LYNCHBURG batted in her victory yesterday afternoon in the eighth inning of a game that was as pretty exhibition as one wanted to witness.

Still and Moser worked in the box, and the credit for the game goes against the "Colonel," and adds another laurel to the brow of the Mighty Moser for the Shoemakers. Moser allowed but two hits, one a clean one by Shaffer, and the other a bunt beaten out by Reeve.

Still was invincible until the eighth inning. Seven innings he had pitched and not a Shoemaker had drive a peg. But the eighth was the fatal inning, and before any one scarcely realized it, the visitors had scored three times and placed their monogram on the first of the series of games. In the ninth inning neither side could do anything, and the Lawmakers slipped a little bit nearer Danville, while the Shoemakers got further away from the platform upon which Norfolk is standing.

Moser and Still.

Reiss was to have pitched the game for the Shoemakers, and had been marked up on the list. But at the last moment, when it was found that Richmond was going to send Colonel Still in the box, Manager Grim and Captain McKevitt got together with the result that Moser was put on the slab. Then the grandstand got anxious, for every one realized that it would be a battle between two pitchers who have made reputations in this league. Moser was effective all the way through, and Still did good work with the exception of that eighth inning, when four men found him safely and batted two earned runs across the rubber. Long dropped a fly in right field and this made the third tally.

Lynchburg went to bat in the first inning, and Darringer sent a short fly to left that Boyd got under. Bowen dropped one down to Reeve, who threw wild to Shaffer and allowed the runner to nestle on second. But McKeevit and Reeve dropped them to the outfielders and the side was retired. Each outfielder got a ball in this inning. It was one, two, three with the Lawmakers in their half of the first.

Things went along nicely until the fourth inning, when after two men were out Colonel Still walked three men, filling the bases. It looked extremely dubious at this time, but Cook could no better than biff one to Reeve, who touched the second sack in time to make Stewart take the mourner's bench.

Shaffer got a hit in the second inning, but a fast double after this killed his chances of scoring, and when Reeve beat out a bunt in the fourth inning, Boyd ran over the second sack and was thrown out.

In regular order, with never a hit being chalked against him, the Colonel made the Shoemakers die for the first seven innings.

"It's another one of those no-hit games," yelled a rooter from the bleachers, and, indeed it looked this way.

Totman Started It.

Totman, the man who hasn't got a hit for the past twelve games, started the fun in the eighth. He lined one between Hicks and Reeve and landed on first. Moser, the mighty, sent a very hot one almost directly at Still. The ball passed over second, and Totman went to third on it. Daringer, with the two men on bases, biffed one for two sacks. Totman scored. Bowen singled, and Moser scored, and McKevitt lined one to Long and the ball was muffed. Daringer got caught at the plate from Siebrie to Hinton, but Bowen scored on Holt's drive to left. Bentley retired the side by sending one to Cuddy, who transferred it to first. The hits came together, everybody pasting the horsehide good and hard.

This was all, however, for the Shoemakers retired easily in the ninth. But the game had been won by them before they retired, and Moser had for the second time beaten Still.

Salve and Reiss To-Day.

Doran was not in the game yesterday, because of the fact that he didn't catch the train in Portsmouth in time to get here. He will be all right to-day, and will be in the outfield. The inability of the Lawmakers to find Moser's curves, coupled with the fact that the Shoemakers found Still all at once, is the answer to the question of yesterday.

To-day Salve, the southpaw for Richmond, will pitch against Reiss, the speedy man from Lynchburg.

On Saturday a double-header is to be played, and Moser and Still will again work against each other. Eckstone will pitch the first game Saturday, and Still will likely twirl against his terrible rival in the second exhibition.

Norfolk Finally Wins Out After Hard and Exciting Tussle.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., July 26.—It was nip and tuck to-day between Norfolk and Danville, the crew finally winning out by the score of 8 to 5. Early in the game Norfolk sandwiched juicy hits between raw errors made by the Danville outfielders, and seemingly had the game cinched, but in the seventh and eighth the visitors got busy and pushed four runs across the plate. One was earned. But they were unable to hold the crew down. The score:

ROANOKE-PORTSMOUTH.

Portsmouth Scored Her Only Run in the Third Inning.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ROANOKE, VA., July 26.—Roanoke started up hill again to-day, when they took the first of the series with Portsmouth by a score of 8 to 1. Smith and Kaufman were the opposing pitchers, and the former was invincible up to the eighth inning, the visitors not being able to connect safely with his delivery. Kaufman, on the other hand, was hit hard, and at opportune times, when hits meant runs.

