SOMETHING NEW AT WILSON & HUTCHISON'S—Every Lady should have one of those beautiful "shawl suits," on exhibition at Wilson & Hutchison's dry goods establishment; they are decidedly the most economical wrap, as well as the most graceful and becoming wrapping that has ever been introduced to the notice of the ladies. Also on hand, the Fringed goods to make them as low as it can be sold, for which, call at Wilson & Hutchison's. nov5-2t

WHY IS IT—Our druggist Theo. Goswisch, secures the best cough remedies for this market—enterprise will tell. Read:

Boone Co., Feb. 4th, 1870. Dr. Gilman: The bottle of Cohosh and Tar, bought of you about a week since, has relieved me of a very bad cough accompanied by great soreness of the chest. I have not used half of it, and feel sound and well. oct8 6m JOHN H. MOYER.

For sale by Theo. Goswisch. aug6m4

GO—To an old reliable druggist when you want medicines you can rely on. Theo. Goswisch will recommend to all his friends Dr. Gilman's Tonic Bitters. Read the following: Mr. R. R. Price, popular banker, of Columbia, Mo., says of this Bitters: I was twice prostrated by chills and fever, and still more prostrated by the remedies used—arsenic, &c.—but by the use of Dr. Gilman's Tonic Bitters, was entirely restored to health. Having this Bitters at hand, I have no more fear of chills and fever, or other malarious diseases. And when in the prosecution of my business, I feel weak and debilitated a dose of this bitters sets me all right again. aug6m4

GRIMES & VENABLE—This big house, dealing in the first quality goods, and for low prices, are just in receipt of a lot of everything that is pretty, nice, cheap, useful and ornamental, among which may be found the following: National Coffee Pot; Plated and Silver Ware; Toilet Sets; large line of the Medallion Black Sets, and Bracelets; Gents' and Ladies' Gold Watches; larger stock than usual of Gold and Silver Watches; Jewelry and Diamond Rings, and all new patterns made to this date; a full line of fancy goods in this line.

This coffee pot is a new one "on us;" but it is said to beat 'em all. "Yonst try one, already."

RELIGIOUS—We notice that Elder John A. Brooks, of Kentucky, has been called to the pastoral care of the Christian church, in St. Louis:

Services to-morrow as follows:
At Baptist, by D. W. Bolton.
At Methodist, by Rev. Mr. Stacey.
At Presbyterian, by Rev. Mr. Quarles.
At Episcopal, by Rev. Mr. Dunn.
At Catholic, by Father Hoog.
At Christian, not known.
At North Methodist, by Rev. Mr. Tuttle.
At German Methodist, by Rev. Mr. ——.
At Cumberland, not known.

Appointments of Rev. J. R. Bennett, for first round of quarterly meetings, in Lexington district, west St. Louis conference:

Sallne, Mt. Camel	Nov. 19-20.
Grand Pass, Grand Pass	Nov. 26-27.
Blackwater Chapel	Dec. 3-4.
Warrensburg station	Dec. 10-11.
Dover, at Dover	Dec. 17-18.
Waverly station	Dec. 24-25.
Lexington	Dec. 31, Jan. 1.

Rev. A. G. Stacy, A. M. This gentleman came among us a year ago a perfect stranger. As the Methodist church here was in bad financial condition, to the duties of pastor, he added those of teacher. In the Female Seminary for the last year he taught the languages and the higher branches of mathematics. Both as pastor and as teacher he has won the esteem and confidence of our citizens, and it is with regret that they hear it announced that his duties call him to Lexton. He bears with him to his new home the kindest wishes, for himself and family, of all his scholars and parishioners.—[Jefferson City Tribune.

