WHITTED'S LONG DRIVE WINS GAME FOR TRUCKERS

Most Distant Wallop of the Season Scores Final Tally in Eighth Inning.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., August 31.—Whitted's long drive over the right field fence, the most distant wallop of the local season, gave the Truckers a 4 to 3 decision over Newport News this afternoon.

All of the visitors' runs resulted from a circuit clout, for Walters fenced the ball in the sixth inning, it was gone on. Portsmouth tied the score in the same inning on a pass, two singles, a sacrifice fly and an infield hit.

Craft, a local amateur, made his debut with Portsmouth and showed well both in field and at the bat. The score:

CRAWFORD SLUGS THE BALL

NEW YORK, August 31.—"Wahoo" Sam Crawford slugged the Tigers to victory over the Yankees in the first game today, and Fisher outpitched Oldham to win the second.

The first affair went thirteen innings, ending, 9 to 8, when Crawford caught one for the circuit with two on bases.

The Yankees rolled up a six-run lead in the first two innings, only to be tied in the sixth, when Brown was driven from the box, and seventh, when Cole received a like dose.

New York won the second, 3 to 2, in seven innings, when darkness ended the contest. Scores:

AMUSEMENTS

Bijou Theatre—"The Auto Girls," matinee and night.

Empire Theatre—Lucille La Verne Company in "The Rainbow," matinee and night.

Lyric Theatre—Popular vaudeville, matinee and night.

Superior Theatre—Pictures.

At the Bijou.

With an audience that literally overflowed and with many prospective purchasers of tickets turned away at the door because of police and fire inhibitions regarding standing room, the Bijou, once more under the personal management of Charles L. McKee, opened its doors last night as the home of burlesque in Richmond, burlesque with its fangs drawn, it is true, but burlesque, nevertheless.

"The Auto Girls," one of the many companies of the Columbia Amusement Company, a subsidiary to the two wheels, the Eastern and Western, controlling burlesque companies in this country, was the opening attraction. Almost everybody was pressed, certain it is that so far as publicity of people who attended the premier left with smiles upon their faces and the very positive opinion that they had been given an evening of fun and frolic. There were some, quite an inappreciable few, who had contounded the word "burlesque" with "license," and this few, disappointed at not hearing and seeing things that might in politeness be called vulgar, left the theatre wondering just what "burlesque" means.

Women there were in untold numbers; indeed, there were quite as many women in the audience as men, and the very best that can be said for the performance is that nothing was said and nothing done that could possibly offend the most straitlaced observer. Therein probably lies the one weakness of the performance, and it is a pardonable weakness, if such it may be described. Bluntly it was a clean and simple musical show, though probably much less offensive than the average musical production that bids for popular favor.

Whether by design or accident, the costume were never and fresher than those seen on the ordinary road company. There was enough and "pep" to the girls in the chorus that showed one of two things—either they were fresh upon the tour or they really enjoyed the work that has been mapped out for them. As for us, we subscribe to the latter view. The lines, while at times bordering on antiquity, were spoken in such a manner as to bring laughs and applause from the audience, and what would you have more than that?

It is certainly good amusement, is "The Auto Girls," and that's what it was designed for. Faults may be found, and who is the one, when a crowd of nearly 1,500 people eat there more than two hours and fanned their fond off, if Charles Stewart, James O'Hallen and Jerry Seymour carry off the comedy honors, the first named being a Hebrew comedian of more than ability, the second named a Weedy straight, and the last named a German. They pleased the crowd.

The women also acted, though Sallie Stewart looked good at times. Just why they are called the "Auto girls" is inexplicable, unless that in the first chorus they sing or attempt to sing with a horn attached. It's good fun, and will doubtless attract large crowds all week. A. M. C.

At the Empire.

The Lucille La Verne Company, with Mary Miles Minter in the title role, pleased a well-filled house at the Empire last night with its presentations of "The Rainbow," Henry Miller's greatest success. Handsome, dainty and petit, the star soon won the hearts of her audience, while Edward Arnold, in the Henry Miller role, with capable support from others in the caste, was all that could be desired in a leading man.

One of the most recent plays from the pen of A. E. Thomas, "The Rainbow," is destined to have a successful run in Richmond in the hands of the Lucille La Verne Company. The play is well worth while, telling in a natural way the story of a reconciliation brought about between parents by the sacrifice of their pride for their love of a girl—"The Rainbow."

Scenically, the production is up to the standard. A. D. J.

At the Lyric.

While the current bill at the Lyric Theatre contains no act or acts that would set the town to talking, the offering for the first three days of the week is an average one, and, being well-balanced, should prove a good drawing card. It was well received yesterday by three capacity audiences.

Little Lord Roberts, billed as the world-famous midget comedian, occupied the stellar position on the bill, and gave a clever Lilliputian act, which was unique in its variety, giving the little fellow an opportunity to display his versatility in several roles.

