Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

5th Year

DR. ADDISON JONES

The regular and reliable Chicago Specialist now making his 5th year of continuous visits here will be at.

Fox Hotel, Austin, Tuesday, July 12

OWATONNA, JULY 15.

I WILL TREAT and CURE

ANY CURABLE CHRONIC DISEASE

INCURABLE CASES ARE NOT PROMISED A CURE

The reliable and successful specialist in the treatment of certain chronic, nervous and special diseases of men and women. Formerly for three years professor in medical college. Licensed by state board of medical examiners. See all patients personally. Furnish all medicine. Most all medicines prepared on our own private formulas perfected by years of experience and are guaranteed to be pure. We treat patients to please them, knowing that good results mean as much to me as to the patient, for most new patients come recommended by a friend who I had treated.

EYES Thousands of eyes go blind each year because of neglect or from improper treatment. Frontal headaches are caused by eyestrain. Do your eyes water, lids itch, get red, burn or feel scratchy especially by lamplight, lids stick together during sleep or are they granulated? Is vision hazy, dim or blurred. If so, see me at once as you need treatment. Absorption treatment given in granulated lids and cataract. What is life worth with poor eyesight? Eyes tested, glasses fitted and guaranteed.

NOSE-THROAT If you or your children have chronic sore throat it may be from old diseased or enlarged tonsils. I have an infallible cure for such cases. Is voice husky, breath very offensive, catch cold easily? Adenoids in throat or growths in nose cause mouth breathing and should not be allowed to remain to menace the health. Puny children become robust and strong after such diseases are cured. I can cure nearly every case of goiter.

CATARRH of nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs successfully treated. These are the most frequent forms of catarrh caused by neglected colds. May be caused by polypi or other growths in nose and throat. This trouble produces discharge from nose and throat, foul breath, buzzing sounds in ears, mouth-breathing by one or both nostrils being closed, and unless cured is often followed by serious lung disease. Smelling and hearing is often affected especially in damp weather or when in hot room. Don't neglect these until tuberculosis (consumption) develops.

STOMACH You cannot hope to get full benefit of your food if you have imperfect digestion (dyspepsia). Do you bloat after eating; belch gas or sour and bitter food; have nausea, heavy dull pain behind breastbone; pain around heart or in stomach; is tongue coated and bad taste in mouth; are you constipated? We have been treating this class of troubles for nine years, can give you wonderful help, and cure after other treatment has failed.

LIVER Do you have dizzy spells especially when stooping forward; specks before the eyes, pain in right side under ribs, either constant or by sudden attacks; do whites of eyes or skin get yellow; do you have attacks of biliousness with fever and sick at stomach; Gall bladder diseases often cured after operation considered only hope. Treatment mild but remarkably effective.

CONSTIPATION is the cause of more dull aches, pains, fevers, headaches, no-account tired feelings, tired mornings, colds; doctors bills for acute sickness, than any other one thing of which I know. Cathartics do not cure. My treatment effects cures if begun before complete paralysis of bowels occurs. Do not delay—see me at once.

KIDNEY and bladder diseases often become serious and beyond hope before the person suspects the trouble. Is back weak; urine strong, cloudy, high-colored, or pale and watery; pass unusually large or small quantity; legs swell up when on feet much; eyelids get puffy; do you have to rise at night? Look out for Bright's disease or Diabetes. Kidney diseases are treacherous.

PILES, FISTULA, FISSURE are a class of diseases which I can guarantee to cure, without surgical operation or detention from business. I cannot understand why people will continue to suffer with these troubles year after year when permanent cure can be had without going to hospital; ointments and salves may ease pain for a time but do not cure. We have positively cured hundreds, and can cure you if you will give us a chance. Other rectal troubles successfully treated.

LADIES are often saved the necessity of operations by my treatment. I will give careful attention to your case. If you are a sufferer call and see me. My methods have been universally successful. Married ladies should be accompanied by their husbands when calling for consultation.

MANY SPECIAL AND NERVOUS DISEASES

of both men and women which are not named here are treated with success, and health, hope and happiness restored. I do not treat acute diseases, chronic cases being my specialty. Remarkable results perfected in epilepsy, skin and heart diseases. Appendicitis, dropsy, enlarged veins and glands and rupture often cured without the knife.

Trusses Made to Order. Special Attention Given to Surgical Cases

"Sure!" assented Phelan.

"And you, too, Cynthia?" pleaded her brother. "You can trust me, can't you?"

"Of course I can. If you insist, I won't tell any one. I"—

"I'm happier this minute than I've ever been in all my whole life!" smiled the secretary, again clasping his sister in his arms. "If you only knew, little girl, how I've longed for this!"

"Here's the fan!" announced Perry, hurrying around the corner of the doorway. "Found it under a"—

He stopped short, open mouthed, dumb and motionless. Thompson and his sister stood in close embrace before him, with Phelan looking on like some obese caricature of a benevolent fairy.

