TOO MUCH FOOD IN CARUSO CELLAR

Wine Is Seized by Commission of Men and Women In Italy

Florence, Italy, Aug. 9. — Food is now being allotted to Enrico Caruso, opera singer of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, whose picturesque Italian villa is situated on the heights of Signa-Lastra nine miles from here, on the same ratio as to the peasants in this section.

The new deluxe American limousine he imported was commandered by the military authorities, while the Italian motor car he owned was requisitioned by the prefect of the commune of Signa-Lastra. The Work Committees of the district had had their eyes upon his villa for many days and, when the outbreak against the high cost of living occured here a few weeks ago, made an inventory of his cellar and pantry, told him he had far too much for one man and and his small family to live upon and seized some of the wine in his cellar. Describing the affair Signor Caruso said, to the Associated Press correspondent:

"I was visited by a distinguished commission of men and women conveyed up these hills in two luxurious automobiles decorated in red streamers. These read to me my mode of life in Italy and I have since been forced to live under their mandates.

"You know we have not starved here, though. We have had enough to eat. We have divided our supplies with the people in the red automobiles and have managed to get along. I do not know just what I will do in the future. I pay the Italian government more than a million lire taxes a year but I can ask for little protection for my property. I have given two year's work during the war to the cause of the Allies and, therefore, to the cause of Italy."

NEW CUMBERLAND PLANS BIG DAY

Borough Will Give Rousing Welcome to Its Soldier Boys

New Cumberland, Aug. 9.—September 6 will be a big day here. The town is to welcome its soldiers home and it will do it royally. There will be a big parade, a game of ball in which the Klein Chocolate Company team will play a club that is yet to be selected and a reception in the evening and a band concert by the Spring Garden band. The sum of $1,000 already has been raised for meeting the cost of the celebration. This was announced at the meeting of the Victory and Memorial committee meeting last evening.

The principal speaker of the day will be Dr. Leon Prince, of the faculty of Dickinson College, who will deliver an address after the band concert. At this time each soldier will be presented with a discharge issued by the borough. The discharges will contain the rank and honors of the men and will be signed by the burgess, president and secretary of town council, and the people of the town who took an active part in the war work at home.

The officers of the Victory and Memorial committee arranging for the celebration are: Dr. John L. Good, president; Paul Rife, secretary; Russell Kohr, assistant secretary; John A. Witmyer, vice-president; George Rife, vice-president, and Miss Marian Leib, treasurer.

H. B. Trowell is chaiman of the finance committee; G. Bailey Osler, chairman of the entertainment committee; Russell Kohr, chairman of the publicity committee; N. A. Hoff, chairman of the parade and reception committee, and George Rife, chairman of the program committee.

Each committee is composed of fifteen members, including one member of each organization in town. The various committees will hold meetings and formulate further plans during next week.

The parade will be five or six divisions long and will include the soldier boys of that district, the Red Cross workers, secret orders, the firemen and a number of floats to be arranged for by the business houses of the town. J. A. Witmyer has been chosen as chief marshal of the parade.

There were about 125 young men from the New Cumberland district, who joined the colors during the World War. Of this number five paid the supreme sacrifice in serving their country. There will be special memorial services during the day in honor of the five soldiers who lost their lives in the service of their country.

SERB FINANCES IN BAD SHAPE

Too Much Inferior Currency, U. S. Army Officer Believes

Belgrade, Serbia, Aug. 9. — The chief difficulty at present is the financial situation, says Colonel D. M. Stewart, of the United States Army, retired, who has investigated the economic situation in the new Jugo-Slav kingdom for several large American corporations.

"The immense amount of inferior currency in circulation, at least, 7,007,000 Austrian Kronen, has impeded establishment of trade," he said. "American business representatives have no difficulty in obtaining orders. The trouble comes in the proper solution of the problem of payment."

Steps have been taen to establish banking communications between this country and America.
