Beware of Beauty Tablets

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

(Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell.)

It is no secret to physicians that a great number of women eat complexion wafers. There are several preparations sold the active principle of which is simply arsenic. The value of this potent drug in treating diseases and discolorations of the skin cannot be overestimated, but the propriety of using it constantly for its beautifying effects is open to grave objections.

The habit once commenced, it is said, cannot be with safety discontinued, as either symptoms of poisoning or else some fatal disease soon carries the victim off. In the first place, there are constitutions on which it has even in the minutest doses a violently irritating effect. Within the last few years, since wall papers with arsenical dyes, especially green paper, have come into vogue, physicians have been obliged to treat a number of persons poisoned by the minute atoms of arsenic floating in the atmosphere of rooms thus papered.

Such being the case, it is not unlikely that a woman who is an arsenic eater should from her person a sufficient amount of poison to render her most undesirable as a companion or, as even an acquaintance, for the emanations from her body will certainly every with them minute particles of the poisonous metal.

It is remarkable to note that many drugs sold as cosmetics for the skin are the most deadly poisons known in the whole catalogue of the pigment drugs. They are, all of them, mineral corrosive sublimate or bichloride of mercury, and caustic potash, and there are dealers unscrupulous enough to sacrifice their own consciences and their customers' lives by selling under high-sounding names these deadly stuff which all persons should be carefully warned against.

Remember, A clear complexion is the complexion of one-half tooth ache to one quantity of clear water, smaller each meal, and that any time counted.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

W. A. If the laces are only slightly soiled they can be adjusted with good results. The way to do it is to lay them on the ironing board in the form they are to be when finished, and then with a soft cloth and a little gasoline rub the soiled parts. After this they must go through a bath of cold water outside to remove the gasoline, and then be dried and ironed under a cloth. If one does it right the lace will look as good as new.

A. F. I am sorry, but I cannot give you any information in regard to the treatment you ask about. I do not believe in internal remedies for developing the bust. Massage with a good cream, or better, an safe and harmless, and also is effective. I shall send you full instructions on developing the bust if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Dr. Brady's Health Talks

The Safety of Anesthetics.

One of the greatest terrors of surgery, in the patient's mind, is the anesthetic. People still seem to think that it is a dangerous thing to inhale either ether or chloroform in the hands of a skilled physician. And if we were to judge by the disasters duly served up in the papers the popular dread of an anesthetic could not be wondered at. But we must remember that only the rare accidents get into the news; the thousands and thousands of uneventful anesthetizations performed every day never become a matter of publicity.

Of course, there is a certain degree of risk involved in the taking of any anesthetic. But looking at the question from all sides the risk assumed by the patient is really not so great as is the risk he would have to assume without the necessary operation. And another thing, a large share of the fatalities attributed to anesthetics are in reality due, at least in part, to other factors—the patient's exhaustion from disease, affections of the heart, or maybe chronic alcoholism or other injurious habit which the public knows nothing about.

The Untrained Anesthetist.

Fatalities from anesthetics administered by careless or incompetent persons—nurses or other half-trained or untrained persons—are easily the bulk of the list. Dentists are legally entitled to administer anesthetics, but as a rule the careful dentists call a physician when a general anesthetic is required. Nurses are not legally entitled to administer anesthetics, surgeons or physicians who permit nurses to assume this responsibility lay themselves open to malpractice suits, if anything goes wrong, and the courts are quick to find that the patient's heir or guardian is entitled to damages. No one but a qualified M. D. or a qualified dentist may legally administer anesthetics.

Of the two common agents, chloroform and ether, the latter is deemed the safer for general use. Under certain conditions, however, chloroform would be safer for an individual; for instance, cases in which there is a chronic bronchitis or a chronic nephritis usually take chloroform better.

The Modern Methods.

Ether was formerly given by saturating a sponge and literally forcing the patient under. This was mighty unpleasant and unnecessarily risky. Nowadays the ordeal is far from unpleasant, the patient has all the air he wants all the time, and the ether is administered very slowly and gently, drop by drop, until drowsiness and sleep comes on with little or no excitement. The drop method robs the anesthetic of all its disagreeable features, especially for children who take it without fear or even as a trip to fairyland.

Questions and Answers.

S. T. W. Kindly inform me what is a remedy for any injurious chemical?

Reply: According to an analysis made by the chemists of the British Medical Association recently, the materials to make thirty of these worthless tablets, which sell for $1, can be purchased for about [illegible] cents. No injurious ingredient was reported.

L. B. Writes: Mac one with an excess of uric acid eat tomatoes. I have what one doctor called gout in the heel, which bothers me only when walking or standing. I eat no sweets nor tomatoes, which I clearly have. I eat very little meat. I try to eat fish often in place of meat.

Reply: Your policy, starving for that kind of gout. Certainly you should eat tomatoes, like all other fruits they tend to reduce acidity, or rather increase alkalinity of the blood. Fish is meat, so far as gout or uric acid is concerned. Why not try eating for a change and have an X-ray photograph of your heel taken?

