RUSH FOR PROFITS WEAKENS MARKET

Volume of Realizing Sales Too Great for Strength of Stock Leaders.

DECREASE IN BANK RESERVE

Likelihood of Legislation on Freight Rate Question Has Some Effect on Sentiment.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Realizing sales for the end of the week were in considerable force during the short session of the stocks market to-day, and finally overcame the market, making the closing weak and a point below last night for some of the speculative leaders. The Pennsylvania group and the Pacifics, including Missouri Pacific, were especially affected by the profit-taking. There was as little to account for the selling as there has been for the buying during the week so far, as any specific news bearing on the individual properties was concerned. The bank statement may have contained a suggestion that the present redundancy of money will not continue indefinitely under the operation of forces now at work.

The week's outgo of gold in spite of the inflow from the interior caused the expected decrease of over $5,000,000 in the cash reserves of the banks. The foreign exchange market held firmly to-day and offered no indication that this week's heavy outgo of gold would not be duplicated or exceeded next week. The Southern Pacific refunding operation and yesterday's sale of $5,000,000 of these bonds must be reckoned with in estimating the future showing of the bank loans. The progress of the efforts towards securing consolidated party action on the Federal control of freight rates had some effect on sentiment and may have prompted the growing selling movement. The notable price movements of the day were in stocks of minor importance and the receding tendency became quite general before the closing. The total sales of bonds, par value, amounted to $2,795,000.

The total sales of stocks amounted to 530,100 shares.

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The cotton market opened firm with an advance of 4@7 points and during the early trading increased the gain to a matter of about 12@13 points on active covering of shorts and a broadening out of speculative demand for long account promoted by the firmness of foreign and Southern markets. Liverpool came better than expected a prominent feature being large sales of spot cotton at an advance of 6 points and over-night advices from the South reported continued firmness among spot holders, while private wires from New Orleans reported market leaders assisting the smaller longs to put up the market. Realizing became a little heavier at the additional advance, and the market toward the middle of the morning eased off 3 or 4 points from the best, but continued nervous. The market closed steady with prices 10@14 points higher.

Receipts of cotton at the ports to-day were 14,839 bales against 18,006 last week and 24,898 last year; for the week 140,000 bales aga nst 148,405 last week and 127,772 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans were 4,031 bales against 10,950 last year, and at Houston 2,290 bales against 6,630 last year.

Cotton futures opened firm and closed steady.

Lynchburg Tobacco Market.

Lynchburg, Va., Feb. 4, 1905.

Sales of loose tobacco on the Lynchburg market for the two weeks ending February 3, 19.5, reported by John L. Oglesby, of Lynch's Warehouse:

Sold week ending January 27, 802,800 pounds; sold week ending February 3, 880,700 pounds; decrease for week ending February 3, 422,100 pounds.

Sold from September 1, 1904, to February 3, 1905, 7,116,300 pounds; sold from September 1, 1903, to February 3, 1904, 5,836,700 pounds; increase for 1905, 1,279,600 pounds.

The receipts were much lighter the past week than last. The falling off was caused by the very cold, dry weather of the past two weeks. The weather continues quite cold, which indicates that there will be but little tobacco prepared for handling. The quality and condition of the tobacco offered has been about the same as last week, yet prices have been rather higher on all grades. There is considerable animation in the trade and buyers are quite active in looking after such tobacco as they want.

The quotations are as follows:

Dark lugs, common	$ 3.50	@ $	4.00
Dark lugs, medium	4.00	@	4.50

Danville Tobacco Market.

Danville, Va., Feb. 4, 1905.

Messrs. Dibrell Brothers in their weekly review of the Danville tobacco market say: The continued cold weather has caused small receipts the past week, though they have been larger than was expected under the circumstances, lasting from one to three hours each day. The quality offering has been quite good; in fact, above the average in point or color and character. Low grades have been particularly scarce, and fine in better supply. All grades except common wrappers are in active demand, and all classes of buyers seem to have a fair amount of business in hand. Low grade fillers, which used to sell a few years ago at 3c. and 4c., are now eagerly taken at 6c. to 7½c. for the domestic and European trade. The Canadians are strong competitors with our big home manufacturers on good to fine fillers at 2½ to 12c. Cigarette cutters and bright export leaf are in fairly active demand and steady in price at from 8½ to 15c. for accounts of the big domestic and British corporations, and closed watched by export dealers who are always ready to take advantage of any neglected lots. Nobody seems to want particularly common wrappers. They are cheap at 11 to 15c. Good to fine wrappers, both darks and brights, are scarce and very active, with considerable competition.

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—In the dry goods market the week ends with more of hopefulness on the part of the trade at first hands. While trade is confined to spot goods, the favorable condition of many lines makes it difficult, if not impossible, to grant prompt shipment, which makes the buyer more desirous of securing a larger amount of goods than they might otherwise order. Jobbers anticipate an increased inquiry next week.
