or a dozen women and girls were caught and were unable to escape. Four or five hundred were in the building when the fire began.

Several heroic deeds are noticed. The building destroyed was the Poller building, worth $200,000, and insured for $75,000. The New York Belting and Packing Co. lose $150,000; insured for $100,000. Willy Wallacks, stationery, loss $750,00; insured. The destruction to patents, models, etc., of the Scientific American foot up $100,000.

The sub committee of the House committee of ways and means reported to the full committee the bill known as Kasson bill, providing for a commission of nine Civilians, to be known as tariff commissioners and recommended the bill to be favorably reported to the House as soon as practicable.

A Sad Accident.

BROADWAY DEPOT, Va. Feb.—Three young ladies were drowned while attempting to cross the river in a frail boat.

Search for DeLong.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Secretary of the Navy received the following this morning:

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 31, '82.

To Secretary Hunt, Washington:

Danenhower with nine men awaits orders at Irkutsk.

(Signed) HOFFMAN.

In reply, Secretary Hunt telegraphed for Danenhower and party to return to the United States as soon as practicable, and for Melville and party to continue the search after DeLong and party as long there is the slightest hopes of success.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 31.—The $2,000 worth of silks stolen from Camp Merrill and the Camp at Jackson last Wednesday night have been found lodged in the office of J. M. Welch a lawyer, situated a few feet from where they were taken. A fellow named Thomas who had an office with Welch sold three pieces of silk last Saturday at Albion, which were identified and this set the officers to work and they captured the goods. Thomas has fled; Welch is in jail.

A Terrible Disaster.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—A special from St. Petersburg says: While the fleet of fishing vessels were engaged at the mouth of the Volga, near Astuakahn, a hurricane, which came up very suddenly, broke the ice and destroyed all the boats. Six hundred fishermen perished.

A storm to-day did much damage at Moscow, besides unroofing the new Exhibition building.

Suspects Not to be Released.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Times publishes a letter from Gladstone replying to a correspondent who had urged the release of imprisoned suspects, in which the Prime Minister says; The first duty of the government is to law and order. It cannot consistently release these individuals until they lose their power or renounce this intention of pursuing a course leading to disturbance.

TheUnion Generale.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.— A Paris special says the government is openly charged not only by the public but by several newspapers of this city with favoring the manager of the Union Generale (M. Bentaux schemes) and are in a measure responsible for the losses. It was reported on trustworthy authority that the deficit reaches 96,000,000 franes.

Export of Gold.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The Evening Post says the amount of gold which will be exported from this country as the result of the financial troubles in foreign matters is variously estimated at from $5,000,000 to $20,000,000. There is no profit in exporting to that market, which is equivalent to saying that gold is the cheapest commodity we can ship.

Reduction in Rert.

CORK, Feb. 1—The commissioners under the land act made remarkable reductions in rent yesterday. The rent of a farm on Lord Egmont's property was reduced from £84 to £33, and the rents of several others were reduced 45 per cent.

Sherman's Funding Bill.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—Vest's amendment to Sherman's refunding bill was rejected—32 to 28. Plumb voted for it and all the Republicans, and four Democrats voted against it. This will probably kill the bill.

Miscellaneous.

GALVESTON, Jan. 31.—All the telegraph wires leading out of the city are prostrated at Houston by a fire in the building occupied by P. O. Fox's book and the Western Union Company. No further particulars are obtainable.

Some Whiskey.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The Commissioners of Internal Revenue reports the quantity of spirits in distillery warehouses on January 1st as 73,806,914 taxable gallons, which is about 40,000,000 in excess of last year.

Small Export of Gold.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Post says the amount of gold for Europe to-day is, from present accounts, less than $200,000, more than half of which represents special transactions, the shipper being his own insurer. The smallness of specie shipment and more favorable tenor of foreign advices have, together, improved the tone of the stock and exchange market.

Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—The debt statement shows a reduction in the public debt during January of $12,978,836; cash in Treasury, $246,024,468; gold certificates outstanding, $5,188,120; silver certificates, $68,060,670; certificates of deposit, $1,400,000; refunding certificates, $559,100; legal tenders, $346,681,016; fractional currency, $7,069,493; cash balance available, $1,439,016,635.

The Ladies Heard From.

Hoar presented a petition from the officers of the Woman's Suffrage Association of Missouri protesting against legislation for unconditional disfranchisement of women in Utah and praying for the extirpation of polygamy.

Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Ex-commissioner of patents Marble, now land commissioner of the Northern Pacific Railroad, is here and has been in conference with Congressmen. He is here it is said to watch the Cobb bill, and kindred measures, in relation to the forfeiture of land grants. He said the Northern Pacific Co. was not apprehensive of losing its lands, and that the company and its officers were entirely satisfied with the reference of Cobb's bill to the judiciary committee.

