SUNDAY READING.

From the Louisville Courier.

THE RABBIT ON THE WALL.

The following picture, drawn in beautiful colors by one who handles the "pencil of poesy" with a master hand, will conjure up more than one bright memory of childhood's sunny hours in "hearts aged with care that beat beneath locks whitened by the frosts of time." Who, while reading it, cannot see the happy assembled like joining in the shouts of the delighted little ones, and kissing chirping, crowing "Johnny?"

The cottage work is over,
The evening meal is done:
Hark! through the starlight stillness
You hear the river run.
The little children whisper,
Then speak out one and all!
Come, father, make for Jonny,
The rabbit on the wall.

He smilingly assenting,
They gather round his chair;
"Now, grandma, you hold Johnny—
Don't let the candle flare."
So speaking, from his fingers,
He threw a shadow tall,
That seems, the moment after,
A rabbit on the wall.

The children shout with laughter,
The mirror louder grows;
Even grandma chuckles faintly,
And Johnny chirps and crows.
There no'er was gilded painting,
Hung up in lordly hall,
Gave half the simple pleasure,
Of this rabbit on the wall.

NORTHERN METHODIST MISSIONS.

The Nashville Christian Advocate in an article stating that the assessment of the Northern Methodist Missionary Society was $1,030,978, and that $70,700 had been set apart for churches in the South, says:

This is truly a magnificent programme, and we wish our northern brethren all possible success in working it out. We might, indeed, except one of the items. We hardly know how they can expect the Divine blessing to rest upon their schismatical invasion of territory. There seems to be no reasonable excuse or apology for their great missionary crusade in the South. We are able to cultivate this field, and to promote all the interests of the common Methodism within the bounds of the Southern Conferences. Why then intrude within "our line of affairs?" Will the cause of Christ be advanced by such a policy? Is it to the honor of Methodism that the Bishops and ministers of the Northern Methodist Church should take our churches, parsonages, cemeteries, and schools, and propose to buy up our preachers and members, especially the colored people for whom we labored successfully, when no man beside cared for their souls? Would it not be better to take the $70,700 appropriated to this unhallowed work, and cast it into the sea? But there need be no waste of ointment. We do not ask them to help us in our distress and poverty; but are there not six hundred millions of pagans in the regions beyond? and are there no Greeks at their very doors? It pains us beyond measure to see the names of such men as Bishops Morris and Janes appended to the crusading programme—we had nothing else to expect from certain others. According to human tactics, we confess their present policy is well planned—it is just the time for such a crusade. It may, in a certain sense, prove a success. But there are some victories to which triumphs are not decreed. This may be of the number. Carthage may be destroyed, but what thinks may not be the fate of the proud destroyer? "Thus saith the Lord, for three transgressors of Edom, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, and he kept his wrath forever; but I will send a fire upon Teman, which will devour the palaces of Bozrah."

According to the Northern Methodist papers, the crusaders, preachers and teachers are to make a descent upon the South, east and west of the mountains, erect churches, school houses, etc., in every prominent centre, and then radiate over all the land. When they come, we need but caution our friends not to persecute them in any way, as we feel sure that they will not do that; but let not our enemies outstrip us in zeal and energy and perseverance. If any of our churches, parsonages, and other property, are in debt, do not suffer them to be put under the hammer and sold to meet the demands of exacting creditors. Let "the riches of your liberality" appear in the midst of your "deep poverty." Let pastors watch over their flocks with increased vigilance and care. Circulate the periodicals and other literature of the church. Preach the word with more simplicity and earnestness than ever. Be men of one work. Eschew political and all other irrelevant questions in the pulpit and church press. Avoid those who cause divisions, and pray for the peace of Jerusalem. "They shall prosper that love thee."

The Eternal Day.

Mattiso, on the "Immortality of the Soul," beautifully expresses that the death of a good man is but the dawning of an eternal day. Not till then does he enter upon real life—a life unclogged by corruption. Then is he "clothed upon," and ascends to be with Christ, which is far better. Then, farewell earth—farewell toil, and pain, and death. He goes to join the immortal company who sing and shine in the presence of God forever.

"And though the hill of death
May hide the bright array,
The marshaled brotherhood of souls
Still keeps its upward way:
Upward! forever upward!
I see their march sublime,
And hear the glorious music
Of the conquerors of time.

No doubt, no darkness, no tears! The two leaved gates of eternity are gently opening before him, and the light of that brighter world is pouring forth upon the scene of his departure.

See the dying Mozart, as he stands upon the higher shore of the river of death, looks back upon the toils of the past, and forward to the joys of the immortal future. How appropriate his "cygean song," the last he heard on earth.

"Spirit, thy labor is o'er;
Thy term of probation is run,
Thy steps are now bound for the unbroken shore,
And the race of immortals begun.

"Spirit, how bright is the home
For which thou art soon on the wing?
Thy home it will be with thy Saviour and God,
Their loud hallelujahs to sing."

In that "better country" there will be no more hunger, or thirst, no cold or heat, no weariness or sickness, no pain, decay, or death, forever! There the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest. The lamb that is in the midst of the throne shall lead us to the fountain of living waters, and God shall wipe away all tears from our eyes!

Reader, does your bosom glow with this glorious hope of joys immortal beyond the grave? If so, of what account are our earthly trials, disappointments and sufferings? Are they ready to be compared with the glory to be revealed? Should we not rather bless God for every pang we feel, knowing that our light affliction—which is but for a moment—worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory?

