The City and Country.

QUESTION for THE SABBATH SCHOOLS.

No. 9.—What instances of youthful piety are given in the Scriptures?

BLANKS—Justices Blanks of all kinds, of correct form and neat execution, for sale at this office. tf

CALABOOSE—The city has bought a lot on Broadway, just north of this office, on which they are about to erect a calaboose.

FURNITURE—We ask attention to the notice of some articles of furniture in our advertising columns. It can be bought at advantageous prices.

REMOVAL—We are sorry to say that Col. Geo. S. Rathbun, attorney at law, finds his health so poor that he is induced to remove his office from this city to Wellington, to avoid so much riding. Mr. R. will be found at his office in Wellington.

FROST—Is said to have visited part of our county on Thursday night last. It was very light, and little or no damage was done to the growing crops.

MELONS—The mock Mayor has issued his proclamation against the sale of melons. We hope the cholera will be estopped thereby; but if it is, it will not flow from the proclamation.

"LEE"—Is again crowded out; so also an article on Andersonville. We wish our paper was a little more like an omnibus, never filled, but always with room for one more. We shall have to enlarge, anon.

MEN of the highest attainments in medical science are now using and recommending the reliable vegetable tonic, Red Jacket Bitters, as a restorative after fever, and the very best strengthening medicine for feeble convalescents.

GONE EAST—Mr. Sinseur, late of the firm of J. Cahn & Co., under this office, has departed eastwardly, in quest of new goods. He gives notice that he will return with a large and varied stock.

TEXAS PONIES—A sale of Texas ponies was made here a few days ago, at the stable of Young & Bethuren. The number sold was not large, the demand being light. Sales ranged from $15 50 to $77 00. Some very good ponies were sold within these limits.

WHITTLESEY'S CHOLERA SYRUP—This old and valued medicine, which has been in use in this community for the last fifteen years, and always found reliable, can be found in any quantity at the drug store of T. J. Fletcher, on Main street.

MR. EMDE—"Mr. Emde will be out in a few days."—[Register of Thursday last.

The fact is that Mr. Emde had been 'out' several days before this announcement was made, and we wonder at the statement. He was not badly hurt at first.

MORE SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS—Dr. D. K. Murphy has taken the 'Seminary' southwest of Wellington, in the edge of Jackson county, and will open a High School there, on the first Monday in October next. Announcement in our next. Dr. M. is a fine teacher, and we wish him ample success.

HORSE STOLEN—The stable of Jno. E. Ryland, Esq., was entered, on Saturday night last, and robbed of a fine grey saddle mare, aged seven or eight years, belonging to Rev. Mr. Brown, the Presiding Elder of this district, of the Methodist Church South. It is likely the work of some Kansas thief, or his abettor here. It is bad enough to steal a horse from any one; but when a thief gets so hard up as to steal from a preacher, it is high time he were placed in Fletcher's enlargement to the penitentiary. Shame on him. He had better make restitution.

HORSE RUNAWAY—On Saturday afternoon last, a horse attached to the vehicle of Dr. J. F. Hassell, having in it Mrs. Hassell, two children and a negro boy driver, became frightened and runaway, breaking everything before his mad career could be arrested. At the corner of Franklin and College streets, the wagon struck the fence with sufficient force to throw its inmates violently to the ground. Fortunately the horse became detached from the wagon at this point and no farther damage was done. Mrs. Hassell was considerably bruised, and, at first, it was feared, seriously injured. The children and the negro, strange to say, were not at all hurt.

J. CAHN—This gentleman, lately in business under this office, has sold out to his partner, Mr. Sineaur, and removed to Independence, where he will in future abide. An acquaintance of some time with Mr. Cahn in this city, both as a business man and gentleman, enables us to say that he is all that he should be—as a merchant, polite, affable and accommodating; as a citizen, social, bland and companionable; and we take pleasure in endorsing him to our friends in Independence as a valuable acquisition to the business and social circle there.

