WIRZ MONUMENT CAUSE OF SPLIT

Members of Georgia Division Reported at Odds Over Selection of Site.

SAVANNAH, GA., February 23.—Upon the desire of two, possibly three, Georgia cities to furnish a site for the monument to Captain Wirz, for whom it is claimed that he lost his life in the defense of the Confederate President, Jefferson Davis, rests the reason for the present fight among the members of the Georgia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, that has been caused by the monument question.

At the regular convention of the division in Savannah during the last week in October, 1908, after the partisan fight of cities had made it impossible for Andersonville, where Captain Wirz's service in the Civil War has placed the centre of the discussion his name has caused since the war closed, to be selected for his monument, Savannah delegates led a fight in favor of Richmond, and by a very close vote the old capital of the Confederacy was selected. However, the Georgia cities that had before wanted the monument kept after it, and now a called meeting of the division will take up the question of reconsidering its selection, and the monument may yet remain permanently on Georgia soil.

Several Strong Contenders.

It is very probable that those who voted for Richmond will, if Richmond is put out of the running, fight for Andersonville, though Americus, Macon and possibly Atlanta will be strong contenders. The called convention will be held in Atlanta March 11, and the meeting promises to be the most exciting the Georgia Division, U. D. C., has known. The question has caused a sharp division, many claiming that a reconsideration of the division's determination to place the monument at Richmond is now too late, that advances have been made to Richmond that cannot be retracted.

The monument is in the stone yard at Americus, where it was made. Dates have been set for its shipment to Richmond, and it was thought at one time that the shaft would be rushed out of the State and accepted in Richmond as one way to cut the Gordian knot the problem has tied. Against Andersonville it was urged that threats had been made, by negroes especially, that the erection of a monument to Captain Wirz there would be followed by rioting, and that the shaft would in all probability be injured, possibly destroyed, with grave trouble resulting.

How the Delegates Stand.

The delegates who want the monument for Georgia first, and their own cities next, will join in the fight against Richmond, with part of Andersonville's adherents. Most of the delegates from the Savannah district will probably lead the fight for the Virginia capital. That falling, they will join for Andersonville, and the prediction is made that the shaft will finally be placed at Andersonville, if Richmond's claim is turned down.

Members of the division are looking forward to the meeting in Atlanta with the expectation of a bitter fight. The monument question has stirred the division, and, in fact, the entire organization, as has no question stirred it in years. The alternate praise and calumny heaped upon Captain Wirz and the efforts of the Daughters of the Confederacy to show their belief in his high motives and his death as a martyr urged them to erect a monument in his honor. The quarrel that arose over a site has but augmented the feeling that has grown from the first of the Wirz agitation.

TAFT'S NEW SADDLE HORSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 23.—Tate Sterrett will be the name of President-Elect Taft's 1,200-pound saddle horse, after the man who sold it to him through General Edwards, chief of the Insular Bureau, Mr. Sterrett is proprietor of the Fassifern Farm at Hot Springs, Va. The animal is a six-year-old bay gelding, with black points.

The animal is broken to the saddle. He is by Forest Chief, out of a granddaughter of Old Sam Purdy. He has the best of manners and he is compactly put together like a hunting horse.

It is understood that Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio, who is one of Mr. Taft's warm friends, will ride Tate Sterrett in the inaugural parade.

company," added Mr. Rockwell, "and I have decided to take it. Preaching the Gospel does not pay. If I were a wealthy man I would stay in the ministry. But I am not. I am poor and I have to make money. I am now making $2,500 a year. I cannot live on it and keep my family as it should live, or maintain the style that I feel a minister's family should maintain.

"I have been offered a salary that reaches into five figures. Wouldn't you take it? I am speaking as a man, not as a minister.

"I believe it is the duty of every man to give his wife and children the very best advantages possible. I have been unable to do this in the ministry.

"Is there any one can say I should let my wife and children want for things they need in order that I can preach the Gospel to others? My duty is at home first. For this reason I am leaving the ministry."

Breaks Are Heavy.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

LYNCHBURG, VA., February 23.—The tobacco breaks aggregated about 250,000 pounds to-day, being somewhat larger than was anticipated yesterday by some of the warehousemen. The conditions surrounding the market remain as they have been for some time past, with lugs and fine leaf bringing good prices, but the medium grades being in demand only at prices that are lower when compared with fine leaf.

The offerings to-day were largely of the better grades and much of the tobacco was in good condition.

TOO POOR TO PREACH.

Minister Gives Up the Gospel to Sell Burr Wagons.

"I have been offered the management of the New England office of a
