STEEL STOCK THE FEATURE

A Marked Rise of the Industrials in the Market Yesterday.

HIGHER PRICES EXPECTED

Pre-Election Conservatism Shown in the Dealings and the Volume Contracted.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Last week's pre-election conservatism in Wall Street was manifest to-day only in a somewhat contracted volume of business, the aggregate shares sold falling slightly below the previous smallest total since before the middle of October, when the market took on its greater volume. As for the price movement, it disclosed an emphatic expectation of higher prices and an enlarged public demand after the election has been cleared up.

In the early part of the day the railroads hung back and were inconspicuous, and while they did not fully retrieve their position of relative importance in the market, there was a sufficient share in the day's strength by the railroads to restore the balance of the market.

But gains were greater, transactions were larger and the number of issues dealt in much higher in the industrial department, in accordance with the assertions freely distributed from the headquarters of the speculative parties that the principal interest in the market was to shift to the industrials for the future.

The United States Steel stocks were the feature of the whole market, and other iron and steel industrials shared in the attention given to them.

The character of the market cannot be better indicated than by a simple list of stocks of the industrial corporations and corporations which rose from 1 to 3 points in the course of the day's trading. Amalgamated Copper, American Locomotive, American Smelting, Edison Electric, the Pressed Steel Car stock, the Republican Iron, Sloss-Sheffield Steel, the American Steel Foundries stocks, the United States Steel stocks, the United States Cast Iron Pipe stocks, Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke, Allis Chalmers, the Cotton Oil stocks, American Sugar, American Ice, Corn products, International Paper, Associated Merchants, Union Bag and Paper and American Tobacco.

The usual profit-taking on the day's rise cost something to the extreme high level prices, but the decline was check and the price level partly restored before the market closed.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $4,475,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The total sales of stocks for the day were 1,195,300 shares.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE—CLOSE: Money on call steady at 2@2¼ per cent.; closing bid and offered, 2 per cent.; time loans, steady; sixty and ninety days and six months, 3 1-2@4 per cent.; prime mercantile paper, 4@4 1-2 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.40@4.86.45 for demand and at $4.83.50@4.83.55 for sixty day bills; posted rates, $4.84 1-2 and $4.87; commercial bills, $4.83 1-4@4.83 3-8. Bar silver, 58; Mexican dollars, 46 1-4.

Wall Street Gossip.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, November 7.—At the opening the market showed strength in places, and improved wherever stocks were at all active. The United States Steel issues were the leaders and had a favorabe effect upon the rest of the industrial list. There was not much disposition among the commission houses to take a position over the selection.

In spite of the fact that the United States Steel issues recorded the high prices of the year, the buying in them is still good and well informed. A big year in 1905 is taken as assured, in view of railroad requirements, and their ability to sell bonds in the present state of the bond market.

Amalgamated Copper benefited in the early trading to some extent by the advance in Anaconda in London. The latter movement is probably really more due to the taking back of French holdings thrown over at the Paris settlement than to any special trade development in Europe.

London was again one of the early buyers of Erie. Next to Steel issues this stock has been more freely taken for foreign account recently to anything of dividend.

One of the most active of the up-town traders is said to have been the last of the Steel shorts to cover. He was reported to have taken the long side over 60, after selling short at 55.

Missouri Pacific was the early bull point, and was bought for the active western crowd. There is good reason for saying that the earnings for the next three months will make an unusually good showing, and they have the advantage of comparing with moderate figures of last year. It seems likely that there will be Gould stock for sale on any real advance.

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 3@11 points in response to better cables than looked for. The bulge was taken as a signal for short sales by some of the room trade, and immediately following the call prices slipped off a point or two. But Liverpool soon reversed its position on the market, which in the afternoon became particularly firm on the report that lower Wall Street was covering shorts and that certain leading Southern traders were taking on a line of long contracts through various wire houses. The close was very steady and at the best prices of the day, a net advance of 13@16 points. Sales were estimated at about 150,000 bales, a large proportion of the business being done in the last hour. The strength at Liverpool was attributed to Alexandria buying.

During the afternoon here general business seemed to be improving somewhat with commission houses reporting larger selling orders as prices reached ten cents for the January option. The private advices of a firmer spot situation in the South and expectation of a better demand both from spinners and for speculative account after election were probably influential in causing the demand to cover shorts. Port receipts for the day ran about 6,000 bales under the figures for last year.

Receipts of cotton at the ports to-day were 61,794 bales against 55,159 last week and 71,973 last year. For the week 400,000 bales against 436,920 last week and 431,079 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans were 21,131 bales against 24,390 last year, and at Houston 12,298 bales against 21,105 last year.

Cotton futures opened strong and closed very strong:
