DANVILLE PROVES EASY FOR BUFFALO

Eastern Leaguers Win Pretty Exhibition by Score of 6 to 1.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Danville, Va., April 10.—With Danville leading until the fifth inning here this afternoon, the Buffalo team, of the Eastern League, landed on Pitcher Krause in that inning, and before the third man was put out sent four runs across the plate. The locals started off with Pitcher Hanks, who pitched superb ball, and was taken out only in order that the other men signed by Danville might be given a showing. Krause succeeded Hanks, and he, in turn, was succeeded by Eastman. The visitors landed for two more runs in the eighth, the local being unable to score after the first inning.

Except for the fifth inning, the game was a pretty exhibition.

Buffalo .....0 0 0 0 4 0 0 2 0—6 6 1

Summary: Earned runs—Buffalo, 2; Danville, 1. Double plays—R. Morgan to R. H. Morgan; Henline to Riley. Struck out—by Malarkey, 4; by Vowinkle, 4; by Hanks, 4. Bases on balls—off Malarkey, 1; off Hanks, 2; off Krause, 4; off Eastman, 1. Stolen bases—Starr (2), Riley, R. Morgan. Hit by pitcher—Killifer, McDonald. Left on bases—Buffalo, 2. Three-base hits—R. Morgan, Smith. Two-base hits—Heline, Sharpe. Sacrifice hits—Sharpe, Killifer. Time of game, 2 hours. Attendance, 2,000. Umpire, Lea.

WHITE'S PITCHING FEATURE GAME

Dartmouth Unable to Hit Sixteen-Year-Old Twirler of Eastern College.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Manassas, Va., April 10.—Eastern College defeated the strong Dartmouth College team to-day, 1 to 0, in the greatest game ever played in Manassas. White, the sixteen-year-old wonder, was on the firing line for Eastern, and had the Hanover boys at his mercy at all times. Dartmouth just could not hit him, only two hits being secured, one a pop, back of short, which Hill should easily have handled, but he lost it in the sun. In the ninth, Olson was sent in to bat for Haban, who had fouled every time up, and he hit safely. Here Dartmouth put up a howl and wanted to substitute a runner for Alsop, who had stolen second in great style. This was not granted, and the game went on. Donohue ended the game by flying to Kibler.

White had Dartmouth under control all the time, not a man reaching third base. Eastern was greatly handicapped by the loss of First Baseman Curry, who is the heaviest hitter on the team. Curry was hurt Saturday in the game with Colby here. The entire Eastern team played in great form. The outfield did not have any chances to show, since White had the Dartmouth sluggers at his mercy. Boufford, who was shifted from left to first base, played the bag well. Mabry kept up his good work and caught White in great shape.

For Dartmouth, Ekstron pitched a good game, but was not as strong as White. Eastern securing five clean hits off his delivery.

Dartmouth .....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 2 1
Eastern .....0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 *—1 5 3

Batteries: Dartmouth—Steen and Ekstron; Eastern—Mabry and White. Time of game, 1:30. Umpire, Mr. Adamson.

V. P. I. SHOWS LACK OF PRACTICE

Team Defeated Again by St. John by Score of 7 to 2.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Blacksburg, Va., April 10.—In a poorly played game, marked by frequent errors on both sides, the St. John's team won another victory from V. P. I. here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 2. The visitors got a lead of three runs in the first inning, which they increased by one in each alternate inning until the end.

The Techs showed the lack of practice they have been unable to get on account of bad weather.

Morsen, of St. John, hit a three-bagger, the only feature of the game.

Batteries: V. P. I.—Hodson, Coxe and Legge; St. John—Wilson, Tolston and Noble. Umpire, E. Hodgson.

"NANCIES" IN FIRST GAME.

Three Pitchers Tried Out and Dendron Is Defeated.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Suffolk, Va., April 10.—In its first exhibition game of the season, Suffolk, of the Tidewater League, to-day beat Dendron, 10 to 3. The "Nancies," the official nickname of the Suffolk team, tried out three pitchers and two catchers. To-morrow Suffolk plays the receiving ship Franklin, and Wednesday and Thursday a team from Washington.

BANIVES TAKES FEATURE EVENT IN CLOSE FINISH

Captures Atlantic Hotel Stakes by a Head From the Golden Butterfly.