Dunn and Dean, in a rapid-fire sketch, "A Few Minutes in Vaudeville," opened the bill. Dunn is a clever comic, and Miss Dunn proved a pretty young woman with a voice and nimble feet.

Billed as "Vaudeville's Favorite Entertainers," Pearl and Rath offered an act which livened up the end.

The Connelly sisters, Mae and Bell, two sprightly young women, made a decided hit in their offering of a series of topical songs, due principally to the good looks of one and the buffoonery of the other.

The bill closes with Merlin's Cockatoos, which was a beautiful act with beautiful birds. It was similar to other acts of the kind offered here, but the birds show exceptional talent, and the coloring of several was superb.

Sale Begins at Colonial.

Sale of seats for the opening engagement of Grayce Scott and her associate players began yesterday at the Grayce Scott Colonial, where "Under Southern Skies" will be offered, beginning with a matinee on Labor Day, September 7. The advance sale indicates that there will be a capacity audience greeting Miss Scott when she makes her initial bow before a 1914 audience.

Kitchen Shower.

Miss Agnes D. Randolph, former superintendent of Memorial Hospital, who resigned some time ago, and who, it is reported, will shortly accept a position with the State to lend her efforts in the fight against tuberculosis, was last night treated to a kitchen shower by nurses of the Memorial Hospital staff and those who had served under her when she was superintendent at Virginia Hospital. The presentation took place in Miss Randolph's apartments on Third, between Grace and Franklin.

REACH NO AGREEMENT IN NEWPORT NEWS CASE

announce of disappointment to a large delegation of friends of the opposite candidates, who had journeyed up from the shipbuilding City. Most of these returned home on the 5 o'clock train, but some remained overnight.

It is believed that the Newport News schools will be opened under the administration of Colonel E. W. Hoffman, the acting superintendent.

The executive session extended to a late hour, the board having adjourned at 7 o'clock in the evening for supper, reassembling at 8:30. Deliberation over the situation in Newport News and in Franklin County was the reason for the long session. In both of these districts the contest was hard fought, high time was consumed in hearing representatives of the candidates, and in giving consideration to the great volume of letters of recommendation and petitions in behalf of different aspirants for the superintendencies.

The most difficult problem was presented in the Newport News case. The board discovered that the campaign there had long ago developed into a national fight, in which political influence played a conspicuous part. This made the situation peculiarly difficult and puzzling, it being the policy of the board to eliminate politics as far as possible from elections of this kind.

Hugh S. Bird, who is not a resident of Newport News, but formerly lived in Williamsburg and Richmond, was represented by a delegation headed by R. C. Norsworthy. Mr. Norsworthy, in the opening speech in Mr. Bird's behalf, said he believed the greater number of the patrons of the public schools in the Shipbuilding City wanted Mr. Bird elected. He had nothing to say regarding the qualifications of Colonel E. W. Hoffman, but he insisted that Mr. Bird was the best man available for the important position, and said that was the reason the people he represented preferred to go outside the district for a superintendent. Mr. Norsworthy submitted papers showing that a majority of the members of the local school board had indorsed the candidacy of Mr. Bird, and that two of the twenty-four members of the City Council of Newport News had indorsed the action of the Newport News School Board in this matter.

MAYOR SUMNER SUPPORTS HUFFMAN'S CANDIDACY

R. E. Sumner, Mayor of Newport News, addressed the board in the interest of Colonel Huffman's candidacy. While declaiming any intent to speak disparagingly of Mr. Bird's capabilities, he said: "We people of Newport News don't know anything of Mr. Bird. Until recently we never heard of him. We know nothing of him, don't care anything for him and we don't want him. He is an outsider, and we want a good man for the position among us, and we do know, therefore, we hope it will be your pleasure to give us one of our own people for superintendent of schools. If he has secured the indorsement of nineteen of the twenty-four members of the City Council, we can only say that we are surprised. We don't understand it. We don't understand how he gets a majority of the school board members to indorse him. We have a petition asking you to elect Colonel E. W. Hoffman which is signed by 1,500 citizens and patrons of the public schools of Newport News. Colonel Hoffman is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute; he was for years seated at the head of the Newport News Military Academy. We know who he is and we know his capabilities. We ask for his election."

W. E. Puckett, one of the oldest citizens of Newport News, spoke for Mr. Bird. "This is a political movement," he said. "In the interest of Mr. Huffman. It is a political movement to help Huffman get the job." He expostulated at some length against the home rule idea, and went back to conditions existing during the Civil War. Between the lines, he said, the early history of Newport News, and at the stage of his declamation called upon Sumner to corroborate some statement made to "your time, sayest." Amid the general laughter this provoked the Governor protested that his memory did not go back that far. Mr. Puckett then pursued his argument, warning the board that some years ago there were several teachers in the public schools of Newport News who were Catholics, and a member of the school board who was a Catholic, something he feared might happen again.

