PUBLIC SALE

OF THE

WASHINGTON & OHIO R. R.

Under authority of a decree of the Circuit Court of Richmond city, rendered April 22, 1881, in the suit of Henry Lewis et als., vs. the W. & O. R. Company et als., and affirmed by the Court of Appeals of Virginia at its September term, 1881, the undersigned Special Commissioners, will, at 12 o'clock m. on the 16th day of May, 1882,

at the railroad depot of the Washington and Ohio Railroad Company, in the city of Alexandria, Va., offer at public auction the including that partly and that wholly constructed, and as well and singular all the works and property, real, personal and mixed, rolling stock, locomotives, cars, &c., and all rights, contracts and franchises of said Washington and Ohio Railroad Company.

The said property consists of a constructed line of railway in active operation from the city of Alexandria, Va., westward through the counties of Alexandria, Fairfax and Loudoun to Round Hill station, in Loudoun county a distance of 51¼ miles, including a line connecting with the Washington and Alexandria Railroad. The road is also graded beyond Round Hill for a distance of three miles.

The other real property of the company consists of a large brick depot building and freight house, in the city of Alexandria, a round house, machine shop, car shop, car shed, store house, &c., and about fifteen acres of land adjacent thereto; also eleven depot houses and lots at the eleven principal stations between Alexandria and Round Hill.

According to the route surveyed the distance from Washington city to Point Pleasant, on the Ohio river, is three hundred and twenty five miles, and passes through a country heavily timbered and of great mineral resources.

Terms: The entire property, real personal and mixed, franchises, &c., is sold together, and for the same the purchaser must pay fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) of the purchase money in cash, and the residue in four equal annual payments, with interest from the day of sale, which said payments are to be evidenced by bonds which are to be secured by a deed of trust upon the property sold, to be executed upon the confirmation of the sale and conveyance to the purchaser.

This sale is subject to the lien of the deed of trust executed August 6th, 1858 to indemnity the county of Clarke, State of Virginia, against liability for the annual interest on the bonds of the said county for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) up to and until the time when said road shall be commenced, and under construction in said county of Clarke, and against liability for the payments of the principal of said bonds in case they shall become due and payable before the road shall be commenced and under construction in said county, the said bonds falling due in the year 1892.

The purchaser will be entitled to the net profits of the road from the day of the sale.

In order that the public may fully realize the genuineness of the statements, as well as the power and value of the article of which they speak, we publish herewith the facsimile signatures of parties whose sincerity is beyond question. The truth of these testimonials is absolute, nor can the facts they announce be ignored.

Alexandria, Va., August 4, 1881.

I was thrown from my horse 6 or 7 years ago, and suffered a severe wound of the side, which was aggravated by disordered kidneys. Eleven months ago I was attacked with pneumonia and bladder disease, deposits of brick dust and albumen being discernable by the naked eye. I was confined to the house for six months, and was unable to cross the floor without assistance. My physician did me no good. Having read in my religious weeklies of the wonderful cures by your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and being advised to use it by Captain Graham, I did so, and am once more able to walk the streets. My pains have left me, and I believe if I had used the remedy a year ago I should then also have been cured.

The Woodlawn Agricultural Society.

[Reported for the Alexandria Gazette.]

COLLINGWOOD, March 4.—The club met, according to adjournment, at the house of D. P. Smith. The secretary being absent, Wm. Hunter was chosen secretary pro tem.

When the minutes of the last meeting were read, Mr. Baker raised an objection to the comparison between linseed meal and cotton seed meal, stating that it should read oil cake meal and cotton-seed meal.

The club then entered into a discussion in regard to the prices and value of oil-cake meal and cotton-seed meal. An extract from an article by Prof. Caldwell, of Cornell, in regard to cotton-seed meal, was read, who recommended from one to two quarts as a ration per day.

The President, Robert F. Roberts, stated that he had fed two quarts per day this weather with excellent results.

While upon this subject, Capt. W. H. Snowden read an essay on the uses and products of cotton seed. Among other things, he stated that they now made butter from the seed without the use of the cow.

The discussion continuing the question was asked if cotton-seed meal could be used as a substitute for corn meal? The President in reply thought that it was not a substitute, but should be used in connection with corn meal. Captain Snowden went on to state that the great value of cotton-seed meal was the opportunity it gave to feed out poorer feed such as coarse hay and straw, and that his ration this winter had been rye straw or oat straw in place of hay. Mr. James Roberts saw decided advantage in the use of it for milk producing. Mr. C. Lukens was feeding it to his cows for butter making with favorable results, but was satisfied that two quarts per day would spoil the butter in warm weather.

Mr. Roberts and others thought that it should be mixed in feed previous to feeding to allow it to swell and soften. A statement was made that it had poisoned cattle, it appeared to be the opinion that it was caused by injudicious feeding. The subject of the ox eyed daisy was discussed with about the same conclusion as at a previous meeting. The majority of the club thought that we had far worse weeds, and members gave instances of pasture fields were it had gradually disappeared.

The critical committee was then called upon and reported as follows: "The farm of our host contains about 60 acres nearly all of which is capable of being brought under a high state of cultivation. The soil is mostly of a sandy loam and easily cultivated. The crops grown are corn, wheat, grass and small fruits. We find about ten acres of wheat looking only fair. The hay prospect is not good. The small fruits, strawberries and raspberries are promising and the soil seems to just suit their requirements.

We noticed a much needed and convenient addition to the barn also several tons of good hay in the latter, and his corn crib nearly half full. His stock consists of 3 horses in good condition; 3 cows, two of which are now making their two lbs of butter daily; one sow rather too fat for breeding purposes. All the stock are looking well and have good comfortable quarters. We also noticed a fine healthy lot of fowls, but of a small breed. Our host is comfortably fixed in a snug house on the banks of the river, which by the way is quite a convenience, in the present almost impassable condition of the roads as he can get to the city very easily by boat, and has about as little care and takes his comfort as much as most folks. In taking a view of our host's premises one is struck by the absence of that very useful and handy appendage of the farm—the gate.

Our host seems to have an aversion to such a convenience and prefers planks or bars instead. There might be some excuse offered if he had to hire a mechanic but in his case there is none. In conclusion your committee would call the club's attention to the method of keeping his tools under cover and each in its appropriate place.

Lastly by the application of a coat or two of white wash and a coat yearly, his premises would be much improved as well as preserved although our host says he is not a white wash sort of a man.

The question was asked how to prevent the waste from manure in the yard. It was recommended to haul and spread or compost.

Supper was then announced at which, through the kindness of a Washington member we were favored with a sample of cotton seed butter which the members seemed to think was better than prior butter.

After supper the club entered into a discussion in regard to roads and road laws.

Henry Masterson, was elected a member of the club.

The next meeting will be held at Woodlawn, the residence of John Mason, on April 1st 1882.

Critical Committee.—W. Gillingham, Walter Walton, and C. Lukins.

The Club then adjourned.
