July 31st. I McEnery - FOR GOVERNOR. SAM'L. D. McENERY, OF OUACHITA.

Where is Adams? Evidently he is not in it. McEnery will be an easy winner. Ouachita, the levee governor's home went like a daisy. How about Terrebonne; the McEnery folks have carried it. Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving day; made so by special proclamation of the President. Some of the antis are getting ready for a trip up Salt river; they are packing their grips. The candidates have taken the announcement fever at last. See the names in another column. Can you pick out the winners? Remember that the Parish Primaries are fixed for December 7th, and the Parish nominating Convention for December 9th. So the agony will soon be over.

In the old days it was the custom to fight foreign nations with sword and cannon, but now the warfare is carried on by hostile tariffs coupled with reciprocal provisions. The West Indies are simply told that they must turn their tariff guns against England, or be content to have the customs artillery of the United States turned against them. England might solve the problem by abandoning her position; but what is the use of colonial possessions if they are to discriminate against the owner.—[Toronto Mail.

The array of prominent anti (Louisiana) lottery leaders in New Orleans, who are stockholders in the Mexican lottery, as presented in the article from the Times-Democrat published yesterday, is a curious complication of the pending campaign, and very suggestive of a possible source of "boodle" for our brethren of the saintly side. If the Mexican lottery can drive the Louisiana lottery out of existence, it will come and occupy the entire field of the United States as a market for its tickets. In other words, it will be the only "oetaps" in sight, and can suck the life-blood of the people, without paying a dollar of revenue to Louisiana or any other State.—[Baton Rouge Advocate.

The Natchitoches central committee refused to elect delegates by wards, but required the parish to vote in a general election. The committee was controlled by the antis, and they put up a delegation to be voted for, in which the politicians have a majority over the alliance, and then provided that it shall vote as a unit in the State convention. "When you dance with a bear keep an eye on your partner." If Natchitoches goes against McEnery, it will not have an Adams delegation, nor even a single vote for the tall sycamore of the Feliciana. He will not be "in it."—[Baton Rouge Advocate.

THE OUTLOOK FOR 1892.

The papers of the East are making calculations in advance of the presidential election of next year and they are favorable to the success of the Democrats. For instance the Democrats will start into the contest sure of 172 votes, 162 from the South and 10 from New Jersey, which leaves them only 51 to fight for in order to elect the president. The 36 of New York and the 15 of Indiana would give them the necessary 223 in the electoral college.

In the last presidential campaign Harrison's plurality in Indiana, which was purchased, was only 29,000, but the enactment of a secret ballot law by the Democratic legislature has made vote buying a very difficult task and aside from this the Democratic majority of 19,000 last year and the fact that this year the local elections showed large gains for the Democrats indicates quite clearly that Indiana has about ceased to be a doubtful State, and can safely be counted for the Democracy next year. Leaving out New York the Democrats can look for success in other directions. Connecticut is always Democratic in National elections; her vote can be relied on to be cast for the party of the people, and then we have Iowa, Massachusetts and Michigan which are doubtful States, where there is splendid fighting ground for the Democracy, and again there is Montana which is Democratic in sentiment, and will be heard from in 1892.

The fact of the matter is the Democrats will enter the campaign next year under the most favorable auspices, and with the assurance of victory provided the next Congress makes no serious blunders, and the party nominates a ticket which will command the solid and enthusiastic support of the Democracy from one end of the country to the other.—[N. O. States.

The Third Party having combined with the Farmers' Alliance has issued an address through its executive committee declaring that all of the industrial organizations of the country have rallied around its banner, and that the new party will have a presidential ticket in the field before June 1st, 1892. There are certain portions of the address which read like the appeals the Anti-Lotteries have sent out to all sections of the country with the view of building up a hostile sentiment against the Louisiana Lottery. After hammering away at the press with charges to the effect that it was controlled by the money power the executive committee pays its respects to the railway corporations in the following language: "We have seen railroad corporations grow from humble beginnings, the mere servitors of the people, into a vast and powerful conspiracy, which, for the protection of its bogus capitalization, controls our election, corrupts our Legislatures, debauches our juries and casts the alms of its rottenness over the very judges of our courts—the last resort for justice on earth." We recommend the above excerpt to the attention of the small potato orators the Saints are sending out through the parishes in the interest of the Lafayette dicker. With a few changes they can use it against the Lottery and palm it off as original.—[N. O. States.

It has been charged that Mr. E. H. Farrar has said that if the Lottery amendment prevailed, that he would stump the State for the Republicans. We are not surprised at this remark by Mr. Farrar, for he has been supposed to be cranky. He stumped the State for the last two months to be Gen. Gibson's successor and has signally failed. He stumped the State to defeat McEnery for Governor, and made the greatest failure of his life. He failed to bulldoze Gov. Nicholls in the Citizens Bank Bonds funding case, and he failed to please the audience when largely composed of ladies, he alluded to bawdy house pimps, Gibson, White, Parlange, Caffery and Foster will never speak to restore Republican rule—never, never.—[Pointe Coupee Democrat.

