TENDERED COUPONS.

HOW A LYNCHBURG PRISONER TRIED TO PAY HIS FINES.

The Sergeant Refuses to Receive Them, and is Summoned to Appear Before Bond—Pulaski Matters.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

LYNCHBURG, VA., July 1.—Lewis O. Shaner, a well-known young man, was indicted by the grand jury for malicious assault recently, tried in the Corporation Court, and fined $200 and costs. At that time he was also indebted $70 for fines imposed in the Mayor's Court, and he was ordered to jail until the amounts were paid. In liquidation of the fines Shaner, through counsel, tendered coupons, which the Sergeant, under instructions from the Court, declined to receive. On Saturday a new phase was developed in the case by the Sergeant receiving a writ summoning him him to appear before Judge Hugh L. Bond, of the United States Circuit Court, in Baltimore, with young Shaner. Sergeant Day intended to leave for Baltimore to-day with the prisoner, but was unable to communicate with Attorney-General Ayers, telegrams sent to various points having failed to reach him.

A BIG PURCHASE.

A special dispatch from Pulaski City says: George W. Palmer and his New York friends bought on Saturday last the Clayton copper- and iron-mines, in Carroll county. This is the largest sale of iron property that has ever taken place in Virginia, and to Pulaski City is most important. This transaction, taken in connection with the recent large purchases of the Pulaski Iron Company on the same lead of ore in Carroll and Grayson counties, will have a marked effect on the iron production of this section. It is claimed by the Messrs. Clayton, who have thoroughly investigated the subject, that iron can be made from these ores at $6 per ton. The price paid for the property has not yet been given, but is said to be very large.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Tobacco Association the following report of sales was made: Sales for June, 3,675,800 pounds; sales to 1st of June, 13,936,100 pounds; sales to 1st of July, 1889, 17,611,900 pounds; sales to 1st of July, 1888, 20,055,623 pounds; decrease for 1889, 2,443,723 pounds.

Professor von Jasmund, a native of Germany, but who has resided in this city about five years teaching languages, died this morning at the Norvell-Arlington from gout. He was very popular.

The first meeting of the new City Council was held this evening, and John W. Carroll was elected president, a position he has held continuously for eighteen years.

MURDERED AT A DANCE.

Personal—Shot Over a Game of Cards—The New Lifeboat.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, VA., July 1, 1889.

During the progress of a colored dancing-party early yesterday morning at the "Three Stores," near Churchland, Norfolk county, two of the dancers, Willie Jackson and Henry Adams, became involved in a row about one of the girls, and Adams, drawing a pistol, shot Jackson through the head, killing him almost instantly. The dancers fled screaming in every direction. Adams fled also and was not captured until last night, when the officers found him on the farm of Mr. Wright Carney. On the road he jumped from the buggy and successfully escaped from the officers, but was retaken about midnight in Portsmouth, trying to make his way across the ferry to Norfolk, and lodged in jail. Justices J. T. Griffin and J. W. Rutter held an inquest on the body of Jackson.

Chief-Engineer Thomas Keevil, who was so severely hurt at a fire on Friday morning, is slightly improving.

Captain Sam. Kimberly is receiving congratulations on every hand on the prospect of his being sent to Tokio, Japan.

At a late hour on Saturday night in Berkley two negroes—Mansfield Jackson and Stephen Gordon—playing cards in a barroom, got to fighting, and Gordon was shot through the breast. Jackson managed to get out of the neighborhood and has not been arrested. Gordon will probably die from the effects of the shooting.

The new Atlantic City Baptist church was dedicated yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. J. Lansing Burrows and other ministers taking part in the exercises.

The stock company organized for the exposition to be held here next spring has been chartered by the Corporation Court with authority to increase the stock to $300,000 if necessary.

The original lifeboat designed by Dr. Parker, of Richmond, has been brought here from Virginia Beach and launched on Newtons creek. It is now the property of Mr. Joseph Edmunds, who is studying an improvement.

