Unequaled for men, women, children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cents. Samples free at Jacob Geiger's Eagle drug store.

The Opelousas Courier says that work on the public building is advancing rapidly and the beauties of the structure are becoming more apparent every day.

Capitalists from Arkansas were in Houma last week, to consult a number of prominent citizens of that town, on the subject of organizing a bank. The matter was postponed until the end of the year.

John D. Rockefeller has sent word to the Ohio oil fields that hereafter the Standard pumps must remain idle during the Sabbath. It is one of his theories that men can compass a better total of results in six days labor than in seven.

The apportionment of the proposed lottery license, is as follows; annually to the public schools, $350,000; levees, $350,000; charities, $150,000; pensions to Confederate veterans, $50,000; drainage of New Orleans, $100,000; general fund of the State, $250,000.

Earthquake shocks have been felt in the Verona district in Italy and unusually great eruption from Mount Vesuvius is expected. This no doubt is the result of the recent heated state of affairs in Italy brought about by Rudini's antics over the execution of the Mafia assassins in this city.

Ex Senator Blair will draw at least six months salary as minister to China, notwithstanding the fact that he was rejected by that government and never got further than Chicago on his journey to that country. As the pay is $1000 per month, he is having a pretty soft thing of it even he is just now out of a government job.

The Secretary of the Treasury has requested the Secretary of State to advise consular officers in those countries having a depreciated paper currency to affix to invoices made out in such currency as well as in standard currency their certificate of the depreciation as compared with the standard coin currency of such country proclaimed quarterly by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The distress in Germany, caused by the high price of necessities of life, is causing a wide spread demand for the reduction of duties on imports. Even the most fanatical protectionists are said to be weakening, and to admit that duties must be lowered. Thus, one by one, the protection roses fall. Soon all the nations of the world will break away from the nonsensical doctrine of protection and adopt reasonable ideas, in harmony with the interests of the people.

The Rev. Father McMahon, pastor of St. Andrew's Catholic Church, New York City, who last April gave real estate in that city worth $500,000 to the Catholic University in Washington, sent his library to that institution last week. Father McMahon, who is over seventy, is considered one of the most learned priests in the country. This library is made up of books which he has been collecting for almost half a century. It consists of about 3000 volumes and is worth $10,000. Many of the books in it are rare.

A case of general interest to planters has just been decided in Baton Rouge. Squires, a colored laborer had contracted with J. P. Muse, to cultivate twenty acres of land, and upon his contract had obtained supplies to the amount of $12. At the end of four or five weeks he quit the place without having refunded the amount of the supplies he had received. He was arrested for violation of Act No. 138, of 1890, tried by jury, found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or ten days in jail.

THE LIFE OF AN EDITOR.

Journalism is the most exacting profession in the world. The successful newspaper man must be ever on the alert, twenty four hours in a day, seven days in a week, and fifty-two weeks in a year. If he snatches a vacation or is incapacitated by sickness, he risks being supplanted by a rival worker, for the competition is intense, and the presses must be fed if a man drops out his place must be filled at once.

"I went to reception last evening," said Colonel John A. Cockerill to me not long ago, "and when I came down to the office I found an accumulation of work which I have not yet caught up with. A newspaper man should have no friends, no social relations, no family. He should live, eat and sleep in his office, and the first time he ventures outside the door he should be hit on the head with a club."

This may taken as the pessimistic expression of an overworked man, but there is a good deal of truth in it. The newspaper man can have few social pleasures as other men know them. He must turn night into day in his work. The cozy evenings by the family fireside and the restful holidays enjoyed by men in other professions are for him to write about, not to enjoy.

There is a story told of a veteran night editor who, for some reason, had a couple of days off. For years he had reached his home about 6 o'clock in the morning, slept until late in the afternoon, and then been obliged to rush off to his work. His children naturally saw but little of him. On this occasion he found it necessary to correct his youngest daughter for some flagrant breach of discipline. The child rushed to her mother flushed with indignation.

"Ma ja!" she exclaimed, "that man wiv whiskers that sleeps here daytimes 'panked me!"

Under these conditions it is evident that a man must have a more than ordinary interests in his profession to make the work endurable. [Allen Foreman in the "Louis Lombard."

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is today enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at Eagle drug store.

ONE MONTH MORE.—The publishers of the Dominion Illustrated announce the receipt of a very large number of answers in the unique and valuable prize competition inaugurated by them at the beginning of the present year, and which until the close of the present month will still be open to new subscribers. Now is the time for any who have a desire to compete to get the necessary information as to terms and conditions and take advantage of the next few weeks for an effort to obtain one of the 100 prizes, aggregating over $3,000 in value, that are to be distributed. Send 12 cents in stamps to the Sabiston Litho. & Pnb. Co., Montreal, the publishers, for a sample copy and full particulars.

We reprint from the New York Herald a warning to smokers who in the enjoyment of the weed are uninformed as to its deleterious effects when the smoke is inhaled as follows:

"The Medical Record calls attention to a new morbid habit which of late year has become enormously prevalent. It is the inhalation of tobacco smoke—quite akin to the opium habit. "The old cigarette smoke," says the deep whiffs of his cheap cigarette for the finest Havana that could be bought with gold." It should be borne in mind that this habit, once established becomes, according to the testimony of physicians practically incurable.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The ants have this advantage in our fight. Should they win by accident they will never cease to crow over their wonderful victory, and should we win, as we naturally will, then they will enjoy all the advantages of the revenue that we will. It is heads they win and tails they win also—what a lovely thing to be a dear little anti. Well, we are not mean and won't begrudge to them a share of our revenue. Wonder if they'll take it? Who, they? Why of course not.—[Ruston Caligraph.

