Mexicans Flee.

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 3.—The Indiana commanded by Lieutenant Shannon were on guard when they reconnoitered the country about fifty southeast of Namiquipa on the Mexican Northwestern railway. Immediately they discovered the presence of the Indians the Mexicans took cover a few stray shots being fired. There were no American casualties according to the reports.

PRISONER CANNOT DO WITHOUT WORLD

Inmate of Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth Wants Paper.

R. K. Doyle, whom known in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., as "inmate No. 16199," can't do without the Tulsa World. He reads it each night in his cell, and he means to getting it, although he admits that he cannot pay for it until he gets out and is enabled to earn some money.

One of the most interesting and unusual letters ever received by the circulation department of The World came last week.

The letter reads as follows:

"Dear Sirs: Yours of recent date at hand and contents sadly noted. Why? Because I am afraid I am going to lose all the comfort I have, and that is The Tulsa World. I am penniless and of course friendless as I am in prison. I know I owe you for my paper and I have owed for it a long time. I have tried to raise the money to pay for it, but have failed. I have been dreading the day when you would want your money, and I have tried so hard to get it.

"I would like very much to have your good newspaper, but, of course, I haven't the money to send you, or I would do so at once. I am a carpenter by trade and have worked for some of the best people in Tulsa. I helped Mr. O'Keefe build your convention hall, and have worked for Bob Wilder a number of times, and other contractors of Tulsa. I had a good credit at Sand Springs, where I built a little home, which I have since lost. Mr. Carpenter, Mr. Lawless, Mr. Shreck, all merchants of Sand Springs, will tell you I paid my debts, and if you will trust me eleven months and twenty days more I will pay you as I have always paid my other debts.

"You don't know how much pleasure it is to me to have The Tulsa World to read after a hard day's work, and I am in my little cell and everything is quiet. You do not know how hard my lot would be without The World these lonesome evenings. (Say, have a heart). Keep sending my paper and I will give you my word of honor that I will walk in and pay like a man the first week I work after I get out of here. I am, or was, a union carpenter before I broke in here. I organized the Sand Springs local, and got them their charter, and I am going to be a union man when I get out of here, and try to work back, not 'beat back'.

"I am coming right back to good old Tulsa town to do it, too. But in the meantime I want The World. I like to see Tulsa grow, and everything else that is going on in Oklahoma and everywhere else, and with The World coming regularly I will have all the freshest news every evening in my little cell, and will be very happy to know that you will trust me, and I will be very careful to see that I come in and pay you. Have a heart and keep sending my greatest comfort, The Tulsa World. I have the honor to be, no dear sirs, yours with highest esteem and consideration,

R. K. DOYLE,
Reg. No. 16199.

"P. S.—Have a heart and send me my paper."

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Mr. Doyle will continue to get his paper.)

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.