Norfolk's new postmaster, ex-Sheriff Frank L. Slade, took charge of his office this morning. Rev. Vernon P. Anson has not made up his mind to accept the assistant postmastership, and Captain John W. Moore is continued. Mr. E. B. Cox was removed today as superintendent of the general delivery and Mr. Frank B. Wing appointed.

The schooners Taylor Dickson and Isaac Burpee were towed up from Hampton Roads yesterday in distress, leaking, and damaged.

The rainfall continues, and has been falling for some days. The rainfall in this city so far during the present year has been about thirteen inches above the normal.

To-day the alumni of the Virginia Military Institute resident in this section left for Lexington to attend the celebration.

Naval-Constructor Bowles has gone to Washington, having been summoned by the department in regard to the charges of Congressman Bowden and Foreman Lowery of employing reliable workmen who are Democrats.

Rev. F. D. Hunt, who for two years has been the efficient general secretary of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, left to-day to take charge of the Presbyterian church in Warrenton, N. C.

Mr. George Scott, a merchant of Norfolk, died in Liverpool on Saturday, where he went on a trip for his health.

During the month of June there were eighteen marriages in the city, twenty-three in Norfolk county, and eight in Portsmouth.

Mr. Charles W. Bain, of Portsmouth, who has been teaching in Savannah, Ga., for the last four years, goes to Captain W. Gordon McCabe's school in Petersburg next session as professor of languages. Mr. George McK. Bain goes back to Rugby High School, Louisville, Ky., as professor of Greek and Latin, at increased salary.

A Philadelphia tug company's absconding book-keeper, Dennis Kelly, is being hunted for by detectives in this city.

The body of Carrie Brock, a colored ferryman, was found floating in the harbor this afternoon.

The United States flagship Lancaster, on her way from Europe, has been ordered to Gosport navy-yard to go out of commission and be paid off.

At a meeting of the new Portsmouth Council to-night Judge L. R. Watts was elected president, E. T. Thompson, Jr., clerk, and John W. Happer city attorney.

WILLIAMSBURG.

Preparing for the William and Mary Commencement.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

JULY 1, 1889.

Services were conducted yesterday evening by the Rev. Mr. Moss, of the Methodist Church, in the college chapel, and were attended by a large number of the students and citizens. His remarks were especially intended as a closing address of the collegiate term, and were most appropriate and well chosen, and attentively listened to by the students.

Visitors to the college commencement have begun to arrive, and the old town will put on her holiday attire, commencing Wednesday, 12 M.

Registered at the Spencer House are Professor and Mrs. W. B. Richards, of the University of Missouri, and Colonel Boykin, of Baltimore. At the Grove, as the guests of Dr. Booth, are Miss Lutie Bernard, Miss Nannie Mann, and Lieutenant Lassiter (Fourth artillery), of Petersburg; Miss Lucy Day, of Smithfield; Miss Bettie Pollard, of Lynchburg; Miss and Mr. Taliaferro, of Gloucester, and the Misses Lassiter, of Petersburg.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Eastern Asylum directors will be held here to-morrow.

The glorious Fourth will be more generally observed here this year than heretofore. All public offices will be closed, and large numbers of our country friends will flock to town to hear the speaking at the college.

Mr. Robert T. Armistead, who was recently appointed superintendent of our public schools, entered upon the discharge of his duties to-day.

The James City county Democrats meet Monday the 8th (court-day) to send delegates to the State Convention. W.

Suffolk Matters.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

SUFFOLK, July 1, 1889.

Miss Mary A. Field, lately of Norfolk, but who has been stopping for some weeks with the family of Rev. T. H. Campbell, died on Saturday night of brain-fever after an illness of a week. She was an earnest, consistent Christian, and left the testimony that all was well and she was not afraid to depart.