MERCHANTS' LICENSES

IS OUR PRESENT LAW A JUST ONE?—Under the law, a peddler or auctioneer may procure a license to do business, for six months, for the paltry sum of ten dollars, with a proper return of sales. A regular dealer pays, in the same time, almost three hundred dollars. If an auction house—the clap-trap that catches so many people—is set up alongside of him, or a foot merchant comes along with a small pack and a promise of three or four steamboat loads of goods to arrive in a day or two, all to be sold at Munchausenly low prices, his business suspended or destroyed, even if he is offering better bargains and better goods than the merchant with his pack, or the auctioneer. This is not right. Some arrangement should be effected to equalize these things. We see no reason why an irresponsible comer and goer should set himself down, and, for the thirtieth part of a license paid by regular and reliable dealers, monopolise trade, and drive from its those we know and respect, both for their private worth, and their honesty of trade in a legitimate line of business. Still it is done, and done under the law, to the great detriment of all—seller and buyer. Is this right? We think not.

DONATION FROM GREENTON, MO.—Our dear young friends at Greenton, Mo., have made our hearts rejoice, and cheered our spirits by their sympathy and tender interest in less fortunate ones, as expressed in the letter which brought to us their contribution of fourteen dollars and eighty-five cents. We seem to see each individual donor, and picture to ourselves the feelings which moved each young and loving heart to give their offering to the poor; perhaps some of them relinquished some cherished project, for which they were saving their money, that they might aid their young companions to raise this contribution; perhaps some may even have denied themselves some necessary article, moved by pity of the hapless orphans, and practiced a sublime act of self-denial. We can only bless and thank you, dear children, and leave the reward of your generous deed with our loving Savior, who has declared that no deed of love or mercy shall fail of its reward. The riches of the world—its pleasures and treasures—will soon pass away, and we cannot take a single jewel or dollar with us through the portals of the tomb; but the pity for human suffering, which leads to acts of mercy to the destitute and sorrowing, gains for us a joy even in this life, which is more lasting than any selfish heart can know, and gives us a sweet sense of the loving smile and favor of the God of the poor. Do not grow weary, dear young friends, in your noble work, think how much good results from your united offerings, and how our hearts are encouraged by your words of loving sympathy. We thank you all.—[Orphan's Advocate.

THE VOTE—In our published table it will be seen that uncle George Smith is ahead of Mr. Comingo in this county. This result was an accident. The tickets printed did it. We printed a ticket with three names on it, trusting to voters to scratch; and beside this, there was a bogus ticket out, with "Love is stronger than hate," on which uncle George's name was printed, so that, with a few Liberals who bolted Mr. Comingo, his real vote should have been well up to the balance of the ticket, or even ahead of it. We regret exceedingly this result. We are ashamed for it to go to the world that the county of Lafayette voted for Smith. But we can't help it. The disfranchised in the county will not go below two thousand, and if the eternal haters will add this vote to the one cast at the polls, they will be able to see the hand writing on the wall, in the future. No eternal hater will ever hold office in this county again! Do you mind that, Mr. African.

HOGS—Paris, Ky., Oct. 1870. I, that took the premium at the St. Louis fair. I was. You ask if it was I had the good fortune to whip the big hog men there pretty badly, and after the show was over, while they were selling their pigs for $15 and $20, I sold them for $300 down to $150 each. I sold four pigs there, three of them 4 months old, and one some little older, at the same little sum of $800, and besides, took $500 in premiums. I sold three others at $350. This will do pretty well for luck this time, and besides, we have the credit of showing the finest stock that was ever seen in St. Louis. I know I have the best in Kentucky, and have proved it wherever they have met me at the fair this fall. I should have liked exceedingly well, could I have attended your fair. Hope it may yet come in the way some day to be present at one of them.
H. C. CLAY.

WRONG—A right smart "to do" is made in the Carrolton Journal, merely because Capt. Mayner, the candidate for sheriff of Carroll county, had said "no man ought to be allowed to vote but radicals." It is proved on him by Anderson Winfrey and Geo. W. Tatum. It is bad enough, no doubt, to use such language, worse perhaps by a man to entertain the sentiments, but we submit if it is not the sentiment that has prevailed with registrars, not only here but throughout the State, and throughout the States where the villainly has been practised.

