RED HOT.

Some Plain-Spoken Language—An Editor that Lays Brick Pomeroy in the Shade.

The editor of the Weekly Caucasian, published at Lexington, Missouri, is decidedly the wickedest fellow outside the halls of Congress. Aleck Stephens undertook the doubtful job, in his recent back-salary speech, of enlightening the press as to what constitutes a correct journalist. Beast Butler has often exercised himself in the same delightful pastime.

The newspapers usually respond to these gratuities by endeavoring to show what a statesman ought to be—and they do it vigorously, sometimes, and in a manner that almost takes one's breath.

How the kindly offices of Butler and Stephens have been received in some quarters, and the wonderful improvement made in the tone of the press thereby, may be forcible illustrated by a few extracts, upon current topics, taken from the wicked paper aforementioned.

We copy, head-lines and all, two specimen articles:

* * * * *

[From the Sumter (South Carolina) True Southron, Nov. 20.]

THE FAIR

Of the State Agricultural and Mechanical Association of South Carolina, at Hell-Hole, was the grand event of the past week for the people of this Commonwealth, and we learn was attended with the festivities which have heretofore characterized similar occasions. We regret that sickness in our family prevented us from attending this glorious Palmetto reunion, the only one which our people now enjoy exclusively among themselves, entirely free from Radical association and exempt from Yankee intrusion. Our Jupiter who was on hand, reports a large attendance of people, from all sections of the state, a good showing of Agricultural and Horticultural products, an immense display of ladies headwork, both in the Household and Ornamental departments, a creditable exhibition of blood-stock, fine horse-racing, and the presence, on the grounds, of many distinguished gentlemen, among them that glorious champion and defender of Southern honor, rights and liberties, that four-hundred-pounder Granger, the thundering Jupiter of Lexington, Missouri, Col. Pat. Donan, of the Caucasian. Had we known that the Colonel would be in attendance, we verily believe we would have strained a point, to meet him at the Capital of Thieldom, and gone into a Pres Convention with him, for the purpose of maturing a plan of campaign, for the future, against the pose of Belzebub and archimps of Beelzebub. What a howl would have gone up in the racks of South Carolina carpet-baggery and scalawaggery, if the news had got out that the Editors of the Caucasian and True Southron were in solemn conclave, at the headquarters, in the very den, of the plundering adventurers and thieving renegades. Moses and Scott would doubtless have telegraphed to Grant to send forward two or three brigades of United States troops for their protection. Whittemore would have called upon his brother rogues to unite with him in sacrilegious prayers for deliverance from the hands of the Philistines; Solomon Hogeye, the Union-Herald man, and Cass Carpenter would have been running yet from the fancied parade of eleven millions of Kuklux goblins, and the rest of the rogue brotherhood would have tucked their tails between their legs, dropped their ears and skulked away along the convicts of the penitentiary, or sworn under the shadow or beneath the folds of the battle flag of the Confederacy, that they had never for one moment been disloyal to the Lost Cause, or other than dutiful sons of the Southland. There would have been a panic in their camp, compared with which the financial crisis has been mere child's play. Such a shaking as there would have been among the dry bones of Radicalism, has never been heard about that pot of perdition, since Scott, Parker, Neagle and Patterson entered the capital of South Carolina, for the purpose of robbing and plundering our poor prostrate people. Well, we are truly sorry that we did not meet and confer with Col. Donan, but still the thieves need take but precious little comfort from our failure to hold a Press Convention.

For their edification and delectation, we will inform them, that Col. Donan and ourselves, occupy the same platform of undying and uncompromising hatred to the whole clan of rogues and plunderers, renegades and adventurers; stand shoulder to shoulder on all leading questions, involving the interests and well-being of the South; and that we mean to fight, with every weapon at our command, till the last carpet-bagger is driven back to his hyperborean home, and the last scalawag expatriates himself, or until every scoundrel of either variety, is hung as high as Haman, in expiation of his robberies and treacheries.

The Caucasian and True Southron, hold and teach in common, the doctrines of Caucasian superiority and supremacy, that the White Man is by nature and education better than the African, that this is a White Man's Country and Government, that they must be ruled by White Men, and that negroes must be excluded from all participation in the management and control of Governmental affairs in America, in both the Federal and State Departments.

The Caucasian and True Southron, hold and teach in common, that the National Debt of the United States, is blood-money, and must be repudiated, utterly and unconditionally, before any good feeling can exist between the North and South, or any genuine Reconstruction of the Government can take place.

The Caucasian and True Southron, stand side by side, shoulder to shoulder, in unrelenting, unrelenting warfare upon corrupt thieves and thieves, in monopolists and Ring-worms, everywhere throughout the country, but especially upon the vile horde of hell-commissioned scoundrels, who infest the South and poison its atmosphere with their accursed presence.

The Caucasian and True Southron are the only papers in the South, that stand squarely upon this platform at present, but they are the advance and skirmishers of the Grand Army of Southern defenders, which will ere long be reinforced and supported by a mighty column of Journalistic champions, who will aid us, in fighting the battle of Southern rights and liberties.

