Late advices from Japan state that an earthquake occurred at Yokohama on the 13th ult., with slight damage.—The alarm was the most violent since 1855. It is reported that several villages in the neighborhood of Vres are destroyed. The great volcano of Osama, in the Province of Sincha, quiet for four centuries, is in violent eruption, accompanied with shaking of the earth. The people are terrified and the villages in the vicinity are destroyed. The Captain of the bark Benefactress reports an active crater in the sea two hundred miles from Yokohama; some portions of it are above the sea. The water is boiling and a cloud issuing.

☞ The great fight this fall will be for members of Congress. In Ohio the delegation now stands, thirteen Republicans to six Democrats. Six of the Republicans were elected two years since by less than 500 majority.* These districts will, of course, be hotly contested, and the Democrats are hopeful of securing a part of them. In this district the tariff will be the controlling question, and, as the Democrats have pledged themselves to Free Trade, and the district is overwhelmingly for a tariff, the district may be set down as certain for the Republicans.

☞ Under Andy Johnson, whisky, with a tax of $2 per gallon, yielded a revenue of $12,000,000 per year; under GRANT, with the tax at fifty cents, the revenue is $52,000,000. That is the difference between Democratic rule and Republican rule. With such facts before them, the people care not how much the Democracy howl about corruption and extravagance—they know it to be sheer humbug.

☞ The Cincinnati Enquirer makes this frank, and important, acknowledgment, to wit:

A large and perhaps a controlling section of the party, here and in the West, are for open and undisguised repudiation.

Talk no more about Democratic honesty, and Republican corruption! Repudiation would be the most gigantic swindle the world ever saw, and yet here is a party, the prominent organ of which makes the astounding statement that "a large and perhaps a controlling section of the party," in the West, "are for open and undisguised repudiation." There may be corruption in the Republican party, but, thank God, it has not reached the infamy of favoring that sum of all villainies, repudiation. If a thief should steal your bonds and burn them, you would soon send him to the penitentiary, if he could be found. Here is a party that declares itself ready to make worthless your bonds—refuse their payment, and destroy forever the capital you have invested in them. What is the difference in the two cases? We can't see any, unless it be that the latter is stealing by the wholesale, and therefore the most criminal, and hence deserving of the greater punishment.

☞ Athens County has two Republican papers—the Messenger and the Journal—and to one at this distance they seem to be each the organ of a ring, and the question in issue, the corrupt one of who shall enjoy the loaves and fishes. If that is the condition of things in Athens county, then the Republicans up there deserve to be beaten all the time—both rings, neither getting a morsel. Men who will so far forget the great principles of their party organization, no matter to what party they may belong, as to wrangle over the distribution of the offices, do not deserve success, and the people should see to it that they do not get it.

☞ The Jackson Standard names Hon. H. S. BUNDY for Congress, in this District, and offers some sound reasons for his nomination. If nominated, Mr. BUNDY would walk over the track with a rush, for he is all right upon the great and only question in issue, the Tariff.

☞ Judge BRINKERHOFF, of the Supreme Court, whose time expires this fall, declines a re-nomination.—There will be no want of candidates for his place, for we believe some twenty have already been announced. Give us a man of good character, and one having the proper legal acquirements and experience, and we shall be satisfied.

☞ We understand that Sheriff Bias, of Boone county, has been removed, and our young friend W. L. Mahan has been appointed in his stead. Bias has been Sheriff of Boone for several years, and has never paid a single cent into the State Treasury. He is a Democrat, and was one of the delegates to the State Convention held here last week.—Charleston (W. Va.) Journal.

Is it possible? Can a Democrat do such things? Why, here in Ohio, at Columbus recently, the party talked heavily of their honesty and Republican dishonesty, and now here comes a Democratic official, (the only one in office we have heard of,) and pockets all of the people's money that touches his hands—don't pay into the State Treasury a red cent! We say again, can such things be, in the face of such loud professions?

☞ Grant owns $100,000 worth of United States bonds. A foreign war, even with Spain, would greatly depreciate their market value. In all public operations he looks at pecuniary profit to himself and friends.—Cin. Enquirer.

