SUNDAY.....JUNE 3, 1888.

Prohibition.

We called attention last Sunday to the prohibition question, and showed that the Prohibitionists had confidence enough in their own strength to justify them in running this year a candidate of their own for President of the United States. Since then they have nominated General CLINTON B. FISK, of New Jersey, for that office. What will be the result of their action?

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette charges that in the northern States the Third party—as the Prohibition party is sometimes termed—is an assistant Democratic organization. With as much truth it may be asserted that in the southern States the Third party is an assistant Republican organization, however much the Prohibitionists may protest that they are antagonizing both the old parties. In Virginia, for example, there were in 1880 128,000 negro voters out of a total voting population of 354,000. There are now probably 150,000 negro voters out of a total voting population of say 380,000. These negro voters will as a body—the exceptions being few indeed—vote for the Republican nominee for President. They will refuse to divide on the Prohibition question. Necessarily, therefore, nearly all the voters who will support the Prohibition nominee in this State must be Democrats.

In the northern States, on the other hand, the Democrats will generally refuse to divide on the Prohibition question, whilst the Republicans will many of them rally to the Prohibition standard. Republicans of this class hold that the Republican party was a moral party when it destroyed slavery and ought now to destroy the saloons. Therefore they will quit it unless it keeps up its moral work.

We are of the opinion that the Prohibition party will not manifest much strength this year. Nevertheless, the fact that in 1884 Mr. CLEVELAND received less than 1,100 majority in New York—or in other words would not have been elected President at all if 550 of the men who voted for him had voted for BLAINE—warns us that in any one of the closely-contested States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Indiana, a few votes cast for the Prohibition candidate might change the result. The Washington Post says the Prohibitionists hold the balance of power in the presidential election. The Petersburg Index-Appeal says that prohibition is the coming issue in politics, and that "its influence will be felt even in the presidential contest of this year, but more impressively in 1892, and perhaps decisively in 1896."

Will the St. Louis Convention or the Chicago Convention make a deliverance upon this question? The former will be apt to do so. The latter will be urged by some of its members to do so. The former will probably put forth a general condemnation of sumptuary laws. The latter will probably put forth nothing—but if anything, a glittering generality in condemnation of intemperance.

India and Thibet.

By certain of the foreign correspondents the opinion is advanced that the opening of the Transcaspian road to Samarcand will result in greatly increasing the friction between Thibet and the Indian Government, these correspondents holding that Russian diplomacy is behind the Thibetians. Any one who will take the trouble to examine the map of Asia will see that the Russian at Samarcand is at a decided disadvantage in dealing with Thibet, compared with the Englishman in Nepaul or Cashmere. Aside from that, China has much more to fear from Samarcand as a basis of military operations for Russia than has India, and it is not improbable that this fact may lead not only to a permanent settlement of the troubles between Thibet and India, but to the consummation of the policy of those who believe that the time has come for the opening up of the mysterious territory of the Lama to the trade of India. The English in the East have long been convinced that Thibet would prove a great and valuable market for them, and a large element have strongly favored armed invasion of the country. Since the recent encroachments of Russia upon the Chinese frontier the Pekin authorities have been favorably disposed to the establishment of communication between India and Thibet, and once went so far as to sanction and promise aid to the commercial expedition under MACAULAY organized to visit the Lama. That expedition was finally by the advice of China postponed for the reason that it excited grave alarm and suspicion in Thibet, but the postponement was regarded by the Thibetians as an indication of timidity on the part of the Indian Government—a mistake that culminated in the Sikkim incident and the punishment of the Thibetian invaders by British soldiers. Now, however, that Russia, having reached Samarcand by rail, is in better position than ever before to menace China, it would seem reasonable that the Pekin Government should labor to establish the entente cordiale between India and Thibet and renew its efforts to bring about Thibetian and Indian inter-communication. Chinese safety lies in friendship with England. It would also seem reasonable that the Indian Government should press the matter of opening up Thibet, seeing that it would not only give India strategic and diplomatic advantages, but would enable her to strengthen her hold upon Nepaul, the home of the Gookhas, who are among the best soldiers in the Indian army. The King of Nepaul has an army of over a hundred thousand men, and the question of dominion over the territory is in a sense an open one between China and British India. Russian invasion of China would in all probability settle the matter in favor of India, especially as the masses incline towards a recognition of British protection.

A man comes to your neighborhood and proposes to put up a factory of some kind, which, of itself, will not pay. He therefore asks a contribution of five dollars a year from every citizen in the township, assigning as a reason that the neighborhood will reap a two-fold benefit from the home market established. What would be the answer of every man approached?—Charlottesville Chronicle.

That is just what innumerable towns have done. That is, they have agreed to exempt new manufacturing plants from taxation for ten years, which is the same thing as making other persons pay taxes for the newcomers. Like the Chronicle, we have never favored exemptions. But are we like the Chronicle? Would that paper be willing to exempt from taxation for ten years a manufacturing establishment that should contract to employ a hundred hands?

The Candidates.