The State government is at present in control of a ring of autocratic politicians who know that they are marked for oblivion by the Democratic party; hence their frantic efforts to disrupt the party. They see in the defeat of Judge McEnery the foremost Democrat in the State, a death blow to Democracy and they are bending all their energies to accomplish that. The people know these schemers, and being apprised of their motives, will block the game.—[Acadia Sentinel.

Sudden Deaths.

Heart disease is by far the most frequent cause of sudden death, which in three out of four cases is unsuspected. The symptoms are not generally understood. These are: a habit of lying on the right side, short breath, pain or distress in side, back or shoulder, irregular pulse, asthma, weak and hungry spells, wind in stomach, swelling of ankles or dropsy, oppression, dry cough and smothering. Dr. Miles' illustrated book on Heart Disease, free at Jacob Geiger's Eagle drug store who sells and guarantees Dr. Miles' unequalled New Heart Cure, and his Restorative Nerve, which cures nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, effects of drinking, etc. It contains no opiates.

The antis ask the people to vote against the adoption of the Revenue Amendment. If the people do so, Louisiana will be deprived of the enormous revenue of $31,250,000, in 25 years, apportioned as follows: To Schools, $8,750,000; To Levees, $7,500,000; To Charities, $7,500,000; To Pensions, 1,250,000; To Drainage for New Orleans 2,500,000; To General Fund, 6,250,000.

Startling Facts.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hemphing, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles' great Restorative Nerve cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Victoria, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Trial bottles, and fine book of marvelous cures, free at Jacob Geiger's drug store who recommends and guarantees this unequalled remedy.

Ladies, we have only a few of those very elegant Silk and Flannel Waists left. Don't fail to secure yours before we close them out.—Bauer & Weil.

With Cleveland and Boies for candidates and the land-slides of 1890 and 1891 in sight the platform of the Democratic party in its next national convention ought to consist of but three planks—tariff reform, civil service reform and ballot reform. In a word, the Democratic party must strip itself for the fight next year of all unnecessary baggage, and, if possible, keep the marplots and Modocs in the rear.—[Baltimore Sun.

THE PLAIN SITUATION.

[Shreveport Times.]

The question which has been agitating the people of Louisiana for the last few months has been the question of the revenue amendment—whether or not Louisiana should extend the franchise of the lottery company, and this question has not only taken a prominent part in State politics, forced therein by the antis, but has also assumed considerable importance in national affairs.

Why this is we fail to see. It is surely a very simple question. The lottery company ask for an extension of their charter; the question was submitted to the Legislature, and they wishing, and not probably having the power, submitted the question to the people for them to decide for themselves, as to whether or not they would accept the license offered, and grant the lottery the privilege asked—an extension of its charter. There is surely nothing in this proposition to distrust the harmony of the Democratic party; no sensible reason why it should.

It was not placed as a Democratic, a Republican, a third party, or any other party proposition; in fact it was not submitted as any party question at all.

It was simply this—we wish to run a lottery; we expected, of course, to make money out of it; we prefer to work it under the license of the State rather than run a wild cat and sub rosa scheme. For your State license, for the privilege of carrying on our business openly and above board, and under the law and license of the State that we may have the exclusive privilege and shut out all fraudulent companies, shut out all other companies unless they offer the same license and are accepted by a vote of the people to whom we submit our proposition, we offer the amount of $31,250,000 for twenty-five years' license.

We do more; we specify in our petition to the people of the State how this amount shall be expended. It shall not be left to the discretion of any political party, provided you accept it, to say how it shall be spent. It can not be paid out for any political purposes, because we have no interest in politics. In our application to the people of Louisiana we specify how this amount of license shall be distributed. It shall be apportioned between your educational, your charitable institutions, your levee protection, the drainage of your metropolis, so preventing a dread silence, and your general fund, therefore all in all, saving an increase of taxation for the better advantage of the prosperity of your State, in which all residents are interested, and in which the only measures the people advocate should be for the relief of themselves.

Now, in this proposition, and we believe we have stated it correctly, what is the answer of the antis—those who oppose the revenue amendment? You are a gambling institution. You are a monopoly. You are radical combine.

You will control the politics of the State, ergo we repudiate you, and call upon all to vote against your proposition.

Let us review it seriatim. You are a gambling institution. True, the lottery is unquestionably a gambling institution, but does it compel any one to buy its tickets? Does it offer any allurements to any to indulge in its schemes? Does it have money, wise and other allurements to induce men to gamble. You are a monopoly. In what respect? Read the question submitted to the people, and under the following provisions of the act as promulgated and published, and say, if you can truthfully, that there is any monopoly in the provisions of the same.