Allan D. Jones, a lawyer, followed with a more temperate speech. He said the people he represented wanted Colonel Huffman as school superintendent, because they knew his qualifications. "I don't quite understand the reference made by one of the speakers who preceded me to politics being injected into this fight," he said. "There is no politics, but much prejudice and personal feeling in it." Continuing, Mr. Jones declared that excellent results were obtained in the last year since Colonel Huffman had been serving as acting superintendent of schools. He said that, while there had been friction in preceding years, there had been none since Huffman took the superintendency, serving in the place of Professor William A. Jenkins, who retired because of the condition of his health. Mr. Jones also directed attention to the fact that Colonel Huffman had served without pay for six months.

Later in the discussion Mr. Norsworthy remarked that there had been friction among the school officials and teachers in Newport News ever since the school board was created.

Mr. Jones denied that there had been any discord during the term Colonel Huffman served as superintendent.

NORSWORTHY IS QUESTIONED BY ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Attorney-General Pollard questioned Mr. Norsworthy: "Has the Huffman administration been successful?"

"I should say not," Mr. Norsworthy answered.

"Wherein was it not satisfactory, Mr. Norsworthy?"

"He failed to organize his teaching corps properly. The teachers do not cooperate with him. I know a half a dozen or more of them who are not in sympathy with him."

Governor Stuart asked Mr. Norsworthy: "What have you got to say to Mr. Jones's statement that friction no longer exists?"

"It does," insisted Mr. Norsworthy. "It will continue unless he fires half a dozen of them," referring to the unsympathetic teachers. "Half a dozen, maybe a dozen, of the teachers are not in harmony with the superintendent."

W. W. Gatewood, in a brief, asking the election of Mr. Bird, and Edwin Pulliam made a short talk advocating the candidacy of Colonel Huffman.

Mr. Norsworthy, discussing the contest at the close of the afternoon session of the board, said he did not believe that more than 300 of the 1,500 signers of the Huffman petition were qualified voters, and he was inclined to challenge the petition.

CHARGE JENKINS WITH OPPOSING COLONEL HUFFMAN

Friends of the opposing candidates for the Newport News superintendency, while waiting in the corridors of the Capitol Building for the decision that did not come, made some interesting disclosure in connection with the spirited campaign that has been waged. It was stated that Professor Jenkins, the retiring superintendent, has been hostile to the candidacy of Colonel Huffman, and that there has been bitter personal feeling between the supporters of the two candidates. Professor Jenkins was charged with making a personal fight against Huffman in writing to school officials in different parts of Ware. State friends of Jenkins, however, denied any knowledge of personal enmity between the two candidates.

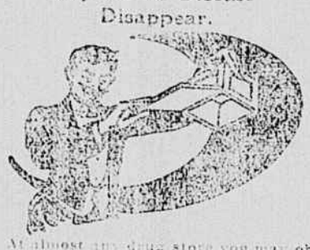
It was also learned that Colonel Huffman has the indorsement of Senator Thomas S. Martin, Congressman W. A. Jones, the president of the Newport News Board of Aldermen, State Senator Saxon W. Holt, Delegate Harry R. Houston, Congressman Slemp, the City Treasurer or City Engineer, and other city officials of Newport News.

Of the eight members of the State Board of Education, only six are voting members. Those who have a voice in the selection of the board are as follows: Governor Henry C. Stuart, Attorney-General John Garland Pollard, Superintendent of Public Instruction R. C. Stearnes, J. M. Page, J. L. Jarman and Henry C. Ford. The nonvoting members are: Harris Hart, of Roanoke, division superintendent, and Frank J. West, of Louisa, division superintendent.

The case of Miss Mary Gilliam, a teacher in one of the small schools in Campbell County, who was alleged to have misrepresented the number of hours she taught, was dismissed. It was shown that while the report she made was not in conformity with the regulations, the inaccuracy was inadvertent, and the board decided to permit her to retain her certificate.

Severe Blood Troubles Vanish

With Magic Effect, Great Remedy Makes Disease Disappear.



At almost any drug store you may obtain S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, and you then have a remedy reliable which that makes all blood troubles vanish. Your human takes kind to S. S. S. It rushes into the blood in a purifying wave, makes the liver, kidneys, bladder and skin work in harmony, stops accumulations that have caused rheumatism, catarrh, swollen glands, sore throat and skin eruptions.

Just as food makes blood, so does S. S. S. follow the process of digestion to stimulate natural secretions to protect us against the ravages of disease germs. We are well aware of the fact that these germs are apt to be latent within us to break forth in violent eruptions of the skin whenever the system is in a low state of resistance. And it is to both prevent these eruptions or to get rid of them that Nature gives us such an ally as S. S. S. It is pure vegetable, contains no mercury, but it overcomes those serious troubles for which mercury has been devoted for ages. In every community are people who know this to be true. They owe to S. S. S. their recovery, get a bottle to-day. Refuse all substitutes. Read the folder around the bottle that tells of the wonderful work being done by the medical department in assisting users of S. S.