DRY GOODS—Wm. Chrisman, late with M. Leiblich, has opened a dry goods store on Main street, in the house with Mr. Fletcher, under the Bourbon House, for the sale of dry goods, and would be pleased to see his old friends. His stock, he tells us, is quite full and varied, embracing the staples and fancies, and held at reasonable prices. Mr. C. tells us he is in for the seasons, railroad or no railroad, and will so sell as to warrant a return of his customers. Give him a call.

WIXSON & RUSSELL—Real Estate Agents, report sales at their office as follows:

Samuel P. Anderson to Steel & Wentworth a farm of 600 acres, 14 miles southeast of Lexington, for $10,000 cash.

Winsor & Burton to T. S. McChesney, 240 acres wild land, 18 miles southwest of Lexington, for $1,600.

G. W. Baker to Mr. Wirtz, a farm of 120 acres, 5 miles south of Lexington for $3,500.

E. Winsor to Dr. Spencer, house on North street, $1,600.

Clagett to Winsor, house on Third street, $1,300.

Dr. Hassell to Mrs. Kertley, house on North street, $1,300.

E. Winsor to Alex. Wright and others, 400 acres wild land in Bates and Vernon counties, $1,200.

E. Campbell to P. H. Pitts, house in Old Town, $400.

R. M. Henderson to City of Lexington, 30 feet front, lot on Broadway, opposite Arcana Hall, $250.

T. B. Clagett to —— Miller, Nichols farm, 12 miles south of Lexington, 240 acres, for $6,300.

Winfrey to Price, 160 acres wild land in Carroll county, for $180.

SCHOOLS—Dr. Stone's school commences Monday morning next, at his residence.

RELIEF NEWS.

At a meeting of the Society of this township, Saturday last, called for the purpose of forming a Parent Board from all the Societies of the county, the meeting was not full enough to proceed to business. Delegates were in attendance from Clay and Washington townships, but no further action was had than the appointment of a committee to draft a constitution and frame by-laws for the government of the Parent Board, and if adopted by the several Societies, then they will co-operate in their efforts at relief, and also in dispensing the fund of the whole. If not, each Society will, as heretofore, manage its own affairs as they may deem best. The following letter was read:

"ROME, GA., Aug. 6, 1866.

MISS MARY F. HAWKINS: I am directed by the Inferior Court of Floyd county, Ga., to acknowledge the receipt of your very kind proposition, to the Rev. W. C. Williams, of our city, and to thank your Society for the kind offer of bread-stuffs for the suffering widows and orphans of our once prosperous, but now devastated country. We would gladly receive aid from the fair donors of Missouri, if we knew how it could be transported to us.

* * * * * The wants of the most needy have been greatly relieved by the State, which gave two hundred thousand dollars for the relief of the poor, but we have expended the last of that, and will have to get all we can from other sources, or our widows and orphans must suffer, as our present crop is very much injured from the drought. Kind Miss, you will tender our best wishes to your society, and accept the same yourself, for your kindness toward our suffering country. Very respectfully,

[SEAL] J. W. LANGSTON,
Clerk Inferior Court, Floyd Co., Ga.

It was agreed that the meetings of the Society, hereafter, should be held on the first Saturday in each month, at 2 o'clock. Saturday next, being the first Saturday in September, the meeting will be held at the Baptist Church, at 2 o'clock. The President requests us to say she hopes the meeting will be a full one, as the constitution will be submitted for adoption. The report of the committee to procure co-operation with other counties, and the draft of the constitution of the Parent Board, will be submitted for consideration.

By the way, we hear nothing of late, from Davis town-ship, or Sni-a-bar, or Dover. Is nothing doing in the good cause. Middleton township will come up to the work, we think, very soon.

Statement of receipts and expenses of the Washington Township Southern Aid Society:

Amount received at Meat table		$260 00
"	" refreshment table	189 55
"	" lemonade well	50 50
"	" auction of meats	19 65
"	" donations	101 00
Amount of receipts		$622 70
" expenses		79 65
Balance in Treasury		$583 05

This is certainly very good for Washington, and the ladies of that Township deserve great praise.

