THE DEMOCRATS SUSTAINED.

The Connecticut Supreme Courts Decides the Gubernatorial Contest.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL COMPANY.

A New Treasurer Elected—The Suit Against the City—Consolidation of a Newspaper—New York News.

NEW YORK BUREAU RICHMOND TIMES, June 3, 1891.

At New Haven, Conn., the Supreme Court this afternoon handed down a decision on the legality of the ballots marked "for" cast in the gubernatorial election last fall.

The decision goes into technicalities at some length, but its effect is to sustain the action of the Democratic supervisors who threw out such ballots and declared them illegal. The decision overthrows the Republican contention that the rejected votes should be counted and that Judge Morris had no majority of the entire vote cast, and its result will be to seat the Democratic candidates for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor.

NEWSPAPER CONSOLIDATION.

Under an arrangement with C. P. Huntington, Colonel John A. Cockerill and a syndicate have purchased the plant of the Continent and its news franchises. It will be consolidated with the Commercial-Advertiser and a new journal will be issued shortly under the name of The New York Advertiser. It will be issued both morning and evening.

NEWS ABOUT NICARAGUA.

Hon. Warner Miller starts to-morrow for the Pacific coast. In San Francisco he will be entertained by the Chamber of Commerce. A banquet is to be given at the Palace Hotel, when the Senator will speak on the Nicaragua canal.

Mr. A. B. Slavin, of the American Contracting Company, which did the dredging on the Panama canal, has been elected treasurer and also a director in the Nicaragua Canal Construction Company. Mr. Slavin will leave for Greytown shortly. His experiences acquired in the work in Panama make his active association with the Nicaragua Company of great value, and his having a part in prosecuting the work will give confidence to contractors and capitalists.

TO BE CONNECTED BY TUNNEL.

From present indications it is probable that New York will be connected by tunnel with Long Island City before the next decade rolls by. The engineers of the New York and Long Island Railroad Company have presented Long Island City a petition to its aldermen asking for permission to begin work on the East-river tunnel which is to connect New York and Long Island City.

AFFIRMED THE JUDGMENT.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgment of the lower courts in the case of James Lyle against the Elevated railway for $15,000 damages for personal injuries received when traveling on the Third avenue line, and another judgment for $10,000 in the case of Emil Weilter for personal injuries received when passing along the tracks from a blocked train to the nearest station upon the advice of the trainmen.

Among the recent Southern arrivals at the New York hotels are the following from Richmond: At the Murray-Hill, W. Batchelder, E. B. Slater; the Brunswick, F. M. Boykin; the Union Square, L. Kahl; the New York, J. G. Walker; the Astor House, J. F. Caracristi; the International, J. Jones; the Coleman House, J. S. Hall; the Hoffman House, C. H. Blarkerder.

From Norfolk: At the Continental, H. G. Grinley; the Ashland House, R. C. Irving.

From Roanoke: At the Colonnade, J. H. Gray.

From other parts of Virginia are P. M. Courtney and B. C. Metzger, at the Bartholdi; W. H. Noel, the St. Denis; S. H. Lea, the Coleman House; J. Shriver, the St. Nicholas.

FUNERAL OF HENRY BLAKELY.

The funeral of Henry Blakely, one of the best-known vaudevilles on the stage, who died of pneumonia Monday, took place to-day from his residence, 64 west Eleventh street. His real name was Blakelock, and he was born in Petersburg, Va., about twenty-eight years ago, his family at that time being very wealthy. After the war he was a page in Congress, which position he held for several years. In 1880 he went on the stage, where he soon won distinction for his cleverness. His partner was J. Sheffer, who was equally as well known in theatrical circles. Together they formed the Sheifer & Blakely Vaudeville Company and took out several companies with varying success. About five years ago he married Hilda Thomas, the singer. The interment was in the Actors' Fund plot in Evergreen cemetery.

GRAND LODGE OF MASONS.

The one-hundred-and-tenth annual convention of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New York is at present in session in Masonic Hall, Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue. Delegates are present from the 721 active lodges, representing about 7,700 master Masons in good standing. The annual election for officers was held to-day. Grand-Master Vrooman declined a re-election and his place was filled without opposition by William Sherer, of Brooklyn. James TenEyck, of Albany, was elected deputy grand master, Colonel E. M. L. Ehless grand secretary, Sheriff John J. Gorman grand treasurer, John Hodge, of Lockport, senior grand warden. The rest of the day was devoted to the reading of committee reports and other miscellaneous business. Among the matters of interest that came before the meeting was the announcement of the final settlement of the controversy which existed for several years between the grand lodges of New York and New Jersey, growing out of the initiation of Daniel E. Lemin, a legal resident of New Jersey, into Fort Edward Lodge, No. 267, at Fort Edward, Washington county, N. J., contrary to Masonic law. An apology has been made to the New Jersey Grand Lodge, and has been accepted by it. One of the most important subjects under discussion was the Masonic Home at Utica, N. Y., the corner-stone of which was recently laid. The Grand Master reported the general condition of the order during the past year as being good and that the conservative policy adopted in granting dispensations for the formation of new lodges has proven beneficial in every way to the welfare of the lodges already existing.

WANTED TO SEE HIS OLD MAMMY.

Israel T. Montague, Jr., of this city, who was excused temporarily from jury duty the other day by Recorder Smyth, is under thirty years of age and coal black. He is the first colored juror ever summoned to serve in the General Sessions. He said he wanted to visit his old mother, who lived in Virginia, and was not expected to live long. He wanted to see her before she died. In excusing him the Recorder said: "You have a good reason for exemption, and I will excuse you temporarily. I do not mean to excuse you permanently, because we want men of your color and of your apparent intelligence to serve on juries in this county. I will excuse you until Monday next. That will give you time to go to Virginia to see your mother and to return for jury service. I don't propose to excuse you altogether."

