PENCILETTES.

See notice of Trustee's Sale by T. A. R. Nelson, Esq., in another column.

The Chattanooga street railroad is having a side track laid to the W. & A. depot, to be used in removing grain from the wharf.

The Chattanooga Commercial quotes: Beef cattle steady at 3¼a4 cents; hogs 6a6¼ cents. Shipments of one car load of cattle and three cars of mules and horses south yesterday.

The parties who were injured on last Sunday in the disgraceful affair on Copper Ridge are recovering from their wounds, with the exception of Nich. Osburn. Dr. Ragsdale considers his wounds perhaps fatal.

In consequence of the services of the Young Men's Christian Association this (Wednesday) evening, at the Second Presbyterian Church, there will be no lecture at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Rufus Woods and George Freeman, the men who assaulted old man Welsh, near Ebenezer, an account of which we gave yesterday, had a trial before Justice Smith, of the 10th district, and were fully identified, and bound over to court. Sheriff Swan brought them back and lodged them in jail.

Corn was dull yesterday at 45a50c. Sales of 15,000 bushels, considerable of which was somewhat damp. Wheat steady, with good demand for choice white, of which there seems to be a scarcity. Receipts at wharf, 6,600 bushels. A good deal of this came down in open boats, and has lain and now lies exposed to the weather. How farmers expect to get the "top of the market" by bringing in grain in this condition we can not explain. Oats—no sales reported.—Chattanooga Commercial.

EAST TENNESSEE UNIVERSITY.

Annual Representation of the Philomatheslan and Chi-Delta Literary Societies.

A large audience, consisting principally of the very elite of our city, gathered at the Opera House last night to witness the annual representation of the two literary societies of the East Tennessee University.

After music and prayer, Mr. D. M. Rose, of Sevier county, a Chi-Delta, delivered an oration on the "Effect of Machinery," with credit to himself, and the audience gave evidence of satisfaction by loud applause and a shower of boquets.

Mr. Rose was followed by Mr. R. C. DeGraffenried, of Franklin, Tenn., a Philo., who delivered a splendid oration on "The New World." Judging from the applause he received, the audience must have been well pleased with his effort, notwithstanding the fact that he had to be prompted once, which, however, was caused by some mischievous person starting to applaud at an inappropriate time, disturbing the speaker and causing him to hesitate for a moment. He however regained his composure, and delivered his oration in good style.

The discussion was next on the programme, and the question announced was "Is Europe tending to Republicanism?" The affirmative side was represented by Messrs. G. D. Landrum, Philo, Memphis, Tennessee, and S. E. Young, Chi-Delta, Clinton, Tennessee. The negative was represented by Messrs. J. L. Long, Philo., Verona, Mississippi, and S. G. Heiskell, Chi-Delta, Knoxville, Tennessee. The young men all represented their respective positions in an able manner, and every inch of ground, so to speak, was thoroughly disputed, good points being made on both sides of the question, but as the matter had to be decided on one side or the other, the Committee, consisting of Dr. Humes, W. A. Henderson, Esq., and Rev. J. L. Lloyd, through Mr. Henderson awarded the affirmative side the victory.

The evening's programme closed with declamations by Messrs. J. H. Welcker, of Loudon, Tennessee, and W. H. Kephart, of Atlantic City, Iowa, both of which were excellent, especially that of the latter, which being of a humorous nature kept the audience in an uproar of laughter. Altogether the exhibition was a very creditable affair, and reflected honor on the young men as well as the noble institution of learning they represented.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

Wedding at the Second Presbyterian Church.

The Second Presbyterian church was filled to its utmost capacity yesterday evening, to witness the marriage of Thomas Melvin Michaels to Miss Ada Craig. In fact the house was filled full thirty minutes before the time fixed for the performance of the ceremony, and quite a number went away unable to get seats. Much credit is due to the gentlemanly ushers on the occasion, Messrs. G. P. French, J. A. Porter, Jno. Williams, Jr., and Frank C. Bearden.

At 8½ o'clock the bride and groom entered the church, while Mrs. Wick's at the organ discoursed a wedding march in her usually skillful manner. The bridesmaids and groomsmen were Miss Porter and Matt. G. McClung; Miss Noland and A. H. Jameson; Miss McCafferty and George P. McTeer; Miss Caldwell and Jas. P. McMillan. We will not undertake a description of the toilets, of the ladies, and suffice it to say they appeared in elegant taste, the petite form of the fair bride being of course the centre of attraction. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. Bachman, pastor of the church, after which the happy couple with a large number of friends repaired to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Craig, the parents of the bride, where a reception was held from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. Refreshments were served, and the evening passed off with cheerful congratulations and a pleasant time all round.

