CLARKSVILLE

24, 1856

The [illegible] of the Baptist Church respectfully announce to the people of Clarksville and of the surrounding country, that they intend to have a supper between the 1st and 24th of May, 1856. Notice of the exact time and place will be given some future day.

The Board of Directors of our Railroad held a meeting Wednesday evening and entertained, among other things, to locate the road above town, subject to the ratification of the stockholders at their meeting on the 24th May next, at which time the annual election for Directors will be held.

We are glad to note this action on the part of the Board. We do not see the necessity for referring the matter of location back to the stockholders, inasmuch as the Board was elected on that distinct issue, and with the express understanding that they should locate the road. It was upon this ground that they were [illegible] their large majority. If not for their election at all, and to locate the road above town was a positive duty they owed to the stockholders. Why the question is again referred to the stockholders we do not clearly understand. It looks very much like the want of nerve, though that can hardly be since, as just stated, they would be backed by three-fourths of the stockholders in the unconditional locating of the road above town. If a fear of defeat at the next election had anything to do with this course, the course pursued reflects but little security against that contingency for if there should be, at the coming election, a down town majority they will be sure to elect a board whose opinions practically from not as well known as if there should still be a majority in favor of the question again, will not [illegible] confidence to the present [illegible] clearly and unquestionable expressed at the last election, still was the duty of this board to locate the road above town without any fear of results attaching to it, and then, if the stockholders should change it, let it be done. The Board of Directors wishes [illegible] the two [illegible] and the interests of the town and the road to the point to the board. Any [illegible] carefully made after mature deliberation, the cost of the upper route [illegible] forty thousand (40,000.00) dollars [illegible] the lower. This excess in the cost of the upper route is much less than the stockholders had any ground to suppose it would be when they elected this board, and yet after election by an overwhelming majority. In addition to this favorable estimate as to cost, we are told that the engineer says the upper route is far preferable in every other respect. When we add to these considerations the manifest importance to the town of the upper route we do not see how any one can hesitate to vote for it.

We believe that if there shall be a full vote of the stockholders, at the next election, upon a fair and correct understanding of the question at issue, that the upper route will carry by a very large majority, and for this reason we do not object particularly to its reference again to the people. There is, however, a possibility that a very small vote may be polled and that the bearings of the question may not be properly understood, and that thus a lower route board may be elected, who can adopt that route on what they may call the will of the stockholders, whereas if this board had located the road above town, unconditionally, as they were certainly authorized to do, and had left the question out of the next election, then any other board who might hereafter change the location would have to do it upon their own responsibility, and in opposition to what has been the clearly expressed preference of a large majority of stock holders. We believe the road will be built, and built above town. Everything—convenience, interest, and really economy, all point to that route. All we want is an industrious, energetic board of Directors, with a good sprinkle of old Hickory's take-the-responsibility pluck about them so that after they know what the stockholders want done, they will go to work and do it. We hope every stock holder will consider this subject well before the election, and turn out to a man, on that day. Let us again elect this or some other upper-route board of Directors and in twelve months the road will be well under way and on the right line.

We have a good mind to take back every word we said last week about the beauty and elegance of the new Planters Bank. Why!—They are actually putting up a poplar house on the marble front. GREEN POPLAR AND WHITE MARBLE!! We reckon, though, they are just doing it for fun, to see how it would look; They certain can't be serious about it. Green poplar cornice to a white marble front sounds very much like the Neapolitan fruit-venders cry——

IN THE NAME OF THE PROPHET —— FIGS!

We can say to our readers from personal experience, that our friends H. H. Bryarly & [illegible] tiful goods at their [illegible] market. They [illegible] and are "got up" [illegible] most style. No [illegible] is more important [illegible] to all who want the [illegible] and—go to BRYARLY, st[illegible]

[illegible] the Methodist Church [illegible] undergoing thorough repair [illegible] be opened for public wor[illegible] next Sunday in May.

Our readers will remember that a short time ago, when speaking of the improvements at the Methodist Church, we stated that a new bell and a revival were all that was wanting to complete the matter. We now learn that as soon as Maj. Fowler's concert room shall be finished, a concert will be given there, by the ladies of the church, to buy a new bell. They want it distinctly understood that it's solely to buy a bell,—that a revival is no part of the object of the concert. We make this explanation to prevent any misapprehension as to the object of the concert. We speak for it a most liberal patronage, as it is a most worthy object.

THE American Convention, which met here yesterday, was well attended, and was full of the very best feeling for our great cause. The nomination of Fillmore and Donelson was enthusiastically ratified; and James M. Quarles Esq. was appointed elector for this Congressional district, and Charles G. Smith Esq. for this county.

Speeches were made by Mr. Quarles and Gov. Neill S. Brown, every thing passed off to the entire satisfaction of the whole convention. We haven't space for particulars this week.

We have been informed of a most excellent sale of pig iron in the past week by Cook, Pettibone & Co., of La Grange Furnace. They sold 300 tons at $29.50 and 200 more at $30.00 per ton, to be delivered at their landing. This iron turns out fine metal and we are glad to hear of its bringing such good prices.

Our friend Walker O. Vance has received and is now opening at Thomas' old stand, McClure's corner, part of his new stock of Drugs, Medicines &c., and in a few days will have the entire stock and opened on sale. Mr. Vance is a capable and experienced druggist, and deserves a very liberal patronage.

WE are glad to see that the horrible old [illegible] in the square are, one after another, disappearing under the force of public opinion. Let the [illegible] on the day when not a plank shall remain.

The Fillmore & Donelson Club was organized Friday night. A list of officers will be published next week. A stirring speech was made by E. H. Charles. The club meets every Friday night. Several speeches may be expected [illegible]

Persons wanting the nicest sort of things in the confectionary line, can find them at E. [illegible] in every variety and on the [illegible] terms. Don't take our word but call for yourselves.

REMEMBER the public sale of PHOENIX FURNACE on the first Monday in [illegible]. Now is the time to buy Iron-works. Read the advertisement.

CHANCERY Court has been in session here during all the past week but we are not advised as to any cases of popular interest before the court.

PURIFY THE BLOOD.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS,
AND
PHOENIX BITTERS
Free from all Mineral Poisons.

THE great popularity which MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS and PHOENIX BITTERS have gained, in consequence of the extraordinary cures effected by their use, renders it unnecessary for the proprietor to enter into a lengthened exposure of their medicinal virtues or properties. Having been more than twenty years before the public, and having the united testimony of more than three millions of persons who have been restored to the enjoyment of perfect health by them, it is believed that their reputation as the best vegetable medicine now before the public, admits of no dispute. In almost every city and village in the United States, there are many who are ready to testify in their efficacy in removing disease, and placing the whole system into vigor and health.

In cases of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruption [illegible] the operations of the LIFE MEDICINES are truly astonishing. [illegible] by their purifying effects on the blood, [illegible] to their curative properties. [illegible] be without them, as by their timely use much suffering and expense may be saved.
