THE ALMA RECORD.

FRIDAY, JUNE, 12.

STATE NEWS.

The Senate and Legislature will adjourn June 20. About time.

There are only 430 prisoners at the Ionia State House of Correction

The Niles high school turns out eight young lady graduates next week.

Three persons were drowned at East Saginaw between Friday and Monday.

The strawberry crop of Michigan will be ready for market in about a week. Fine crop too!

Tramps, burglars, and horse thieves seem to be very numerous in the southern part of the State.

Adrian has 19 weddings booked for the balance of June. Good place for Preachers to live in.

Michigan, it is said, is the only State in the wheat-belt that gives premise of an average yield.

The new customs house at Memphis, Tenn., will be furnished by a Grand Rapids furniture firm.

Prof. Volland, for 3 years principal of the Ypsilanti high school, has accepted a position in the Grand Rapids schools.

Pat Brenan was sentenced to State Prison for life, last week, for the murder of Deputy-Sheriff Kohl, at Negaunee, March last.

Ossco, Hillsdale County has 25 widows within a half-mile radius of the village and yet the entire population only numbers 350.

James Low, of Grand Rapids, has a collection of 250 bibles, which includes editions in 130 languages and dialects.—[Detroit Post.

Wm. R. Bambridge, an old resident of Kent county was killed Saturday afternoon by a timber falling from a barn which he was helping to raise.

The State University is to be the recipient of a fine collection of Arctic plants made by Edward Israel, of the ill-fated Greely expedition.

Grand Rapids is to have a great celebration this year, lasting two days. Five thousand dollars have been raised and more is expected. Grand Rapids never does things by halves.

Frank Morris a wealthy young swell of Grand Rapids, will be taken to some inebriate asylum. The board of physicians examined him and found him mildly insane, the result of excesses.

Detroit Germans are pretty well wrought up over an encounter between two editors. One tried to horsewhip the other, and getting the worst of it he is now after him with "blood in his eye." As their swearing is all in Dutch the rest of the editors in the State can take in all the fun.

S. P. Crevsinger 'bolts up serenely' at Maple Rapids and commences suit against the village officers for $9,000 damages for malicious and false imprisonment. The suit comes from the closing of Cresinger's Opera House on his refusal to pay license for each entertainment.

A party of Missouri editors have been on a trip through this State. They were entertained at Grand Rapids by the furniture men, Saturday and proceeded from there to Mackinaw and St. Ignace, from which point they started for home Monday. The party, with ladies, numbered 80.

The following postoffice appointments have been made for Michigan this week: Shiloh, Ionia county, George W. Brown, vice C. F. Joslyn, resigned; Mill Creek, Kent county, Henry D. Plumb, vice E. Plumb, deceased; Lakeville, Oakland county, James Goss, vice J. F. Ryman, resigned; Olive Center, Ottawa county, C. G. Jones, vice J. D. Merritt, resigned.

Wm. K. Josselyn of Grand Rapids, who has made several unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide lately, accomplished his purpose Sunday night by plunging head foremost into a cistern. He became insane over the loss of a horse and the fear of not being able to support his family. He was 70 years old.

Col. Sellar's bill to prevent the circulation of obscene literature has passed both houses of the legislature. It is directly leveled not only at the publication exhibition, sale, or loan of such carrion sheets as the Police News and Police Gazette, but will apply also to microscopic pocket knives, and all pocket-goods of indecent character, as well as to the foul obscene posters which are becoming disgustingly common.

Oscoda which was so recently the scene of a terrible accident caused by the giving way of a scaffold upon which several men were working, had another accident of the same nature Friday, although it was not attended with so great a loss of life. While John Berube and Fred. Forther were at work on a building the scaffold on which they were gave way. Forther fell head foremost, but struck on his back across some timbers, and was fearfully if not fatally injured. As he weighs 200 pounds he has undoubtedly been seriously injured internally. Berube caught hold of a scantling with his hands and remained suspended in mid air until aid reached him. He was not hurt.

Cassey & Whitneys, of Lansing, have completed their photograph charts of portraits of members and official of the senate and house of representatives, and the originals are on view on the walls of both houses. The portraits of the members and officials are arranged in the same positions they occupy on the floor. Representative Holman's picture is conspicuous by its absence from the house chart. He is an original in his cranky independence, saying he could not afford to buy any photographs; neither could he afford to be under obligations to the photographers and so his picture is a blank, with his name underneath.

GENERAL NEWS.

Small-pox is raging at Montreal

The business failures of the week number 228 as against 206 last week and 219 the week before that.

All the prizes this year awarded in the university of Mississippi were carried off by young women.

The wreath sent by Lord Tennyson to be placed upon the body of Victor Hugo was inscribed: "To the world's greatest poet."