Extract from a private letter, dated "Tuscumbia, Ala., Aug. 19th, 1866."

"As to the destitution of our State, and of the South generally, I suppose the accounts you see from the papers are not much exaggerated. From all we can hear, there is much suffering among those poor families all over the mountains, as well as in towns. All donations made for their relief are distributed equally among the destitute and suffering, whether Union or rebel—all the same. The negroes are amply provided for by the "blessed Bureau," hence, come in for no donations, so we hear."

RAY COUNTY—The Fair, at Shaw's Shop, for the benefit of the sufferers at the South, Friday last, yielded about $250.

We have been favored by Mrs. President Lykins, of Kansas City, with a circular "appeal in behalf of the widows and orphans of deceased confederate soldiers of Missouri." The object of the appeal is to raise funds to establish, in Kansas City, Mo., a "Home for the Widows and Orphans of deceased confederate soldiers of Missouri." The object is a very good one, indeed, and meets our views quite fully, except location, which is quite too near to the State of Kansas, and geographically out of the centre of destitution in this State. But something of the kind is needed in Missouri, is a self-evident fact, and one, too, that all must feel and recognize; but whether Kansas City is the place for such an institution, is a question of more doubt—a question that it seems to us is very debatable. And while we would not throw a feather in the way of its inauguration, we feel it to be our duty to say that the location is not so good as we should like it to be. It is right upon the border of Kansas, which would subject it to raids from red legs and other thieves, who could scarcely ever content themselves to allow so charitable an institution to pass unnoticed or unrobbed. And then, again, the institution, as proposed to be located, is not central to the very people proposed to be relieved by its charities. It could and would relieve the county of Jackson, and the people of Kansas City, but in central and southwest Missouri, it could scarcely have the effect desired. The ladies of the Society here, and perhaps in other town-ships of the county, have under advisement a plan to erect a similar institution in this city, and if it were not that their organization and fundamental law tied them down to a distribution of the fund now on hand, at the South, they would have probably moved in the matter before this. As it is they can do nothing for an institution of this kind at home, until means for that specific end is raised—all agreeing that the physical wants of the South, with a nice discrimination in favor of destitution at home, is the legitimate end for which the fund was raised, and without a direct appeal to those who contributed it, with their approval of the proposed change, the fund cannot be diverted.

CHOLERA—Much is said of this disease, and many reports get into the country in regard to its ravages here. It is right therefore that facts should be stated, and so far as may be in our power to learn them, we mean to give them now and hereafter, with no effort at concealment, that the reasonable fears of our friends in the country may be allayed, or they put in possession of the facts in the case. WE HAVE NO CHOLERA TO-DAY. Mr. Charles V. Brown died here on Thursday last of what his physicians, or some of them, denominated sporadic (isolated, separate, not epidemic) cholera, indeced perhaps by exposure, inattention to his wants at the proper time, and perhaps some fear of the disease. We have heard of no other case, nor has there been another, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. That there are some cases of derangement of the bowelary system is not to be denied, but none have run into cholera. The friends of Mr. Brown say he died of a congestive chill, to which he was somewhat subject. But of this we know nothing, and are disposed to accept of the physicians' statement that it was sporadic cholera. We are satisfied that it has not spread, that we have no other cases to date. It is now almost too late in the season—frost having fallen—to fear its prevalance here in an epidemic form.

We may add that our city has been pretty thoroughly cleansed, and put in order for its reception. Disinfectants have been freely used, streets and alleys cleared, cellars and damp rooms ventillated, fumigated, purified, so that we feel a degree of security amounting almost to certainty that our city will experience no severe effects from it. On the river, a case is occasionally reported, but they are few, and occasion little or no alarm.

MONEY LOST—A pocket-book, containing some $17, was dropped, it is supposed, on Main street, somewhere between the court-house and the Catholic church, evening before last. As this property belongs to a very worthy but poor lady, we hope the finder will be good enough to return it to this office, where information of the owner may be had.

SUPPOSED DARING ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY, AND PROBABLE MURDER!

In relating the circumstances, as was supposed at the time, of the attempted perpetration of one of the most horrid tragedies that ever froze the blood, we are involuntarily disposed, like one entering the chamber of the dead, to pause for a moment upon the threshold, and to fortify our breasts with precepts that might incite us to the task with a becoming sense of duty. But there are reasons in this case, however, that dispose us to forego the inclination, and we would rather leave our reader to judge of the circumstances for themselves, than to predispose them with a sentimentality which, when the facts are known, they would not be prepared to appreciate. Nor are we disposed to create an impression to be weakened by interpretation, knowing that by an intelligent analization of the facts, a correct conclusion can be reached, when the facts are fully narrated.

The horrible occurrence, and the concomitant circumstances which we are called upon to relate, occurred at a late hour last night, and in our own once peaceful, happy and quiet city, and at an hour and place, and under circumstances that invite the midnight marauders to the perpetration of his deeds. "deep, dark and danning." We can only tender to the young lady our deep and heartfelt sympathy for her in that hour of her terrible distress, and congratulate the mother, the only two unfortunate occupants of the house at the time the occurrence happened, that by the timely interposition of an overruling Providence, and that "eye that watcheth all things," that she was so enabled, at an opportune moment, to render that timely aid, and to avert, in all probability, a terrible calamity to her darling child. The circumstances of the supposed outrage admonish us, for prudential reasons, to forbear giving names, and the locality, at present, and we would ask of an intelligent and discreet community, knowing, as we do, the sensitiveness of the public pulse, at present, a partial suspension, at least, of an opinion, until the facts are further known.

It was after midnight, and in a locality retired from the business portion of the city, and in the immediate neighborhood of a rendezvous of boisterous, drunken freedmen, whose midnight orgies have constantly kept that locality in dread of violence. Although within the corporate limits of the city, it was nevertheless at so remote a distance from the adjacent habitations, as to preclude the possibility of an alarm being heard, or timely aid being given. It unfortunately happened that the male portion of the family were absent, and out of town, and the mother and her daughter were the only occupants of the ill-fated premises at the time the occurrence happened. Indeed, it does seem that a conspiracy of circumstances, in these days of daylight murder and nignight assassinations, invited the occurrence—the locality—the isolation of the premises, and the absence of its male defenders—together with the unusual darkness of the night, at the time of the occurrence.

As we have said, the male portion of the family were absent, and out of town, and the two ladies, feeling, we suppose, somewhat lonely, retired at an early hour—the mother to her chamber in the upper rooms, while the young lady remained below. Ah! but little did they know, then, under what circumstances they would again meet. The young lady, feeling somewhat fatigued from her evening perambulations on a shopping excursion about the city, soon yielded to the gentle sleep that pressed her velvet eyelids. Her young mind, alert and fervid with fashion's follies, dreamed only of the morrow, when, bedecked in the paraphernalia of the fashionable purchases of the evening, she would appear, the cynosure of all eyes. But alas! little did she know that she was then on the brink of that brief period of time that lapse only between a glittering yesterday and a black to-morrow, and that that "sweet sleep and pleasant dream" was doomed to be disturbed by the noise of supposed midnight assassins, already chiselling at her window. It was too true; she was aroused by the noise alluded to, which, as she awoke, seemed as though some one had, or was entering her chamber through the window. Alarmed at the noise, and while yet half slumbering, she raised herself to a reclining position, and there saw distinctly standing at the foot of her bed, a huge negro—his great woolly head peering from behind the footboard as if endeavoring to conceal himself. The poor girl shrank back with an icy terror at the apparition, without courage to speak, or power to retreat to her mother's chamber. She instantly sprang to the floor, confronting the huge monster, her fright being so intense, however, that she was unable to give any alarm whatever. What could she do, overcome with fright? Unnerved, she stood rivoted to the floor. A life of suspense flitted before her in a moment, as the poor young girl stood bewildered and horror-stricken. In her paroxysm of anguish and despair, the young lady wildly sprang upon the object, and with a loud scream, swooned lifeless upon the floor.