A few years since, one of the editors of the Enquirer had $30,000 in greenbacks—the Assessor listed them for taxation—the editor refused to pay the tax—went into the courts to defend himself, and to get rid of the taxes.—He succeeded. In this operation he, also, looked at "pecuniary profit to himself." There the comparison ceases, for he never includes "friends" in the profits. Is it a crime for GRANT to look after such things, and not for the editor of the Enquirer?

☞ Mr. Hoar has resigned his position as Attorney General in Gen. Grant's Cabinet, and the vacancy has been supplied by the appointment of Ackerman, of Georgia. Because he is a new man—unknown to political trickery and corruption—the Democratic sheets protest against his appointment. So he prove honest and faithful is all that the people require. Professional politicians are about played out.

☞ The Portsmouth Times suggests Wednesday, August 24th, as the day for the Democratic Congressional Convention. Trot out your Free Trader.

Dispatches from Fort Hays, Kansas, and other points, report the Indians very numerous between Camp Supply and Bear Creek, all on the war path. Several Government and other trains and herds have been attacked, but so far the Indians have been driven off. One train was corraled two days at Gypsum Creek, fighting the Indians. A train from Camp Supply was attacked four times. It is no longer safe for trains or herds to travel without a strong escort.

☞ Our Republican friends in Mason County, W. Va., have nominated the editor of the Register, G. W. TIPPET, Esq., for the House of Delegates. We hope he will be elected.

The Railroad

GALLIPOLIS, O., June 10th, '70.

MR. EDITOR:—As the time has come when the Subscription Books of the Gallipolis, McArthur and Columbus Rail Road are to be opened, the construction of which is of vital importance to our county as well as the city, I sincerely hope that every man of means is waiting, for the time to come, when they will subscribe to the stock, to the utmost of their ability, in order to construct the long talked of, and so much desired, Rail Road.

Having recently become a citizen of Gallia county, I am, therefore, deeply interested and identified with the prosperity of the county; and having removed from a portion of our great and growing State traversed by different railroads, among the most important and best paying in the U. S., the Great Pan Handle route, from Philadelphia, via Columbus, to Chicago and St. Louis; also the River Division of Cleveland & Pittsburg R. R.—from Wellsville on the main line to Bellaire, Ohio—which pays very handsomely to the stockholders, and is of incalculable benefit to the country through which it passes, let me state an honest fact: that a large portion of the community was violently opposed to the Railroads—took no stock themselves, but tried to prevent others from doing so, and acted in the same manner about the right of way. When the cars had been running but a short time they were asking and selling their property for double prices; and, to day, the people for miles on each side of the Roads would give twenty-five per cent. of their actual wealth, rather than have the track torn up—and ties removed for good—and hear no more the whistle of the locomotive, and its echo along the valleys and surrounding hills. Knowing the advantage of Rail Roads from experience, I positively assert that the proposed Gallipolis, McArthur & Columbus Road will pay a handsome per cent. to the stockholders, if men of financial abilities and economical in their dealings, control the same.

Therefore, fellow citizens, as we have great need of a Rail Road from here to Columbus, and have made several unsuccessful efforts on former occasions, let not the golden opportunity pass by us with the vain and delusive idea that men of capital from a distance will build our Rail Road, and thereby increase our wealth, while we sit on the corners and whittle. But come up to the great and important part, and subscribe to the capital stock with such liberality that will convince men of capital elsewhere that the people along the line mean "business," are alive to their own interests, &c., knowing that there are great advantages to be derived, with proper railroad facilities through our county, in opening up communications and facilities for cheap and reliable transportation. Our minerals, coal fields and agricultural resources, will be developed; trade will be increased and stimulated; labor—the great lever of all wealth and prosperity—will command remunerative prices, while the agricultural products of the country will seek a foreign market, thereby commanding better pay to the farmer, and general prosperity will crown our efforts, if successful in building our Railroad and establishing communication East and West.