The Glen House in White mountains, which was burned last summer, has been rebuilt in a much improved form, and will be opened July 25th.

More people perished in the Cashmere earth quake of Sunday and Monday of last week than at first reported. Whole cities and towns are spoken of as destroyed.

The Apache Indians are making it dangerous for people living in New Mexico. The houses are pillaged and burned and all who fall into their hands are treated most inhumanly.

The General Presbyterian Assembly at Topeka, Kansas, decided to give no help to young men, would-be ministers, who use tobacco, and to extend no aid to churches where an organ is in use

The Illinois legislature has gotten into a genuine squabble. Twenty-three members are charged with having approached a corporation for money. A committee has been appointed to investigate the charges and it is expected that some other irregularities will be brought to light.

Myriads of young grasshoppers, evidently just hatched out in the warm sand, have made their appearance at Canon City, Col. There are 200 acres literally filled with young hoppers. It is said that the insects are not the much dreaded locusts and will be incapable of doing much damage.

A collision occured between two freight trains Saturday morning on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad at York road. The wreckage was great, the locomotive and a number of cars of one of the trains being knocked out of all shape. The engineer of the wrecked engine had an ankle broken, but the other train hands escaped by jumping.

John Henderson, a wealthy farmer of the town of Cicero near Syracuse, N. Y., suspected his wife of infidelity. On Saturday night he started for Manlius. Returning home the same evening he found Charles Whiting, a farmer of Cicero, in company with Mrs. Henderson. Henderson assaulted Whiting, but the latter escaped. About midnight Whiting was found hanging dead in his barn.

A terrible murder was committed at London, Ontario, last Friday, by one, Ben Simmons. The woman, Mary Ann Stokes, was stabbed several times in the chest, arms and sides. Though so fearfully injured it was thought she might survive, but she died Sunday afternoon. The villian has been held for trial. Although he is a reckless, dissolute charter his people are respectable and well-to do.

A house at Schenectady, N. York, was for a long time infested by roaches and water bugs. Last fall a servant, hearing that roads were an antidote, caught three ordinary hop toads and put them in the kitchen. Not a roach or water bug can now be found in the house. The toads have become domesticated, never wander about the house, and are so cleanly and inoffensive that there is no objection to their presence

The earthquake shocks at Serinagunn and other points in the vale of Cashmere India, continue at intervals averaging three hours in length. Whole villages have been engulfed and terrible subterranean noises are heard, driving the people frantic with fear. The horrors of approaching famine are added to other results of the disaster, as many thousand bushels of grain in storage have been swallowed up in the chasms which are constantly opening

There was a spirited contest at the New Orleans Exposition over the awards for saw-mill machinery, and the best firms in the United States were represented. The points discussed were the best in each of the following: 1, circular saw-mills; 2, header blocks and carriages; 3, combined edger and flooring machine; 4, lath machinery; 5, trimmers; 6, sawdust conveyer; 7 log-turner; 8, saw-mill machinery collective. Expert judges had been selected, and the result was that Pennsylvania secured the honors, one additionally, a firm in Erie having been awarded the entire eight gold medals

About 12 o'clock Saturday night the wife J. Wonch and four children were burned to death in bed in their house at Barrie, Ont. Mr. Wonch escaped by jumping out the window after a vain effort to rescue his wife and children, his shirt being burned off in the attempt. Mr. Wonch is crazy with grief. He says when he awoke the whole room seemed to be on fire. He tried to pull his wife off the bed but could not do so as the fire was leaping out of the mattress all around her. He thinks the fire originated in a back shed and says there was no signs of fire when he retired at 10:30.

Several days ago a Bordentown, N. J., dog fancier, advertised the loss of a yellow Skye terrier. The same day the owner of the lost terrier was amazed to see his hunting dog push open the gate leading into his residence, carrying the pet terrier in his mouth. The dog pursued his way to the back porch, where he scratched the door until admitted by his master. When in the house he let go his prize and barked vociferously, which probably was a plea for the reward which had been offered. Where, when or how the hunting dog found his lost companion remains a mystery to his master, who vouches for the above story. The dog is not known to have ever seen the advertisement, although he may have read it.

A meteor of remarkable size was seen one midnight one night last week at Sherman Tex., moving in a southwesterly direction. The sky was brilliantly illuminated by it for several seconds and a moment after the meteor disappeared a loud explosion similar to the discharge of heavy artillery was heard, accompanied by a perceptible shock. This phenomenon was followed by a rumbling like distant thunder. The meteor appeared to be about the size of a flour barrel. It was also observed at McKinney 35 miles distant, where a hissing sound was heard, greatly alarming some colored people who were returning from a prayer meeting and caused them to take to flight, shouting that the day of judgment had come

The Sobbing Wren.