Portsmouth scored their only run in the third inning. In the seventh Roanoke piled up five runs befort the first man was out, and, with three runs in the fifth, cinched the game, the entire nine men having a time at bat in this inning. McShane, the new third baseman, made his first appearance on the local diamond, and made a good impression on the local fans. The following is the score:

GREAT DAY ENDS BIG ORANGE SHOW

Crowds Thronged Housetops, Hillsides, Trees and Fences to See Events.

GENTLEMEN RIDERS FALL

Miss Gertrude Skelton Gets Handsome Cup—List of Chief Winners.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent.)

ORANGE, VA., July 26.—The Orange Horse Show closed this afternoon, after the most successful exhibition both in point of attendance and in excellence of class which has been yet held in this thriving and attractive town.

For hours before the first class was called the crowd began to flock toward the show ground, and by the time the band struck up "Dixie" there were probably 5,000 people on the grandstand, at the ring-side and in vehicles banked up three deep around the enclosure. On the fences and house-tops, on the hillsides and in the trees sat hundreds of people who were not able to gain better points of vantage.

It was a good-natured crowd, well ordered and merry, who received the awards of the judges with approval and cheered the winners heartily.

Two Falls.

Two gentlemen riders came to grief in the jump classes. Mr. Green Shackelford, in the local class, went down when "Rob Roy" fell, and Mr. Henry T. Holladay, Jr., riding "John L.," had a narrow escape from a serious injury when his horse went into the wing of the 5-foot jump and rolled head-over-heels. Mr. Holladay was bruised and shakened, but managed to limp out of the ring.

The hunt team, in which men in pink rode, was an event of which the crowd approved, as well as the pair of hunters' class, in which the jumpers were sent over the fences two abreast.

Miss Gertrude Skelton, of Richmond, riding Mr. Osborne's "Black Socks," won the ladies' hunter class, and received a handsome silver cup.

Mr. Randolph Howard's "Dr. Reid" captured the ladies' driving event in good style.

Drove Pair of Mules.

The comedy element of the day was furnished by Mr. Max Field, who drove a pair of rusty mules tandem in the park class. Mr. Field, sporting an ancient high white hat and accompanied by a bulldog, drove his mules at a hard gallop, amid the wild yells of the audience. He declined to leave the ring until he was awarded an honorary blue.

The Dupont prize for brood mares, suitable for hunters, was won in a walk by Mr. W. W. Sanford's thoroughbred "Dulcena," with whom there was no fault to find.

Orange Hunt Club, entered by Mr. Hudson, won in the team class in fast company.

One of the sensations of the show was the performance of Mr. A. Randolph Howard's "Royal Regent," a high actor, with great speed and rare finish. He simply smothered his class.

The five-foot jump event was won by "Firelight," and Mrs. Blair Johnson's "Robin Adair," an old favorite, won the park hack class.

The heavy draft stallion class was won by Castle Hill Stock Farm.

Principal Winners.

The principal winners, in the order of number of ribbons won, were:

Mrs. Allen Potts, 7 blues, 4 reds and 1 yellow.

A. Randolph Howard, 7 blues, 2 reds.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Johnson, 4 blues, 1 red.

The Oaks Farm, 3 blues, 5 reds, 2 yellows and 1 white.

F. W. Okie, 3 blues, 1 red, 1 yellow and 2 whites.

Miss Dupont, 2 blues and 2 reds.

W. W. Sanford, 2 blues, 2 reds and 1 yellow.

W. W. Osborne, 2 blues, 1 red, 2 yellow and 1 white.

Robert E. Cree, 2 blues and 1 yellow.

Herring & Meetze, 1 blue, 4 reds, 1 yellow and 1 white.

J. B. McComb, 1 blue, 2 yellows and 2 whites.

J. O. Hudson, 1 blue and 2 reds.

Charlottesville show, the next on the circuit, opens on Wednesday morning.

NOW IS THE TIME!
To-Morrow Makes No Promise to U.
Procrastination is the Thief of ALL Time.

He has stolen $500 from you in rent during the last few months, and the rent receipts—worthless bits of paper—in which this money was wrapped, is all you have left. Still you are waiting for a convenient season, which will never come! but your wiser neighbor has built a home, thus barred the door to this thief, and is now enjoying the comforts of life—the inevitable result of saving and properly investing money—all because he made the beginning.

Economy is the Road to Wealth. Begin To-Day and save the next month's rent, $10.00. "A penny saved is worth two earned." $6.00 will start you. Mortgage your clothes and get it.

NOTE THIS.—Two 4 per cent. contracts for sale. Come quick.