The unearthly scream, together with the noise of the dull heavy sound of the young lady as she fell upon the floor, awoke her mother, who, quickly snatching a light, hurried to the spot from whence the noise had proceeded, and, to her surprise, found her daughter lying insensible upon the floor, grasping with a death grip, at arm's length, a late fashionable "FRIZZLE HEAD DRESS," or "TOW-HEAD."

By the timely application of restoratives, the young lady was quickly brought to consciousness, when the affair explained itself. It appears that upon the young lady's retiring at night, she placed her clothes upon the footboard, and the frizzle head-dress she had purchased that evening, on the bed post, and the wind jarring the loose shutters, caused the noise at the window.

The Military tax in Missouri is $5 50 on every $1,000 and yet we are occasionally reminded of radical benefits! Notwithstanding this, Fletcher would—Hancock willing—foist upon us nigger militia, white bushwhackers, red legs, jayhawkers, and other thieves. Even now, the mock Governor is tampering with some sort of negro organization, that military taxes may increase, instead of being lessened.

REGISTRATION AGAIN.

We announced last week that Mr. Attorney General Wingate had written a letter here, fully exemplifying our County Court in subdividing the county as to have but two voting precincts, with two registering districts to correspond. We ventured then to wonder how, in the face of the law, the Attorney General could make such a legal announcement—such a terrible blunder—feeling sure all the time, it was an error both of head and heart. It now turns out that another letter has been received from the Attorney General, which entirely upsets his first position, for it directs that polls must be opened in all the townships, and that registration must proceed in every voting district. Thus far, the law is complied with. But what of our court, and his first letter! Registrars are to be appointed in each district in the first ten days of July, and the districts established, and their boundaries given. This was not done, and the question is whether all the dodging and veering has been to invalidate the vote of the county, or whether it was done through sheer ignorance. We cannot say; but we are certain the improved opinion of the Attorney General was not received until after Gen. Hancock assumed command of this department!

As the matter now stands, our court will have to go over their work, assisted by the registrar, and appoint voting places in all the townships, according to law, and have the registry made in each voting district. So much for Gen. Hancock. It would have been much easier, and look far better, if our justices, and the supervisor of registration had done all this legally and right in the first place; they would have felt better, looked better, and been better. We have never yet heard how it was proposed to elect township officers, under the late arrangement; but suppose, to carry out the views or the court, Lexington and Freedom would have had to elect these officers for all the townships!

RECEIPTS.

A valued friend, and one much given to observation, furnishes us with the following recipes for several diseases, that are simple, cheap and safe. Try them.

FOR FLUX—Take a small quantity of yellow sumach root bark, boil in sweet milk, and take from a table-spoonful to a wine glass, as often as palatable, till the disease is arrested. The berry of this species is red; bark of root smooth and yellow.

CHOLIC—Bilious or other cholic may be relieved by the common smart weed, made into a tea, and taken in palatable doses, until relief is given.

WOUND—Such as stone bruises are relieved by weak lie poultices.

CHOLERA—A Dr. Rubini gives camphor as a specific for cholera. To obtain saturated spirits of camphor (the kind used), dissolve the spirits of wine, and get rid of so much of its water as will bring it to sixty degrees over proof. Dose, every five minutes, 4 drops, to be increased in severe cases to 20 drops every five minutes. Use no water with it.

NEW JEWELRY—Grimes & Venable are on hand with a lot of new jewelry, and lots of fancy articles in their line, to which the trade and friends are invited. It is worth a quarter anytime—more than an ordinary show—to see their cuckoo clock, and hear the little joker of a cuckoo crow, to say nothing of a large and varied, and well assorted stock of jewelry, watches, clocks, silver ware, combs, brushes, et cetera, and we bespeak for them a "crowded house."

DANGER OF PISTOLS—A couple of brothers named Flourney got into a row, on Saturday last, near Shaw's Shop, in Ray county, during which one of the brothers was killed and the other wounded. They had been out shooting with a pistol, and fell out.

