THE RACES WERE A SUCCESS.

A Large Number of People Witnessed the Howitzer's Bicycle Meet.

SCHADE'S WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE

He Won Every Event He Entered Except the Five-Mile Race, in Which He Was Too Heavily Handicapped—The Prizes Awarded Last Night.

In the attendance of nearly three thousand people, in the smashing of two track records, and in the general success of the day, the Richmond Howitzers scored a signal triumph at their cycle tournament held at the Exposition Grounds yesterday afternoon.

In the matter of attendance, the number of those present exceeded the hopes of the most sanguine Howitzer.

The day was as nearly perfection as could have been desired. The sky was comparatively clear, and the air was stirred by light breeze that presaged the rain which closed the evening.

The spectators' attention was for a short time given to a series of astonishing and intricate as well as gracefully performed tricks by Kid Leonard, the fourteen-year-old marvel. The little fellow's efforts were rewarded with applause.

THE FIRST RACE.

The continued blast of a [illegible] was suddenly hushed by the starter's cry—

"Are the [illegible] ready?" and the first race of a series that will rank high in the history of Richmond wheeling was off.

With the Blues' Band playing sweetly, the first race—a mile novice—lined up on Referee Mercer's tape-line thus, counting from the pole:

No. 25—R. J. Hersman, Richmond.
No. 1—G. A. Moss, Petersburg.
No. 2—Clarence Griffin, Richmond.
No. 12—E. N. Holt, Richmond.
No. 6—Dallas C. Richardson, Richmond.
No. 29—H. G. Sal[illegible], Norfolk.
No. 10—J. W. Burnett, Manchester.
No. 7—Robert Slaughter, Richmond.
No. 5—J. C. Parkinson, Jr., Richmond.

There were eleven entries for this event, but Zach Woodall and F. W. Tower, both of this city, did not ride.

At the sound of the pistol Griffin led off, and was followed by a bunched field. At the first round Richardson led the riders, who continued bunched. The finish was made in this order:

Dallas C. Richardson.
Clarence Griffin.
R. J. Hersman.
S. A. Moss.
Time, 2:29 2-5.

THE SECOND RACE.

Ten minutes ensued between the first and second events, during which the band continued to dispense its melodies and the soda fountain high up in the grandstand did a rushing business.

The riders in the second event, a half mile, open, and a race whose outcome was awaited with great interest, approached the tape in this order:

No. 3—J. T. Vanderburg, Norfolk.
No. 12—E. N. Holt, Richmond.
No. 11—J. J. Nelms, Petersburg.
No. 10—J. T. Temple, Richmond.
No. 15—Ollie G. Hope, Richmond.
No. 9—Clarence Griffin, Richmond.
No. 6—J. W. Anderson, Jr., Norfolk.
No. 24—F. W. Tower, Richmond.
No. 26—H. S. Hasleth, Norfolk.
No. 23—Mike Turell, Richmond.
No. 28—F. A. Fry, Richmond.
No. 4—H. H. Duncker, Richmond.
No. 2—Fred Schade, Herndon, Va.
No. 15—Fred L. Chase, Richmond.
No. 19—W. J. Tignor, Richmond.
No. 42—W. D. Nye, Norfolk.

Referee Mercer announced the time as limited to 1:12, a circumstance which admitted of no loafing on the ride.

Schade, the easy favorite, forged ahead at the start, and held his lead throughout, winning in one minute nine seconds, flat, with Hope, Turner and Elms following in order.

This time by Schade equalled the best time for the distance made at this track in competition. Robert Carr and Fred Schade made the half on this track in '96 in 1:06, but they were paced, and the ride was against time.

There was some demurrer as to the number of starters in the second event, and the request was made to run it in heats. This, however, was overruled.

RODE UNDER PROTEST.

In the third event, boys of sixteen years and under competed. Hicks rode under protest, there being some dispute as to his age.