Mrs. W. H. asks: Please give a remedy for falling hair and oblige a faithful reader.

Reply: If falling hair were always due to the same cause we might oblige you. As it depends on different factors in different cases we regretfully decline to fill our column with formulas.

William M. asks: Can sleeplessness be cured by harmless medicine prescribed by a doctor. Can a doctor tell by examination whether tuberculosis of the brain exists or not? What are the symptoms?

Reply: The habit of sleeplessness may be broken by such medicine. It can only be by repeated examination and observation of the patient. The symptoms are those of meningitis.

MASTERPIECE SAVED

LONDON, September 4 (10.45 P. M.).—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from the Hague says:

"One of Rubens's famous masterpieces which long had hung in the Church of Notre Dame at Malines, Belgium, and which was thought to be in danger of destruction by German shells, was saved by M. Demont, steward of the Royal Museum at Antwerp.

"M. Demont, learning that the Germans were bombarding Malines, rushed from Antwerp in a motor car, and at great personal risk brought back the painting to Antwerp, passing through the German lines at various points. The painting was given into the custody of King Albert."

How to Look Less Than Your Age

There are three golden rules that every woman who would ward off signs of advancing age, should follow:

1. Cultivate cheerfulness. Those who understand the physiological effect of worrying know this admonition should be taken more seriously than it usually is.

2. Whenever the complexion begins to look worn or withered, use ordinary mercolized wax for a week or two. Apply nightly like cold cream, erasing it mornings with warm water. This gradually removes the thin film of surface skin, revealing the fresher, and younger skin underneath. An ounce of the wax, obtainable at any drug store, is enough to rejuvenate any complexion.

3. When the telltale wrinkles appear, or neck and chin muscles begin to sag, bathe the face once a day for awhile in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz. dissolved in ½ pt. of witch hazel. This has a remarkable effect in "ironing up" and smoothing out the skin. Advertisement.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler and Miss Mary Butler Here from Mathews County.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Butler, of "Poplar Grove," Mathews County, and their daughter, Miss Mary Butler, were in Richmond this week for a brief stay with relatives, en route for Buffalo Lithia Springs, where they will spend the month of September. Miss Butler has just returned from the coast of Maine, where she has been for some time with Miss Lenore Tinsley.

Returned to Richmond.

Mrs. G. T. Garnett and Miss Ellen Douglas Garnett have returned to Gloster Park, after spending the summer in Mathews County and at the Willoughby Club, Willoughby Beach. For the present they are with C. B. Garnett and his family, who have been visiting at Mrs. Garnett's old home in King and Queen County.

Miss Lynnwood Street, who has been visiting Mrs. Leslie Garnett, left yesterday for her home in Gloucester.

In London.

News has been received here from Miss Mattie P. Harris, announcing her safe arrival in London, and the fact that she expects to sail from England on board the steamship Minnehaha September 19. Miss Harris has been abroad with friends for the summer months.

Bishop—Hoffman.

The wedding of Miss Lola Pearl Hoffman, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth V. Hoffman, and Dr. Arthur Vaughan Bishop, of Hollins, took place at the home of the bride in Rosemont, Alexandria, at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Only the immediate families were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. F. Watson, of the First Baptist Church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Raymond Sinclair Hoffman, wore a tailored suit of dark blue and a black velvet hat; her corsage bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids. The groom was attended by his brother, Oakley M. Bishop, of Shorter College, Georgia.

Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Bishop left for their wedding trip, at the conclusion of which they will be at home at Hollins College, where Dr. Bishop is professor of Latin.

Dr. Bishop is an alumnus of the University of Virginia, having taken his degree of doctor of philosophy at that institution. The bride is well known in Alexandria, where she was teacher of English in the Alexandria High School.

In the North.

Colonel Robert Skelton Eggleston, of this city, and Lieutenant Percival Isadore Hall, of Ashland, left yesterday for Atlantic City for a brief stay. They will return to Baltimore to participate in the Star Spangle Banner Centennial.

There will be a called meeting of the Chesterfield Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. J. M. Gregory, at Forest Hill. All members of the chapter are urged to be present, as the meeting is one of the utmost importance. Arrangements will be completed at this time for the annual basket picnic of the chapter at Chesterfield Courthouse, and delegates are also to be elected for the State convention, that takes place at Bristol.

Invitations Issued.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., September 4.—Mr. William Catesby Latane, of Westmoreland County, has issued cards for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Janet Bouzie Latane, to Dr. Richard Washington, of the same county, the ceremony to be solemnized on the evening of Tuesday, September 15, at 7 o'clock, at St. Peter's Episcopal Church at Oak Grove, Westmoreland County.

THOUSANDS OF REFUGEES ARE POURING INTO OSTEND

Bathing Van Pulled From Beach, Being Used for Accommodation of Unfortunates.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

OSTEND, September 5.—Six thousand refugees, men, women and children, have come into Ostend in two days, and the stream flows on. Social barriers have been demolished, and in the turmoil of war all are poor.

