FINANCE AND COMMERCE

THE CLOSING QUOTATIONS OF MONEY.

Offerings and Sales at the Richmond Tobacco Exchange—Internal Revenue Collections—Foreign Advice.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Reports that President Cleveland would appoint two commissioners to assist Commissioner Wright in an investigation of the causes of the recent strike, as well as to suggest remedies, led to a firm opening in the stock market. The fact that railroads are accepting perishable freight for Chicago was accepted as conclusive evidence that the strike was ended, confidence was a little to the firmness, and some shorts came in the market as buyers. Subsequently it was announced from Chicago that the American Railway Union was willing to declare their strike off provided the railway managers would agree to take back the members of the union that had work in order to resume the American Railway Union, the leaders of Debs, however, did not favor any extensive buying of securities to cover, for the reason that the strike took the opinion at an early period of the strike that there was no money in the strikers on the latest labor demand. Prices for Railway stocks fluctuated anywhere from ¼ to 1 per cent, and closed at about the top figures of the day and week. The issues most prominent in the upward movement were Grangers, Louisville and Nashville, Western Union, and Missouri Pacific. Pullman rose to 159 bid on the announcement by Senator Davis of a proposed planing drawing and sleepers under the operation of the interstate commerce State laws. In the Industrials Chicago Gas, Lead, and Tobacco were strong and in request, while Whisky was heavy, breaking from 21 to 21½, with a subsequent recovery to 22½. The decline was due to Washington reports that tax on Distillers would be reduced from 90 to 100 per gallon, and the bond period from eight to five years. It is argued that the reduction would have a bad effect, as the company has recently taken large quantities of goods out of bonds, passing its action on the same bill. Sugar moved up 2 to 90¾ on the advance of ¼ per cent. in refined and the belief that the sugar schedule will receive the approval of the conference committee. The collapse of the corner in Chicago stiffened Chicago Gas, which rose from 74½ to 76⅝. Lead and Tobacco advanced fractionally. United States Leather, Cordage, and General Electric were firm. Speculation closed dull. No gold will be shipped to-morrow, bears deciding at a late hour to cover the $2,000,000 spoken of yesterday. Compared with Thursday's close, we show gains of ⅛ to 2 per cent. Northwestern, however, lost ⅛, Sugar and Hudson ⅛, and Distillers 1 per cent. Sales, 131,000 shares. Stocks were listed and 3 issues unlisted. Railway and miscellaneous bonds were strong.

Balances—Coin, $80,612,000, currency, $6,210,000.

Money on call easy at 1 per cent., last loan at 1 per cent., and closing offered at 1 per cent.; prime mercantile paper, 2@3 per cent. Bar silver, 62. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 487¼ for sixty days and 488¼ for demand; posted rates, 486@488; commercial bills, 485@485¾. Government bonds higher. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds firmer. Silver at the Board was neglected.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 13.—Local professionals hammered wheat to-day, and after the big lines had passed from one to another of the scalpers, each taking his fractional loss and passing it along, a net loss of over ½c. in values was made. One plunger sold over a million bushels openly at the start, and if he bought it back at the bottom, he made a neat profit. The outside trade was prominent, not in the market. At the opening there was some gain over yesterday's close. September wheat opened at 58⅝c., sold between 58⅝c. and 59c., and closing at 58⅝c., ⅛c. under yesterday.

Corn—The situation at home and abroad in this market helped prices materially during the morning hours of trading, but when the slump in wheat came there was not sufficient support to prices to prevent a sympathetic decline. September corn opened at 43⅝c. to 43c., sold between 43⅝c. and 42¾c., closing at 42⅞c., ⅛c. under yesterday. Offerings of cash corn were moderately increased to-day. The demand was good. Prices were firm early, but later eased off, with the futures.

Oats—The small stock of contract stuff in store and the inability to use the fresh receipts on deliveries were the subjects of comment in this pit to-day. There was a firm tone to prices on the talk and in sympathy with the other grains. There was a decline later on, when wheat and corn began to weaken. September sold between 24⅝c. and 24⅛@24¼c., closing at the inside, a slight fractional loss from yesterday. Cash oats were weak.