The riders lined up:

No. 23—Herbert McCall, Richmond.
No. 20—P. L. DePriest, Richmond.
No. 29—Marcellus Hicks, Richmond.
No. 24—Zach Woodall, Richmond.
No. 23—E. S. Tower, Richmond.
No. 28—Leslie Moore, Richmond.
No. 22—Frank Cook, Richmond.

McCall took the lead at the start and held it throughout the ride, being pushed hard in the stretch, however, by Woodall, who was closely followed by DePriest.

They maintained that order over the tape, the time being 1:07 1-2.

In this race, Hicks and Cook fell, the latter being painfully bruised.

TEMPLE THE CHAMPION.

The next race, a mile, was for the local championship and the enthusiasm waxed great as it neared consummation.

Clerk of the Course Cecil Epps straightened out his riders thus:

No. 19—W. J. Tignor.
No. 18—J. T. Temple.
No. 17—Ollie Hope.
No. 20—F. M. Tignor.
No. 30—Clarence Griffin.
No. 23—Mike Turell.
No. 6—Dallas C. Richardson.
No. 28—F. A. Fry.
No. 4—H. H. Duncker.
No. 11—P. M. Edwards.

Cheers greeted the start as Tignor took the lead. At the half, Duncan led the bunch and held it to the three-quarter, where Hope fought him and gained the first place. In the meantime Temple had been creeping slowly in the rear, husbanding his wind.

When the crowd rose up in its enthusiasm, he shot ahead and the struggle between him and Hope was one of the prettiest in the track's history.

The crowd cheered wildly when Temple crossed the tape a foot ahead of Hope in 2:29 1-5, Richardson following third. Edwards had a severe fall after he passed the mark. The time made equalled the track competition record.

THE FIFTH EVENT.

There were three riders in the fifth event, a mile race for the [illegible]. These took their places in the following order:

No. 42—J. H. Schultz, of Lynchburg.
No. 31—J. A. Parsons, of Richmond.
No. 16—W. C. Ford, of Richmond.

This race proved to be a very warmly-contested one. Schultz led at the half but was pressed by Parsons who won in 2:31 1-5. Schultz second and Ford third.

RUN IN HEATS.

The sixth race, through the number of entries was run in heats, seven men being in each. The winners second and thirds in the trial heats of half a mile were to be qualified to enter in the face proper, twice around the track.

In the first heat, the winners were, Nye, Turell and Anderson; time, 1:20 4-5.

In the second heat, Schade, Duncan and Fry came in order; time, 1:12 1-5.

In the final heat, pacers were used, Messrs. Richard Taylor and C. W. Wallace officiating on the first and second halves respectively.

The time limit of 2:30 was announced, and the starters lined for the final thus: Schade, Nye, Duncan, Turell, Fry and Anderson.

Schade flashed to the front at the start and kept there for the twice around, winning in 2:22 flat. Following him for a close finish came Nye, then Fry and Turell.

This time smashed the State record by seven seconds, quite a meritorious performance for such a track.

Not the least of the crowd's enthusiasm was bestowed upon the Howitzer's race of half a mile in which J. V. Taylor, H. S. Whittet, and C. L. Epps competed.

Epps won in the race in 1:18 after a hard fight with Taylor, Whittet coming third.

THE FIVE MILE HANDICAP.

After a rest of ten minutes, the race of the five mile handicap was called.

Clerk Epps had his men nicely posted around the track when some joker fired a pistol and brought in the entire list of riders in a rush.

The race was pulled off, however, in good season.

SCHADE HEAVILY HANDICAPPED.

The wait for the start seemed interminable, but the starter's pistol was finally heard and the gaudy-shirted racers were off.

The interest centered in Schade, Virginia's pride and speediest, and he was cheered as he swiftly passed his handicaps and as he passed the stand each of the ten times around. He caught Hope at the three-quarter mile post, and from that point the two continued in close company until the close of the race.

Many of the riders dropped out before the race closed and some disqualified by dropping behind a lap.

At the eighth round Schade, Hope and Temple were bunched, the rest of the field straggling.