James E. Johnson will please call at my warehouse immediately, on business of importance to himself. A. G. WILLIAMS.

THE TEST OATH.

"I, A. B., do solemnly swear that I am well acquainted with the terms of the third section of the second article of the Constitution of the State of Missouri, adopted in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-five, and have carefully considered the same; that I have never, directly or indirectly, done any of the acts in said section specified; that I have always been truly and loyally on the side of the United States against all enemies thereof, foreign and domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States, and will support the Constitution and laws thereof, as the supreme law of the land, any law or ordinance of any State to the contrary notwithstanding; that I will, to the best of my ability, protect and defend the Union of the United States, and not allow the same to be broken up and dissolved, or the Government thereof to be destroyed or overthrown, under any circumstances, if in my power to prevent it; that I will support the Constitution of the State of Missouri; and that I make this oath without any mental reservation or evasion, and hold it to be binding on me."

Picture of a Radical.

Many years ago, Judge Halliburton, the Sam Slick of the olden time, said of a radical—

"The ultra-low radical is of the species rari, its colours consisting of a patched distribution of black, dirty white, and grey, though its real or natural color is supposed to be black. It is known to be of a fierce and almost untameable nature. It moves in large droves, when it is very mischievous, exerting a voice so loud and powerful, as to strike astonishment and terror into those who hear it, resembling in this respect, as well as in habits, the radical and chartist of England. It is impatient of control, but exhibits a sullen submission under firm treatment, though upon the slightest indulgence, or relaxation of discipline, it turns on its keeper with great fury. Its habits are predatory, its appetites unclean and ravenous, and its general appearance disgusting."

Within the last thirty days, over eight thousand head of cattle have been brought into St. Joseph from Kansas—the greater portion of them were shipped east.—[Landmark.

Yes, shipped east! But where did they come from originally; that's the question. How many of them belong in Vernon county, Mo." in Cass county; in Jackson county; in Lafayette county, &c. We should like to know. And we should like to know further, if it would not have been more creditable to have sent them home? Where is all the gold watches? Were they sent east, too?

The Party of Christianity.

Lawyer Galloway, of Columbus, Ohio, who figured so discreditably at the Presbyterian General Assembly, recently held in St. Louis, made a speech last Saturday at a Radical primary meeting, in Columbus, in which he claimed that his party was "the party of Christianity."

Such has been the hypocritical claim of the Republican party for the last four years.

John Brown, the horse-thief, robber and murderer, has been elevated by them to the position of a "saint." Text—"Thou shalt not steal."

The Rev. Boyakin, who lately seduced the daughter of his host, is an expounder in the "party of Christianity." Text—"Thou shalt not commit adultery."

Thad. Stevens, the profane blackguard, is a shining light in the "party of Christianity." Text—"Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

Wendell Phillips, Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Abby Kelly, and other avowed infidels, are pillars in the "party of Christianity." Text—"He that believeth not in Me shall be damned."

The preachers of the "party of Christianity" have defiled the sanctity of the church by preaching politics instead of the gospel. Text—"Ye have made my house a den of thieves."

Zac Chandler, the drunken bloat, is a member in good standing in the "party of Christianity." Text—"Look not upon the wine cup when it is red."

The members of the "party of Christianity" have mobbed their neighbors for differing in opinion with them. Text—"Love thy neighbor as thyself."

What a pretty party of Christianity! They have disregarded every one of the ten commandments, prostituted the Church, until it has lost most of influence for good.

The militia company at Independence has resigned in disgust and gone home. If Fletcher intends to carry out his proclamation in good faith, he will issue an order without delay disbanding the company—in fact not only the company but the entire organization—and thus aid in keeping the peace and preserving the quiet of the State.

It has been often intimated, says the Dayton (O.) Empire, that Stanton dreads to leave the protection of the War Department, from very abject, personal fear—cringing, puling, sneaking cowardice. He sees an assassin in every shadow—he hears a musket in every fire-cracker—feels a rope in every jaglar thrid!"