The fan slipped from young Wainwright's nerveless grip and fell with a clatter to the polished floor, its ivory sticks snapping like icicles.

CHAPTER XI.

At sound of the breaking fan all three participants in the strange reunion turned. For a second or more they faced the crimson faced, dumfounded Perry without a word. Here was an element in the affair on which neither Phelan nor Cynthia had counted when giving Thompson their promise not to reveal his identity. They gradually realized this, and it left even the ready witted Phelan speechless.

Perry himself was first to break the spell.

"Well," he observed, with an assumption of airy scorn that was meant to be annihilating, "you ali seem quite happy. Don't mind me! I'm sorry to butt in on this cute little love fest, but I left a fiancee here. Perhaps one of you can explain what's happened to her since I"—

"Oh, Perry," exclaimed Cynthia, "don't be silly! I'll tell you all about it some time. It is"—

"Some time!" squealed Perry, rage battering down his attempt at sarcasm. "Some time! Maybe it might be just as well if you did condescend to explain. Here you promise to marry me, and ten minutes later I find you in a catch-as-catch-can hug with this ugly little shrimp and Phelan looking on as happy as if he'd eaten a canary! And then you've got the gall to tell me you'll explain 'some time!'"

He glared at Cynthia in all the majesty of outraged devotion, only to surprise on that young lady's face a look that indicated a violent struggle with the desire to laugh.

"This is funny, all right, I guess not!" he snapped. "Cynthia, you've mauled and smashed a loving heart, and I'll make a hit with myself by forgiving you, but as for you," wheeling about and thrusting his furious face to within three inches of Thompson's immobile countenance—"as for you, I'm going to do all sorts of things to you the moment Miss Garrison will have the kindness to shassay out of the room Your sorrowful relatives will have all manner of fun sorting you out when I've finished with you! Steal my sweetheart, would you, not ten minutes after I'd"—

"There!" interposed Phelan, shoving his powerful hulk good naturedly between the two younger men and linking his arm in Perry's. "Now you've got quite a bunch of hot words off your chest, an' you'll be in better shape to hear sense. Ain't you just a little bit ashamed?"

"Ashamed?" sputtered Perry. "Who? I? Well, that"—

"Yes, you, youngster, and if you holler like that in comp'ny I'll sure be forced to wind up by spankin' you. Now, stand off there—no, over there where you can see Miss Garrison—an' listen to me. So! Now, first of all, did you happen to be in love with this young lady?"

"It's none of your measly business, but I did."

"Why'd you ask her to hitch up with you for keeps?"

"Because I loved her and"—

"Because you had a lot of faith in her, too, hey?" persisted the alderman

"Yes, and a nice way she's"—

"Pretty girl, too," mused Phelan as if to himself. "In my young days if I could 'a' got a little beauty like that to sign articles with me I'd 'a' thought I was the original Lucky Jim. I'd"—

"So did I!" interrupted Perry hotly "I"—

But Phelan was continuing in the same abstract monologue:

"An' if I could 'a' seen from her eyes (like any dough head could see from Miss Garrison's) that she had a heart as big as a watermelon an' as true as a Bible text an' as warm as a happy man's hearth fire—well, if I'd seen all that an' got wise to the gorgeous news that that same heart was just chock-a-block full of love for my own ornery, cheap skate self I'd 'a flopped down on both knees an' sent up a bunch of prayers to be allowed to go on dreamin' an' never, never wake up."

Phelan paused. This time Perry did not break in, and the half audible monologue continued:

"I'd have had the sense to know that a girl with eyes like those couldn't be a flirt an' couldn't double cross the man she loved if her life depended on her doin' it. I'd 'a' licked any guy that said she could, an' if I'd seen her kissin' another man I'd 'a' punched myself on the jaw an' called myself a liar. That's what Jimmy Phelan of the Eighth would 'a' done. An'"—

"Say," broke in Perry in a curiously subdued voice. "These eyes of mine do funny things sometimes. I'll bet $9 they played a joke on me just now. And even if they didn't I don't believe 'em. Cynthia, I'm dead stuck on you! You're all right even if you did happen to be acting a trifle eccentric a few minutes ago. You can explain or not, as you like. If you'll just say you love me, that's ace high with yours truly."

He slipped an arm about her waist as he spoke, awkwardly seeking to atone for his recent anger. The secretary looked at them for an instant, then said briefly:

"You can tell him, Cynthia. He's a good fellow. Come on, alderman. I think you and I still have something to say to each other."

Cynthia and Perry drifted away toward the conservatory again, quite oblivious of the others, while Phelan and the secretary made their way to a deserted alcove off the ballroom.

* * * * * * * *

"I've been looking all over for you, Mr. Bennett," called Judge Newman, hurrying out through the chain of anterooms as Alwyn wandered out of the ballroom into the foyer a few moments later.