Therefore, let every man who feels himself able, subscribe in proportion to his abilities, and not expect his neighbors to aid in building the object so much needed, for unless every effort is made we may not be successful, and the present opportunity will pass, and the citizens and travellers will have to mud it out. While other portions, with less means and less natural advantages, but more vigilant to the welfare and prosperity of their portion of the country, will reap the rewards of our inactivity.

Hoping and believing that the people are ready and willing to do all that is in their power in aiding in the building of the proposed Railroad, and that the Iron Horse will be running down Chickamauga in less than three years, I am Yours,

H. B.

☞ At the late judicial election in New York, which the Democracy have been claiming as a great victory, the party polled 39,561 votes less than they did for Hoffman, two years ago. They blowed too soon.

☞ The Parkersburg Gazette gets off the following: "When the Charmer, upon her late trip with the Democratic delegates on board, was approaching Charleston, Colonel B. Smith hurried to the wharf to welcome the delegates. The steamer was bearing nearer and nearer to the shore, and the Colonel, loaded with his speech of welcome, looked for her speedy landing; but, it being dinner, the captain of the boat concluded to feed his passengers and then land. He therefore steamed up the river three miles above Charleston, passing the lovely spot without any signs of an attention to land there. The Colonel at the wharf, utterly amazed at this strange occurrence, waved his hat lustily, signaling the boat to land, but not receiving an answer and seeing the boat passing, gave words to his grief and surprise by exclaiming: "My God! is it possible that they don't know where Charleston is?"

☞ A dangerous counterfeit fifty-cent fractional currency note of the new issue with the Lincoln vignette has just been put in circulation. It so closely resembles a fifty-cent note of the new issue that any one is liable to be deceived. The paper used is an imitation of that used by the Government, but it is unlike the genuine, which is pink tinted. The counterfeit is slightly greenish in color, and the face is somewhat blurred. The words "fractional currency" and "stamps" are darkly shaded, which is not the case in the genuine. There is also a difference on the back of the note.

Two little boys, sons of Samuel Currence, of Randolph county, West Virginia, went out one day last week, to drive home the cows. When but a short distance from the house they were attacked by a very large panther. The eldest boy immediately gathered up the youngest one in his arms, but the panther seized him and tore him loose. The boy, seeing that he could not save his little brother, ran to the house. The father hastened back with him, and when he got to the spot found his child almost entirely devoured.

The Ajax, of Rome, Ohio, played the Guyandotte base ball club on last Saturday. The game stood, Ajax 31, Guyandottes 34.

Joshua Kelly, manager of Mt. Vernon Furnace, Lawrence county, got into an altercation with an ore digger, on Wednesday last, which terminated in his striking him on the side of the head, crushing the skull in a frightful manner. The man was not dead, at last accounts, but his death was momentarily expected. Kelly, who is about twenty-eight years of age, immediately fled and has not yet been apprehended.

The Engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio R. R. has issued orders regulating a days' work on the line of the road. For the Gallipolis Journal.

The 9th of April, 1865, was the day of doom to the rebels; and, to us—the soldiers of the Union army, the day of hope and blissful expectations.

The many long months and years that we had suffered, that the dear old flag of our fore-fathers—the "Star Spangled Banner," might be saved from polution, were swallowed up in the thought of our country's salvation. Five years have come and gone since then, yet our hearts throb and beat tumultuously when we think of that day when the news was borne us, of said surrender.

We were at that time stationed in Tennessee, on the Hiwassia river, awaiting orders to move on to Richmond, little thinking that in those mountain recesses our hearts would be made glad with the news of the downfall of rebeldom. Beautiful visions of home arose, and our hearts sang anthems of joy. In camp, men sang and laughed for happiness, cannon belched forth fire and smoke, making the mountain tremble with their thunders and the valleys to echo and re-echo with their boom of peace.

