LIST OF PATENTS

With the claims annexed, issued from the United States Patent Office, from the 10th of May until the 17th of July, inclusive, and reported especially for the Washington National Whig, 1847.

To Asa Whitney, of Philadelphia, Pa., for imp't in cast-iron car-wheels. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the corrugating of the disks of railroad wheels, in such manner as that they are rendered elastic and flexible, and are susceptible of expansion and contraction, by the yielding of the corrugated parts, both in diameter and circumference simultaneously."

To Asa Whitney, of Philadelphia, Pa., for imp't in cast-iron car-wheels. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the manner herein set forth of corrugating the disks of railroad wheels, by which they can be made stronger and more durable, with a less amount of material, than any other form of disk or spoke-wheels, as heretofore made."

To Alfred Hall, of Coxsack, N. York, for imp't in brick presses. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the combination of the press with the plug-mill, as above set forth, so that while the clay is being pressed into the mould it shall, at all times, have a free opening into the mill, by which much of the danger of breaking the parts is obviated. I also claim the curved railway in combination with the movable carriage for forcing in the moulds, so that said carriage shall have its front at the same level at all times. Lastly, I claim the method of constructing the press so that the side plates do not require to be made with a slot in them, by carrying the shaft that connects the press with the segments back, so as to be free to act, as herein specified, without passing below the spring-plate moves back to."

To Sprague Barber, of New York, for improvement in operating cut-off valves; (having assigned his right to James A. Stevens, of New Jersey.) Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the method herein described of connecting the lifter of the valve with, and disconnecting it from, the lifter of the lifting-rod, by means of the drop-slide in combination with the lifting-rod and lifter attached to the valve; the drop-slide being operated during the lifting of the valve, substantially as described; and I also claim the method of arresting the downward motion of the valve, by the inclined or curved face of the slide that holds and liberates the valve, whether it be the slide herein described, or anything analogous or equivalent thereto, as described."

To Richard J. Gating, of Murfreesboro', North Carolina, for improvement in shovel-ploughs. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, 1st. Making the cultivator with adjustable sliding wings of a rhomboidal form in their cross-sections, arranged and operated in the manner and for the purpose described; 2d. Extending the fore or wide portions of the double-shank bar, in the form of two flat curved wings, forming the curved spaces, and to which the side-bars or braces are attached, and upon which the adjustable wings or mould-boards are placed, in the manner and for the purpose set forth; 3d. Making the point in the form of a double wedge, with wings or shoulders to fit into corresponding notches in the bars, as the point wears, susceptible of four changes."

To William S. Cooke, of East Fairfield, Ohio, for improvement in the reduction of iron ores. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the use and utility of using steam, in the form of a blast, for the purpose of softening metallic ores while in the process of reduction, (or changing form by smelting,) as herein described."

To John M. and Benj. B. Brown, of Maris P. O., Ohio, for improvement in grain and hay rakes. Patented May 22.

"What we claim as our improvement, and desire to secure by letters patent are, the combination of the divides (operating as set forth) with the small frame, in the manner described; also, the sharp edges of the fore part of the fingers, by means of which the small vines and grass in the stubble are cut, and prevented from obstructing the progress of the rake."

To Geo. Riley, of N. York, for imp't in distilling. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the distilling alcohol and other volatile spirits by causing a current of steam to pass up through a vessel filled with stones, or other substance, as above mentioned, through which the wash or other materials is percolating; the apparatus therefor being constructed substantially in the manner described."

To Abner H. Finney, of Columbus, Ohio, for improvement in machinery for jointing staves. Patented May 22.

"What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the employment of an apparatus for applying the stave to the rotary jointing wheels, substantially in the manner and for the purpose set forth, so that the staves can be easily handled beyond the periphery of the wheels, and thrown accurately into place against them, as above described. I also claim, in combination therewith, the manner of holding the blocks, and springing in the stave, as herein specified."

To Riley Smith, of Towanda, Pa., for imp't in cotton presses. Patented May 22.

"What I claim therein as new, and desire to secure by letters patent is, the before described mode of evaporating and distilling by means of a series of vessels so formed and arranged in a non-conducting structure as to transmit the heat arising from the vapor or steam of a common boiler, such as (C) fig. 1, to the under surface or sides of a series of boilers, such as (D) fig. 1, in succession, by which the heat which is usually lost is made to produce a repetition of the evaporating operation to the bottom or sides of an extra number of boilers (D), to any degree required, by which a great saving in the cost of fuel is effected in the process of evaporation or distillation—the steam or vapor being condensed and collected in vessels (E) in the interior of the external non-conducting case (A), as fully set forth in the foregoing specification."

To Samuel Bailey, of Kerr's Creek, Va., for imp't in threshing machines. Patented June 5.