The day following the publication of Mr. BLAINE'S letter to WHITELAW REID, in which he explicitly stated that he was not a presidential candidate, the New York World sent the following dispatch to the editors of the leading Republican newspapers throughout the country:

"Will you kindly telegraph the World tonight who, in your opinion, is the second choice, after Blaine, of the Chicago delegates from your section?"

The result is stated by the World as follows:

"The replies so far show that Chauncey M. Depew is the favorite for second choice, with John Sherman next. In several cases the delegations which were instructed for Mr. Blaine have not met and discussed the situation since their candidate has removed himself from the field. The scattering preferences for 'favorite sons' show a number of candidates, none of whom has sufficient strength to lay serious claim to the nomination."

The World says that in New York city Mr. DEPEW'S boom was started with a rush on Friday night. In fact, DEPEW seems to be in the lead, but whether he can keep ahead until after the Chicago Convention is another question.

Happy.

The happiest people in the United States are Mr. HALSTEAD and the other Republicans who, with him, were attempting to boom SHERMAN, though they well knew that BLAINE was to be the nominee of the Chicago Convention if he would accept the nomination. They are free, now. They really preferred BLAINE, but living in Ohio, and giving way to the "favorite-son" doctrine, they had found themselves entangled in the meshes of circumstances which threatened to destroy their peace of mind, ruin their reputation for sagacity, and send them to the foot of the class. No wonder they rejoice over BLAINE'S last letter. It has lifted a burthen from their shoulders. They will now be able to talk with one another without feeling in their hearts that they are hypocrites.

MORE ABOUT PROHIBITION.—Very naturally the papers are just now talking of the Prohibitionists, whose national candidates have just been nominated and whose national platform has just been laid down. The Republicans of the North will not be able to derive much comfort from the following paragraph from the Washington Post:

"The Prohibition party has no hope of giving a single electoral vote to Fiske and Brooks. It looks to future presidential years for its direct triumphs. This year, as in 1884, it will content itself with deciding which of the two leading parties shall elect its candidates. It is determined that the Republican party shall never win in another presidential campaign until it goes into the fight with 'Prohibition' inscribed on its banners. The reason why the Prohibionists make this decision between the Republican and Democratic organizations is not difficult to understand. There is nothing mysterious or illogical about it. The Democratic party has never given any encouragement to the Prohibition brethren, but has been an open, honest opponent. On the other hand, the Republican party has been a false friend. Theoretically it favors prohibition, as is shown by the enactment of prohibitory laws in all the States where it is strong enough to snap its fingers at the saloons. Practically it is not in favor of that doctrine, as is proved by its neglect to enforce prohibition in any State and by its refusal to take up the cause of the reformers in doubtful States. Family feuds are always full of bitterness. Most of these third-party men grew up in the Republican family."

AFTER BLAINE, DEPEW.—The national BLAINE organ tells how Indiana will offer HARRISON; Connecticut, HAWLEY; New Jersey, PHELPS, &c.; and in the article lets out the truth as follows:

"New York proposes Mr. Depew as a candidate who, in the judgment of a majority of its delegates, can most surely gain the thirty-six electoral votes of that state. * * * If New York alone, with thirty-six electoral votes, can satisfy the convention that those votes are to be secured by the nomination of Mr. Depew without risking any Republican State having more than nine electoral votes the problem will be solved."

So speaks Mr. WHITELAW REID, of the New York Tribune.

Why should Mr. ALLEN THORNDYKE RICE publish such stuff as ROBERT G. INGERSOLL'S letters?—whether addressed to Mr. GLADSTONE or anybody else? It surprised us to find Mr. GLADSTONE enter the lists with such a foeman. Mr. INGERSOLL is sincere, no doubt. He is a most elegant writer. Few men have his skill in the handling of words. But his articles can do nobody any good, and may do many persons irreparable injury.

The Leader is the name of a bright, newsy, lively afternoon paper the publication of which has just been commenced in Manchester by Messrs. BRADLEY & OWEN. Manchester ought to support this new undertaking. It is too large a town not to have in it a daily newspaper. The first No. of The Leader gives signs of long life. Success to it.

The Dispatch acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to be present at the annual joint celebration of the Euzelian and Eucepian Literary Societies of Hollins Institute, which takes place on Wednesday, June 13th next.

STAUNTON.

The Travellers' Protective Association.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

STAUNTON, June 2, 1888.

Post "C," Travellers' Protective Association, of this city, held a meeting yesterday evening. Four new members were admitted—to wit: A. R. Hope, J. A. Moore, James Douglass, and H. F. Phelps.

The president of the post, Mr. M. A. Hope, having been elected vice-president of the State division, is under the law not longer eligible to serve as post-president. He tendered his resignation, but the members were reticent to part with him as their chief post officer, declaring that it was more important in view of the future to retain him as such than that he should be transferred to the other position, though a higher office. They declined to accept for the present the resignation, and passed it by for future consideration.

A letter was read from Mr. A. E. Hirshberg, State secretary, of Richmond, relating to the terms of travel and other arrangements in attending the National Division at Minneapolis. Ten or more members from this city will be present at the session of that body.

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get
