FINANCIAL NEWS IS UNFAVORABLE

Hill's Remarks About Condition of Bond Market Discouraging to Investors.

MARKET IS UNINTERESTING

Fluctuations in Leading Issues Largely Fractional—Losses in Industrials.

BY BROADAN WALL.

New York, October 31.—Conditions that permit of a 10 per cent rate for call money in Wall Street with speculation at the minimum certainly need reformation.

It is generally admitted that there is no scarcity of funds, the high rate of to-day merely representing a lack of facilities for arranging credits over the first of the month.

It is considered unfortunate that the financing of the $31,000,000 Interboro loan should have been set for November 1. The situation is complicated by fear that the income tax will be deducted several times from coupons in the course of collection.

News in the financial world was mainly unfavorable. James J. Hill's remarks about the water-logged condition of the bond market was discouraging to investors, and the announcement that France would begin preparations for a $260,000,000 government loan did not encourage foreign bankers. The sharp rise in call money rates was reflected in the market for foreign exchange and sterling bills fell twenty points to 4.85, at which New York can draw gold, should bankers feel so disposed.

No further gold engagements for Canada were announced, but banks again lost heavily to the sub-treasury, the drain for the week now aggregating $6,000,000. To-morrow's bank statement will apparently show a loss in cash of $2,000,000. The heavy shifting of loans that occurred during the week will attract unusual attention to the weekly showing.

Dull and Uninteresting.

To-day's stock market proved dull and uninteresting. Fluctuations in the leading issues were largely fractional, with further losses in the industrial issues. Snuff dropped 4 points, Mexican Petroleum lost 7, and declines of from 1 to 2 points occurred in Republic Iron and Steel preferred, Twin-City, Beet Sugar, American Locomotive, Colorado Fuel, Sears-Roebuck and Western Maryland. Reading, second preferred, lost 6 points from the last previous sale.

New York Central in its statement of September earnings showed an increase in gross earnings of $754,000 and net $278,000. But the subsidiary companies, notably the Big Four, reported heavy decreases. The street accepted the figures as an illustration of bookkeeping, where the parent was getting rich at the expense of the children.

Lehigh Valley decreased $251,000 net, Delaware-Lackawanna decreased net $48,000, Rock Island lines lost $30,000 net, the Seaboard Air Line increased net $87,000.

London prices for American securities ruled lower before our opening. Foreign markets were extremely dull and arbitrage transactions purely nominal. Private cables indicated a pessimistic feeling on the immediate outlook for the copper market.

Bankers, investment brokers, and trust officials have their hands full in attempts to explain to anxious clients the operation of the income tax. Many investors are withholding coupons from collection until it can be determined that they will not be taxed two or three times over before collection.

Speculation is practically at a standstill. That prices did not recede when call money touched 10 per cent is taken to indicate that speculatively the stock market is sold out, and would probably respond quickly to any favorable turn in the news.

New York, October 31.—With call money fluctuating between 7 and 10 per cent to-day speculators were not inclined to deal heavily in stocks. The rate rose to 10 per cent, the highest of the year. Offerings were then enlarged and the market relaxed. The high point to-day marked the highest rate for call money since last December, when 12 per cent was quoted. Bankers spoke of the flurry as only of passing importance, due to conditions unusual at this season, with the November 15 payment out of the way. It is expected that the market will relax to normal basis. The effect of collections for the November settlement was increased by the calling of loans to arrange for payment of $25,000,000 Interborough Rapid Transit 5s called for payment on November 1. There was a tightening of rates for time funds. In the face of these conditions the bond market held the stock market acquitted itself well.

Speculative sentiment was again decidedly pessimistic. Attacks on Mexico formed the opening unfavorable influence. New York Central's decrease in net earnings of $1,000,000 in September net earnings and Lehigh Valley falling off for the month $251,000 tended to depress the railroad list. New Haven converted its 6s into 3½s. Money offered in spots in the bond market, but business in general was dwarfed by the settlement in general. Sales, par value, $1,000,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales, par value, $1,000,000.

