LOCALS LACK PUNCH IN SECOND BATTLE

Railroaders From Denison Paste a 5 to 3 Between Producers' Eyes.

COVINGTON IS WILD

Two Home Runs With Men on Bases Spelled Doom for Homers.

The Denison Railroaders rolled into yesterday's scheduled tilt with the Tulsa Producers full steam ahead, with boilers sizzling and with fuel aplenty to carry them down the full course to the ninth inning terminal. "Lefty" Watson, the engineer and his crew of eight husky assistants were all working overtime to retrieve the disgrace of the day before.

Before the third station had been passed they had wrecked the hopes of the local coterie and left them mangled corpses beside the glistening roadway.

Which is merely preliminary to telling ye gentle readers that the visitors captured the second session of the three game series with our fellows.

Home Runs Did It.

The peaky home runs, the first coming in the second with one man on, and the second coming in the third with two men on, amassed a total of five, a lead which the local battlers were never able to overcome.

The home entries fought with a sort of dogged determination right through to the very last, but were only able to score three runs. The final score was therefore 5 to 3.

Covie Was Wild.

The whole story of the local defeat is announced in the one word, wildness. "Vee" Covington, recently with the Mobile clubs in the Southern league, was cornishman for the Producers and he consumed territory from the visiting to the local player. Lefty tried in trifles to locate the plate. After the damage had been done in the second and third innings, he settled down and pitched a clever game of ball.

His opponent, Watson, was also wild, but he managed to keep the Producers lighting at the bat and struck out 12 of them.

The whole trouble started in the second when "Jew" Hellman was given a base on balls. Jansen took a hearty swing at a grooved one and sent it spinning over the center field fence. In the third Davis singled and was sent to third when Sykes walked. Kinney drove one to Brady forcing Sykes at second but sending Davis to third and himself being safe at first. Geary then lifted one over the fence.

In the fourth we scored a couple. Moore was hit by a pitched ball, Stewart walked and Wooley singled, filling the bases. Covington was walked forcing in Moore and Cole's single, scored Stewart. Wooley was held at third on the play where he died.

Our best chance to tie the things came in the seventh when Heatly, Lamb and Stewart singled, filling the bases. Ennis was walked forcing in Heatly. Wooley drove a long fly to center at this juncture but Lamb did not take a chance on coming in and the inning ended without any more runs being tallied.

Shortstop Yackey of the guests was disabled in the first inning in sliding to second. He ran into White and dislocated his knee.

Special to The World.

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 4.—A rally in the top part of Sale Jones' lengthy pitching in the seventh inning this afternoon sorted the Muskogee Mets over time and won the game for them 7 to 4. Robertson was drawn from the box the inside stanzas, two runs on him in the seventh and Hiett, a relief pitcher, was touched up for three more. Jones had only one bad inning, the first, when a base on balls, a single and a home run gave the Twins three runs.

Hopper's batting and fielding featured the game. He fell down at bat the early holder got two doubles and two singles. It was Hopper's sensational catch of Bowman's fly against right field fence in the sixth that robbed the Twins of at least two runs.

Eddie Palmer Mets short stop jumped his contract today leaving the Muskogee club with a badly weakened infield. Palmer informed Mag he was tired of playing in Muskogee because the fans and newspapers "trade" him every time he loses a ball. Mag expressed the opinion that Palmer quit thinking that his action might influence the manager to trade him to some other league. Mag has announced that Palmer will not be released or traded but will be suspended. Hill, third baseman, played short for the Mets today, Gurtz taking third.

ANSON SAYS BALL NOT WHAT IT WAS

Veteran Claims that Heroes of Yesteryear Were the Greater Men.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Cap Anson is one man who will not agree that baseball had advanced with the times. The theories of the great game are somewhat different than in the days when Anson played, but he insists that the men who wore the uniform in the early eighties could hold their own today. He says, for example, that the pitchers had to be able to hit the ball as well as curve it, and that they had to run the bases with some degree of speed and judgment on occasion. They had to play other positions. If they could not perform all these duties they were more than liable to draw the blue envelope.

There were exceptions, of course, men of the stamp of Tim Keefe and Jim Galvin, who won lasting fame as pitchers, who who were about as effective with the stick as Al Demaree or Leon Ames. Jean Ainsley Tener, now president of the National league, played under Anson and was not only a great pitcher, but a batsman of rank. Cuthbert Thornton, the great Jack Luby, could slug with the best of them. Luby, in the season of 1890, when he won 17 games straight, hit .342. Gumbert and Thornton might have had their shortcomings as pitchers, but their all-around efficiency qualified them for service in the National league.

