THE "black troops" still continue "to fight nobly." Lord Chelmsford will have to ask for another brigade from home, and until they arrive no movements will be made. The startling intelligence reaches us that Prince Napoleon took a fever "just before the battle, mother." The Prince will have to hump himself, for that little faction of his in France is rapidly dwindling away.

IT is somewhat strange—yet not so strange either—that we can never get news through our dispatches like the following which we clip from the Philadelphia Press:

INDIANAPOLIS, May 6—Official returns from twelve wards indicate a Republican majority of 1 500 to 1,800, a Republican gain of 500 to 800. The Council will stand—Republicans, 16; Democrats, 9; a Republican gain of 3. Aldermen—Republicans, 4; Democrats, 1; a Republican gain of 1.

Give us some more Blackburn speeches and the old Republican party will distance its opponent in 1880. Indiana, too.

IT was in the days of Whiggery and Democracy, between 1840 and 1850. During a heated campaign between two candidates for Congress in Kentucky, the following is said to have occurred:

The two candidates were riding along together, making their way from one appointment to another. Just ahead of them, a short distance, they discovered some one riding a mule. He was barefooted and ragged, his costume consisting of a pair of breeches, one suspender and a slouch hat. Said the Whig to the Democrat:

"I'll bet you a basket of champagne against the dinners for the week, that our friend just ahead of us is a Democrat."

"I'll take your bet," said the Democrat.

They hurried on and overtook the native. They found when they reached him that he was drunk, also. Whereupon, the Whig felt assured that his dinners for the week were earned. So he said:

"Good day, my friend!"

"Goo'-day."

"My partner and I here have made a bet about your politics. I say you are a Democrat and he says you are a Whig. How is it?"

"Well, you see me, don't ye (hic)?"

"Yes."

"Ragged (hic) an' barefoot'd."

"Yes."

"Drunk an' dirty (hic)."

"Yes."

"(Hic) got no money for m' wife an' chil'n."

"Yes."

"Just 'ad a fight an' got (hic) licked like the devil."

"Yes."

"Well, all them'r the symptoms, 'an (hic) I've got 'em, my friend, but thank God (hic) not the disease."

This was too good to keep; so the Whig willingly paid the champagne and used his joke to advantage upon many a stump.

Passage by the Senate of the Eads Jetties Appropriatien.

The Electional Interference Finally Passed in the Senate.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs in Trouble.

XLVI CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

The Senate passed, with amendment, House bill providing for the payment of the money heretofore appropriated to James B. Eads and his associates, for the construction of jetties and other works at the south pass of the Mississippi.

The consideration of the bill prohibiting military interference at elections was then resumed.

Mr. Edmunds spoke on the bill. Before taking the vote, considerable excitement was manifested. Senators Blaine and Chandler both spoke. The latter made a bitter speech, saying in the course of his remarks that he and his party believed twelve Senators on the Democratic side held seats fraudulently, and yet it was proposed to oust Kellogg, who was justly entitled to a Senatorship. The bill was afterwards passed by a vote of 33 to 23.

HOUSE.

Immediately after the reading of the journal, the Speaker proceeded to call on the committees for reports of a private nature.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The House was principally engaged today in discussing the Silver bill.

Senator Williams, of Kentucky, to-day introduced a joint resolution to make the appropriation of March 31st, 1877, of $375,000 for the payment of ante-bellum Southern mail contractors practicably available, it being tied up by a Treasury ruling to await the presentation of such claims, and the determination of the per centage that should be paid to each of the claimants. It proposes to direct the Secretary of Treasury to proceed to pay to contractors or their legal representatives, such sums as the Postoffice Department certificates may prove to be due them respectively, provided that no payment shall be made to any contractor without satisfactory proof that he has not already been paid by the Confederate States.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 9.—E. A. Hoyt, Commissioner of Indian Affairs and ex-President of the International Trust Company of Jersey City, with F. D. Kerrand, C. M. Field and other officers of the Company, have been indicted by the Grand Jury of Hudson county, New Jersey, for publishing a statement of the affairs of the Company which, the bill alleges, they well knew to be false, and which was published with the intent to induce persons to intrust their money with the corporation. The Trust Company failed last year owing depositors over $177,000. Yesterday he pleaded not guilty, and declares that the prosecution is incited by political motives. The Times says, however, that the Grand Jury which indicted him was drawn by a Republican Sheriff, and that the other members of the Board of Trustees were not indicted, because they were not active in directing its operations and probably knew nothing of the way in which its business was managed.

