DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Representative in the 50th Congress:

HON. C. NEWTON.

OF MOREHOUSE.

Eustis and Stubbs. How does a Senatorial combination like that strike you?

The Knights of Labor as an organization recognize no distinction on account of race, color or previous condition.

A great reform is needed is Louisiana: Miscegenation should be suppressed. A crystallization of public opinion will bring about this reform.

The Louisiana State University opened its 28th session on the 5th inst. in the Garrison. The event was announced at sunrise by a salute of twenty-eight guns. About fifty cadets were present.

Brief as the congressional career of Mr. Wallace was he made something of a reputation by simply calling the point of order of no quorum to stop the rushing through Congress of private pension bills.

If street talk goes for anything the slate makers in this parish have been at work for some time. We wouldn't like to see a little caucus name our next parish officers but if the people are to have no say all we ask is for them to give us good officers.

The Iberville South is for peace and harmony in the party. Referring to the conciliation of the factions in East Baton Rouge and Caddo, it appropriately quotes:

"O beauteous peace!
Sweet union of party! what else but thou
Gives safety, strength, and glory to a party?"

Only two of the old Louisiana Congressmen—Messrs. Blanchard and Gay—succeeded in being renominated. Mr. Wilkinson will succeed Col. Louis St. Martin from the first district; J. D. Lagan Mr. Wallace from the second; Hon. C. Newton will take Gen. King's seat from this, the fifth, and Col. E. W. Robertson will succeed Mr. Irion from the sixth.

The fact that Secretary Lamar has taken a house at Washington is accepted as confirming the report of his intended marriage. Since the death of his wife he has been occupying rooms in a flat at Washington and going out very little. The house he has taken is a commodious one, owned by Captain Breeze of the Navy, who is now absent on a protracted cruise. The lease is for three years.

The State Superintendent of Public Education has made the following appointments to fill the vacancies in the Louisiana scholarships in the Peabody Normal School at Nashville, Tenn.: Miss Mattie G. Newcomb, Ruston; Miss Jessie Stewart, Waterproof; Miss Ollie Keller, Lake Providence; Miss Lizzie Fort, Bellevue; Miss Annie L. Evans, Monroe; Mr. Thos. N. Braden Jr., Bellevue.

The education of the rising generation is the most important duty that can devolve upon us, and no failure to utilize means honestly to so do can find any plea of justification in good policy or common sense.—[Thibodaux Sentinel. Well said. That opinion ought to prevail in Louisiana by a large majority.—N. O. Chronicle.

If Louisiana's present representatives in Congress in any way reflect public opinion or if public opinion was in any way reflected by the recent Democratic nominations for Congress then that opinion does prevail in Louisiana by a large majority.

Hon. C. Newton, Democratic nominee for Congress, Fifth District, in his speech to a large audience at Bastrop, said that, with a few modifications, he was strongly in favor of the Blair bill. Hon. E. J. Gay, nominee in Third District, has always been a strong advocate of the bill. Keep the ball a rolling. Common sense statesmanship demands schools for the educable children.—N. O. Chronicle.

Our esteemed contemporary might have added that Mr. Robertson, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Logan are also in favor of National aid to public education. So are Senators Gibson and Eustis. Louisana is unanimous on the proposition with the restriction that there be no Federal interference with the control by the States of their own schools.

NIPPER'S NOTES.

A Plea For Woman.

Speaking of the hard lot of some wives, Rev. T. K. Noble says: "I go out to God's acre, and I read upon the tomb stones of the wives who sleep quietly beneath the daisies, with their hands folded upon their breasts, of their virtues, and I think that some of the inscriptions should read, "Died of Overwork." If life is a battle to man, it is more to woman. Woman does not draw her inspiration from the same source as man. Three things she needs and must have: 1. Your society and companionship; 2. Your confidence; and 3. Your love. She doesn't want to wait till she is dead to read her virtues on her tomb stone. She wants her husband to tell her how much he loves her. There are couples, happy in the eyes of society, who in the home are nothing to each other.

I marvel somewhat how a man can write so understandingly of the sphynx, woman. Overwork of itself however will never kill—it is the attendant worry and desolation of spirit that go hand in hand with most overworked wives. When a woman's heart is light, her duties are a pleasure. It is the half-hearted woman who is overworked; the sense of its being all for naught, clogs feet and hands, and makes the effort a constant strain. A word of praise and affection from her husband will make whole day's duties a pleasure. But when that never comes when complaint and indifference are her reward, it it no wonder that she faints by the wayside and her uncherished days wing heavily and slow.