A stranger in the little cities of southwestern Texas is often awakened at early dawn by the beautiful but sorrowful song of the house, or sobbing, wren. If the stranger has been long away from home and friends, and is sensitive to impressions of external nature, he never forgets the peculiar, melancholy note of this tiny songster. It begins in a high, clear, key, like the tinkling of silver bells, and descending gradually from one sweet chime to another still sweeter, it suddenly falters breaks off and sobs like a child, the song dying away in a gasp. The listener is touched with sympathetic emotion and may find it difficult to suppress the uncomfortable feeling that one of the little ones in his own family circle is weeping and sobbing for his return. The song is heard only in the twilight of dawn and is repeated but a few times. Then the handsome little singer, with plump brown breast, speckled with shreds of black, retires through some crevice in the housetop and is rarely seen during the day.

Rules For Business.

There is no "royal road" to success in business. Capital, pluck, capacity and willingness to work, strict integrity, and patience, are the main elements, yet the following rules by one who has been "thro' the mill," if followed, will aid greatly those who are determined to strike out for themselves;

1. Never enter into any business unless you have a thorough knowledge of that business and some capital.

2. Never enter into any transaction unless it will afford you some profit; it don't pay to do business simply to keep things moving.

3. Keep an exact account of every cent that passes through your hands; but don't spend ten dollars' worth of time and stationery in account for a fifteen dollar trade.

4. Never take a partner give or endorse a note, borrow money, or date a check ahead.

5. Attend to your business in business hours, and do no business on Sunday.

6. Don't go to unnecessary expense for the sake of style—make every outlay of a dollar count. A cobbler has no use for a rolltop desk, nor a baker much need of a typewriter.

7. Advertise—not on dead walls, fences, smooth stones, bills of fare, or theatre programmes, but in the newspapers.

8. Work.

9. Advertise some more.

10. Work considerably more.—[Household and Farm.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The Detroit Post has begun a series of papers about President Lincoln that will give the most intimate history of his private life, and the most important testimony touching his public policy that can be obtained from Mr. Lincoln's surviving intimate friends.

Among the writers will be, E. B. Washburne, of Illinois; Leonard Swett, formerly Mr. Lincoln's law partner; Hugh McCulloch member of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet; Fred. Douglass; James B. Fry, formerly provost marshal in Washington; Ward Lamon; Robert R. Schenck; Lawrence Weldon, an intimate friend of Mr. Lincoln; ex-Assistant Attorney Gen. Coffey, and Charles A. Dana, formerly assistant secretary of war. Mr. Dana's paper appeared last Sunday.

These writers have been selected from those who were most intimate with Mr. Lincoln, both before and after his election, also others will be added to the list on consultation with the foregoing. It is evident that these papers will contain more hitherto unpublished matter regarding Mr. Lincoln than could be obtained from any other sources, and that they will be striking additions to the history of the war period and to the knowledge of Mr. Lincoln's private and official life.

The series being copyrighted no other paper in Michigan is at liberty even to make an extract from them.

Brainard's Musical World.

We are always pleased to receive this popular illustrated monthly; it is bright, readable and contains good music withal. The June number is interesting, both in literary and musical contents, and we recommend the World to all who like music and wish to keep informed concerning the art. Among the music we find a Home song by Max Vernon. This with the other pieces are alone worth the price of the monthly. The subscription price of the World is $1.50 per annum single copy, 15 cents. Address, S. BRAINARD'S SONS 145 and 147 Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill.

THE TRIBUNE is in receipt of a begging letter from the "American Committee of the Statue of Liberty," in New York, asking us to contribute a ten-dollar advertisement free of charge. We cannot do it, gentlemen. If the publication of one line to THE TRIBUNE free, would complete the base and pedestal for the statue, we would be sorry to gratify you. If the City of New York, with its hundreds of millionaires and its merchant princes, cannot make the necessary preparations for the proper reception of such a magnificent French gift without begging a miserable pittance all over creation and Clare county, will send on your statue to Mt. Pleasant and we will furnish a base and pedestal without going to New York to tap the ghastly souls of the miserly beggars who are haggling their millions and asking outsiders to decorate their city.

With a proper base with the Tribune there, New York ought to be ashamed. The Statue will soon reach America and there is not a stroke of work done on the pedestal. The French must think that their gift is highly appreciated.

A kiss is a personal contact between the labial appendages attached to the superior and inferior maxillaries, respectively, of a man and a woman or two women. The younger the parties are the more paroxysmal will be the paroxysm.

The Cincinnati Enquirer has information that Canada would like to swap a large assortment of Riel Indians for wooden ones.