To-day our town government passes into the hands of Democratic officials exclusively. For the past two years the Republicans have had two thirds of the councilmen. The new administration is as follows: Mayor, John B. Pinner; Councilmen, D. C. Harrell, W. H. Jones, Jr., George W. Murney, W. N. McAnge, Burwell Riddick, and L. M. Tebo.

Mr. J. H. Riddick, late of Randolph-Macon College, is visiting friends in Suffolk.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL

Of Washington and Lee University.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

LEXINGTON, VA., June 1.—The Board of Visitors of the Virginia Military Institute continue in session considering financial and other matters. The board has shown a liberal spirit in connection with the semi-centennial jubilee, having given the alumni committees all the aid asked. Every detail of the jubilee programme proper has been completed, and to make the occasion a success in the fullest sense fair weather is only necessary.

CONSTANTLY ARRIVING.

Every train adds to the number of graduates and ex-cadets, and the society ladies from all sections of the State are adding their graces and beauty to the distinguished throng now gathering here to take part in the celebration of the half century of the institute. The local alumni want it understood that good accommodations for all who come will be provided in the barracks, hotels, boarding-houses, and private residences. The headquarters of the Reception Committee is alive with activity and all trains are watched for members, alumni, and invited guests. The official registration of old cadets at the barracks moves slowly. Rev. W. W. Williams, D. D., (class of 1853,) rector of Christ Episcopal church, Baltimore, filled the pulpit of the Lee Memorial church Sunday and was greeted by the corps of cadets and all the ex-cadets present. His sermon was one of marked learning and did honor to his Alma Mater.

THE OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

The official programme of the semi-centennial ceremonies proper, just made public, is here presented:

Wednesday, July 3d, Alumni Day—10 A. M., reunion of the alumni at the chapel at Washington and Lee University; historical sketch by General F. H. Smith. 6 P. M., military exercises by the corps of cadets, who will be reviewed by the Governor of the State. 8:30 P. M., alumni addressed by Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia; reading of Mrs. Preston's semi-centennial ode by Colonel Edmund Pendleton, the oldest living graduate. 10 P. M., alumni banquet at the mess-hall.

Thursday, July 4th, Graduates' Day—10:30 A. M., graduation exercises on the grounds of the institute (if the weather permit, otherwise in the chapel of Washington and Lee University); corps of cadets will march to the place accompanied by the Board of Visitors and alumni in columns; early history of the institute; a sketch by Colonel J. T. L. Preston; return of the corps of cadets, accompanied by the alumni, to the parade-ground; Auld Lang Syne. 9 P. M., fireworks on parade-ground. 10 P. M., cadet ball.

The final german takes place to-morrow night, and will be opened by Cadet G. S. Andrews, of Georgia, class of 1889, assisted by Cadet J. J. Middleton, of Maryland, class of 1890. The music will be furnished by Voelker's First Regiment Band of Richmond. The annual field-sports take place in the morning on the parade-grounds. The committee in charge are: Class of 1889, Cordell, Maron, Shepherd, Schoen; class of 1890, Rahm, T. Lewis, Moorman, McCormick; class of 1891, Lun, Freeland, Blackford, E. Butler; class of 1892, Taylor and Cline.

EXAMINATIONS, DRILLS, &C.

The final examinations of all the classes have been finished. Cadet H. D. Wise, third classman, son of Hon. John S. Wise, has received his commission of appointment from President Harrison as cadet at large to West Point, and is ordered to report in September. Battalion drill was resumed this evening, and notwithstanding that the corps have lost as much as 33 per cent. in this particular branch of training o o bad weather the corps is in exceptional fine condition in the field. To-morrow evening there will be a battery drill with firing, and on Wednesday the corps will be reviewed by the Governor and Board of Visitors, to be followed by battery and musketry practice and skirmish drill.

