Shaffer hit the microbes, and had the nine behind been able to connect with Drew he would have won the victory.

But Drew was the apple blossom for the evening, and he walked away from the diamond just as happy as if he had pitched a game where no one connected with the ball.

Hicks, at third, played good ball in the first game, and Shaffer won it by his slide into home when Cowan was thrown out at first.

There was only one double play in this game, Bateman, at second, getting a hot liner from Shaffer's bat and transferring the ball to Crutchley, who covered second before Hicks could get back to the bag.

BATTING STREAK IN SECOND GAME

Both Sides Hit the Ball Hard, But Richmond Team Lost.

Fully two thousand more spectators crowded the grandstand and bleachers when the second game started. Long, the big twirler for the Richmond nine, went in to do the honors, and he held them safe until the fourth inning. After this time he appeared to weaken and Eckstone relieved him in the fifth. But it was too late, and Eckstone was not effective. As to which man gets the credit for losing the game there is a question. Both pitchers were doing work on their off-days. Neither sent the spheres across the rubber in the way they can.

Eckstone permitted two men to walk in the seventh inning, hit another player, and three Roanoke players found him safely. The result was that four runners planked their tootsy wootsies on the home plate.

Umpire Hildebrand gave entire satisfaction, and although he is a young man, he thoroughly understands the game, and does not tolerate any foolishness. Crutchley, the short-stop for Roanoke, was sent to the bench in the second game for sassing Hildebrand. McMahon, from third, took his place, and Smith went to right field to relieve Watson, who was brought from the outfield to the infield. A few innings later Smith was benched for abusive language. Willis took his place in right garden.

The manager for the Highlanders fined Crutchley $2 for his conduct, and Umpire Hildebrand imposed a fine of $5 on Smith.

PITCHED POOR GAME.

Umpire Newhouse Arrested After Being Almost Mobbed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PORTSMOUTH, VA., July 14.—Poor pitching by Schuman, ragged fielding by the men behind him, and rank work on the part of Umpire Newhouse, characterized the game to-day betwen Portsmouth and Norfolk. The score was 9 to 0 in Norfolk's favor.

The game was protested by Manager Kain on account of a ruling by Newhouse, in which he refused to call out a runner who interfered with Strobeigh in attempting to field a ball. Strobeigh was knocked down. This followed a number of decisions against the truckers, and when Captain Kelly carried the rule book to Newhouse he defiantly declined to look at it, and so incensed the rooters that a number of them rushed on the field and would have mobbed the man but for the prompt police protection. Newhouse was warned before he went on the field that he would be roughly handled if he gave another such exhibition as he has given for the past three or four games. He replied that he could take care of himself. He was arrested after the game for using abusive language to a spectator, and was accompanied to the magistrate's office by a brother of one of the owners of the Norfolk team. Stanley was hit hard, but was effective at critical stages. The score:

PLAYED DOUBLE-HEADER

Lynchburg Won First—Second Called.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, VA., July 14.—Lynchburg and Danville played a double-header here this afternoon, the Shoemakers taking the first game by the score of 4 to 0, and the second was called at the end of the eighth on account of darkness, when the score was 3 to 3. Stewart twirled the first game, and pitched one of the best games that has been seen here this season. Two measly singles were the sum total of the hitting of the Tobacconists, while the locals did not have much trouble with Howard, bunching hits in the fifth and eighth for four earned runs.

In the last game the locals did not support Reiss, and his three hits should have let them down with another shut-out. His own error in the third, however, aided largely in the two runs of that round. Holt's home-run drive in the eighth inning of the first game was a fly between left and center, which rolled so far out that he completed the circuit before the sphere was returned to the diamond. Stewart's work this afternoon places him in the forerank of the slabologists of the league. Winston was so wild in the third inning that he was taken out after he had passed the first two men up, and McKnight was substituted. He continued his good work, though two runs were scored after he went in the box. Umpire Staehle's umpiring is about the best that has been seen here yet, though he does not appear to be quite strict enough in keeping the players at their posts. The scores:

INKSLINGERS WIN.

Game One of Heavy Hitting, but Snowballs Lose.

The Slingers came along fresh as paint to try to take the second fall out of the Snowballs, while the Binders journeyed to Chestnut Hill to meet the league leaders. When the Slingers took the field there were cries of "Another game of Chinese ball," but it was certainly not on the side of the representatives of The Times-Dispatch; the shoe was rather on the other foot.

The Snowballs managed to get one man across the plate in the first and another in the first half of the third, but in the last half of the same inning the Slingers knocked Eaton out of the box, six men getting home, and had it all their own way up to the ending of the seventh, when the score stood 15 to 4 in favor of the Slingers. The Slingers changed their pitcher in the fifth, putting Burnette in the box, Lowe being put in for the Snowballs. The latter lasted only till the ending of the seventh, in the first half of which Burnette got wild and seven runs came in for the Snowballs, the score standing 15 to 11 in favor of the Slingers. Burnette, however, pulled himself together in the eighth, striking out three men in succession, disposing of the batters in short order in the ninth. The three runs the Slingers added in the last half of the eighth were not needed, the game resulting in an easy victory for the Slingers by 18 to 11.

The Slingers played a fine game all through, Ricketts, on second, although small of stature, letting nothing by, Donahue, with the willow, taking premier honors, and the base running of Sutherland and Gardner was fine. The redoubtable Wade, behind the bat, was very good. Gardner made a wild throw in the fourth, letting in two runs; but apart from this the Slingers were playing ball all the way through. Donahue, with the bat, showed up in brilliant style.

The Snowballs tried hard, and put up a good fight, but the odds went against them.

Both these teams played a double-header yesterday, the first being scheduled to start at 2 P. M. on the Hermitage ground. There was no scoring till the third inning, when the Snowballs got one man across the plate, and still another in the first half of the fourth. But in the second half of the same inning the Binders bunched some hits and passed them, going one better. The Snowballs again got on terms in the first half of the fifth, but the Binders put it to them in the last half of that inning with three more, adding another in the sixth, and winning comfortably by the score of 7 to 3.

Woods assisted materially in winning the game for the Binders.