One of the pleasant features of the occasion was the presentation of quite a number of valuable presents to the bride by her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig were unremitting in attention to their large number of guests.

The happy couple will accept our best wishes for their future happiness.

OUR CITIZEN SOLDIERY.

The Military Parade Yesterday—Presentation of Flag to the McGhee Guards, &c.

The streets of Knoxville presented a lively appearance yesterday afternoon, they being crowded with our citizens anxious to see the Military Parade, to take place about 4 P. M. We can not remember any occasion, with the exception of John Webb's triumphant exit from the stage of life, when our streets were more densely thronged.

THE M'GHEE GUARDS

were announced to appear at 3 o'clock, but it was nearer 4 o'clock when they marched from their Armory, under the Opera House. They presented quite a soldierly appearance, and attracted considerable attention.

Marching around to the Custom House, they were drawn in line at the east side, and a beautiful flag, the gift of Col. C. M. McGhee, after whom the Company was named, was presented to the Company by Rev. Mr. LeVere with appropriate remarks. Color Seargent W. F. Yardley, Esq., received the same and responded in his usual good style. The Company after parading along Gay and other principal streets returned to their armory, and ended the day by a supper in the store room formerly occupied by Hodge & Brakebill, in the Opera House building.

THE MILITARY PARADE.

The main feature of the day took place near 5 o'clock. Already early in the afternoon Dickinson Light Guards and O'Conner Zouaves could be seen on our streets in full uniform, and the University Cadets were out in force. At the appointed hour the companies gathered at their respective armories, one company of the Cadets meeting at the armory of the Light Guards. The first position in the parade was awarded the Dickinson Light Guards, headed by their drum corps, and brass band the company of Cadets followed, and next the O'Conner Zouaves, headed by their splendid drum corps, their being, however, a sufficient distance between the Cadets and Zouaves to give each drum corps fair play. All the principal streets of the city were paraded and the fine appearance of our citizen soldiery and University Cadets elicited many favorable comments from our citizens generally, who showed their appreciation by turning out en masse, so to speak, to witness the parade.

The O'Conner Zouaves closed the day by a Grand Military Ball, reported elsewhere, the Dickinson Light Guards attended the wedding of one of their members, and the Cadets attended the annual representation of the Literary Socities of the East Tennessee University, and thus ended the day.

No Markets.

It will be seen that we have no telegraph market reports this morning, for the reason that yesterday was a legal holiday, hence no in the cities.

AT SPIRO'S HALL.

The Grand Military Ball and Prize Drill.

Spiro's Hall presented quite a lively scene last night, it being the occasion of a Grand Military Ball and Prize Drill, given under the auspices of the O'Conner Zouaves. A very large crowd was in attendance, the large and spacious Hall being filled to overflowing. The Zouaves were out in full force, most of them in their uniform, together with quite a number of the Dickinson Light Guard and the McKinney Rifles, also in uniform. There were besides a great many outsiders not belonging to either company, all accompanied by their escorts.

Capt. Alex Allison was general floor manager and superintendent, and it is not necessary to state that he performed the duties of that position to perfection.

He was very ably assisted by Lieutenants Pat. Shea, Ristine and others.

The music was furnished by Ike White's band and was first class. The figures were called by Tom Prince that veteran of callers.

The dancing was commenced early in the evening and kept up without intermission until about a quarter to twelve, when the crowd was called to order by Capt. Allison to witness the PRIZE DRILL.

There were ten contestants who were drawn up in a line, and Capt. Jas. Maloy, Lieut. C. A. King and Adjt. F. H. McClung, having been selected as judges, the contest commenced, and after drilling about 20 minutes they dropped off, one by one, until Mr. J. R. Hodges only was left standing.

He was, therefore, declared the successful man, amid loud cheers from the audience, and Capt. H. H. Taylor was called forward and delivered the presentation speech in a manner very appropriate to the occasion, at the same time presenting the prize. It was a very handsome gold medal, which is to be worn by Mr. Hodges until it is taken by some one else in another drill; but if he holds it as long as twelve months it becomes his personal property.

After this the dancing was resumed and kept up till "early morn."

Refreshments for the occasion were served up in magnificent style by Spiro & Bro., to all who desired them.

Taken as a whole the occasion was indeed a pleasant one to all in attendance. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the affair, up to the latest writing, but, on the contrary, all seemed to enjoy themselves most splendidly.