When we stop to think how brief is our span of life, is it hardly worth the while to struggle and curse at every stone in the road—to wrangle and mope, and, in our own self-made misery, drag others down with us? Those men who find home a bore and their wives uninteresting and tiresome, let them try—it is worth the effort—for is not home where the heart should be?—a kind word now and then, even a small show of the old affection and solicitude started out with, when the road was fresh and sunshiny, and see if the worried and over-worked wife—be she even a little shrewish—will not soften and grow almost young again There is no woman of too acid a temper whom affection will not sweeten. After marriage the ultima thule of her ambition is to have a happy home—and can you hope to have a light hearted and loveable wife when you either go home to her—who has counted the moments till your coming—in an indifferent or sulky mood—or else, which is worse, spend your evenings elsewhere?

No hearth stone is so desolate as that by which the wife sits alone and neglected, with all her sweetest expectations turned to gall while her husband imagines he is enjoying himself with hilarious companions. In reality, he is not enjoying it—an uneasy conscience, that like Banquo's ghost will not down, is ever at his elbow. He at last turns homeward, with the pleasing consciousness that he has bebarred all chance of happiness at home, and possesses a reduced modicum of money and brains for his pains. There ought to be some sort of capital punishment for a man who neglects his wife and home. If he got his deserts, they would never be a wife and children, and the friendship and respect of man.

There are reforms and reforms—but I think society has it in its hands to do a great and lasting good by discountenancing that man who neglects his home. As long as he is taken up and patted on the back as a "clever fellow" and a "social fellow," that long will there be misery and desolation at our firesides.

* * * * *

The Shreveport Times says: "The flaxen hair hung in clustering curls on her shapely head and over the pearly whiteness of her smooth brow." This is a striking example of the abuse of adjectives.

SUSAN NIPPER.

It having been annouced that Gen. Gibson would join Mr. Blanchard in his canvass of the Fourth District, the Ouachita Telegraph suggests that the General talk Democracy a little to the votets of the Fifth District. But what about the districts wherein the party candidates are to meet an organized opposition, is the General to become conspicuous there by his absence?—N. O. Chronicle.

We can't just say about that but the General seems inclined to court the favor of the Democrats of North Louisiana. He proposes to make a "deadening" up here or at least repair his political fences in view of the coming election of United States Senators.

The public debt was reduced $10,626,013 during the month of September.

TO SILENCE.

Fall on my senses
Soft as the drop of drifting snow,
And soothe my restlessness, sweet Silence.

Here in this glade just still
From vanished song-birds' varying air
Thy presence doth fulfill
His melody—though sweet to hear,
Far sweeter in the memory.

The very stream rests in her run,
Or, if she resteth not, thy full embrace
Keeps her to dance so lightly on
As not to stir the daisies in her dress,
The lilies on her bosom.

Here would I lie o' lazy hours,
Where noiseless nooks make thy retreat,
Where butterflies tiptoe upon the flowers
And naught disturbs save the sweet,
Sad treble of the trees.

Fall on my senses
Soft as the drop of drifting snow,
Enfold me in thy peace, sweet Silence.

Floyd, Tuesday, 12th October:
Lake Providence, Thursday, 14th October:
Tallulah, Saturday, 16th October:
St. Joseph, Monday, 18th October;
Vidalia, Wednesday, 20th October.

North Louisiana Fair.

The North Louisiana Agricultural and Mechanical Fair Association, organized June, 1883, will give their first fair at Shreveport, on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th, 1886. The premium list embraces every article of household and mechanical manufacture, as well as agricultural products and implements, live stock, etc. Trotting and running races each day for liberal purses, together with many other attractive amusements. The Fair Grounds are easy of access by all railroad and street car lines. For premium list and programme, address, Fair Association, Box 310, Shreveport, La.

THE PARISHES.

WEST BATON ROUGE.

The cotton crop of this parish will not be as large as last year, owing to an unfavorable season and to caterpillars. In the upper portion of the parish the worms have done a great deal of damage, and unless dry weather permits the planters to get out what cotton the worms have left, the yield will be curtailed more than ever.—Sugar Planter.

