New York Stock Market

New York, January 18.—Certain characteristics of to-day's stock market gave color to the belief that manipulation forces are again active. The market lacked the broad support which has accompanied the recent enhancement of values, and many of the better known issues were under pressure during the greater part of the day. Extensive profit-taking was responsible in large part for the prevailing irregularity, a further explanation of which perhaps may be found in the undue prominence which seemed to be accorded to stocks of a class whose pool affiliations have frequently been a subject of criticism in the past. Readiness to accept offerings on slight concessions steadied the market and restricted fluctuations for the most part to comparatively narrow limits.

Reading was again something of a speculative football, selling off abruptly before it ascended to a new high level, and United States Steel was apparently offered freely at every attempt to advance the stock. The Harriman stocks, with the Hill issues, were off fractional. Rock Island common and preferred opened with some show of strength and activity, but later sunk into comparative obscurity. Pennsylvania and New York Central were at no time especially strong, particularly the former. Norfolk and Western, one of yesterday's speculative features, was dull and relatively heavier, presumable on intimations that recent talk of an increase in the dividend rate is at least premature. Prices held firm in the early afternoon, with the usual period of dullness, but in the final hour another buying movement in the coalers sent Reading and Lehigh Valley up to highest prices, with concurrent gains in other standard stocks. In the final trading, however, profit-taking brought some recessions, and the closing was generally unsettled.

The day was a record-breaker for many months in the bond market. Sales of Norfolk and Western convertible 4s, and American Telephone and Telegraph convertibles, American Tobacco 4s and Rock Island collateral trust issues were on an enormous scale, and comprised the greater part of the day's operations. Total sales, par value, $5,960,000.

Total sales for the day, 894,100 shares.

Bar silver, 53 5-8. Mexican dollars, 45.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, January 18.—The cotton market was more active and firmer to-day on bullish foreign trade advices, claims of a better spot demand in the South, and bullish rumors from Memphis as to probable ginning returns next Monday. Closing prices were at practically the best point, and firm at a net advance of 9@19 points. The market opened steady at an advance of 5@10 points, generally 3@5 points higher in response to better cables than expected, larger Liverpool spot sales and private advices attributing the Liverpool strength to bullish trade account and the publication of a circular by leading English authorities confirming their original crop estimate of 11,000,000 bales, and their estimate of 12,000,000 bales for consumption, providing the cotton be available. The initial advances here attracted a renewal of local bear pressure, which caused some early irregularity, but offerings were very readily taken, owing to the big demand for the near months from trade interests, some bull support for the latter spring or summer positions and covering by those that had shorts. After showing a net gain of about 12@16 points there was a reaction of 3 or 4 points under realizing but the market rallied up again later on continued support from trade interests and bullish private spot advices from the South, reaching the best point during the last few minutes. Some of the early selling was supposed to be based on reports of further rains in the Southwest and the talk of delay in the mill situation, which included report that South Carolina spinners had voted for four weeks' curtailment between now and the end of the season, while late in the day it was rumored that New England spinners would vote for a curtailment of about 25 per cent.

Exports continued liberal and private wires from the South reported a good demand for cotton on the spot abroad. Southern markets officially reported earlier were unchanged to 1@16c. higher. Latest rumors as to the probable amount of cotton ginned between January 1 and 13 places it at about 1,700,000 bales.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 9,279 bales against 6,621 last week and 20,741 last year. For the week 76,016 bales against 53,[illegible] last week and 96,[illegible] last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 2,[illegible] bales against 5,262 last year, and at Houston 13,921 bales against 5,740 last year.

Cotton futures opened steady and closed firm.

New Orleans, La., January 18.—Cotton—Spot cotton steady and unchanged; middling 14 15-16c. Sales on the spot 1,100 bales and 700 to arrive. Futures opened steady at an advance of 2@3 points on good cables. The Liverpool future market was higher than due and increased demand for spots were noted. Bullish traders who sold yesterday circulated much discussion of a character tending to hold prices, but at the end of the first hour the trading month were 8@9 points over yesterday's close. March exhibited the most strength. In the afternoon the market was very steady in spite of heavy liquidation of the long account. A prominent Texas trader, according to the gossip of the market, has sold out to-day and yesterday over 20,000 bales in this market. These offerings and more have been absorbed, and prices have advanced in the meanwhile. The market closed steady at an advance of 17@18 points. Closing bids: January, 14.92; February, 14.95; March, 15.24; July, 15.24; August, 14.78; October, 13.38.
