TIME TO GO TO SCHOOL

Period of Juvenile Instruction Almost at Hand.

READY FOR ARCH RIVALS

Richmond College Will Be in Trim to Meet Randolph-Macon and Hampden-Sydney on the Gridiron.

Best Players to Return.

The school period is almost at hand. The many small feet that have been busy by the alleged sad sea waves or climbing mountain sides during the past three months will soon be turned homeward. Many people have already returned from the country and seashore, and this cool spell will bring many others. The next two weeks, or rather this week and the next, will see hundreds rushing back to the city by every train and boat. September 15th will find very few Richmonders, not ultra-fashionable, and careworn or carefree, out of the city. The contingent of the homes which fills the city schools each year will be here in full force. The city is filling up daily. An evening on Broad Street any day now will convince one of this.

INTERESTING PERIOD.

The beginning of the school sessions is an interesting period. The faces of the children are bright and expectant. Many are actually glad to get back to regular duties, and the little people give life and color to the city. All people, as a rule, love children and are glad to welcome them on the streets.

The city public schools will be among the first to swing open their doors. The nine-months' session will begin September 15th, as usual. The teachers have all been selected, though they have not been assigned. The announcements in this particular will not be made until a day or two before the work is taken up. Superintendent Fox is out of the city at present, but will return in a few days. Several days previous to the opening of the session he will hold his usual teachers' meetings, when the forthcoming work will be discussed.

McGuire's University School will begin its thirty-ninth session September 22d. This institution has had great success in the training of youths for business or further study in colleges and universities. It has a splendid city patronage. The prospects for another session are excellent.

The Richmond Female Seminary will be known this session as Miss Morris' School for Girls. Miss Susie P. Morris will conduct this excellent school, having taken charge since the death of Rev. C. P. Williamson. The session opens September 22d. Miss Margaret Lee is associated with Miss Morris as assistant principal.

RICHMOND COLLEGE.

Richmond College people are looking forward to having a year of unusual prosperity, one that will be marked by a large attendance and good work, such as characterized this institution last session. Dr. Charles H. Ryland, superintendent of the grounds and buildings, has had all of the buildings thoroughly renovated and the grounds are very beautiful and inviting. President Boatwright has nearly exhausted a pile of five thousand catalogues, so numerous have been the requests for information. The professors have spent the summer visiting the Baptist associations and speaking for the cause of higher education. The prospects for a good winning foot-ball eleven are good. Several of the best of last year's team are certain to return, and games with Randolph-Macon and Hampden-Sidney, arch rivals, have already been arranged. The session will begin September 24th.

The two medical colleges will not open their doors for the reception of incipient doctors until early in October.

Crowd Drawn By . . . Fields' Minstrels.

The Al. G. Field's Minstrels this season are a revelation, and may well be termed "Minstrelsy's Tribute to the Twentieth Century."

The electrical, mechanical and scenic effects surpass anything that Al. G. Field has heretofore attempted, and the result is a stage picture that is almost bewildering in its beauty. No prettier first part setting has ever been seen here than that which greeted the eyes of the big audience at the Academy last night when the curtain rose.

The first part, in itself, almost constituted an evening's entertainment. It introduced a double quartette of vocalists, including Reese Prosser and Tom McKenna, and some eight or ten black-face comedians on the ends, among whom were Harry Shunk, Tommy Donelly, Les. Fairman and John Blackford. Doc. Quigley, the eccentric dancer, appeared in a new role, taking the place long filled by Dan Quinlan. Quigley makes an acceptable interlocutor, though one rather expects to see the dancer's legs go off in a fit as they do so often when he "shakes his feet" in a way beyond imitation.

John Blackford gives a realistic characterization of a genuine cornfield darkey, playing a fiddle at a country dance. Blackford's work from start to finish is clever, and though not featured in the first part, he contributed much to that portion of the performance.

Al. G. Field's monologue contained a lot of good stuff, and he kept the audience laughing all the time he was rattling it off.

The Walter Brothers, acrobats, were exceedingly clever in their work, as were also Percy Lee and Brother, in an equilibristic exhibition. The performance concluded with a laughable afterpiece entitled "The Darktown Circus Menagerie."

At last a "sure cure for the blues," such has been the remark where the latest laugh-maker, Willard Simms, and his big supporting company, in Ollie Mack and Joseph M. Gaites' production of "Pickings from Puck" have appeared. The comedy is announced for presentation at the Academy to-morrow night. This latest concoction of witty dialogue, bright, catchy musical number, dances and pretty girls is from the prolific pen of Clarence Simms and Theodore Northrup. The Academy will be dark to-night.

In three days from to-day Tim Murphy will be here again to interest and delight play-goers with his quaint characterizations and humorous concerts. Murphy is an odd genius, and stands alone in the delineation of those American characters which seem to have no other illustrator since John T. Raymond, John E. Owen and Sol. Smith Russell have passed from the stage. This time he has a play which is a pronounced success, and is called "The Man from Missouri." It was written for Mr. Murphy by two of the best known writers in America, the prolific adaptor of plays, E. E. Rose, and the funny man who created Dinkelspiel, George V. Hobart. These two men have put their best efforts on "The Man from Missouri," and the result is a happy, rollicking comedy for Mr. Murphy. He has staged the play charmingly, and has a large company of the best obtainable players. Manager Leath announces "The Man from Missouri" for Saturday night, September 5th.