LINCOLN.

Hurrah for the police jury! That fireproof clerk's and sheriff's office is to be built. Sheriff Howard informs the police jury that he will collect a sufficient amount of tax this year over and above the debts of the parish to pay for such an office, and the police jury has appointed a committee to draft specifications and ascertain the cost of the building.—Ruston Caligraph.

TENSAS.

On the Botany Bay plantation about six miles above town, a few days ago, the earth cracked open for a distance of about 150 yards with a width of about two feet; the negroes there have become very much alarmed at what they believe to be the commencement of Wiggins earthquake.—Gazette.

CALDWELL.

The young white man Woodward, who was jailed some time ago on a charge of stealing sundry articles from the store at Waverly, waived preliminary examination before Judge Bridger on last Monday and had his bond fixed at $150. Two of his brothers, one from Louisville, Ky., and the other from Palestine, Texas, came to his relief and will deposit the money to make the bond.—Watchman.

MOREHOUSE.

The Grand Jury was discharged last Monday evening, having returned only twelve bills, all for minor offences. This speaks well for the parish, and the public are to be congratulated on the decrease of crime in Morehouse.—Clarion.

MADISON.

Mr. Nicholas Rholeder, a resident of Delta, La., since 1869, aged, 65 years was was found dead in his house in that place about 5 o'clock on the first inst. From all appearances it is supposed that he had been dead several hours. He was in his night clothes.

He built the first storehouse ever erected in Delta, and was engaged in planting at the time of his death. He was unmarried and his only relatives are in South Carolina where his remains were forwarded to-day. He left some property.

THE STATES.

NEW YORK.

At a meeting at Chickering Hall, New York, the other night, 3000 voters endorsed Henry George for Mayor. Rev. J. W. Kramer was chairman and Rev. R. Herber Newton, Prof. Daniel De Leon of Columbia College and Father McGlynn were the orators of the evening.

MISSISSIPPI.

The Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham Railroad, the building of which appears to be assured, will be a very important enterprise to the State of Mississippi.—Natchez Democrat.

Clarksdale Banner; The Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railroad a portion of Huntington's great Southwestern Transcontinental system, of which the C. & O. is also a part, will shortly begin the construction of an important Southern feeder in the State of Mississippi. It will begin at Clarksdale, Coahoma county, on the L. N. O. & T. road, run down Cassaday's bayou and along the west bank of the Yazoo river, crossing at Yazoo City, then down the east bank of the river to Vicksburg. It will penetrate a great portion of the most productive land in the Yazoo Delta, and ought to do a large trade. The distance from Clarksdale to Yazoo City is 110 miles making the total length of the line 170 miles, an enterprise of no mean proportions.

FOREIGN.

RUSSIA.

THE TRADE OF MOSCOW PARALIZED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 1.—The Novoe Vremya publishes a telegran from Moscow which says: "The Bulgarian crisis has paralyzed trade and checked the revival of business which the good harvests had incited. Moscow is prepared for any eventuality. The present condition is as bad as war, if not worse."

FRANCE.

DUC D'AUMALE'S GIFT TO THE PEOPLE.

PARIS, Oct, 1.—The will of the Due D'Aumale bequeathing his great estates at Chantilly with all their appurtenances, works of art, books and revenues to the French Institute in trust for the people of France forever, is dated in 1884. The duke explains that he wishes to have the transfer made now for the express purpose of avoiding legal hamperings which might be instituted by claimants or heirs after his death. The gift is accompanied by but one condition, and that is that the property must be preserved intact as it shall be on the day it comes into the possession of the trustees.

The estates are to be called the Conde Museum, are to be open to the public at least twice a week during six months of the year, and the revenues are to be applied to keep the whole of the estates in proper order and to the acquirement of additional works of art to enrich the magnificent collection with which the estates are already endowed, to pensioning indigent authors and artists and furnishing prizes for the encouragement of the adoption of their artistic careers.

A separate clause of the will authorizes the sale of the Duc D'Aumale's domains at Dolus to provide the money for the preliminary expenses which may attend the transfer and transformation of the Chantilly estates from their present private character to that for which they are bequeathed.

The newspapers here, even the Republican journals, speak in terms of the highest praise of the Duc D'Aumale for his gift to France.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs.