Then, O my soul, depend no more,
The storm of life will soon be o'er,
And I shall find the peaceful shore
Of everlasting rest.

O happy day! O joyful hour!
When freed from death my soul shall tower
Beyond the reach of Satan's power,
To be forever blest.

Such is the prospect that opens before the Christian as he passes the gates of death. No wonder he shouts "Victory, victory, through the blood of the Lamb!"

Then welcome, death! Welcome, the tomb and the bright world beyond! Welcome, ye angels immortal! Welcome, ye blissful hosts, once of earth, and heirs of sorrow, pain and death, but now forever free! Welcome, my long-lost kindred who await my coming! Welcome, thou gates of day, thou city of my God! Welcome, thrice welcome thou glorious Redeemer, thou Infinite Godhead! All hail, immortality! All hail, Eternal Life!

THE LEGAL COST OF A FUNERAL.—A suit was recently brought in the Superior Court of Boston, by Father Cleary and Donnelly of that city, to recover $1,500 from Mr. Donahoe, of the Boston Pilot. The circumstances were that the Rev. Dr. Cahill, when lying at the point of death, delivered in trust to Mr. Donahoe about $7,500, with instructions to send $6,000 to his executors, $500 to his servant, and to expend the remainder in paying the expenses of his sickness and burial. Under these instructions Mr. Donahoe expended $1,800 on the funeral ceremonies. This the plaintiffs claimed, was an unusual and extravagant expenditure. Mr. Donahoe of that [illegible] than was needed [illegible] the expenses of the funeral [illegible] the church.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT TO TWO ROPE-WALKERS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—A shocking catastrophe, which may be attended with fatal results, occurred yesterday afternoon at the Willows. Miss Rosa Celeste, the well-known female blight, or rope-walker, was advertised to wheel a barrow with a man named Kennovan (the pedestrian) in it, along a cable stretched from a high platform to the top of a pavilion. It appears that when the time came for performing the feat, it was found that Kennovan was distrustful of Miss Celeste's ability to wheel him across in safety, and had been nerving himself with liquor. Miss Celeste declined to undertake the feat with a timid man; but as the audience, misunderstanding her action, jeered her for her want of courage, she was stung into the imprudence of attempting it. Before Miss Celeste had gone ten feet from the platform, and when she was twenty-two feet from the ground, her companion in the barrow changed his position. By the aid of the balancing-pole she had nearly recovered the shock to her equilibrium, and again essayed to go on, when the foolish man moved a second time, and Celeste, Kennovan and the barrow came to the earth. Kennovan was undermost, and, besides bruises from the fall, he was terribly mangled by the iron work of the barrow, which tore his ear from the socket and lacerated the muscles of his neck. Celeste clung to her pole, and, one end of it striking the ground, broke her fall before it snapped, and she struck on her elbow, breaking it, and her shoulder bone, but saving her head, and thus escaping instantaneous death. There are doubts respecting the fate of both, as the medical attendants cannot tell what internal injuries have been received.

COL. ST. LEGER GRENFEL.

The Florida House of Representatives has adopted a report and resolutions upon the case of Col. George St. Leger Grenfel, a Lieutenant in the British army, who volunteered for the Confederate cause, and subsequently was placed on the staffs of Generals Bragg and Lee. Owing to a misunderstanding with the Confederate War Department, he resigned; and subsequently, while hunting on the prairies of Illinois, was arrested and tried by a military commission for conspiring to release Confederate prisoners at Camp Douglas and to burn Chicago. He was sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life at the Dry Tortugas, in Florida, where he now is. The committee say that the charges are utterly groundless, and the Colonel is a victim to perjury. They say that there are about five hundred prisoners now at the Dry Tortugas.—Baltimore Sun.

The tribunal that tried Grenfel was a military commission—an illegal and mock court—and has been so declared by the Supreme Court of the United States. His incarceration is, therefore, a monstrous outrage, and steps ought to be taken to release him without delay.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ALL CLASSES OF LEGITIMATE CLAIMS against the United States Government promptly collected. Particular attention given to claims for Equalization of Bounty. Parties who have filed claims in my office, and who have not heard from me lately in reference to them, are requested to send me their present postoffice address, as many changes have taken place in the postal arrangements since their claims were filed, and letters are being returned to me every day unsealed for. I intend visiting Washington soon for the purpose of urging a speedy settlement of all claims now in my hands, and it is important that I should be able to communicate with claimants promptly; additional evidence will have to be furnished in many cases, and strong proof of loyalty in some cases of citizen claims. Money advanced on officers', soldiers' and citizens' claims.

I am also agent for the National Steam Navigation Company—steamers sailing from New York, Liverpool, and Queenstown, Ireland.

NASHVILLE ..... TENNESSEE,

HAVE ON HAND A FINE STOCK OF

NEW DRYGOODS,

TRIMMINGS, ETC.

JOHN E. EVERETT AND JOHN W. MURRAY, who are carrying on the business of the above firm, would respectfully call the attention of their friends and of the public generally to this stock of NEW GOODS.

Mr. Everett and Mr. Murray are, and always have been, residents of Nashville or its vicinity, and consequently are identified in interest with the people whose patronage they solicit.

Their house is the same occupied by J. E. Everett and H. R. Buchanan for the period of fourteen years previous to the war. They return to the business again, hoping to share the patronage of a generous public. To their old friends and numerous customers they would say, "Come and see us," believing that the satisfaction heretofore given will be a sufficient guarantee for the future.