[From the Richmond (Mo.) Conservator, Dec. 27.]

Doctor has returned from the Sunny South, and takes and tangles his words as of yore, shocking drinks at every sly, and insinuating that we have a peculiar for lager, when it is an established fact that we are a living example of temperance, and a member of the Committee of Retrenchment and Reform of the Missouri Sanhedrim. We had thought he for our friend of the meteoric sheet, that first its sent fashion across the continent, puzzling old and young with its conglomeration of words and ideas, Go South, Donan, Go South, and be happy.

[From the Carrollton (Mo.) Record, Dec. 26.]

A "red hot" Democratic editor, in this state, whom the St. Louis Republican styles a "wordy simpleton," has an article headed: Alexander H. Stephens—The Georgia Bourbon Democrat: Impracticable and Renegade. Defends the Salary Steal, and Shows Himself a Thief at Heart." Shades of Chivalry! "git out!"

A CALIFORNIA ZEPHYR.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle.]

A tornado lately struck Milton, Calaveras county. For the few minutes during which the terrible visitation lasted, the scene was one of wild confusion, and no earthquake ever created a greater panic in a community than did this fearful march of the angry wind. The men and women who were in the street were blown about in all directions. Horses, cows and other animals were tumbled and rolled about, and their frightened bellowing added another to the mixture of discordant sounds. It seemed, indeed, as if judgment had descended upon the little town. Houses swayed to and fro, and in many cases were lifted from their foundations and carried many yards away. Roofs flew recklessly about, and the air was filled with boards and shingles torn from the buildings.

WHAT ELSE?

They walked together in the dusk,
Along the garden's shrubbery edge;
The heavy roses scattered musk
Like faint scents across the cedar hedge;
A spotted snake came gliding through,
To shield her from imagined harms,
What should he do—what could he do,
But take her safe into his arms?

While for one happy moment still
Her head was leaning on his breast
He felt a little tremor thrill
The hand against his shoulder prest;
The parted lips were trembling too—
Some feeling for her fears to show,
What should he do—what could he do,
But kiss her ere he let her go?

Redder than in the garden bed
The roses blossomed in her cheek,
"You wicked, wicked cheat!" she said,
Soon as the injured lips could speak.
Lest he should prove her charge for true
And seem the most depraved of men,
What should he do—what could he do,
But give her back the kiss again?

Ghosts have made their appearance at Rochester, Buffalo, Pottsville, Green River, Kentucky, Detroit, San Francisco, Chamois, Missouri, and Salt Lake. They are reported quite lively.

A New Hampshire school committee advertised for a school teacher; and added that "no man need apply which parts his hair in the middle and wears shirts open behind."

In the Paris orangerie they have an orange tree 400 years of age. It was planted by Eleanor of Castile, wife of Charles III. Paris also boasts of an elm tree planted in 1685, under the government of Henry IV.

SPEAK NAR ILL.

Other people have their faults,
And we have ye as well,
But all ye chance to see or hear
Is no sure right to tell.
If ye canna speak o' good,
Take care, and see, and feel,
Earth has all too much o' woe,
And not enough o' weal.

Be careful that ye make no strife
Wi' meddling tongue and brain,
For ye will find enough to do
If ye but look at hame.
If ye canna speak o' good,
O, dinna speak at all;
For there is grief and woe enough
On this terrestrial ball.

If ye should feel like picking flaws,
Ye'd better go, I ween,
And read the book that tells ye all
About the mote and beam.
Dinna lend a willy ear
To gossip or to strife,
Or, perhaps, 'twill make for ye
Nae funny thing of life.

A gentleman was complimenting a pretty young lady in the presence of his wife. "It's lucky I did not meet Miss Hopkins before I married you, my dear." "Well, yes, it is extremely lucky—for her," was the dry rejoinder.

A French gentleman learning English to some purpose, replied thus to the salutations: "How do you do, monsieur?" "Do yail?" "How do you fling yourself?" "I never loses myself." "How do you feel?" "Smooth, you just feel me."

If your parents won't let you marry him, write a letter to a convent asking for a situation as a nun, have the letter intercepted by your mother, and a finale of white satin, lace, orange blossoms and things will follow. At least it worked that way with a Troy girl.

OLD TIMES.

There's a beautiful song on the slumberous air
That drifts through the valley of reame;
It comes from a clime where the roses are,
And a tuneful heart and bright brown hair
That waved to the morning beams.

Soft eyes of azure and eyes of brown
And snow-white foreheads are there;
A glimmering Cross and a glittering Crown,
Lost hopes and leaflets of prayer.

A rosy wreath in a dimpled hand,
A ring and a slighted vow;
Three golden links of a broken band,
A tiny track on the snow-white sand,
A tear and a sinless brow.

There's a tincture of grief in the beautiful song
That sobs on the summer air,
And tenderness felt in the festive throng
Sinks down in the soul as it trembles along
From a clime where the roses are

We heard it first at the dawn of day,
And it mingles with matin chime;
But years have distanced the beautiful lay,
And its melody floweth far away;
"And we call it now "Old Times."