BOLD ROBBERY—Says the Waverly, Lafayette county, Express of the 28th: "On Saturday night last, the drug store of T. J. Fletcher was entered, and the jewelry establishment of Mr. Lemuel Williams, in the same room, robbed of nine silver and three fine gold watches, worth about six hundred dollars. The money drawer of Mr. Fletcher was also left minus some six dollars. The loss to Mr. Williams is severe."

HOME JOURNAL—Now is the time to subscribe for the St. Louis Home Journal. The great sensational story by John Eaton Cooke, entitled the "Man Hunter," which of itself will be worth double the subscription price, will commence with the next week's number. Send for specimen number with terms to clubs and canvassers to Sheffield & Stone, 421 North Sixth street, St. Louis.

THE NEGRO—The African complains that on election day, the Democrats so managed as to secure a part of the colored vote. The real basis of the complaint is that radicals could not lead all the colored people round by the nose, and MAKE them vote to suit them. The knife cuts both ways.

THE MEETING—On last Monday of the radicals, held at the courthouse, it is thought, turned the tide against the eternal haters in our county. Waters, Warner and DeMotte all present, and most of them making speeches. It was more than an already nauseated stomach could stand.

NUISANCE—What is the difference in placing one of these small shanties, such as adorn our market place, on the sidewalks of Main street, or where they are? We really see but little. It would be a violation of the law in either place; and as that is the fact, they ought not to be tolerated.

ROBBED—We understand the house of Dr. Chambers was entered, a few nights ago, and robbed of a large amount of clothing, &c., which the thief or thieves found in the room which they entered. No clue has been had to the perpetrators.

LIQUORS—E. L. Martin & Co., 404 Delaware street, Kansas City, Mo., deal exclusively in pure Kentucky whiskies, pure brandies, native and foreign wines, and liquors generally. Persons wishing anything in this line will find it to their interest to purchase from this firm. apr2y1

FINE CATTLE—We noticed a drove of 107 head of cattle passing through our city, on Thursday last, destined for the region of Pleasant Hill, where, we suppose, they will be pastured during the winter. They were fine animals.

PERSONAL—We had the pleasure of a call from Mr. Reynolds, of the Miami Cable, on Thursday. Mr. R. is a good democrat; a live man, and said to us that Saline county would give Brown and Comingo a large majority. We hope so.

BIG RADDISH—Mr. J. M. Pool has sent us the largest raddish we have seen, and perhaps the best. It is a Spanish black, weighing 3¼ pounds, and if placed in the ground, like cabbage, will keep till spring, and be better eating then than in the fall.

Should Victoria's daughter marry the Marquis de Lorne, she will have an American brother-in-law, Sir Walter Campbell, who is doing business in New York.

THE PROCEEDS DISPOSED.

The Dutchess Farmer, in an article on the neighborhood horse, very loosely sums up the superiority, as follows:

1. They are, more intelligent, possessing more brain and nervous matter.
2. They are, from their intelligence, more tractable and kind in their disposition, and temper.
3. They are less liable to disease. Hence a superior constitution.
4. They are more elegant in carriage and appearance.
5. They are superior in action.
6. They endure the vicissitudes of heat and cold better.
7. They live to much greater age, maintaining their usefulness.
8. They are superior in fleetness, endurance, heavy and breathing power.
9. They always have, and always will command higher prices in the market than any other stock. Hence the great anxiety to conceal, on sale, or on investigation, such a superior animal, originating from—he is more solid, his tendency to corpulence much better defined, his muscle more elastic—in fact, his form and quality are so much superior, it results that he is much more active, much more fleet and powerful than any other variety of the horse tribe. He will perform much more labor in a given time, and repair the loss of effort, in a much shorter time. He is overwork than any animal of inferior blood. When the cold-blooded horse is overworked, his spirits sink, and his speed flags, and at times never competes. A square inch of bone from a thoroughbred horse is much heavier than a square inch from a cart horse, resembling a piece of iron, while the former is solid, partaking more of the close-grained nature of ivory. The same remark will apply to the tendons and muscles. The latter are a loose spongy texture, while the former will be stronger than a cart horse in a little more than half the weight. It is asserted—and is doubtless true—that the weight of blood horses is greater, weight for weight, by half, than the common horse.