But the day soon came when those glad sounds of joy were changed to sorrow, and instead of the laugh and song, men's faces grew dark and stern with the thought of him assassinated. Abraham Lincoln took his seat amid a whirlwind of passion, and often guided us safely through the vortex of disunion, offered up his life, not upon a bed of sickness, though, but by the foul hands of an assassin. For five years the flowers have bloomed upon his grave, and for five years his pure spirit has basked in the smiles of a just and loving God.

The tide of time has gone sweeping on, adding each year new honor to his name. False friendship, the hidden viper, has raised its hand to strike, but in spite of all, his name to-day shines with a brighter lustre than it ever did before. In our hearts, we, the soldiers of the Union army, his name is enshrined, and while we think of him with veneration, we pray, oh God, make us as pure a Christian and as true a lover of country as Abraham Lincoln.

MEMORY.

[For the Journal.]

No Drunkard Shall Inherit the Kingdom of Heaven.

The friends of humanity and religion have long seen and deeply deplored the use of intoxicating liquors in our land, and they must have long since seen how the deadly serpent is gradually gaining ground and spreading its loathsome contagion. A kind of warfare is being carried on but still the great destroyer is gradually gaining ground, and grave yards and asylums, and in fact, our country is filled with its victims. Intemperance is certainly at the present time one of the most demoralizing, loathsome and heaven-provoking abominations of our land. Many parents remain passive and say, why should I get myself into trouble, my son does not drink. No, but how soon may your son drink with its baneful influence drawing still nearer around him. And is it not worth your time to stretch forth your hand to save a fellow creature from ruin? God has given each and every one their talent, and how can it be better employed than in driving this curse from our land.

Gems from my "Memory String."

Here is the memory of a tear and a smile. The one a pure crystal drop shed by an infant over a broken toy; the other a little ray of light driving away the first cloud of grief from that infants brow. Some careless hand had thrown the toy from the mantle-piece, and broken it into atoms, and here was the child gathering up the fragments and crying as though its heart would break over what could not be mended. Ah! what an expressive picture of hopeless sorrow this the bright young face clouded and saddened with the first real grief I had ever seen in it. Poor child, it was sobbing so piteously that my heart went out in sympathy for the little fellow so sadly bereft of its hearts dearest idol, and I pondered and wondered if stouter hearts might not break over the loss of some treasure—as worthless, some idol as frail, and while I was thus thinking and gazing on the little scene, the mother came and wiped away its tears and soothed its sorrows, by promising to buy another toy more beautiful than the first. Then hope suddenly scattered the cloud from its countenance, its eye beamed with delight, in anticipation of that glittering toy and its smile was far sweeter than before its new grief. Ah! what a true picture, and how often it has been realized by those of more mature years. We each must have some gilded toy, some heart's dearest idol, something as dear to us as life itself, on which to lavish our affections. It may be a hope of fame or desire for worldly gain. Some selfish hope or aim on which we build lofty aircastles, and revel in happy dreams and anticipations, but when they seem almost within our grasp we reach forth a hand to realize our brightest hopes, when lo! we awaken to find them dashed to the ground and crushed in pieces, just like that little child's broken toy, and like the child, for awhile our grief may be inconsolable, but we dry our tears quickly with a promise of some new toy, and our smiles like April sunshine will be brighter after a shower of tears. I have selected a bright tear and a sweet smile for my memory string.

☞ Accounts from India represent the cholera as being on the increase, and the attacks are fatal in a large proportion of cases. The fact should operate as a warning to the populations of other countries. The ravages of this terrible disease have almost invariably commenced in the East, and have extended to Europe and to this country with regularity which enables scientific men to predict their course during future visitations.

Last Wednesday, a portion of Ross county, north of Chillicothe, was visited by one of the most terrific hail storms on record in that section. Wheat and corn fields, fruits and vegetables, were almost wholly ruined. The damage to growing crops was immense. The hail lay several inches in thickness after the storm had passed.

On Monday, the Mayor fined them from $5 to $10 each, and gave notice that he intended to break up such places, and would show no mercy in the future.

THE GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

Dr. Walker's California VINEGAR BITTERS.

MORE THAN 500,000 PERSONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

What are they?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkeness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In Billious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, these Bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.