The excitement of the audience grew to a fever heat as the tenth round drew near. Griffin led the field with Slaughter, Richardson and Parkinson close behind. Parkinson crawled up to third, and the riders crossed the tape for the last time in this order: Clarence Griffin, Ben Slaughter, J. C. Parkinson, Dallas C. Richardson, and J. J. Nelms.

With the last [illegible], whose efforts were a race in itself, the finish was made: Schade first, Taylor second, Temple third, and Hope fourth.

The race time made by Griffin was 12:36 2-5. Schade's time was 12:36 flat.

THE PRIZES AWARDED.

The prizes were awarded at the Howitzer's Armory last evening at 9 o'clock, as follows:

NOTES OF THE MEET.

Fred. Schade, who is the recognized fastest cyclist in the Southern States, is a native of the State, being the only one in the history of Virginia cycling, who has won the Southern Championship. Schade has won this title in '95, '96 and '97. Also in 1896 he won the five-mile college championship of America at Manhattan Beach, N. Y.

This year he has again made an enviable record.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The President to-day sent the following nominations to the Senate: Charles L. Cole, of Pennsylvania, to be Consul-General at Dresden, Saxony; George F. Lincoln, of Connecticut, consul-general at Antwerp, Belgium; Walter Schumann, of New York, consul at Mayence, Germany; Charles E. Turner, of Connecticut, Consul-General at Ottawa, Canada; Hector De Castro, of New York, Consul-General at Rome, Italy.

Woodford Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Senate to-day confirmed the nomination of Stewart L. Woodford, of New York, as Minister to Spain.

"The mother I heard you praising so
And the home you thought so good,
I painted about ten years ago,
While I stopped in that neighborhood.

"And many here and from foreign lands,
Have called it splendid and fine;
But, so full of life as now it stands,
I ne'er saw that picture of mine.

"You've put around it a frame of love
From memory's treasury, and
It gives it a value far above
What others can understand.

"And ever hereafter, twice as dear
As before to me it will be;
But tell me, my son, what brings you here?
Is it me you have come to see?"

"I know not," I said. "I know not why
I came, but while outside I stood,
I yearned to go in, yes, go in and try
If I could, if I could—yes, could.

"But when I saw my mother was near,
And think it would cause her pain,
I think 'twas God that brought me here,
To meet with her once again."

He answered: "Yes, that might well be said,
And now you had better stay
With her, and let us thank God who led
You home, when you went astray."

Since then a good many years have gone,
A painter myself I became,
And like my teacher I, too, have won
A host of good friends and fame.

But, next to God, to my mother I owe
That ever I reached the mark;
She took my soul, that had sunk so low,
To the sunlight out of the dark.

All cold, hardened thoughts, like ice and snow
That melt in the sun and the rain,
Melted away with tears in the glow
Of love, when I met her again.

THE TREMONT STAKES.

HANDBALL WINS THE BIG PURSE BY A SCANT HEAD.

Ten Thousand People Watched the Big Event, Which Ended the Gravesend Meeting—A Small Field

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Gravesend meeting ended to-day in fine style, for the crowd numbered nearly 10,000, and the racing was good. The big event on the card was the Tremont stakes of $10,000 for two-year-olds. The field, however, was small. Previous was scratched because he had shown lameness in the dash out of the chute. Howlingbrook was beaten by Handball by only a scant head. Varus tired badly, but got home third, a neck in front of Great Bend.

First race—five furlongs—Lydian (10), [illegible] 15 to 1 and 5 to 1, first by a half length; The Dipper (Ind), H. Martin 13 to 1 and even, second by four lengths; Prince Lee third. Time, 1:01 1-2. Blue Beard also ran.

Second race—high-weight handicap, one mile—Allover (10 to 1 and 4 to 1) first by a head; [illegible] 17 to 1 and 2 to 1 second by a head; Imperator 13 to 1 and [illegible] third. Time, 1:44.

Third race—Tremont stakes, $10,000, six furlongs—Hand[ball] (4 to 1 and 6 to 5) first by a head; Howlingbrook (2 to 1 [illegible]) second by one length; Varus [illegible] third. Time, 1:15.