To-night in the mess hall the Gymnasium Club gave its eighth annual exhibition before a large and appreciative audience. The young men were in fine trim and a careful training showed every man to be an athlete and acrobat worthy the name. Physical culture is held in high form at the institute and gives every encouragement, which, with the intellectual and moral training given young men here, fits them for the higher walks of life. The participants in the evening programme were Cadets S. D. Rockenback, 89; J. P. Moorman, 90; T. A. Blackford, 91; E. Rutledge, 91; W. H. Taylor, Jr., 92; W. B. Cline, 92, and Master Willie Flint to enter the institute, who formed the apex of the pyramid. Rockenback, a fine athlete, was the favorite, with Moorman, Blackford, and Rutledge next. A hop followed the gymnasium exhibition. The Virginia Military Institute orchestra, under the direction of Krause, furnished the music, which was specially fine.

SPECIAL TRAINS.

Special trains will leave Lynchburg Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday morning, on the Richmond and Alleghany railroad, at 5:40 o'clock, arriving here at 8:15 o'clock. These trains run to accommodate visitors to the celebration on the night of the 5th. Special train for Lynchburg and Richmond leaves here at 10 P. M.

GENERAL SMITH'S RESIGNATION.

General F. H. Smith, the venerable and venerated superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute since its founding in 1839—fifty years ago—this evening presented to the Board of Visitors his resignation, to take effect January 1, 1890. The board is now considering the resignation. Governor Fitzhugh Lee and General T. T. Munford are spoken of as his successor.

ON THE DAN.

Tobacco Statistics—A Big Jump—Attempted Suicide.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

DANVILLE, VA., July 1.—Danville's sales of leaf tobacco in June made a big jump and reached the handsome figure of 4,149,579 pounds as against 2,586,628 pounds in June of last year. The sales for the first nine months of this tobacco-year were 21,301,153 pounds—a decrease as compared with the same period last year of 4,067,709 pounds. The sales of the manufactured product from January to July were 3,352,568 pounds—an increase over the same period last year of 1,039,892 pounds. The factories are now in full blast and the sales are constantly increasing.

H. J. Barnes, a well-known citizen of Danville, attempted suicide in Halifax county Saturday night by swallowing laudanum. At last accounts his condition was critical.

ALLEGHANY PULP COMPANY.

Capital Stock to Be Increased and Improvements Made.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

LYNCHBURG, July 1.—A party of Lynchburg capitalists have secured a controlling interest in the Alleghany Pulp Paper Company, of Richmond, and will remove the office of the company to this city at an early day. The capital stock of the company will be increased to $100,000 for the purpose of constructing a paper-mill at Big Island in connection with their pulp-mill which they have now in operation. They will also double the capacity of their pulp-mill. P. A. Krise is at the head of the movement.

Death of a Norfolk Druggist.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, VA., July 1.—Intelligence reached the city to-night of the death of Frederick H. Masie, a prominent druggist of the city. He was in the mountains for his health.

Death of a Staunton Lady.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

STAUNTON, VA., July 1.—Mrs. Virginia E. Waddell, wife of Hon. Joseph A. Waddell, of this city, died desterday morning. The burial will take place to-morrow morning.

The Pottery Trust.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

WHEELING, W. VA., July 1.—The Pottery Trust has fallen through and each manufacturer will continue to go it alone. The meeting of representatives of the Trenton, East Liverpool, and Wheeling potteries, called for Cresson Springs, Pa., to-morrow, has been indefinitely postponed. Several reasons are given for the failure to form a combination. The chief among them is the objection raised by the western potters, who feared that the organization would be controlled by eastern manufacturers. Wheeling potters strenuously oppose the combine on this ground.

Major Garrett J. Lydecker, of the engineer corps, who was engineer in charge of the Washington aqueduct tunnel, has been ordered to Van Couver barracks, Washington Territory.

ONLY ONE BIG PLUM.

THE LOCAL OFFICES GOOD ENOUGH FOR SOUTHERN REPUBLICANS.

