TOO BUSY CHASING ELUSIVE CRUDE OIL

THAT IS HASKELL'S ANSWER TO RUMOR THAT HE WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR

WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

He Says He Has Neither Money Nor Disposition to Be a Candidate for Public Office

EX-GOVERNOR C. N. HASKELL.

[illegible]

A representative of The World called to the Hotel Mayo and asked Governor Haskell what he had to say regarding the report that he would make a political speech in Muskogee Friday night.

Governor Haskell, for the past several months has been a resident of Tulsa, living at the Hotel Tulsa. He has gone into the oil game with a concern and is moving good of that.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Haskell expressed sincere regret over the wholesale killing of the penitentiary and both gave expression to sorrow over the death of Deputy Warden "Bill" Oates.

The following story was sent out from Oklahoma City, regarding the possibilities of Haskell being a candidate:

The Dope Story.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—That C. N. Haskell, now a resident of Tulsa, former politician and oil operator, may be the "dark horse" and be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, it underpinning has been the chief object of a conference held here Saturday and Sunday between him—if not—some of his political advisers who would like to see him at the head of state affairs once more.

Haskell was here. That much is sure. And he conferred with some of his old time political associates. It was given out last week that he was to be here Sunday and that he was coming to talk about the possibilities of his becoming a candidate. It is speculated that if he says he will get into the race for the nomination, though those with whom he conferred are not willing to make statements for publication, it is said he will make a speech in Muskogee Friday night. He said while here that he would not make any statement for publication.

[illegible]

Wrangles Mark Case

(Continued from Page 1.)

[illegible]

Thompson—Did you see Mrs. Reuter after the shooting?

A—Yes, sir.

Q—Where was she when you saw her?

A—In the room.

Q—Was she in bed?

A—Yes, sir.

Q—Did you see her?

A—I did.

Q—Did you see her?

A—I did.

Q—Did you see her?

A—I did