As a woman of a distinguished Belgian family said to-day, in telling of the destruction, first of her country house, and then of her town residence in Malines, "the rich are now poor and the poor are destitute."

Among 700 refugees from Liege, Louvain, Malines and Tirlemont, certainly no man has a spare shirt, and no woman has an extra petticoat. When the Germans appeared they rushed for their lives, leaving everything behind.

To assist the refugees, an international organization, known as the Double White Cross, has been formed in Ostend, with Aurel Batonyi, secretary of the American consulate, and former husband of Mrs. Francis Burke-Roche, as secretary. It is doing splendid work.

The burgomaster gave permission for 500 bathing cans to be used for the accommodation of unfortunates. The cans have been pulled up from the beach and installed in the public gardens behind the Royal Palace. A mother and five children occupy one. In another is a family of eight. How to find sleeping accommodations in the limited space is a problem. There is not a stitch of bedding. Straw is a necessary substitute.

To-day 850 dinners were served at the camp, but beyond the refugees from the country there are some 1,000 hungry mouths in the streets. No continental resort is more popular with the English and American than Ostend.

An appeal is being made to British and American public for help.

BANDIT RAISULI DEAD

Noted Brigand Cause of Much Trouble in Morocco.

LONDON, September 4.—The Exchange Telegraph Company's Tetuan Morocco correspondent says that Raisuli, the noted Moorish brigand and pretender to the throne of Morocco, is dead in the country between Tetuan and Tangier.

Raisuli gained fame in 1904, when he captured Mr. Perdicaris, an American, near Tangier, and demanded a $50,000 ransom. Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, demanded of the Sultan of Morocco "Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead." Perdicaris was released after an American fleet made a demonstration before Tangier.

Raisuli has been the means of much trouble in Morocco. He was described as the most picturesque bandit of modern times.

William J. Milnee Dead.

ALBANY, N. Y., September 4.—William J. Milnee, aged seventy-one, author of many mathematical textbooks, died to-day at Bethlehem, N. H.

TO HOLD DAILY MEETINGS

NEW YORK, September 4.—The conference committee of the New York Cotton Exchange issued a statement to-day that it would hold daily meetings for the purpose of facilitating the liquidation of the straddle interest, and establishing rules for such operations in accordance with the general plan approved by members of the exchange at yesterday's meeting. All members of the exchange having open contracts in Liverpool, who so desire, have been requested to cable to their Liverpool correspondents to tender the interest for liquidation by ballot, and to put all their orders into the local market on Tuesday, September 8, before 10 A. M. Otherwise no fresh developments were reported with reference to the contract situation, and there seemed to be little change in the news from the South. Prevailing weather conditions are considered favorable to the crop, and while very little business is reported in spot cotton, there were rumors of offerings from the Southwest to-day at lower prices.

JUDGE ISSUES ORDER FOR HABEAS CORPUS HEARING

Petition Asking for Writs Filed by Socialist as Result of Arrests in Butte.

BUTTE, MONT., September 4.—Federal Judge George M. Bourquin issued an order to-day directing Governor S. V. Stewart and the officers and military companies of the Montana National Guard now in charge of Butte to show cause on Monday why writs of habeas corpus should not be issued in behalf of three men arrested by the State troops. The three men are Edward Evans, D. W. Malone and James Chapman.

Malone and Evans when arrested carried revolvers, according to Provost Marshal Conley. Chapman was a member of the committee that deported miners who refused to join the labor union.

The order has the effect of attacking the validity of the military court established by the National Guard. Judge Advocate Jesse B. Rote said that answer, to be filed Monday, would show that the militia is in supreme command in Silver Bow County, and has power to make arrests.

The petition asking for habeas corpus writs, filed by a Socialist, alleges that Governor Stewart issued a proclamation proclaiming that Silver Bow County is in a state of insurrection and that the proclamation is untrue.

The city was quiet to-day. The mines worked and miners were not molested. Major Donohue directed the municipal authorities to continue all functions of the city government, except the police department, which is in charge of Provost Marshal Conley.

NEW YORK TO RAISE LOAN.

Will Be Used to Liquidate Obligations Which Soon Will Mature Abroad.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, September 4.—New York City has completed arrangements for the raising of a $100,000,000 short term loan at 6 per cent interest, to liquidate $80,000,000 obligations which mature abroad between now and January next. This was authoritatively announced to-day.

A syndicate will be formed in which every bank in the city is invited to subscribe. Clearing-house banks are expected to play a leading part in the undertaking. Each subscribing institution must agree to furnish 80 per cent of its subscription in exchange on London. The notes are to mature serially in one, two and three years.

The salutary effect of the moral influence the proposal will exercise is almost incalculable. The loan will do away with the necessity of shipping a huge amount of gold to England, and when England sees that America has plenty of funds it is confidently believed she will not be so insistent in demanding gold in payment of balances.

NEWS OF ASHLAND

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ASHLAND, VA., September 4.—Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Walford, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Crenshaw and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Crenshaw and family have returned to Richmond, after spending the summer here.