WILLIE LEWIS IN REMINISCENT MOOD

Trainer of Frank Moran Tells About the McCoy-Stewart Bout.

STARTS WORK TODAY

Next Opponent of Carl Morris Will Be on Road This Morning.

After announcing to reporters yesterday afternoon that Frank Moran, who meets Carl Morris in a fifteen-round bout at Association park next Labor day, would begin a heavy training routine today, Willie Lewis, chief trainer for Moran and former welterweight champion of the world, lapsed into a reminiscent mood.

Lewis is one of the greatest characters in the American ring and has a wonderful stock of stories about present and former champions with whom he has been intimately associated.

Lewis told yesterday of the Kid McCoy-Jim Stewart scrap in New York back in 1908.

Kid Out of Shape.

"That fight marked McCoy's first real ring appearance since his retirement six or eight years before," said Lewis. "At that time the Kid was much out of shape. Stewart, on the other hand, was just in his prime. Many touted him as the coming champion.

"The fight took place in New York and was scheduled to go six rounds. Friends of the Kid told him he was crazy to go on with the match, pointing out that he didn't have a chance in the world against the fast and hard-hitting Stewart.

"In the first round of that fight McCoy amazed the crowd by rushing Stewart. After he had chased him a bit, the Kid stopped, as though winded. Stewart raced in, swung at the Kid and—missed. A fraction of a second later a terrific right crashed against Stewart's jaw. That punch carried behind it all the power that was in the overplus body of Kid McCoy. When it landed, Stewart staggered for a minute and then sank to the mat.

"At the count of nine he arose to his feet but before McCoy could rush in again the round ended.

Energy All Gone.

"That first round had used up McCoy. The exertion took from him all the reserve energy he had.

"Stewart, as I have stated, was just then on the ascendant. He was aiming for the championship. To be knocked out by the ancient McCoy would be a killer for him, as far as title aspirations were concerned. And McCoy, crafty, shrewd McCoy, had that all figured out before the fight. Stewart came out cautiously from his corner. McCoy met him in the center and made a swing that threw him—as he intended—into a clinch.

"'No rough stuff from now on, Stewart—no rough stuff,' McCoy chanted into Stewart's ears. 'Take it easy from now on or I'll shoot over another punch and knock you dead. D'ya hear?'

"Shortly after the third round opened Stewart thought he detected signs of weariness about McCoy. He decided that the Kid was bluffing—that the Kid didn't have a good wallop left in his system. Stewart made up his mind to slam McCoy with a terrible right. He shot over the punch, but McCoy blocked it with startling cleverness and then clinched.

"Brain Work".

"'Say, you poor boob, didn't I tell you not to get rough?' snarled McCoy. 'Try that punch again and you're through—get me? You're through. I'm a has-been and if I knock you out you're a has-been, too. You're a pretty cod kid and I'll let you stay the limit if you are nice; but if you get funny, you'll go down and out!'

"And from then on Stewart never made a real effort to knock out McCoy. The poor, old, winded and all-in McCoy, using his crafty brain, was able to throw fear into the stout heart of Jim Stewart, was able by that one and only punch he had, and by his shrewdness to stave off a knockout by the husky young Stewart; was able to last out the six rounds and gain a popular decision over a youngster who should have been able to send him into dreamland at any time after the second round opened!"

EASTERN STARS WIN IN SINGLE MATCHES

R. Norris Williams Wins Feature Match of Day from William E. Johnson.

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Aug. 4.—Eastern tennis stars made a clean sweep of the four singles matches which constituted the first half of the East vs. West tournament staged on the courts of the West Side club here today. The feature match of the day was the contest between William M. Johnston of San Francisco, the national singles champion and R. Norris Williams II of Philadelphia, 1914 champion. The two leaders of their sections in tennis battled through a five-set match, which Williams finally won in the twilight by scores of 5-6, 6-2, 8-6, 4-6, 9-7. In the other matches George M. Church (East) won from Charles J. Griffin (West) 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Watson M. Washburn (East) won from Robert L. Murray (West) 1-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, 2-2 (Murray defaulted). Karl H. Behr (East) won from Willis E. Davis (West) 6-0, 3-6, 6-1, 6.

Now You Know.

"I see by the paper," said Mrs. Robinson, "that the Browns have secured a divorce on the ground of incompatibility. What does that mean?"

"Incompatibility," replied the head of the family, "may mean either one of two things. It may mean that the husband's income is so small that he is unable to provide his wife with the luxuries to which she thinks she's entitled, or it may mean that his income is so great that he is unable to spend it all on one woman."
