HAYES INVITED TO ADDRESS VIRGINIA U.

OKLAHOMAN IS GIVEN DISTINGUISHED HONOR BY OLD DOMINION GOVERNMENT.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 6.—Since the Oklahoman's high position in the educational and literary world was recognized this week, when the University of Virginia through Prof. J. M. Page, its president, chief justice and W. H. Taft, ex-president and supreme court justice, invited him to be the guest of honor on Tuesday, June 16.

You will do us a great service if you will call attention to any inaccurate news by accepting the editorial road. The invitation was a high compliment to Judge Hayes from the fact that he educated himself in an impromptu school in Western Texas and prepared himself to enter the University of Virginia on his eleventh birthday. He did not finish his university training there, however, being forced by financial straits to leave the school at the age of 18.

Judge Hayes is president of the Oklahoma Alumni Association of the University of Virginia, and attributes his success in life to the life story of Henry W. Grady, who several times delivered the alumni address. That Judge Hayes is now invited to make Henry Ward Beecher and J. Temple Graves are among the prominent orators who have addressed the sons of old Virginia mavericks in the west.

Judge Hayes was forced to decline the invitation owing to the fact that he is in the middle of the campaign for United States senator.

Last year Judge Hayes was forced to decline the pleasure of a trip to the University of Virginia to receive the highest honorary degree conferred by that great institution of learning, Doctor of Laws, pending before the state supreme court, of which he was then a candidate, called him to Oklahoma City for duty.

Even in every ten children observed outside of school hours in the average city are playing—doing nothing at all practically, as they say. There is nothing so dull, according to Arthur A. Hayes of the Washington Playground association.

The forest service has been requested to cooperate with the port authorities of Cape Hay, Wash., in planting to control shifting sand dunes.

The annual capacity of the forest nurseries of the government is about 25,000,000 young trees.

THE GOLDEN RULE

Is extending its influence more and more in business life and out of this modern realization of its great truth has come a hundred and one movements for the betterment of mankind—such as the adoption of more sane working hours these hot summer days for boys and girls who serve behind the counter. In New York the good people have educated themselves to a point where they realize that during hot days young men and young women should have to work but five of the six days of labor. Surely Tulsa women will help a good cause along by shopping early and thereby permitting Tulsa to take front rank as the most just town as well as the best business town in the whole state of Oklahoma. This store opens at 8:30 a. m. and closes at 5:00 p. m. each work day but Saturday, when we close at 9 p. m.