Senator Hill (Colorado) entertained President Arthur at dinner at the Senator's residence last evening. The British minister and a number of Senators and their wives were among the guests.

Paris and London Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—A dispatch from Vienna says the question of the failure of the Union Generale will be brought before the Austrian Reichsrath at an early day, as it is hinted that the minister of finance, who is expected to resign, had something to do with Mr. Bontaux's schemes. At the Paris and petite bourses the stock markets under the influence of the syndicate of bankers, closed steadier, with a slight reaction in prices.

A judicial inquiry has been commenced in the affairs of the Union Generale, and a corps of experts are now engaged in examining accounts.

In the chamber of deputies yesterday M. Andrieux moved that the Government intervene to check the panic.

At the London Stock Exchange, during the afternoon, the stock market being influenced by fears of a decrease in the money market and flatter prices at Paris, became gloomy, but toward the close there was a recovery in prices, on its being announced that the bullion drawn was much smaller than at first anticipated, only £90,000 being taken for France, while orders for the shipment of £2,000,000 had been countermanded. The market closed quiet and firmer.

London Notes.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Times in a leading article says: The mediation in South America such as Freelinghuysen says Commissioner Trescott is to undertake, is treated with no design of private profit for the arbitrators, except that which peace must bring to all. Englishmen must be permitted to regard the attempt with sincere good will, as if he devised it on their own behalf.

No Land League money was invested in the Union Generale.

Russia After the Celestials.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 1.—The government is contemplating annexation of Corea, on the ground of the insecurity of the Russian possessions on the Pacific, and the warlike disposition of China. Japan favors the plan and it is concluded the United States will not interfere in favor of China in consequence of the bad feeling against the Chinese prevalent in California.

Asking for Instructions.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—Secretary Hunt has received the following telegram:

Secretary Hunt, Washington:

Davenhower telegraphs the report of my arrival with nine seamen, sick. DeLong is traced to a definite locality for which Melville and the Russians are searching ardently. If the ship is not found before spring, may I charter a steamer and search the coast and islands between the rivers Olenks and Kolyma? If yes, send two active, line officers to assist. The co-operation by the authorities here is hearty and intelligent.

Greek Meets Greek—Blaine vs. Arthur.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Specials from Washington say the position and views of Blaine in reference to the South American policy of the United States continue to be the subjects of general conversation. The Post's correspondent says the personal contest, for it is personal as well as political, between President Arthur and Blaine grows more and more intensified as each presents his case day by day to the public. The friends of the President say that Blaine is staking his political future on the turn of the tide one way or the other and will resort to every means to protect his interests.

The President is understood to feel very deeply the attempt of Blaine to make him out as a timid and inconsistent man and it is said that Blaine overstepped the bounds, not only of decorum, but almost of subordination and law in his career at the head of the state department. It will be urged that Blaine was actuated not more by patriotic motives and legitimate ambition for the presidency than by the wish to benefit himself and his friends pecuniarily. Blaine does not lose heart at all, and talks about the future with his usual buoyancy and aggressiveness. He claims that if the Stalwarts wish to go into a speculation back of the Peru and Chili imbroglio, he can show men involved in it just as near to Arthur as anybody can be to himself. Politicians are watching the newspapers for the progress of the controversy with the keenest interest.

The Commercial-Advertiser's correspondent says: It is spoken of as a somewhat significant fact that, although some of the members of the present administration sat at the same cabinet table with the late premier, and had opportunities of consulting him every day, they did not know what policy was being pursued in reference to Chili and Peru. None doubt but that the President had every confidence in Mr. Blaine, and trusted him to the fullest extent in all matters of diplomacy, but notwithstanding all this Blaine's purposes were either not fully explained or if so were entirely misunderstood. Blaine was not communicative to his associates in the cabinet, and only saw the President when he thought the importance of the business on hand justified it. His recent pronunciamento is regarded by many leading Republicans as an evidence that he intends to use a free lance and strike the administration when it will benefit him politically to do so.

Mr. Jenkins, the sister of N. P. Willis, died recently in Boston. She was a gentle and genial woman, and possessed much of her brother's cleverness.

M. Gambetta is trying hard to acquire the German language, and to that end has lately surrounded himself with persons almost exclusively acquainted with that tongue.

One afternoon a stranger, observing a stream of people entering a church, approached a man of gloomy aspect, who was standing near the entrance, and asked:

"Is this a funeral?"

"Funeral! No," was the sepulchral answer; "it's a wedding."

"Excuse me," added the stranger, "but I thought from your serious looks, that you might be a hired mourner."

"No," returned the man, with a weary, far-off look in his eyes; "I'm a son-in-law of the bride's mother."

SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and turbid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.