That's What Harrison Seems to Think—Extra-Session Gossip—The Mahone People Active.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The President made a number of important consular appointments to-day, but with only one exception these fat places all went to northern Republicans. The local offices in the South are really regarded as all the southern Republicans are entitled to. Alexander C. Moore, of West Virginia, succeeds Mortimer A. Turner as Consul-General of the United States at St. Thomas, in the West Indies. Mr. Turner is quite well known in Richmond, having spent the earlier part of his life in that city and having attended Richmond College. He went to Arkansas about ten years ago and practiced law in that State. He received his consular appointment in the early part of 1886, and was appointed on the recommendation of the Arkansas congressional delegation. Mr. Turner's wife and child are now at Somerset, Orange county, Va., where, it is presumed he will soon join them.

EXTRA-SESSION TALK.

As the President is soon to depart from Washington on his summer vacation the question of an extra session of Congress in October has been brought up at several important conferences within the past week between the Chief Executive and some of the prominent Senators and Representatives. General Tom Browne, of Indiana, is much set against an extra session, and he has been trying his level best to induce the President not to call one. General Browne, indeed, has advanced some strong arguments against the proposition, and being from General Harrison's own State it may turn out that what he has said may have weight at the White House. The Indiana Congressman has admitted, however, that he found the President rather strongly inclined to call an extra session. The fact of the matter is the Republican candidates for Speaker of the next House of Representatives are growing impatient, and it is well known here that nearly all of these ambitious statesmen have been doing all in their power to induce the President to get Congress together in the pleasant month of October. Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, is strongly in favor of the extra session. And it is thought by many well-informed people that the Illinois man is the Administration's candidate for Speaker, if the Administration has any favorite. Mr. Cannon was a Harrison man before the Chicago Convention met. He and the President have been friendly a good many years, and they thoroughly understand each other. Mr. Reed, of Maine, was not a Blaine man, and neither was he a Harrison man before the contest commenced at Chicago last year. He now has both Blaine and Harrison practically against him. McKinley was for Sherman, Burrows was for Alger, and Henderson was for Allison of Iowa—so that none of the candidates for Speaker would seem to be as much entitled to the Administration's influence as Mr. Cannon. All the candidates, however, agree that the interests of the Republican party demand an extra session, and if they can have their way there will be one.

THEY ARE KICKING.

A shrewd observer remarked to-day that the southern Republican congressmen would show poor ability if they did not take advantage of their position in the organization of the next House. These people are not getting much in the way of spoils, and already Brower, of North Carolina, and Coleman, of Louisiana, are kicking. Brower has been making loud threats that he would raise a row, and Coleman, who really ran as an independent with Republican endorsement, is liable at any moment to announce that he will not go into the Republican caucus next winter. With two doubtful members, and three or four sick ones, it is no wonder that the Republican leaders are hesitating about calling an extra session.

It is now being whispered around Washington that efforts will probably be made to have the eighteen southern Republican congressmen trot out Mr. McComas, of Maryland, as a candidate for Speaker, and if this should be done, and the southern members in the party should hang together, they could elect in all probability the bright young Marylander. Mr. McComas is a fine-looking man, a good, clear talker, and has had several terms in Congress. If his name should be sprung there would be music among the friends of the other candidates.

THE COLLECTORSHIPS.

The Dispatch correspondent has had a talk with a Virginia Republican who keeps well posted regarding the movements of the Mahone people and who has more or less been identified with that wing of the party. He says that the Administration is not going to give out any more large appointments in Virginia until after the meeting of the State Republican Convention. "I am almost confident," he said, "that the two collectors of internal revenue will not be appointed until after the State Convention. One of them will go to the Mahone wing of the party and I am quite certain the antis will get the other. It is my opinion that Pat. McCaull, of Salem, will succeed Ham. Sheppard, and the other collectorship will go to ex-Congressman Brady. This would knock out Colonel Asa Rogers, whom Mahone would like to appoint, but Mahone has found that he cannot get both, and if the antis are to have one they will, of course, urge the appointment of Brady."