Norfolk, Va., April 10.—Banives, a 9-to-20 favorite, in the Atlantic Hotel stakes at Jamestown track this afternoonfl, captured the stake by a head from The Golden Butterfly, the 5-to-1 outsider. Michael Angelo, the 4-to-1 second choice, was third. Only three horses faced the starter.

Baby Wolf, the 7-to-10 favorite in the first event, won handily. The weather was fine, and the sun dried out the track, so that fair time was made. The going should be fast by Wednesday. Summaries:

BUNTING LIKELY TO JOIN RICHMOND

Player Had Rather Play in Virginia League Than Loaf With Washington.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, D. C., April 10.—Dave Bunting, the Ursinus collegian, now a member of the Nationals, will likely be sent to Richmond, in the Virginia League, in a few days, says the Washington Times to-day. The Richmond management has been seeking for two weeks to get some final word as to Bunting, and McAleer will notify it in a day or two.

Bunting shows plenty of class round that third bag, his one weakness being a tenderness about putting the ball on the runner coming into the bag. However, this fault can be quickly remedied, and he is bound to appear again in the big show. Not for any weakness is Bunting being let go to Richmond, but rather that there is no room for him with the Nationals, with Germany Schaefer and "Wid" Conroy on the job to fill in wherever there may be need in the infield. Bunting would stand small chance of getting into a game in the big show. He would be a bench warmer, pure and simple.

The lad wants to play ball, and has a wise head on his young shoulders. He realizes that a season in the Virginia League will do him more good than a season on the Nationals' bench. After finishing the campaign with Richmond he will be brought back to Washington, and may be used in some of the closing battles of the season.

CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON BEGINS

John Marshall and McGuire's Start in a Game at Byrd Park This Afternoon.

The first game for the interscholastic championship of Richmond will be played this afternoon at Byrd Park between McGuire's School and the John Marshall High School. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

McGuire's has an unusually strong team this year. Already the prep. school has taken the measure of Woodberry Forest, Union Theological Seminary and William and Mary.

At John Marshall High School prospects are not so bright. But three of last year's men are back at school. They are Montgomery, at short; Robins, at first, and Padgett in left field. Notwithstanding this fact, Coach Stubbs, a former star at Johns Hopkins University, has hopes of winning the game.

He has had a wealth of material to work from, and he has been drilling the boys in the finer points of the game whenever the weather was such as to allow them to get out in the open. Hoover is regarded as a likely boy for the backstop position, and he can pitch, too. Gentry and Bass, with Brandenburg, are among the other candidates for box positions.

Warwick will doubtless be seen at right, while Pulley looks best for centre garden. Blanton will be at second, with Ancarrow at third. Manager Anderson is hopeful of capturing the game to-day, even though his team has had very little opportunity to practice. The High School team will go to Emporia Friday, where games will be played that day and Saturday and Monday with the Emporia team.

Pitches No-Hit Game.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Woodstock, Va., April 10.—Massanutten Academy defeated Middletown Agricultural College, here to-day, 23 to 2. Marston, the eighteen-year-old pitcher for Massanutten, pitched a no-hit game, and struck out fifteen.

Batteries: Marston and Hazlett; Perry, Hutcheson, Campbell and C. Fry.

SHAFTS FROM SPORTLAND

By GUS MALBERT.

The game yesterday was by far the best the Colts have played. Cut out the eighth and ninth innings and not a prettier contest will be witnessed this season. Pierce started to work like he meant it, and he lived the part all the way through the five innings he was in the box. Only four hits were made off of him and he passed but one man. There is no question that much of the credit for this work is due to Sullivan, who was on the job all of the time, steadying Pierce and running the game at every stage, and this without intending to disparage the very excellent work done by Pierce.

The three runs scored off Pierce were not due to any weakness on his part. The two in the fourth were the result of errors by Martin and Egan, and not the result of any hitting rally. The one in the fifth came after a base on balls, which in reality was the only score to which the visitors were entitled until the batting fest of the eighth.