Fourth race—[illegible] handicap, mile and a furlong—[illegible] (4 to 5 and 1 to 5) first three-fourths of a length; [illegible] (13 to 5 and 1 to 2) second by one and a half lengths; [illegible] (10 to 1 and 4 to 1) third. Time, 1:57.

Fifth race—selling, six furlongs—St. Nicholas II. (30 to 1 and 20 to 1) first by a head; [illegible] (10 to 1 and 4 to 1) second by a neck; Mahony (30 to 1 and 10 to 1) third. Time, 1:16.

Sixth race—mile and a sixteenth, selling—Ben Eder (7 to 10 and out) first by a neck; Brisk (5 to 1 and 8 to 5) second by four lengths; Damian (8 to 1 and 2 to 1) third. Time, 1:50.

A Hard Fight.

"The worst fight I ever had was caused by a drove of young mules," said Frank James, who was one of Quantrell's command and who was suddenly and unexpectedly ushered in western Kentucky about the middle of the war. I was one of them. There were ten of us in the party. We hustled around in lively fashion for new horses, and could not afford to be very squeamish about the style of the animal or the means employed in acquiring them, for the enemy was close upon us and pursuing us hotly. Along towards night we came upon a pasture filled with a motley array of horses and we helped ourselves to them. In the bunch was an old mare with a big bell tied around her neck. Of course, we knew that this meant that she was the leader of the drove. But we pressed her into service, anyway, and away we struck down a rocky branch road. You don't know what a rocky branch road is unless you have had to travel over one in western Kentucky. It is no road at all, but simply level bank along a branch or small creek that flows through a valley between high hills, which in most any other country would be called mountains.

"Well, we were going pell-mell down this rocky branch road to the our command. It was soon after dark, but it was as black away down in the ravine as the innermost recesses of the infernal regions are supposed to be. Though we were riding fast and making a good deal of noise, we could hear a tremendous commotion in our rear. We halted to determine the nature and cause of it. The uproar sounded like a cavalry charge, and we concluded that a whole division of federal cavalry was pursuing us. We resumed our course under whip and spur, and louder grew the noise in our rear. It sounded exactly as if the enemy was gaining on us at every step, and I suggested that we run off into the bushes and wait for the Yanks to come up. Then we could surprise and route them on the rocky branch road. [illegible] As the uproar grew louder and more distinct we knew that the enemy was nearing us and we threw ourselves into line of battle.

"Pretty soon we heard the clatter and over the brow of a hill from our [illegible] and we opened our guns ready to throw a broadside into the advancing Yanks as soon as they hove in sight. [illegible] a black mass could be seen [illegible] over the knoll. Then we thought probably it might be some of our own men, and that before turning our deadly fire into the mass it would be better to find out what composed it. We shouted 'Halt!' at the top of our voices, but still the mass continued to sweep toward us. Then we fired a volley into it. The flash of our guns made a brilliant red streak in the inky blackness, and through it we saw a lot of young mules. They had broken out of the pasture when they found the absence of the bell mare, and their instinct had guided them in our direction in search of her.

"I have no idea how many of them we killed, but I do know that I was mad enough when I got over my fright to shoot them all down, and would have [illegible] if it had not been for the fact that the commanding we had already indulged in had aroused the country and put them into the direction we had taken."—St. Louis Republic.

Earl of Aylesford.

The Earl of Aylesford was especially well known in west Texas. He owned a ranch near Big Springs and lived in the town. This was in the days when steers were worth $20 a head, range cattle, and everybody had money. But even the broad familiarity of the West halted at "Joey." They would not call him by his title, so they called him "the Boss." Every cowboy in that whole country knew him by that name and all asserted that he was a prince of good fellows.