QUITE ACTIVE.

This same Republican, in speaking of the gubernatorial question, said that just now the Mahone people were quite active; they are holding conferences almost daily. "There is strong talk," he added, "of running Mahone for Governor, but really I do not think Mahone will care to make the race. You will find that when the time comes he will pass. Now the question is, Who is a good man to put up? Mahone's personal preference would be Lamb, of Norfolk, but he comes from the wrong part of the State to do the Republican party any good. Just now I think most of the Mahone people are looking to Judge Wood, of the Southwest, as perhaps the strongest man they could run. His name is certainly being considered, and it would not surprise me if he were to be taken up."

PERSONAL.

Mr. S. L. Cooper, chairman of the Culpeper County Democratic Committee, was among the Virginians in the city to-day. He says that the county convention has not yet been called, and up to the present time it is hard to say who is the favorite candidate for Governor in Culpeper. He is now of the opinion that Culpeper will send an uninstructed delegation to the Richmond Convention; at least that seems to be the talk.

The following Virginians are registered at the Metropolitan: Colonel Pat. McCaull, of Salem, P. L. Terry, J. W. Coon, C. O'Leary, George O. Houston, and A. S. Asbery, of Roanoke; W. H. Green and wife, of Lynchburg; W. G. Wattson and Powhatan Bolling, of the Virginia Boat Club, of Richmond.

THE PRIZE FIGHT—THREE RINGS.

Preparations for the Contest Between Sullivan and Kilrain.

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—Sullivan will spend Friday and Saturday at the Spanish Fort, where preparations are being made to receive him. The twenty-four-foot ring or square in which the great fight will take place will be surrounded by another ring at a distance of six feet. Within this will be seated the representatives of the press, seconds, bottle-holders, etc., and a cordon of police. Outside of this will be another ring at a distance of forty-five feet, within which those holding fifteen-dollar tickets will be seated. The police will also guard this ring, both on the inner and outer sides, to prevent interference with the fighters or their seconds. A passage-way will be formed to allow the fighters to enter, jumping over the ropes of the outer rings. Denis F. Butler has been given the superintendency of the construction of the ring. Captain Jamelson, of Meridian, with twenty resolute Mississippians, will have charge of the inner ring. In addition to this special guard there will be reinforcements of forty tried men from the city, who with Jamelson's guard will preserve order. So far notices have been received that parties have been made up to come to the fight from Hazelhurst, Vicksburg, Greenesville, Memphis, Jackson, Tenn., Cairo, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Pensacola, Jacksonville, New York, Chicago, Montgomery, Denver, Mobile, Birmingham, and St. Louis—about 2,000 in all to date.

Curiosity is expressed as to when the trains are to leave the city for the battle-ground on the morning of the fight. That point has not yet been definitely decided, but it is believed that an early special train to carry the press reporters, telegraph-operators, backers of the men, and interested parties will leave the city between 4 and 5 o'clock on the morning of the fight for the ring side. Attached to this train will be in all likelihood a coach carrying one of the principals in the fight. It is thought Kilrain will occupy the coach during the night and not leave it until he gets into the ring. Arrangements will probably be made to have Sullivan, his trainers, and seconds, go over the evening before, it being thought that quarters quite near the scene of the fight may be obtained where the big pugilist can have a quiet night's rest. Arrangements are being made because it is not thought desirable to have the two men go over on the same train. When the first train gets to the grounds all the details will be perfected and everything gotten in readiness to have the pugilists fight instantly upon the arrival of the excursionists. The train proper carrying spectators will probably get off about 6 o'clock in the morning. The scene picked out, it is said, is not on the railroad track, but is not far enough away to make it difficult to reach. The fact that there are several spots available on the line of the road in several parishes sets at rest all doubts as to police interference. If there should be any indications of an interference by the officials at the point selected, an event not at all likely to occur, the train will move on further.