Some of the queer changes brought about by the whirligig of time are thus noted by the Cincinnati Commercial: "In the Charleston convention, over which Caleb Cushing presided, there were twice as many delegates as there were electoral votes, and thus it happened very often that half votes were given. Ben. Butler, the people have never forgotten, cast his vote over sixty times for Jeff. Davis. He was chairman of the Massachusetts delegation, and invariably in announcing the vote of his state, closed with the defiant statement in the most rasping tones, that "the state of Massachusetts casts one vote for Jefferson Davis of Mississippi." The other half of the vote that Ben thus made conspicuous was that of the president of the convention, Mr. Cushing. It is not the least curious of the impossible things that are always happening, that Butler is now the foremost man of the Republicans in the house, while Cushing has just been appointed minister to Spain, and that the present president of the United States was, at the time the Charleston convention was held, an obscure and retired army officer, laboring for a small salary in a leather store in Galena, Illinois, known to his few friends as an ardent Douglas man."

Railroad scandals seem to be as bad in Canada as in this country. They ruined Sir John A. McDonald, the late head of the Government. Recent developments connect the new Premier, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Hon. George Brown and other members of the Cabinet with a company to work silver mines on Lake Superior. Shaw, the American Consul at Toronto, is also said to be one of this new ring. Canadians rightly think Mr. Mackenzie and his associates should live on their salaries and therewith be content. But these are "fast" days, and good honest people are dreadfully old-fashioned.

Julius Cæsar and others essayed without success, the cutting of a canal across the Isthmus of Corinth. At last the work is to be done. It will be six miles long, that being the width of the Isthmus, and twenty-seven feet deep, with a bottom breadth of thirty-nine feet. There will be a large dock middle-way. The work is to cost $4,000,000. The grant is for ninety-nine years.

ST. LOUIS LAWYERS.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

The St. Louis Law Association has done itself credit by refusing an application for membership made by a lawyer who makes a specialty of obtaining divorces, and resorts to the common mode of anonymous advertisements for his business. This refusal is a proper protest on the part of the legal profession against the loose ness and unscrupulousness of divorce practices. There is nothing discreditable or unprofessional in a lawyer's undertaking to secure a divorce when it is guaranteed by the law, and in an honest and open fashion. But anonymous advertising for cases of this kind is a prima facie evidence of a desire to undertake any kind of divorce business that comes along, and experience in Chicago and elsewhere has shown that the most flagrant abuses grow out of this practice. If the courts and lawyers of Chicago would adopt some means to express their disapproval of such practice as the profession in St. Louis have done, it would contribute something to the abatement of the abuses, which are as bad here as in any city.

Key West, the great naval rendezvous, is an island four miles long and one and a quarter broad, bounded on one side by the Atlantic, and on the other three by the Straits of Florida and the Gulf of Mexico. It has a population of nine thousand souls. The houses are of wood, with spacious piazzas, shaded by cocoa and almond trees. The harbor is capacious, where the largest ships ride in safety. It is protected by a fort, has barracks, wharves, etc. Cuban refugees make up a majority of its inhabitants since the troubles between Spain and Cuba.

Items about little boys who pull each other from under broken ice are fashionable just now. No family should be without one.

SEWING MACHINES.

THE VERY BEST IN USE.

THE IMPROVED

SHUTTLE & ELASTIC STITCH

SEWING MACHINES

ARE FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT,

MADE in the most Durable and Substantial Manner and furnished at a

LOW PRICE.

Wherever they have been introduced they have been preferred to all machines of other manufacture making the same stitch.

Try the ease and rapidity of motion, and the simplicity of their mechanism, with their durability of machinery, and you must at once pronounce them the best in use.

The GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY is the only Company that offer the purchasers a choice of stitch.

They make two distinct Machines:

"ELASTIC" AND "LOCK-STITCH."

This Cut illustrates the manner of Using

DR. PIERCE'S

Fountain Nasal Injector,

OR

DOUCHE.

This instrument is especially designed for the perfect application of

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

It is the only form of Instrument yet invented with which full medicine can be carried high up and effectually applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which severe and obscure frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating Catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of efficient cures is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. In using this instrument, the Fluid is carried by its own weight, (no snuffing, forcing or pumping being required,) up one nostril in a full gently flowing stream to the highest portion of the nasal passages, passes into and thoroughly cleanses all the tubes and chambers connected therewith, and flows out of the opposite nostril. Its use is pleasant, and so simple that a child can understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications.

Symptoms of Catarrh. Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucus, purulent, offensive, &c. In others dryness, dry, watery, weak or inflamed eyes, stopping up or obstruction of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, alteration, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental oppression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, &c. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and accompanied with the constitutional treatment which is recommended in the pamphlet that wraps each bottle of the Remedy, is a perfect specific for this loathsome disease, and the proprietor offers, in good faith, $500 reward for a case he can not cure. The Remedy is mild and pleasant to use, containing no stimulating or caustic drugs or poisons. The Catarrh Remedy is sold at 50 cents, Douche at 60 cents, by all Druggists, or either will be mailed by proprietor on receipt of 60 cents. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Sole Proprietor.
