EDUCATIONAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

[W. L. Hawkins, Editor. All communications should be addressed to him, Pleasant Ridge, Ky.]

Seven presidents have been elected to the second term.

Richmond is about 25 miles south of the latitude of San Francisco.

Vermont was the first State admitted into the Union, March 4, 1791.

There have been thirty-three postmaster Generals in the United States.

Didactics, the art of science of teaching. Pragmatics is the science of business.

If private property is taken for public use, the owner shall have just compensation.

There have been twenty-one vice-presidents of the United States; four of whom became presidents.

See that you set an example of politeness in your school and require your scholars to be polite to you and to each other.

Treason against the United States consists only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies giving them aid and comfort.

Resolve your whole school into a board of critics. Subject yourself to be criticised, and you will find your scholars practicing what you teach.

Compare your methods with those of others, lopping off superfluous haranguing and you will benefit those under you and be yourself improved.

The theory and practice of teaching embraces the whole science of teaching. It trains the mind, develops thought, induces activity and builds up strength and harmony.

The first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States were ratified in 1791. The eleventh, in 1798. The twelfth, in 1804. The thirtenth, in 1865. The fourteenth in 1868 and the fifteenth in 1870.

A reprieve is only a suspension for a time of the execution of a sentence, especially when a criminal has been sentenced to death. A pardon is a full release from the punishment which would otherwise be inflicted.

Each State has as many electors as it has Senators and Representatives in Congress. But no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector.

It is the duty of the secretary to record every motion that is brought to a vote. Even though the motion is lost by a negative vote, it should be recorded. A motion that is not voted upon need not be so recorded.

A cistern has three pipes, the first will empty it in 9 hours, the other two are equal to each other in size; if all three are left open, the cistern will be filled in 6 hours; how long would it take the second or third alone to fill it?

The teacher should not adhere to any fixed form in conducting a recitation. Let them so examine a class as to be satisfied of their knowing what is in the book, and that they actually understand what is meant to be taught, be the lesson.

Appoint every morning a housekeeper for the day, whose duty it shall be to see that the room is not unnecessarily littered, that water is kept and fires renewed as often as necessary. We don't mean that the housekeeper is to do these things only to see that they are done. Require prompt obedience to his directions.

G. B. L.—Your solution is correct, and we congratulate you upon your lucid way of explaining your work. If you are as careful and plain in your education before your classes as in your communication to us, you are sure to make a successful instructor. Would that more of the teachers would do as you have done.

The difference between copulative and disjunctive conjunctions, is that the copulative joins both the words and the objects, as,—take an apple and a peach; while the disjunctive joins the words and not the objects, as,—take an apple or a peach. Here the word apple and peach are joined, but the objects are disjoined.

We think it a good plan for a scholar to make a blank book and write down in it every example that he works, and put under it the work in full. Let it all be done neatly and let the writing and figuring be in a fair open hand. Don't jumble the figures, but let them be plain and at the right place. Then you have a key in your own hand writing, and of your own make. Some make use of the signs plus, minus and sign of equality, but we think that it would be better to do them as you do on your slates.

Well, another year has gone. How many of us are any better at the beginning of the last! Do you remember the promises and pledges you made that as the year advanced you, too, would make advances in all that could make life pleasant and profitable to your fellow man? Did you so advance? Have you kept those pledges, or have you let them slip through and fall to the ground and be forgotten? Well, what are you going to do about it? Will you renew your vows and forget them again? No don't do that. Let me tell you a better way. Don't wait to make your vows before you commence to do good, but go to work and do as opportunity presents itself, all the good you can, and we would not give a snap of the finger for all the vows that man can make.

Cromwell Teachers' Association.

The teachers of Cromwell Magisterial District met at Prentis, Jan. 11, 1890, at 1 P. M., and was called to order by E. K. Shults.

The president being absent E. K. Shults was elected president and Miss Ara Patterson secretary.

In the discussion of The Qualification of the Teacher, J. D. Hocker said that as he taught either for weal or woe he must be a pure lady or gentleman, and be fully imbued with the spirit of the cause.

On the subject of Our Ideals E. K Shults said that our ideals should be of a very pure type, and should be far in the future, so that we shall have a great incentive to action. That we are all copying machines; so that the nearer perfect our ideal is, the grander and nobler will be our deeds in striving to reach our type of human perfections.

The subject of spelling matches was ably discussed by E. P. Taylor and John Taylor.