The Casino.

The new vaudeville bill at the Casino drew a crowded house again last evening, the various acts proving entertaining and provoking shrieks of laughter and much applause. The show last evening worked much more smoothly than on the opening night. There is a matinee for ladies and children this evening at popular matinee prices. Performances each evening at 8:30 o'clock, with the last matinee Saturday.

Friday evening Manager McKee has arranged a benefit at the Casino for the Masonic bazaar, when it is expected the summer theatre will be packed with people.

At the Hotels.

Hon. R. G. Southall, of Amelia, member of Congress and former member of the General Assembly, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Southall stopped at the Lexington.

General Bradley T. Johnson, of Amelia, was in the city yesterday for a short time, stopping at the Union Hotel for the time he was in the city. General Johnson is one of the best known and most prominent of the survivors of the Civil War, and is a Virginia gentleman greatly beloved.

Hon. Thomas H. Lion, of Manassas, Va., was in the city yesterday, stopping at the Lexington. Mr. Lion is a member of the House of Delegates, and has just been renominated without opposition as his own successor.

At the Jefferson Hotel yesterday, among other arrivals, were Dr. M. V. Holt, of Surry county, and Mr. W. Holt. Dr. Holt is one of the best-known Democrats of Tidewater, Virginia.

These arrivals are recorded at the Jefferson Hotel—Samuel Worthrop, Wilmington, N. C.; G. A. Thomson, C. S. Green, G. B. Dickinson, Willard A. Bourne, C. C. Newburn, J. E. O'Shea, H. Piper, New York; David Ballard, Lewisburg, N. C.; James L. Donovan and wife, Boston; H. C. Hequembourg and wife, Schenectady, N. Y.; Walter D. Coles, St. Louis; Dr. M. Q. Holt, W. Holt, Surry, Va.; Dr. R. E. Poole, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, infant and nurse; Master John Bailey, Mrs. J. A. Esser, Miss Esser, Virginia; Miss Bailey, Halifax, N. S.; L. L. Curtiss and wife, Jackson, Tenn.; Elmer E. Hopkins, Chicago; J. W. Williamson, Trenton; W. A. Houston, Baltimore.

These arrivals at the Lexington Hotel yesterday are enrolled—W. T. Yancey, Virginia; Thomas H. Lion, Manassas; Rev. Paul Whitehead, Mrs. Whitehead, Norfolk; R. I. Guy, Rucker's; J. A. Fuller, Norfolk; J. R. Anderson, Goochland; Mrs. R. S. MacKenzie, W. P. Hounihan, Staunton; W. A. Yates, Suffolk; J. E. Lane, Estmont, Va.

Among the Virginians at the Union Hotel are these—H. St. A. Montague, Pall's; Austin Brown and two ladies, Dry Bridge; J. M. Shea, Norfolk; W. O. Coleman, Virginia.

Murphy's—C. J. Blum, New York; W. S. Young, Philadelphia; O. H. Hutzler, Lancaster, Pa.; C. B. Jenkins and son, Charleston, S. C.; G. J. Zander, North Carolina; H. L. Boehinger, Philadelphia; John G. Hand, Philadelphia; B. H. McCormack, New York; S. F. Guggenheimer, Cincinnati, O.; W. B. Bunkerhoff, Chicago; G. W. Carson, Baltimore; G. H. Stephens, New York; Joseph Kaufman, Baltimore; S. A. Holman, New York; Wm. M. Lumpkin, Suffolk, Va.; V. L. Folkes, South Boston; Randolph H. Blair, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. M. J. Darden, Newsoms, Va.; Mrs. Lena Beadles, Oak Park, Va.

New Ford's—A. F. Fowler, Hugh, Va.; James M. Tutwiler, Roanoke; Z. P. Burks, Charlottesville; A. V. Lapp, High Point, N. C.; W. J. Clary, Greensboro, N. C.; A. L. Gorby, St. Louis; P. F. Kean, Detroit.

CITY FIGHT TO LOOK UPWARD SHORTLY

It looks as if next week will mark the real opening of a short, sharp canvass for the House of Delegates in this city, which will terminate in the primary to be held on September 22d.

The hot battle in Henrico has had a more or less dampening effect upon the struggle here, and the latter will not be in full blast until the former shall have have come to a close. There are seven candidates for the House from Richmond, and only five can be chosen. Those who are aspiring to seats in the lower branch from Richmond are Messrs. S. L. Kelley, L. T. Christian, C. M. Wallace, Jr., E. P. Cox, E. B. Thomason, H. L. Watson and Charles J. Anderson. The first named three are incumbents, while the latter four are aspiring for the first time. There will be no vote for Senator in the primary, Hon. A. C. Harman having been declared the nominee without opposition. It now looks as if Mr. E. M. Rowelle, the present clerk of the Circuit Court, whose election comes up this fall, will have no opposition.

L'icensed to Marry.

Marriage licenses were issued in Richmond yesterday to Miss Annie L. Green and Waldemar Wormley; also to Mrs. Ellen Mason and William Colquitt.

Richmonders obtaining a license in Washington, D. C., were Miss Carrie McCoy and Archie S. Perkins.
