COTTON

Cotton Off 1 to 5 Points.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Today's weather reports were enough to steady the price of cotton but offerings were well enough assorbed to comparatively small setbacks to give prices a generally steady undertone and the close was steady, a net loss of 1 to 5 points.

The market showed considerable firmness during the earlier trading, after opening at an advance of 1 to 4 points prices sold a couple of points under last night's closing figures as a result of liquidation prompted by the forecast for continued fine weather in the western belt, but the market soon became firm on foreign buying, reports of a better demand from domestic trade sources and local support. The advance carried active positions about 5 to 8 points net higher.