You are a radical combine. Upon what grounds is this assertion made? Because some of the stockholders are Republicans? Or, is it because the lottery company itself, as a body, contributed money to help the State free itself from Radical rule, and later, alas, slack-a-day, contributed $20,000 toward the election of the glorious Nicholls, and the immaculate Senator White?

You will control the politics of the State. In what respect? Has not the influence, moneyed if you will, always been thrown or used in the interests of Democracy, and white supremacy? Deny it who can. Furthermore, if, granting for the sake of argument, that the lottery company should desire to rule the State—to bribe the legislature, etc., will any one say that there are not enough true honest and incorruptible men in Louisiana, who could be elected to the Legislature, placed in the elective offices of the State, who could not be proof against any effort at bribery by any corporation? We say yes, there are thousands of them, and the one who says to the contrary, the one says that the people of Louisiana can be bought like sheep should hang his head in shame at the falsehood that his tongue utters.—Louisiana will vote on the amendment. She will accept or reject it, as her people honestly believe the right to be; it is an individual question, but for the sake of the honor of her citizens it should never be claimed that they can be bought. Such an inference is an insult to the honor, the manhood and the intelligence of her citizens.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years, standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Buckle's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. ADDRESS

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE STATE.

HQRS. McENERY CAMPAIGN COM., NEW ORLEANS, LA., Oct. 27, 1891.

To the Democracy of Louisiana: At a meeting of the Democrats from the different Parishes of the State of Louisiana assembled at Grunewald Hall, on October 11th, 1891, it was determined that the perils that beset the party absolutely demanded the exercise of the utmost forbearance and consideration upon the part of all good Democrats in the meeting of the State Central Committee, that was then about to convene, and they so recommended:

It was also determined that the peculiar situation in Democratic politics in this State, brought about by what is known as the Lafayette combine, whereby the nomination of Governor, State Treasurer and Superintendent of Public Education, as well as the temporary chairmanship of the State Nominating Convention was attempted to be barred away, necessitated a departure from the time-honored custom of refraining from the naming of candidates prior to the assembling of the State Nominating Convention. After consultation the Democrats present believing the permanency of the Democratic party and the welfare of the people of the State of Louisiana absolutely demanded the selection of a tried and true Democrat as the nominee of the party in the coming election, determined to urge upon their fellow-Democrats the selection for the position of standard bearer the Hon. Samuel D. McEnery, of Ouachita.

In furtherance of that desire to preserve the purity and integrity of the Democratic party by the election of a man for Governor who is untainted with any of the political heresies now being urged upon the agricultural classes of the Southern States by designing and unscrupulous politicians who are without faith in the wisdom that they propose, the Democrats then and there assembled selected this campaign committee and entrusted to it the duty of preparing a suitable address to the Democratic voters of the State of Louisiana.

Without any desire to reflect upon any member of the State Central Committee we are compelled to express our deep regret at the failure of that committee to provide for a primary election by the white people of the State, whereby a settlement might have been had of the disturbing and perplexing question known as the "revenue amendment," which was submitted to the people at the session of the last Legislature. We believe it unwise and disastrous to the welfare of the Democratic party that a voter's opinion upon the revenue question should be made a test of his Democracy or fitness or qualification of holding office. We believe that the welfare of this State absolutely demands that the Democratic party should nominate at its coming convention a tried and true man, fitted to properly discharge the duties of his office without any regard whatsoever to their opinion upon the revenue amendment. We earnestly urge upon the Democratic voters throughout the State of Louisiana at the coming primary elections to be held for delegates to the State Nominating Convention to instruct their delegates to vote for the submission of the revenue amendment question at a separate white primary to be held subsequently to the meeting of the State Nominating Convention and the District and Parochial Conventions, and the result of the said primary to be binding upon all members of the party.

Recognizing the necessity for harmony within the Democratic party, we earnestly urge upon all members of that party to refrain from saying or doing anything calculated to cause a division that would endanger white supremacy in the State of Louisiana. The civilization of the State and the welfare of the whole people, white and black, absolutely demand a continuation of the Democratic party in power.

To the Democratic party is due the regeneration of the State of Louisiana and the great increase in her material welfare and prosperity. To the Democratic party, undivided by any outside issue, must the whole people of this State look for peace, security and good order. We believe that any departure from the traditions of the party and its principles laid down by its illustrious founders would be a mistake and operate against the welfare of the people.

We believe that in the nomination and election of the Hon. Samuel D. McEnery, of the Parish of Ouachita, that the people will have a true, tried and worthy public servant, and we earnestly urge upon our fellow Democrats throughout the State of Louisiana to organize and use all honorable means to secure his nomination and election.

By order of the committee. A. W. CHANDELLE, Chairman. JOHN T. MICHEL, Secretary.