CAPTAIN KELLOGG'S QUICK WORK.

Why the Kearsarge Was Sent Off Post-Haste to Port au Prince.

A Washington special says: "The secret of the cablegram from Hayti which caused such a commotion in the Navy and State departments a fortnight ago, and sent Rear-Admiral Gherardi off post-haste with the Kearsarge to Port au Prince, has at last been discovered. A steamer arrived in New York last Wednesday from Hayti with news that the Clyde-Line steamer Ozama, owned in New York, had been captured by the Haytien gunboat La Defence and the corvette Dessalines and held for three hours.

"Captain Kellogg, of the United States steamer Ossipee, demanded her immediate release. Legitime refused to let her go except under certain conditions. Captain Kellogg sent word to Legitime that unless the steamer was released within five hours and $5,000 indemnity paid by Legitime the Ossipee would bombard the city. Legitime paid the money and released the Ozama, and that was all there was of it. But the cablegram which raised the disturbance was one from Captain Kellogg to Secretary Tracy announcing that Legitime had captured the New York steamer. That news was sufficient to stir up the Navy and State departments, and the officials of the latter thought it necessary to keep the news secret.

"This publication was sent to Walker Blaine this evening with a request to know if it were true. He replied: "I cannot say anything upon this subject.'"

A SAD SENSATION.

A Prominent North Carolina Professor Attempts Suicide.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

RALEIGH, N. C., July 1.—A sad sensation was created in this city yesterday afternoon by the announcement that Professor Ralph Graves, of the chair of mathematics in the State University, had attempted and nearly succeeded in committing suicide by cutting his throat. Since June 1st Professor Graves and wife have been here as the guests of Speer Whitaker, Esq. The Professor came here for rest from the arduous duties of his professorship. He has been under the care of a physician, who had told him that he was suffering from overwork of the brain, and strongly advised that he at once put himself under the care of a specialist. It was intended to do this as soon as he should recover from the physical exhaustion he had sustained. He was carefully tended, a male nurse caring for him at night. Mrs. Graves spent most of her time with him during the day. He was subject to paroxysms of depression. Yesterday afternoon he was reclining on a bed, Mrs. Graves being in the room with him. He told her she was confining herself too much and suggested that she take some exercise and fresh air. To show herself in sympathy with his humor she went from the room.

DELIBERATELY CUTTING HIS THROAT.

A moment later she returned to the room to get a newspaper. She was horrified to see Professor Graves standing before a large mirror deliberately cutting his throat with a small pocket-knife. She rushed at him and knocked the knife from his hand. He then tried to get his hand to his throat to tear the wound open and make his work fatal, but Mrs. Graves succeeded in preventing this till help came in. He was in a sadly-raving condition, his reason having given way to desperate insanity. The carotid artery was exposed and had barely missed being severed. The wound may not prove fatal. He was removed to the insane asylum. Professor Graves is thirty-eight years old and was one of the foremost and most brilliant mathematicians in the country.

ANOTHER MURDER TRIAL.

Half of the McDow Jury on the Panel.

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 1.—On the 9th of March last, three days before Captain Dawson was killed, William Munzenmaier's throat was cut from ear to ear in King street, this city, by John Weir, a factory operative. The murder was the result of a bar-room row. Munzenmaiers, Weir, and a number of others had been drinking and and a general melée took place in the street. Weir almost severed Munzenmaiers's head from his body with a razor. The trial of Weir began to-day before Judge Kershaw. The State is represented by Solicitor Jervey and Weir is represented by Judge Twiggs, of Augusta, and Captain Simon Hude, of Charleston. The jury consists of seven white and five colored men. Three of the white and three of the colored men served on the McDow jury. Quite a number of witnesses were examined to-day. The case will probably continue to Wednesday. The result of the trial is being awaited with considerable interest.
