We believe it would suit the patrons of both the Prescott dailies better if neither of them would indulge in personalities. It would suit us far better to conduct the campaign in a fair and candid manner without recourse to innuendoes of a personal nature or language of a slanderous character against any one, but if our morning contemp insists upon keeping up his trade of abuse against individuals and casting slurs at us we will be compelled to reply, if not in kind, in language equally forcible, no matter how much it may disgust our readers.

Nothing in the Zulick-Cook $1,000 organ this morning but the same old Churchill refrain and abusive persona inuendoes. Probably nothing else can be expected from the "organ" as it appears unfamiliar with any other style of journalism. If more attention were given to discussing the merits or demerits of the different candidates and less to venting personal spite, the paper would no doubt suit its wearied readers better.