THE LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

At a meeting of the directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, which has just been held, it was decided to call a special meeting of the stockholders of that company for July 6th for the purpose of authorizing the increase of the capital stock of the company to a sum not to exceed in any event $55,000,000.

The object of the increase of stock is to acquire and provide the means to pay for the fee of the Keatucky Central Railway Company, cancelling its present existing stock, of which the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is now a very large shareholder, and to provide means for the intended purchase of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company's proportion of the proposed increase of the stock of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, of which the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is a majority stockholder.

PURCHASE OF THE KENTUCKY CENTRAL.

When the Kentucky Central was bought it was supposed that the payment would be made from the proceeds of unified fours. This issue was for $75,000,000, of which $50,000,000 were to be issued at once and $41,917,660 held for retiring prior liens; $28,082,340 bonds remaining were to be issued for premiums on bonds retired up to 15 per cent. for extensions and improvements, equipment, and for the actual cost of any additional railroads and the equipment thereof hereafter constructed or acquired in any State at a rate not exceeding $25,000 per mile and $7,000 per mile for equipment. Also for additional shares of capital stock of any road leased or controlled.

This covers Kentucky Central and the proposed scrip dividend on Nashville and Chattanooga. It is evident, therefore, that the market has not permitted the sale of the 4s to advantage, hence the intention to issue $7,000,000 more stock.

It is officialy stated that the $7,000,000 of new Louisville and Nashville stock is more than enough to pay for Kentucky Central and the scrip dividend of Nashville and Chattanooga. The price paid for Kentucky Central is not started. The Nashville and Chattanooga scrip will be about $3,500,000 at 50. There is $7,000,000 of Kentucky Central stock. The company bought nearly all of it and holds it in its treasury. It is stated that the company could not issue bonds for the purpose for which it has issued the stock. Only $5,000,000 of the new unified 4s have been sold.

A NEW MUSIC HALL STAR.

Jeanne Pudge, Who is Fat and Pudgy, But Still a Trump.

You sometimes hear of a young nobleman getting married to a London music-hall songstress. But does it ever happen that a lyric artist of genius springs up on the boards of one of these establishments? says the London Truth. Such a phenomenon is not by any means unheard of in Paris. Some time ago I spoke of Guilbert as one certain to get the ball at her toe and to keep it rolling. Do you know what fee she now asks for singing a couple of songs in a guilded drawing-room? Eighty pounds. She earns twice as much more every evening in a music hall. Her father and mother are concierges.

Madame Judic came first into public notice at the Alcazar, dressed as an Italian shepherd, and singing mock pastorals replete with funny innuendo. To-night I heard at the Scala the most astounding divette that has come within the range of my ear and eye. She is unique. But I doubt if she could succeed excepting in Paris. Her name is Jeanne Bloch. An extremely obese woman, dressed in cream nun's veiling stuff and elaborately necklaced with gilt zecchins in the Algerian style, advanced with an air of assurance on the stage. One felt at once that she had plenty of "snap," and that the audience was going to be well roused up. A torpedo-fish thrown into a pond well stocked with carp might have affected these indolent piscatory creatures as she did the house directly she came forward.

One was conscious of prodigious spirit before she attacked her song. She had everything against her but her temperament and talent, or rather genius. The fat figure within the classical dress was laced tight as a drum in a long-waisted corset. The face was distinctly Jewish. As to the eyes, they blazed. You'll do, I thought. She lost no time in attacking a new song, which should throw Drumont into fits. It was "La Marche des Seminaristes," or divinity students intended for the priesthood, who must, like all other citizens, shoulder the musket. The music reminded one of "La Marseillaise," but had notes of jubilation, inspired as though by a hard-won victory.

The seminarists are supposed to be starting for their depot with a lot of other young conscripts, and the song might be words of ironical advice and sympathy from an old sergeant major, much more Voltarian than clerical. There were almost clarion notes in Jeanne Bloch's voice as she sung the chorus part, which the galleries, drawn away by her, took up. The sardonic spirit which the face expressed seemed to know no bounds during certain passages, which were as much trampling on the Cross as the ceremony the Dutch had to go through annually in Japan.

One might suppose all the furious fanaticisms that reigned in Jerusalem when Titus was besieging it was concentrated in some mysterious way in this adipose little Jewess. In point of expressive power nothing could be finer than her intonations, gestures, the electricity of her eyes, the magnetism of her whole being, and the hatred and scorn which lay behind the half good-natured fun, so far as mere words went of the song. I can now picture to myself what manner of woman Jael was as she drove the nail home into the temple of Sisera.

Woe! Woe! Unutterable Woe.

Why endure it daily, nightly, we had well-nigh said, hourly. They do who are tortured by chronic rheumatism. The remedy, botanic, pure, safe and prompt, is at hand. Were the evidence in behalf of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters collated, it would be found to teem with well-authenticated proofs that the medicine is both a preventive and a remedy in this malady of varying agonies and ever-present danger. To forestall its chronic stage is the dictate of prudence. Renounce dangerous medication. Far more effective, more certain, more permanent in the beneficent consequences, is the use of the Bitters. Experience indorses, the recommendation of physicians sanction its use. Begin early, use with persistence and expect relief. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters relieves constipation, biliousness, kidney ailments, dyspepsia and malarial trouble.