A. W. Taylor entertained the audience for sometime upon the two ways of life. He spoke advisingly to the young people, and warned them of the many ways in which they could be led astray.

Teachers' Associations was ably discussed by G. P Scott, John Taylor J. D. Hocker, and G. P. Scott read an excellent original poem, which was much appreciated.

After a few words of encouragement from the chair the body was adjourned to meet at Sulphur Springs in one month. A dinner will be spread upon the ground and a grand time is anticipated. Teachers, come out and assist in a grand cause; arouse from your lethargy, and do your duty toward a great and grand cause.

Below is a programme of the Association, which meets at Sulphur Springs, Feb. 8, at 9 A. M.

A Boy's Composition About "Clumbus."

[London Standard.]

"Clumbus was a man who could make an egg stand on end without breaking it. The King of Spain said to Clumbus: 'Can you discover America?' 'Yes,' said Columbus, 'if you will give me a ship.' So he got a ship and sailed over the sea in the direction where he thought America ought to be found. The sailors quarrelled, and said they believed there was no such place. But after many days the pilot came to him and said, 'Clumbus, I see land.' 'Then that is America,' said Clumbus. When the ship got near, the land was full of black men. Clumbus said, 'Is this America?' 'Yes, it is,' said they. Then the chief said, 'I suppose you are Clumbus?' 'You are right,' he said. Then the chief turned to his men, and said: 'There is no help for it; we are discovered at last.'"

The world-wide reputation of Ayer's Hair Vigor, is due to its healthy action on the hair and scalp. This incomparable preparation restores the original color to gray and faded hair, and imparts the gloss and freshness so much desired by all classes of people.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for February, 1890.

"Brazil and the Braganzas," written by the Hon. George Makepeace Towle, and superbly illustrated with portraits, views and autograph fac-similes, leads off the February (Midwinter) number of FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY with admirable timeliness. It is the first complete and illustrated magazine paper on the subject that has appeared since the revolution of November 14th. An article on the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum at Washington is full of interesting information which ever American ought to possess. The biographical papers are a sketch of Louisa M. Alcott's noble and fruitful life, and a delightful account of the boyhood of the poet Schiller. "The Land of the Lute," written and illustrated by Herbert Pierson, gives an artist's reminiscences of a sojourn in fair Provence, the home of the Troubadours, the ancient Rome of Gaul, and the birthplace of the redoubtable Tartarin of Tarascon. A. L. Rawson contributes a racy Oriental paper, illustrated with his own sketches, and Prof. L. B. Fletcher gives an entertaining and instructive "Talk about Photography." There are novelties by Lucy Hooper, W. H. Siviter, Etta W. Pierce and others; poems by Doughlas Sladen, Carlotta Perry and the ex-Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil; together with the usual departments, all full and versed.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, with its varied and excellent contents, is a library in itself.
It was indeed a happy thought to print an entire novel in each number.
Not a short novelette, but a long story such as you are used to get in book form and pay from one dollar to one dollar and a half for.
Not only that, but with each number you get an abundance of other contributions, which gives you a good magazine besides the novel.
The ringing blows which have been struck on the gateway of popular favor, have resounded throughout the entire land, and to-day Lippincott's Magazine stands in the front rank of monthly publications, and is the most widely-read-and-talked of publication of its kind in the world. For full descriptive circulars, address LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, Philadelphia

Rheumatism,
BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—
"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatism, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 116 West 129th st., New York.
"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

FOR SOUTHERN READERS.

The Great Book of the Age.

OLIVER DYER'S "Great Senators of the United States Forty Years Ago," is now universally conceded to be the most interesting and valuable book of this generation. The Florida Times-Union says:

"Mr. Dyer's 'GREAT SENATORS' is a book which will be read with intense satisfaction throughout the South. It embodies evidence of the most positive and conclusive nature on the superlative excellence of character exhibited by the two men whom the South most delights to honor—JOHN C. CALHOUN and JEFFERSON DAVIS."

Hundreds upon hundreds of the leading newspapers and periodicals of the United States concur in pronouncing Mr. Dyer's delineations of

JEFFERSON DAVIS,
GENERAL HOUSTON,
CALHOUN, CLAY,
BENTON, WEBSTER,

and other distinguished statesmen to be the most accurate and life like pen-pictures ever put on paper. And the sketches of these great men are written in such a graphic, vivid and picturesque style, that "GREAT SENATORS" is more fascinating than any romance. In short, "GREAT SENATORS" is in all respects
