TANNING INTEREST; WASHINGTON CO.

Tan Bark for the Asking, Hides to Be Tanned—Manufacturing Sites Cheap.

ABINGDON, VA., November 21.—There is evidence that the big tanneries of the country, as well as the smaller ones, are looking to the forests of Virginia for tanbark. The tendency of the times is for the manufacturer to seek a location close to the raw material. Along the line of the Virginia-Carolina Railway, which runs from here into the eastern section of Tennessee and down into the western part of North Carolina and penetrates the finest lumber regions of the South, there are all kinds of timber lands, which produce quantities of tanbark that is simply inestimable. Much of this bark goes to waste about the big sawmills and lumber factories along the line of the road. The tanbark can be obtained for a minimum cost, and then the valleys and the stock farms adjacent produce hides innumerable. Thus it is seen that the raw material of both kinds needed by big tanneries is right at the hand of the tanner.

The wide awake business men along the line of the Virginia-Carolina Railway are offering special inducements to capital that needs to be invested in the tanning business. The modern tanner will find here the tanbark world without end, and he will also find the hides to be tanned and all of the railway facilities he needs for getting his product to the market. There are no better openings for the tanner than are to be found in Washington county on the line of the Virginia-Carolina Railway.

DWELLING IS BURNED.

Syrians Barely Escape From Home With Their Lives.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SALISBURY, N. C., November 21.—By the explosion of a lamp in the home of A. B. Saleeby, a well-known Syrian merchant, here early this morning, his dwelling was burned and the family had a narrow escape from cremation. Nearly all the furniture in the house was burned. The loss is placed at $3,000, with $2,000 insurance. Members of the family, who were awakened by the flames, fled in their night clothing.

Another dwelling, owned by Dr. J. W. Carlton, was damaged to the amount of $2,000.

Begins His Sentence.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CEDARVILLE, VA., November 21.—Thomas F. Sager, the Frederick county distiller who was recently convicted of the illegal sale of liquor and sentenced to serve thirty-two months at work on the State roads and to pay a fine of $1,200, was carried yesterday at noon to Fauquier county, where he will begin serving his sentence.

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

School Improvement League Gives an Entertainment.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

EMPORIA, VA., November 21.—The concert given at the opera house last night under the auspices of the Emporia School Improvement League proved to be the biggest musical success ever witnessed in Emporia. The program was a diversified one, and the rendition of the various vocal and instrumental solos were received with unstinted applause, while the ensemble numbers were a revelation to lovers of music in this section. No more fashionable or representative audience has ever gathered in the local opera house.

TAKES DEEP ROOT.

Spotsylvania Citizens Active in Joint Monument Idea.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SPOTSYLVANIA, VA., November 21.—The move recently made here to petition the coming session of the Legislature of this State to enlist the favor and co-operation of both the Southern and Northern States in the appointment of a commission, composed equally of Northern and Southern men, whose duties shall be to solicit subscriptions to build a joint monument to the memory, valor and heroism of General Robert E. Lee and General Ulysses S. Grant, commanders-in-chief of the Southern and Northern Armies, has taken deep root among our citizens here, and J. P. H. Crismond, Thomas Stokeley Coleman, A. H. Crismond, Dr. William A. Harris, George W. Palmer, Joseph A. Pendleton, Dr. J. Glenroy Harris, James A. Harris and Robert A. Cammack have taken the matter in hand, and in a short time a memorial association will be formed and a plan of action formulated for bringing this matter before the States.

Accepts New Position.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

FREELING, W. VA., November 21.—Rev. L. M. Vanover, of Clintwood, has accepted the position of editor of a newspaper at Pikeville, Ky. The paper is to be changed from a political to a religious publication, and will be run in the interest of the Missionary Baptist Church. Mr. Vanover is a veteran newspaper man, having been engaged in editorial work at different points in Southwest Virginia.

Smithfield Notes.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SMITHFIELD, VA., November 21.—Mrs. B. West Tabb, of Newport News, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Underwood.

Mr. Artho Jordan, of Suffolk, spent several days in town last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Wilson have returned, after spending some time in Norfolk.

Mr. Theo. Barrow, Jr., of William and Mary College, has been at home for the past two weeks on account of illness.

Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Scott, who have been the guests of their daughter, Mrs. R. M. Hudson, of Norfolk, returned home Tuesday.