Many in the grandstand were of the opinion that Pender was considerably off in some decisions. In the eighth, for instance, there was a loud groan when Bradley was called safe after overrunning second. From where I sat it looked as if he was safe, but, after all, close decisions of that nature are largely a matter of judgment. Bob was not as good as he usually is, but it would be stretching it to say that any of his decisions affected the result. Verbout was batted for eight hits in two innings and passed one, which is enough to win a ball game usually.

I suppose that Sullivan is working on Martin to get him to cover third base when Baker goes up to field a bunt. On at least two occasions yesterday runs could have been stopped had there been some one on thirs to take the throw. Instead the bag was left wide open and Martin stood still with his hands on his hips. Neither did the pitcher stand to the rear to back up the man taking the throw. I guess somebody is going to say that this is unfair criticism. It isn't, nor is it made in a spirit of unfairness. It is just one of the things that must be remedied before the season begins, and I have no doubt that Sullivan is going to do it. In fact, I know that he is continually drilling the men along these lines.

The story from Washington that McAleer is now likely to let Bunting come to Richmond rather than have the ambitious youngster warm teh bench in the capital city will be welcomed by the fans. McAleer has Conroy and Schaffer to use as infield utility men, and he doesn't see how he can possibly make use of Bunting. On the other hand, Bunting is anxious to play ball, and he is doubly anxious to be on the same team with his side partner, Dobson. With Bunting at third Sullivan could shift Martin to second and put Baker back at short. Bunting would also make a mighty good man to lead off the batting procession. He is fast and hit pretty well here last season. Baker is probably the best second man in the Virginia League. And what an infield we would have with Dobson on first, Martin at second, Baker at short and Bunting at third. Wow! It sounds almost too good to be true.

I heard last night from the camp of the faithful that Manager Sullivan has been thinking seriously of shifting George Cowan to first base in the event that "Truck" Egan should fall down. Of course, this would be temporary. But George has demonstrated his ability to play anywhere he is put, and he is the most cheerful individual in this regard in this section of the country. I verily believe that Cowan wants to be in the game every minute. Such a temporary change would not be unwelcomed by the fans.

Another little bit of information which came floating through the ambient was to the effect that Sullivan would try to land young Matt Killifer, son of the Matt who was a great player in his day. Killifer, Jr., lives in Philadelphia, and is recommended in the highest terms by Harry Davis, captain of the Athletics and hero around Philly these days. It is understood that a letter has been sent to the Quaker City asking the youngster his terms.

Egan and Mattis were the sluggers yesterday, both getting two apiece, and one of Truck's was for two sacks. Mattis drove in a run with his hit. McCabe hit one for two bases the first time up, and the other times he drove the ball so far that if the Toronto crowd had not been on the lookout he would have had some more to his credit. Every single, solitary man for the visitors got as many as one hit with the exception of Mullen and Mueller. Jordan led them all with three to his credit.

In figuring up the batting averages yesterday Lodge was credited with only two hits. He should have had three, which brings his average up to .250. I am sorry the mistake occurred, and, as it is purely mine, I take this opportunity of correcting it. Lodge is a great backstop, and he is going to improve right along.

One man tried to steal on Sullivan yesterday and he was nailed a mile from the bag. Some wing that manager of ours has got.

Just to make me feel badly Mattis came back so strong that I am almost inclined to change my opinion. The fact of the matter is that it does little harm to point out the faults. Some ball players get sore when they are criticized; others are glad of it and take advantage of the criticism, if it is offered in a kindly spirit. It is the latter kind of ball player that invariably succeeds.

Right now the Richmond team is about 50 per cent. stronger than it was this time last year, and when Sullivan is through with his pruning knife and has tighted up at the right places he, together with every fan in Richmond, will have just cause to be proud of the Colts. It is remarkable to see the change of front in those who started out with the assertion that Richmond would not have a team. In all of the gathering places where fanning bees are the order of the day may be heard complimentary remarks of the team and of the manager and of the owner. People are realizing that every promise is being lived up to.

Wake Forest whipped Richmond College 6 to 1, and I am sorry. Better luck to-day, fellows, so cheer up.

McAleer has done exactly right in regard to Walter Johnson, and the Washington fans, as much as they regret to see their star twirler out of action, are standing by the management. This decision should have a salutary effect upon the unreasonable demands of some ball players. All Johnson demands is $7,500 for this season and a three-year contract for $9,000 afterwards. What would you rather be than the champion strike-out artist of the world?