The Earl was democratic in his associations, and preferred the unpolished frontier English of the plains to the [illegible] phrases of the cities. He bought a hotel out there and a saloon. Whenever a cowboy loomed up there in a state of financial desuetude, he was sure to find a friend who would provide him with a first-class room, plenty to eat and all the "licker" he wanted. As that was the general condition of cowboys then and now, the Earl's hotel and the Earl's [saloon] were costly luxuries. He did a big business, and nearly every other saloon in Big Springs was forced to close, but he did not make any money. He did not want to make any. He much preferred spending it and losing whiskey and victuals for cowboys, which was perhaps a better way of turning money loose than buying brandy and soda for the [illegible] of London. And when he died on his ranch, all the cowboys mourned his loss, and the grief was sincere.—Dallas News.

At Night.

I ain't afeard uv snakes, or toads, or bugs, or worms, or mice,
An' things 'at girls are skeered uv I think are awful nice!
I'm pretty brave, I guess; an' yet I hate to go to bed,
For, when I'm tucked up warm an' snug an' when my prayers are said,
Mother tells me "Happy dreams!" and takes away the light,
An' leaves me lyin' all alone an' seein' things at night!

Sometimes they're in the corner, sometimes they're by the door,
Sometimes they're all a-standin' in the middle of the floor;
Sometimes they're are a-sittin' down, sometimes they're walkin' round
So softly and so creepy-like they never make a sound!
Sometimes they are as black as ink, an' other times they're white—
But the color ain't no difference when you see things at night!

Once, when I licked a feller 'at had just moved on our street,
An' father sent me up to bed without a bite to eat,
I woke up in the dark an' saw things standin' in a row,
A-lookin' at me cross-eyed an' p'intin' at me—so.
Oh, my! I was so skeered that time I never slep' a mite—
It's almost alluz when I'm bad I see things at night!

"Not of this fold," the Master Shepherd said—

But mine, all mine, and I shall call them soft
When shadows deepen and across the weld
Blows the fierce wind with its chill weight of frost
I shall go out into the gathering gloom
And I shall call and they will follow home.

"Not of this fold," but mine no less, he said
They wander far, portentous glooms among
While [illegible] of stumbling mar their onward way.
But to my bosom I shall lift the young
And lead the [illegible]-worn o'er the stormy weld—
With me they'll flock into the sheltered fold.

"Not of this fold," but yet I love them so
That they must follow where I say the word.
Out in the night and through the glooms I go—
They will not stay when my voice they have heard.
When and I call they all will follow me,
For they are mine—are mine—as well as [illegible]

GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Good Digestion, Not by Patent Medicine, But in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh; all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor of mind and body, and that is through the stomach by wholesale food well digested. There is no reason or common sense in any other method whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale and shaky in their nerves, simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones, and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood, and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give personal known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for full sized package or direct by mail from Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. Little book on stomach diseases mailed free.

Does She Love Me?

Does she love me? That is Greek,
Far too deep for me to know.
Do the sweet lips always speak
From the heart's deep overflow?
Can I tell each gentle sigh
Is the breath of answering love?
Are the glances of her eye
Forged by Cupid or by Jove?
Only this to me is known,
That I love her, her alone;
Only this I clearly see,
She is more than earth can be,
And full half of heaven to me.

Does she love me? Do I know
Christ has risen from the tomb?
Or where roses, when they blow,
Get their color and perfume?
Faith would have no mission here,
Hope would still in heaven be,
If I did not trust the dear
Pledges of her love for me.
Though I cannot prove it mine,
By an algebraic sign,
Yet, as love divinely grows,
It believes and feels and knows,
Thus, through each and every sense,
Her true love gives evidence.
And I clear and clearer see
She is more than earth can be,
And full half of heaven to me.
CHARLES M. DICKINSON.

Penalties After Death.

Posthumous punishment is to be inflicted on the murderers of the late queen of Corea. The two ministers who issued the decree reducing her to the rank of ordinary people and who were the king's cut off his top knot were put to death when the king took refuge with the Russian legation at Seoul, and their bodies were horribly mutilated. The law department has now been directed to take the proper measures whereby the "extreme penalty" may be administered to the two dead traitors.
