New York Stock Market

New York, October 19.— sensitiveness of the stock market to-day to the prospect of an advance in the Bank of England discount rate to-morrow strengthened the conviction that borrowing abroad had been relied on to carry on the campaign for the rise. Discounts in London were conditional on the bank rate, the conviction being general that an advance would occur, but whether to 4 1-2 or 5 per cent. was left conjectural in the advances by cable. Another withdrawal of gold from the bank to the amount of $4,400,000 for shipment to Egypt and prospect of continued demand for Indian account made the ostensible ground for the expected action of the bank. The speculative contingent which has been following the advance in stocks on the assumption that it was organized and furthered by influential banking sources, was disturbed also by the doubt of how far distribution of stocks from these sources had been going on while they themselves were buying. Efforts to sell stocks developed that no demand existed at the higher range to which prices had been pushed, and concessions were found necessary in order to execute selling orders. The arbitrary way in which prices were marked up just as the market closed yesterday, followed by this withdrawal of demand to-day, begat the suspicion that an advantageous basis for selling stocks was all that was sought by yesterday's late manoeuvre. The final hour to-day saw a like bidding up of prices, but they gave way again.

The refusal of the Supreme Court of the petition for a rehearing of the Missouri River rate cases, which was neglected when first announced on Monday, has had further attention by reason of public discussion of its scope. The principles embraced in the decision in confirming the extensive powers over rates claimed by the Interstate Commerce Commission were deemed of great importance, and the matter was made the ground for some selling of stocks. Weakness in the London copper market took the edge off the new confidence felt in the trade position. Southern storm damage and forecasts of frosts in the cotton belt were cited as depressing factors.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,796,000. United States 4's coupon advanced 1-2 per cent. in the bid price on call to-day.

Total sales of stocks for the day were 642,200 shares.

New York, October 19.—Money on call steady, 3@3 1-2 per cent.; ruling rate, 3 1-4; closing bid, 2 1-2; offered at 3 per cent. Time loans firm, but very dull; sixty days, 4 1-2@4 5-8 per cent.; ninety days, 4 3-4@5; six months, 4 5-8@4 3-4.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 5 1-2@6 per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8275@$4.8280 for sixty-day bills, and at $4.8640 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.82 1-4@$4.82 1-2. Bar silver, 56 3-4. Mexican dollars, 45.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, October 19.—There were sensational fluctuations in the cotton market to-day, an early advance of about $1.50 per bale being followed by a break to practically the closing figures of yesterday, from which there was a moderate rally on covering with the close very steady at a net gain of 8@16 points for the day. The market opened firm at an advance of 13@17 points on the higher cables and unsettled weather along the Atlantic Coast. At first there seemed a disposition to believe that the low temperatures reported in the Northwest might work eastward rather than southward into the belt, and that the West Indian storm, would hug the coast instead of heading inland. There was consequently a good deal of selling on the early advance, but the trade interests were big buyers, and later demand became general following the Western felt forecast predicting frost in North Oklahoma to-night and reports from the Eastern belt indicated that the tropical storm was hurting the crop in South Georgia and was sweeping northward, causing heavy rains and high winds extending into the Carolinas. This advice carried prices 25@34 points above the closing figures of last night, with December selling at 14.61 and March 14.72. But there was continued heavy selling by brokers believed to be operating for some of the big long interests, and when the demand, inspired by the weather news had filled up, the market declined almost as rapidly as it had previously advanced. The selling attributed to interests who had been regarded as bull leaders, seemed to shake the confidence of the scattering long interest, and while there was no apparent change in the character of the news the market broke to a net loss of 5 points on October and to within a point or so of last night's closing prices on later months. The close was several points up from the lowest on renewed covering and reports of high winds in the Carolinas. Wire troubles as a result of the storm restricted the news from the South, and the few Southern spot markets from which reports were received early were generally unchanged to ⅛c. higher.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 66,873 bales against 57,624 last week and 54,000 last year. For the week 400,000 bales against 405,117 last week and 448,254 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 8,320 bales against 15,038 last year, and at Houston 21,645 bales against 6,355 last year.

Cotton futures opened firm and closed very steady.

New Orleans, La., October 19.—Cotton—Spot cotton firm and unchanged; middling, 14⅝c. Sales on the spot 1,050 bales and 1,200 to arrive. Futures opened steady. The market was very steady around the middle of the morning and the demand was strong enough to put the most active months 29@36 points over yesterday's close. Buying was stimulated to some extent by reports of damage along the Atlantic Coast by the hurricane, although later information was that it would not be great. Telegrams from Oklahoma said that it was rapidly growing colder, which intensified the effect of cold weather predictions. Toward the middle of the session longs began to offer considerable cotton, which checked the advance and brought about a reaction. In the afternoon session offerings from longs increased. It was said that the leading bull operators were lessening their lines. Futures closed fairly steady at a net advance of 10@17 points. Closing bids: October, 14.43; November, 14.32; December, 14.36; January, 14.34; March, 14.54; May, 14.67; July, 14.76.