Down at Marlin Springs, Tex., where Johnny McGraw had his Giants in training, was "Cy" Forsyth, drafted from the Pekin, Ill., team. Though every one speaks of McGraw as Johnny, despite the fact that he is old enough to be plain John, most of his youngsters have great respect for his gray hairs and speak to him respectfully as Mr. McGraw. Excusing the gray hairs Christy Mathewson is just as much the object of the youngsters' respect.

"Cy," however, was no respecter of either greatness or gray hairs. He had played ball in Pekin, Ill., and he had led his league at the bat, doing something over .400 with the stick. He kept up the work at Marlin and on the trip around Texas. Right-handers, left-handers, subway artists, spitters, or cross-fire experts, all looked alike to him. His favorite expression was "Goldarn my hittin' soul," and he lived up to it.

Matty did not report to the club until some time after the fellows were in condition, and "Cy" was looking for him. All of the time he was pineing to get at Matty. Then the mighty one arrived. He was in great trim and he got on the mound and cut loose. The other youngsters were mowed down like ripe wheat before the scythe. Not so with Cy.

"Stick her over, Matty," he cried, "and then for the love of Mike duck your nut." True to his word he hit that horsehide, and they do say that somewhere along the alkali plains the ball is quietly resting.

Cicotte, one of the stars of the Boston club, was another victim of Cy's prowess with the ash. Cicotte went up against the Westerner and had pitched four over—two balls and two strikes. His curves had been breaking beautifully. Cy looked at him a minute and then yelled, "Put the next one over and I'll knock your bloomin' block offen your head." Cicotte put it in the same place, and then they took him to the hospital. Cy lived up to his promise and soaked the Beaneater an awful crack.

Probably the funniest one pulled by the Pekin lad was when they were about to leave Marlin. Everybody was at the train ready to start. Cy hunted for McGraw, and here is the dialogue when they met:

"Say, Mc., my grip's gone."

"What's that to me?"

"Aw gwan, kiddo. I ain't been around here all dis time widout knowin' whose de manager of dis team. Where's my grip?"

"Don't keep telling me that stuff. What do you want me to do?"

"Cut it, Mc., cut it. I want you to get my grip. Dat's what I want."

And John McGraw, highest salaried baseball manager in the world, bowed deferentially, and replied, "All right, Mr. Forsyth, it will give me great pleasure to try and find your suit case."

With all of his freshness Cy was popular. He was left in Dallas and will be a drawing card. McGraw was sorry he could not get him to Richmond, because he likes Richmond and would be glad to have the youngster closer to New York.

MILLER SCHOOL DEFEATED.

Easy Victory for Fishburne, Score Being 14 to 1.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Waynesboro, Va., April 10.—Fishburne easily defeated Miller School today by the overwhelming score of 14 to 1. Poor fielding by the visitors was responsible for the walkover. Bragg, for Miller, was hit hard by the cadets. Coach Fetzer, not wishing to overwork Fravel, allowed him to pitch only seven innings, in which time he gave only three hits, twenty-five men coming to the plate, and only one player reaching third. Stevens, for Fishburne, featured with four hits, one of them a home run.

Batteries: Fishburne, Fravel, Woods and Moore; Miller, Bragg and Woods. Three-base hits, Fravel, Home run, Straens. Left on bases, Fishburne, 10; Miller, 3.

Too Much Water on the Hair a Mistake

(From Toilettes of To-day, Paris.)

"If your hair is becoming dry and brittle, breaking off and losing color, follow the lead of the many who have taken up the new method of dry shampooing," said Claribel Montague in her lecture on "Beauty" at the Theatre Monet, Thursday. "It has been proven that too frequent wetting the hair is a mistake.

"Even those who were devoted to shampooing with eggs now use therox and orris root, and they declare that this dry shampoo makes the hair as bright and fluffy as ever did eggs.

"To make the dry shampoo mix four ounces of powdered orris root with four ounces of therox. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of the mixture on the head and brush it well through the hair. Do this once or twice a week if the hair is thin and scanty, and you will soon notice a new growth of hair. Nothing makes the hair so beautifully fine and lustrous as this dry shampoo."