Remember that the first lottery established in Louisiana was for the purpose of erecting Christ's Church in New Orleans and that about 490 churches have been erected thereby in the United States, besides a large number of schools and colleges. Surely somebody has been or is wrong about the morality or immorality of these institutions.—[Ruston Caligraph.

SLAVIN WHIPS KILRAIN.

Not only in the United States, but in every country where the telegraphic and cable wires reach, Frank P. Slavin is being talked of to-day among sporting men as the most likely disputant with Sullivan, of the heavy-weight prize ring honors. The fight, last night, between the man from the antipodes was one of the best short battles that have been fought for many a day, if the telegraphed reports are to be believed, and Slavin displayed a measure of hitting ability that not even his warmest champion supposed he possessed when he disposed of big and awkward Jim McAuliffe in London, some months ago. Indeed the latter fight, while it established Slavin's reputation to a certain extent was of such brief duration that no one got an opportunity to judge of the real possibilities of the superbly built Australian. His easy victory over Kilrain, a reputedly fine man, in a contest with gloves, after a few rounds, makes Slavin admittedly the best man in his class, barring, perhaps, Sullivan. It is true that Corbett got the better of Kilrain in six rounds fought here at the Southern Athletic Club, but at the termination of that fight neither man showed much effects of punishment, although Kilrain's eyes were badly blackened. Last night after the second round Kilrain was not in the fight and Slavin several times shot out his right and flattened the Baltimorean on his back drawing the white blood profusely from Kilrain's nose and face, and administering to him the fiercest kind of punishment in the ribs below the heart, the plans which Sullivan found so often in the Sullivan-Kilrain fight, this coming 8th of July two years ago. Corbett and Jackson fought a great fight, but it would appear now that Slavin is the best of the three, although of course the writer and the sporting public generally, recognizes that a man's showing with one man does not always indicate his ability to lick another who is in the same class.

Remarkable Facts.

Heart disease is usually supposed to be incurable, but when properly treated a large proportion of cases can be cured. Thus Mrs. Elmira Hatch, of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., were cured after suffering 20 years. S. C. Linburger, druggist at San Jose, Ill., says that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which cured the former, "worked wonders for his wife." Levi Logan, of Buchanan, Mich., who had heart disease for 30 years, says two bottles made him "feel like a new man." Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold and guaranteed at Jacob Geiger Eagle drug store. Book of wonderful testimonials free.

The administration of Benjamin Harrison may try all it knows how to make the country believe that certain officials of the government were perfectly innocent of any wrong doing in connection with the recent bank failures in Philadelphia, but it will never succeed in making the people of that city believe it. The depositors of the wrecked Spring Garden Bank held a meeting yesterday and determined to bring suit against the United States government to recover their money, on the ground that their losses were due to the incapacity of the sworn officers of the government. If the suit is brought, the people of the country will follow it with interest, because there is every reason to believe that the trial will develop some highly important facts which will not be relished by the administration.

There were about 1,000 people at last night's fight in Hoboken and Jero Dunn was the referee.

The States printed yesterday the conditions of the mill and the details up to the time the paper went to press.

The fight began after 11 o'clock and Kilrain in the first two rounds showed up in excellent form, although toward the close of the second even his warmest friends felt anxious over the severe punishment he was receiving in the region of the heart. From the third round on to the ninth it was all one way and although Kilrain fought with the indomitable pluck which he has always been credited with and which he has displayed in every contest he has appeared in, he was no match for his antagonist, and he went up after each round like a lamb going to slaughter.

In the third it was thought Kilrain was finished. Slavin let go his right with the force of a catapult.

The blow caught Kilrain back of the ear and the latter fell prone on the stage. Only the martyrly work of his seconds made it possible for him to continue the contest. In the ninth round, the one which ended the fight, Kilrain, still fighting gamely but lacking force in his blows, was unable to inflict any punishment, while Slavin, vexed at his inability to finish the Baltimore boy, fought fiercely to clinch the fight. A terrific blow in the neck sent Kilrain to earth, and though he struggled up, like the good and never say die man that he is, he was unable to put himself in fighting position before the gong sounded and his seconds Mike Cleary and Muldoon, had to bear him, bruised and bleeding to his corner, where, utterly annihilated almost, he sat panting until referee Dunn gave the fight to Slavin. There was some dissatisfaction over the decision, but it seems that Kilrain was already done for and his appearance in the next round was quite problematical. Charley Mitchell and Ed. Stoddard seconded Slavin. The only objection to the fight is that the referee evidently permitted too much infighting when the men clinched. In all these close to quarters exchange Kilrain suffered infinitely more than Slavin did.

Big money changed hands on the result.—[New Orleans States.

Senator Faulkn, who rendered most efficient aid in killing the Federal elections bill, says:

"Some Democratic papers have shown an inclination to deprecate and make light of Senator Gorman's declaration that the force bill is still a living issue, but Senator Gorman knew what he was talking about. The force bill is not yet dead. It will be revived just as soon as the Republicans see a chance to pass it. If by any means next year the Republicans should again gain control of the two branches of Congress and elect its president, one of the first things they will try to do will be to pass the force bill. They have not given up the idea by any means. They feel it is their sole chance of retaining their hold on power much longer, and they will not pause to consider the effect on business interests or social conditions of the South if they see the means of keeping themselves in office."