Miss Gale, of Richmond, is visiting Mrs. C. P. Jones.

Had Narrow Escape.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CEDARVILLE, VA., November 21.—George Hardy had a narrow escape from death in the freight yards of the Baltimore and Ohio, where he is employed. He was engaged in throwing a switch for a shift engine, when the cars struck the swatch bar in such a way as to knock it upwards and strike him in the face. An ugly gash was cut in his chin, and he was hurled senseless to the side of the track barely out of reach of the passing car. He was carried to his home, where he revived, and will be able to return to work in a short while.

Saltville Notes.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SALTVILLE, VA., November 21.—Mr. and Mrs. George P. Buchanan and little girl are visiting friends and relatives in Pittsylvania county, where they will remain for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mount have returned home after spending several weeks with their parents and friends in Central New York.

Miss Margaret McGavock, of Wythe county, is on a visit to her brother, Professor D. G. McGavock, of the Saltville graded school.

Shops for Erwin.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

BRISTOL, VA., November 21.—It is officially announced that the general shops of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railway, the new coal-carrying road now nearing completion between the Clinchfield coal properties in Virginia and Carolina points, will be located at Erwin, Tenn., near the North Carolina line. The site for the shops has been surveyed and the contract let for the construction of the necessary building. This work is to be rushed to completion for the reason that the new road will be in complete operation early in the coming year.

The announcement that the shops are to be located at the little town of Erwin has started a boom there. The prices of property have gone up suddenly, and the citizens of that picturesque mountain spot are anticipating that the time is not distant when Erwin will be one of the most important points on the new road.

Real Estate Active.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ETNA MILLS, VA., November 21.—Real estate has been on a boom in this section recently. In the Mangoblick neighborhood Mr. Thomas Cardwell has bought M. Ven. Southworth's property at $900. Twelve months ago Mr. Southworth paid $700 for it.

Mr. Charles J. Powell has sold his farm of sixty-two acres for $22.50 per acre. Twenty-two years ago it sold for $3 per acre.

The Sarah A. Powell house and lot was sold at public auction yesterday to J. E. Eubank, of Richmond, at $550.

Want Better Prices.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

BRISTOL, VA., November 21.—When the Bristol iron furnace closed down for repairs this week the Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co. had on its Bristol yards nearly a million dollars' worth of unsold pig-iron. C. W. Owen, the sales agent, states that his company is waiting for better prices before disposing of its Bristol iron. The company has just made some sales from its Crozier furnace at Roanoke at advanced figures, and it is confidently expected that the iron market will soon open briskly.

FLOURISHING CLIFTON FORGE.

New Church That Will Be an Ornament to a Wide-Awake Town.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CLIFTON FORGE, VA., November 21.—The Mathews & Curtis Co., of Clifton Forge, have closed the contract with the church authorities for the erection of a new Methodist sanctuary that will be an ornament to the town. It is understood that the edifice will be 94x107 feet, and will have a seating capacity of 1,500. Besides this splendid auditorium, there are to be twelve Sunday-school rooms, three lavatories and all the necessary committee rooms. The cost of the building will be about $35,000.

Will Resume Work.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SALISBURY, N. C., November 21.—It is reported here that work will be resumed on the big $10,000,000 water and electric plant at Whitney, on the Yadkin River, thirty miles from Salisbury, at no distant date. Plans are being formulated for raising $2,000,000 for the completion of the plant which will furnish electric power to a vast area in North Carolina. More than $5,000,000 have already been spent on the plant. Operations ceased on account of a receivership several months ago.

BIG ENTERPRISE FOR LEXINGTON, N. C.

One Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand Dollar Cotton Mill in Sight.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

LEXINGTON, N. C., November 21.—Lexington is beginning to feel the good effects of a revival of business. Money is easier and the general feeling in commercial and industrial circles is greatly better.

Mr. C. A. Hunt, Jr., is organizing a company to build and operate a mill for manufacturing colored cotton cloth with a capitalization of $125,000. The present plan is to erect a building for 10,944 spindles and accompanying machinery, but the first installation will be 5,208 spindles and 250 looms. Electricity will be used for driving the machinery if satisfactory terms are quoted by the local power company; if not, then a steam power plant will be installed. The mill will employ about 150 operatives when completed. Mr. Hunt expects to contract for the carding and spinning machinery in the near future, but will not begin constructing the mill building until next spring.