The finest and largest assortment of mouldings and frames in the city, at Schleier's.

TILL TAPPING.

Arrest of a Young Colored Man.

A young colored man, Jerry Logan, who has been employed as porter at the East Tennessee Book House, for several years, was detected on Monday evening in taking money from the cash drawer. The sum of fifteen dollars was missed, when the bookkeeper, suspecting that he might have paid it out at a clothing store where he was in the habit of trading, perhaps, went to the proprietor of the store and learned from him that he had changed a ten dollar bill for Jerry. Mr. Winkleman, the bookkeeper, identified the bill as one missing from the cash drawer, and even described it to Mr. Stern, the clothing merchant, before he saw it.

A warrant was obtained for Jerry's arrest which was served by Pat. Cain, who took the prisoner into custody. He will have his trial before Esquire Ochs this afternoon. For some time past, the Book House has occasionally missed valuable mail, and as Jerry was in the habit of carrying the mail from the postoffice, suspicion rested upon him, so that his employees were not altogether unprepared for what came to pass yesterday. Although a little fast for one of his limited income, the defendant in this case has heretofore, until very recently, borne a good character. The temptation to outlive his income has probably brought him to this trouble.

Hospitalism.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

Very many years ago the Hon. Wm. H. Sneed, in a donation of land, furnished the nucleous for an East Tennessee hospital.

In the instrument of gift he designated eight practitioners of medicine as a Board of Trustees, and prescribed the mode of its perpetuation, by vesting in the remaining members the duty and power to fill vacancies as they occurred, by ballot.

The Board of Trustees obtained corporate organization under the laws of the State of Tennessee, and has been quietly, but surely, operating in the direction of opening a hospital for the treatment of diseases and injuries. The efforts have necessarily been restrained, and consequently, results have been meagre, yet the Trustees felicitate themselves, and the community, that in no particular has the object opened in importance, nor have the means that have come into their possession, with which to prosecute the object, been wasted in foolish disseminations or dishonest appropriations.

The condition of the Hospital Association can be seen in a glance at the following statement:

DR.

Balance due on real estate,	$3,500 00

CR.

Real estate,		$8,000 00
Cash notes bearing ten per cent.,		1,000 00
County appropriation unpaid,		1,500 00
		$10,500 00

A portion of the real estate, consisting of more than three and less than four acres, is eligibly located in the northeastern suburbs of Knoxville, and will be sold by the Trustees so soon as a purchaser can be found who is willing to pay the worth of the property.

The larger body of real estate belonging to the Hospital Association consists of eighteen acres, and is located two miles east or southeast from Knoxville, on a commanding site, and embraces buildings which were originally the domicil of Colonel John Williams, Sr., more recently owned and occupied by our former and worthy fellow citizen, A. G. Jackson, from whose estate it was purchased, at Chancery sale, by the Trustees.

The whole of this body of land ought to be retained for hospital purposes. But, if forced by failure to obtain means from other sources, there are about six acres of the property that, in the opinion of the Trustees, can be separated without total destruction of the interests of the institution, and sold to meet present indebtedness.

The Board of Trustees has operated so silently that but few persons are aware of any effort being made to meet a demand which is now very positively pressing upon this community, and which is getting heavy, and heavier, as each succeeding year gives an increase of population to the town of Knoxville, and the whole of the country supplied from it, and by which it is supplied; and this communication is made only to give information, which, properly, the people should have, reggarding a movement that very deeply involves their interests and their comfort.

But if any one wants a real cheap article, they also have that. The proprietor of that establishment will not be out sold or under sold.

INFANTICIDE.

The Cruel Mother Sent to Jail.

DANDRIDGE, Feb. 21st, 1876.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:

Rachel Thompson, colored, aged about eighteen, was committed to jail at this place yesterday on a charge of infanticide. Soon after she was placed in jail she was visited by a CHRONICLE reporter, to whom she made the following confession: She gave birth to a well formed female child at her aunt's house about seven miles east of this place on Long Creek. That the family was away from home, and that immediately after the child was born she took a table knife and cut its throat and placed it under the kitchen floor. On the return of the family she was found in bed sick. She says that her crime was resting so heavily upon her that she immediatly revealed it to her aunt and told her where the child could be found. The news was spread and a jury of inquest was held, resulting in the binding of Rachel over to court. She is now in jail. She states that she was induced to commit this most horrible crime by the father of the child, whom she states is a white man of high social standing.

BY BRET. HARTE,

Begins in the November number,