Provisions—Prices were weak in the absence of support, and probably because the hog trade was demoralized. At the close September pork was 7½c. lower than yesterday, and September lard and September ribs each 2½c. lower. The cash market was active as far as a demand was concerned, but as shipments could not yet be guaranteed, business was restricted.

HOLD THE BODY.

The Remains Sent by Express with Bill for Embalming C. O. D.

The body of Mike Fontano, the Greek sculptor who was killed by Herschel McDonald, reposed in the express office at Augusta last night, instead of resting in the quiet cemetery in that city, as had been planned.

Circumstances of a somewhat remarkable character brought about this state of affairs and consequent change of programme.

The body of the dead man was coffined and placed on the Georgia road express car yesterday morning to be sent to Augusta. Bills were sent relatives of the dead man had requested. His two brothers in Augusta, both of whom are respectable men, did not come to the city, but remained at home, completing the preparations for the funeral, which was to occur at the cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The remains were sent C. O. D., and with them was a bill from Undertaker Swift, of this city, for $122. This bill was for the casket in which the body was placed, embalming and dressing.

The brothers and friends of the dead man met the body at the depot in Augusta and intended to take charge of it at once for burial. The bill from the Atlanta undertaker and an additional bill for $10 from the express company was handed to the relatives of the dead man.

They were staggered by the large size of the bill, which was considerably more than they had figured on. They did not have the money, and much as they desired to take charge of the body of their dead brother, they could not raise the amount necessary to cancel the two bills.

They made every effort to raise the money, but were unable to do so in the short time intervening between the arrival of the body and nightfall. They will get up the full amount to-day and the interment will occur.

A telegram from Augusta, received last night, says the brothers will pay the charges, but consider them exorbitant.—Atlanta Constitution.

Will Travel Like a Savage.

Charles Adolphus Murray, Earl of Dunmore, recently arrived in California from Asia and is now making arrangements for one of the most difficult journeys ever undertaken by man. The trip he contemplates is from Montreal across the dreary wastes of the frozen north to Alaska, across Bering Strait to Siberia, and thence overland to Paris. The earl is an experienced traveler and has encountered many difficulties on other journeys in out-of-the-way places. Before starting on this extraordinary trip he will confer with a number of people familiar with life in the far north of the American continent. In talking to a San Francisco Examiner man he said:

"In a general way I may say that my purpose is to entirely eschew the ordinary means of travel. I shall not in the far north use any of the Hudson Bay Company's steamers, and in Siberia I shall not use steam either where it is to be had as a means of travel. I purpose traveling by sledges drawn by dogs, by canoes, on foot and by the use of reindeer. All the means of getting about used by the wild natives I will adopt, but none other. In making the trip I expect to travel in boats for part of the way on the Mackenzie river, and when I reach the far northwest to cross over the comparatively narrow range of mountains, reach the Yukon and travel in the same way on that river. On the coast I shall use skin boats or badourkos, and I hope to finally reach the Bering Sea and cross on the ice. As near as possible, however, though water will in places be utilized, I shall make the journey on land. My object is to span the continent in British North America by a route never attempted by any man, and find what the secrets of the vast interior are. At present these secrets are sealed in the great stretches of solitude between the two oceans. For thousands of miles no white man has ever traversed the country. I desire to see and study the natives, if such there are, to examine into the animal and vegetable life, study the topography, with observations meanwhile as to the mineral resources, and get a thorough idea of the mysteries locked within. I expect for a good part of the distance to live on jerked reindeer meat, fish and flesh of the musk ox. Whatever else the natives live on in the undiscovered lands of the north I shall also use."

The earl recently published a book detailing two and a half years' experiences in crossing Asia from India to the Caspian sea. In the course of a trip he ascended the Himalayas to a height of 18,000 feet. His lordship is about fifty years of age, over six feet tall and weighs 250 pounds.
