KILLED WIFE AND CUT OWN THROAT

Domestic Trouble in Family of Well-Known Alabama Physician Ends in Tragedy.

(By Associated Press.)

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., April 9.—Dr. A. W. Burton, a well known physician of Birmingham, shot and killed his wife to-night, fatally wounded Dr. T. T. Thaxton, a dentist of Pratt City, Ala., and cut his own throat, dying a few minutes later.

Dr. Burton and his wife, Dr. Laura E. Burton, who was also a practicing physician here, had not been living together for some time. To-night he went to his home at North Haven, on North Highlands, and found his wife and Dr. Thaxton together. The tragedy followed.

Mrs. Thaxton, the wife of Dr. Thaxton, was an eye-witness to the shooting, as were Mrs. Andrews and her daughter, with whom the Burtons lived. In a statement to-night Mrs. Thaxton stated that she and her husband had gone to call on Mrs. Andrews, who was not feeling well. Mrs. Andrews is a cousin of Dr. Thaxton. Dr. Burton, the husband, fired two shots, each at his wife and Dr. Thaxton, all of which took effect and he immediately made a small but deep incision in his own throat.

What is Home Mission Work?

The Foreign Missionary Union met at the Second Presbyterian Church April 9th, the morning session beginning at 10:30. Devotional exercises were begun by Dr. Paxton with prayer, and an address of welcome by the pastor, Dr. Cecil. At the roll-call twenty-five delegates responded. The reports of all the societies were encouraging, each with few exceptions reporting increase in interest and membership.

The question of greatest interest discussed was, "What was Home Mission and What was Benevolent Work." A letter from Dr. Morris was read, explaining this matter.

Miss Rutherford, through the courtesy of the president of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Ruffin Cox, invited the visiting delegates to the lecture given there by Dr. Paxton.

The evening session began at 3:30 with a large attendance. The devotional exercises were in charge of Miss Maria Blair. Dr. McFaden, who was to have made an address, was detained by illness.

Miss French, a medical missionary from Hang Chow, spoke of her work in that place, and how the missionaries reach the home life of the natives. In closing she made a heart-felt appeal for our prayers for the missionaries and native Christians, who are so faithful in praying for us.

After prayer the visiting delegates were entertained by the union, and a charming social hour was spent.

Tuesday will be devoted to Home Missions. Morning session at 10:30; evening session at 3:30.

The society discussed the history of the First and Fifteenth Regiments during the war, and much good natured arguing was indulged in.

Charming Lecture on "The Boy."

At the Central Y. M. C. A. Hall last night Colonel Ben Lee Hardin, of Kentucky, delivered a highly entertaining address on "The Boy." On account of the severe thunder-storm which prevailed, a small audience was in attendance and caused many to miss an enjoyable lecture.

Colonel Hardin told many humorous stories of boys, and others that were full of heroism or pathos, all of which were taken from real life. He is a fluent talker and is in hearty sympathy with "The Boy."

WILL LOOP BRIDGE.

Daring West Virginia Aeronaut to Attempt Difficult Feat.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, April 9.—G. L. Bumbaugh, the aeronaut of Charleston, W. Va., announced yesterday that he will loop the East River bridge in a dirigible balloon. It will be the first effort at accomplishing a feat of the kind on so grand a scale. Santos-Dumont has sailed around the Eiffel Tower and other lofty places at Paris, but has never attempted to circle a horizontal structure such as a bridge.

Mr. Bumbaugh has made the experiment in a smaller way, and he is confident of success in this greater undertaking. Nevertheless, he is as sensible of the difficulty of the feat, and does not mean to attempt it in any but an airship that has stood the most rigid test as to dirigibility. He has selected the Knabensruhe model, and a vessel of that plan is being constructed for him. The maker is Leo Stevens, aeronaut and builder of aerial yachts, at No. 348 Ninth Avenue. The finishing touches are being given to Mr. Bumbaugh's vessel at Scheutzen Park, Union Hill, N. J., because more space than is possible in the New York shop is required.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY IS DOING GOOD WORK

Have Held One Hundred and Thirty Services in Benevolent and Penal Institutions.

The quarterly meeting of the Richmond Protestant Episcopal Missionary Society was held last night in St. James Church, with Bishop Gibson presiding. The reports from the representatives, both clerical and lay, from a number of the city churches showed the work to have progressed very satisfactorily and the conditions of the society to be very healthy.

Of especial interest was the report of the city missionary, Rev. Dr. John Moncure, and his assistant, Rev. Philip A. Arthur. Dr. Moncure's report covered ministrations in all of the institutions, benevolent and penal, in the city and county, and showed 130 services to have been held in the following places: Virginia penitentiary, city and county jails and the Neighborhood House at Brook Avenue, of which Rev. Mr. Arthur is superintendent and where he supervises the kindergaten, the Junio Civic Improvement League, the sewing school and the Boys' Club. The report also showed a growing Sunday school and very encouraging church services in the chapel at the Home, No. 821 Brook Avenue. The Neighborhood House is a point of very much interest to church workers in the county and city, and the growing importance of the work presages for it a bright future.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING NOTES

Commonwealth Has Good Thing in Hand—Several Interesting Auctions for To-day.

Colonel Euker, commandant of the Soldiers' Home, has figured out a handsome real estate deal that the Commonwealth of Virginia has made without intending to go into the real estate business, or to become a real estate speculator. He estimates that the property on which the Soldiers' Home is located now has a market value of something like one million dollars, and if the present activity in real estate continues until the property can be turned loose on the market the value will far exceed that figure.

"The Commonwealth," says Colonel Euker, "has a reversionary right in the Soldiers' Home property and its rights in the very nature of the case will materialize in about nine or ten years."

The land embraced within the grounds of the institution comprises about twenty acres—a larger tract than that embraced in the Capitol Square—and it has been steadily enhancing in value for several years. Estimating its market price at $15 a front foot, Colonel Euker sees at once that it represents a vast sum for the State. When this property no longer is needed for the purposes to which it is now put it can be disposed of at very handsome city lot prices, for the city is going that way. The Commonwealth has a better thing than it thought for.

Sutton & Co. have sold for Charles E. Wingo, of the Wingo, Ellett & Crump Shoe Company, the valuable property, No. 1308 East Main Street to the M. S. Valentine estate. It is understood that this store which has been occupied for more than a third of a century by Wingo, Ellett & Crump will be remodelled and made into suitable quarters for Harry Harks's wholesale clothing house. The price paid for the property was $13,500. The adjoining building, No. 1310, was bought some time ago for $12,500 by the Sydnor Well and Pump Company.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon, Messrs. Pollard & Bagby will sell at public auction a lot on Broad Street between Madison and Monroe. The lot is thirty-three feet by one hundred and thirty-six.

Messrs. J. Thompson Brown & Co. will have an interesting sale this afternoon beginning at 4:30 o'clock. They will sell the buildings now standing at Nos. 411, 417, 419, and 421 North Eighth Street, and Nos. 803 and 805 East Clay Street, the same to be removed by the purchaser.

This is a splendid opportunity for builders and contractors.

W. B. Pizzini Company will, at 6 o'clock this afternoon, sell at auction a most desirable lot on West Grace Street, just beyond Addison Street. There is a bargain here for somebody.