New York, October 31.—Money on call strong at [illegible] closing, [illegible]. Time loans [illegible] days, 4@4½; ninety days, [illegible]; six months, [illegible]. Prime mercantile paper [illegible]. Sterling exchange weak at [illegible] for sixty-day bills and at 4.85 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.84[illegible]. Bar silver, [illegible]. Mexican dollars, 38c. Government bonds steady, railroad bonds heavy.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, October 31.—The cotton market recovered a good part of yesterday's decline during to-day's trading, covering by a few belated October shorts sent up price of that position back to 14c, and the rest of the list sold 17@22 points net higher on an active demand from recent sellers. News bearing upon the crop was somewhat conflicting, but there were reports that spinners had bought cotton freely on yesterday's decline, and the late advance was encouraged by a bullish view of week-end figures combined with reports of steadier Southern spot markets. The close was firm and at practically the best point of the day, or 16@22 points above the closing figures of Thursday. Trading in October ended at midday, and the final evening-up of that position was accomplished around 13.90.

New Orleans, October 31.—The cotton market to-day recovered the loss it made yesterday. Sellers of yesterday early tried to take profits, but found that their purchases put prices up, then they lost the idea of profits and tried to get back their position without paying losses. This buying of covers by the short side gave the market a very steady undertone and kept it at the advance throughout the session. At the highest the trading months were [illegible] points over yesterday's close.

The market opened steady at a rise of 2@6 points on buying orders from shorts. Cables were no better than due, and the weather map was called favorable as no rain fell, and it was not considered that low temperatures would retard picking. Prices made quick response to the morning, in the morning session prices at their highest were [illegible] points up. The close was practically at the highest levels, the trading months showing a net gain of [illegible] points. The tone on the close was steady. In the afternoon the large bill takings for the week were a help to the market. Here not taking at [illegible] bales against 402,000 this week last year.

The exchange will be closed to-morrow because of All Saints' Day, a legal holiday in Louisiana.

Spot cotton quiet and unchanged; middling, 13.[illegible]c. Sales on the spot 249 bales and 200 to arrive. Cotton futures closed: November, 13.[illegible]; December, 13.[illegible]; January, 13.[illegible]; March, 13.74; May, 13.79 bid; 13.83.

It Hasn't Been Long

since a resident of North Carolina (who has rounded up a fortune) came to see us and said he had made up his mind to make a will and have this company handle his estate. (The will is now being drawn.)

When a thing like this occurs, who blames us for having a feeling of gratification?

"FAITHFUL" SOON MAY BE REWARDED

Senators Martin and Swanson Discuss Probable Appointments With Secretary McAdoo.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, D. C., October 31.—A visit which Senators Martin and Swanson made to the Treasury Department to-day, at which time they discussed with Secretary McAdoo, it is understood, the appointments of Peyton St. Clair and R. L. C. Moncure, to be collectors of internal revenue for the two Virginia districts, and Norman R. Hamilton for collector of customs, gave rise to considerable speculation as to whether some good Federal plums would not be dropping soon for the "faithful" in Virginia, who have waited patiently for something to come their way. An hour was spent with Secretary McAdoo, but after the conference neither of the Virginia Senators seemed inclined to take the public into confidence regarding what transpired. It is known, however, that it may not be much longer until a number of Virginia appointments will be made. There have been good reasons for not shaking the plum-tree in Virginia very vigorously up to the present time, but if information which is now available here counts for anything, the list of nominations sent to the Senate soon will contain the names of several Virginia aspirants.

In Virginia, as elsewhere, it has been the purpose of the President to have all the Congressmen and the two Senators come together and agree upon the appointees whenever this was possible. The same thing has been done in other States with good results. When a delegation would be divided and its members were told that nothing would be forthcoming until such division was healed, the result has frequently been beneficial. The men who want the places have been eager to have all the members of their delegations agree so that something might be accomplished.

To-day's visit to the Treasury is viewed by those who know the Virginia situation to be of consid