MINOR DISPATCHES.

BOSTON, May 9.—It is stated that the Harvard students have decided to send an eight to represent them at the American Henly, to take place at Saratoga July the 9th, 10th and 11th.

HUDSON, N. Y., May 9.—The Knickerbocker's ice house, three miles below Athens, has been burned. Loss $25,000. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

COHASSETT NARROWS, MASS, May 9.—The advent minister, Charles Brown, is announced to address the Pocasset adventists on Saturday. People threaten to tar and feather him, and ride him on a rail.

M. LEPERE, the French Minister of the Interior, has taken steps to abolish all the press penalties and make it absolutely free. The only thing that will still have its punishment is defamation of character.

CANADA.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, May 9.—A detachment of the local militia, under the command of Col. Osborne Smith left here yesterday and arrived at Cross Lake at 6 o'clock p. m. They took four days rations and one hundred rounds of ammunition to each man. Mr. Whitehead sent a large sum of money to pay off the strikers. The general impression is no serious trouble need be feared unless caused through a misapprehension of the main object of the military.

Criminal Court Notes.

The Criminal Court made pretty good progress yesterday in the disposal of the criminal docket. Aside from the Shrewsberry case, two sentences were made. Frank Mourfield, colored youth, submitted to the charge of stealing a horse from Mr. Maxwell, in the lower end of the county, and was sent to the penitentiary for 3 years. Andrew Richardson, another colored chap, submitted also to the charge of stealing a quarter sack of flour from Maj. Scales' mill, and was sent to the work house for 10 days.

In the case of Bud Ganis, charged with the shooting of Van Johnson on the night of last Christmas, the first witness for the defense, Alex Chapman, testified that he was the man who did the shooting, and went on to explain how the difficulty originated, stating that Johnson was advancing on him with his hand behind him as if to draw a pistol, and he fired three shots, one taking effect. The case of Gainis was there terminated, and the Attorney General directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, which was done. The crowd which were together that night on a little Christmas spree, were Alex. and Will. Chapman, Jack Wilds and Bud Ganis. All were subsequently arrested and bound over to this court. Jack Wilds' case was taken up on the same charge yesterday evening, and the trial is now pending.

Mr. W. Dow Rule, recently admitted to the bar, made his maiden effort in the court yesterday, reading the indictment and assisting in the prosecution of the horse stealing case.

River News.

There was some activity on the wharf yesterday, and the draymen were given something to do. Of the grain barges which came down on the tide two weae unloaded and tranferred to the depot, or warehouses of purchasers. Capt. Hayworth, of Jefferson county, unloaded in the morning 483 sacks of corn. Yesterday evening the barge of Hamilton James, and others, with about 1,000 bushels of wheat and corn. There also remain anchored above the landing four barges which are sold and will be unloaded to-day. Two of them belong to Messrs. E. M. and D. A. Tate, loaded with wheat and corn. The other two are loaded with corn and belong to Capt. Reed and Jas. E. Morgan. Two went on below to be sold at points further South. All except the first named came from the vicinity of May Springs, Grainger county. The ruling prices obtained by the sellers is $1 15 for wheat and 51 cents for corn.

Tennessee Historical Society.

As we learn from the American, the Tennessee Historical Society held its annual meeting in Nashville, Tuesday last. Gov. A. S. Marks and Dr. E. L. Drake, of Nashville, and Hon. Harvey Mathes, of Memphis, were elected active members. George W. Rauck, of Lexington, Kentucky, was elected a corresponding member. Hon. Horace Maynard, of Knoxville, was elected an honorary member.

A large number of donations were announced from Government institutions at Washington, from the Oneida Historical Society at Utica, N. Y., Pennsylvania Historical Society, and various individuals in this and other States.

The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year:

Dr. J. G. M. Ramsey, Knoxville, President; Judge John M. Lea, Nashville, First Vice President; ex-Governor Jas. D. Porter, Paris, Second Vice President; Gen. G. P. Thurston, Nashville, Corresponding Secretary; Anson Nelson, Recording Secretary; Joseph S. Carels, Treasurer; Dr. J. B. Lindsley, Lebanon.
