GAME WITH O. U. LOOMS UP AHEAD

Kendall Collegians Will Tackle Bitter Rivals for Supremacy.

LOOK FOR VICTORY

Coaches Will Send Team Through Gruelling Test for Contest.

With the biggest game of the season just one week off, the Kendall huskies will go through a hard workout every afternoon during this week. The local collegians will meet the O. U. team in Norman Saturday and one of the hardest fought games of the season is expected.

A special train will take the Kendallites to the scene of action, it leaves here early in the morning and stops in Oklahoma City to pick up additional coaches and then runs to Norman. The special will return late Saturday night.

Coaches McBirney and Schmalz allowed the local players rest yesterday afternoon following their victory over Phillips university Friday and plan to run the team through hard scrimmage every afternoon this week. The bad places in the work of the Kendall team will be worked over and the team rounded into shape for the Saturday encounter. This game is looked forward to with no little degree of interest for two of the strongest teams in the whole southwest battle for supremacy.

Aside from a little stiffness every one of the Kendall boys is in good shape and will work into winning form.

Miller reported last week for practice, but he has been in training all along and with a little work he will be in as good form as ever.

Young and Grove are playing together and promise to give the normalites a study in driving power during the game Saturday.

Winslow, Haus, Jones, Handley, Ammons and Coffey are in the game to win and their work brooks no good for their opponents.

"Puny" Blevins is hitting the line like a human battering ram. "Puny" is always good for a gain when he escorts the pigskins. He is being used for punting at times, also.

SOONERS DEFEAT NORMALITES 140-0

With Rumors That Kendall Men Were Watching No Tricks Are Pulled.

NEW STAR UNCOVERED

Homer Montgomery Had Expected a Harder Game Than One Which Came.

Special to The World.

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 7.—The Southwestern normal from Weatherford went down to overwhelming defeat this afternoon when the Oklahoma Sooners romped away with a 140 to 0 contest.

Coach Bennie Owen used care in selecting his lineup and, following the report that several members of the Kendall college eleven were in the grandstand, Owens' men resorted to no trick pays throughout the game. The Sooners' few efforts at forward passing met with indifferent success, the line bucking off the Sooners' netted long gains.

Captain Montgomery, McDermott and McCain starred. The Sooners expecting a harder game than last week's when they defeated the Oklahoma Catholic college 107 to 0 hit the Weatherford line hard during the first quarter and piled up a total of 48 points.

In the second quarter they continued their work of tearing up the Southwestern line and increased the score to 87. Coach Owen rushed in a squad of substitutes in the second half. Lippert, a speedy little Dutchman, proved a sensation, scoring two touchdowns and making gain after gain on end runs.

The lineup:

WEATHERFORD		SOONERS
Anderson	LE	Fields
James	LT	Tolbert
Hardegree	LG	Davis
Noel	C	S. Montgomery
Hutt	RG	McGlothlin
Taylor	RT	Tyler
Hammond	RE	H. Montgomery
Riley	LH	McCain
Gibbs	RH	McDermott
Sanders	FB	Wilmoth
Williams	Q	Johnson

Official referee, Ponder; umpire, Collins; head linesman, Hill.

Arkansas the Winner.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 7.—After being held scoreless by Hendrix college in the first period today the University of Arkansas football team unlimbered an attack which gave them three touchdowns in each of the last three periods and the game by a score of 48 to 0. Bain, Arkansas' left halfback, smashed over left tackle and ran 55 yards for one of the touchdowns.

BOWLING SEASON ROLLING MERRILY

Since Mayor Opened Play Activities Have Picked Up Here.

PILCHERS ARE CLASSY

Arcade Tenpin League Developing Some Clever Players Now.

(By SCHWEITZER.)

The official league bowling season in the Arcade Tinpin league was given an exceptionally good start on last Monday night when Mayor John H. Simmons addressed the assembled bowlers and their friends, which included not a few ladies, and then delivered the first ball on the middle alley. Contrarray to expectations, his honor used excellent speed and was much more graceful in action than the ordinary amateur. However, he was not able to keep the ball in the middle and it rolled rapidly to the left and took off the No. 7 pin, by many considered the hardest pin to hit (when there are no others standing with it). In his talk he boosted Tulsa, saying that Tulsa is first in everything of importance in this section, and is represented in absolutely every line of business and sport. He said he was pleased to be invited to open a league composed of men, so many of whom are prominent in business and social circles, and whose affiliation in a bowling league is bound to result in much good to all concerned. President H. R. Cline introduced the mayor in a very graceful effort and showed that he is as good a talker as he is a bowler. In the course of his introductory remarks Mr. Cline remarked that the prize committee reported $80 subscribed and the list incomplete.

The match that followed was a very good one from the standpoint of the spectators, as there was only a difference of ten pins in favor of the Texacos over the Aetnaizers in the first game; and of nine pins in favor of the Aetnaizers in the third game. The second game was a runaway for the Texas Company boys, as Harry Stewart put up 214 and William Middaugh scored 208 pins. The Texacos as a team averaged 159 2-3 pins for the match, while the Aetnaizers team averaged 151 11-15 pins per man. Inasmuch as the league claims a general average of 160 pins average per man and the season is very young, it will be seen that both teams are bowling pretty well to form. Many of the players and spectators were much disappointed over the showing of Goss of the Texacos, but the fact of the matter is that he has had sickness in his family and has not had an opportunity to practice. He has provided himself with a new ball and we expect a far different story in his next appearance. McCoy showed poorly, chiefly on account of a very sore thumb. Cadman was also off his usual game and a total of six "splits" helped to hold his scores down. Goss made seven splits. Stewart and Middaugh were the stars; each man bowled well consistently throughout and each having only two misses in the match. Middaugh marked in every frame in the second game. Tyson bowled well, making an average of 168 2-3. Hunter Martin had two good games, but fell off badly in the second game of the match, having three misses and three splits. Abbott, McKerren and Gideon kept up close to their usual average, but will improve as the season progresses.

Pilcher's Team Wins.

On Wednesday night Ira Pilcher's team won three straight games from the Indian Traders, all three of the Pilchers games being in excess of 800 pins and their total 2,507 pins, a truly remarkable showing at this early date. The Indian Trading company's team put up 835 pins in the last game, losing the game by only eight pins in a heart-breaking finish. McCullough had high average for the match with 184 2-3 pins to his credit, with Pilcher a close second with an average of 180 1-3 pins. Other averages were as follows: M. E. Cline 171 1-3, Herefourt and L. Wienecke 166 each, Sanford 157 1-3, and the remaining three less than 150 average. Ewing was away off his usual game on account of lack of practice, as was Howard, but they will be up there on average when the bell rings for the close of the season.

The business men have lent a great deal of encouragement to the bowlers by their willingness and generosity in donating prizes for bowling, and the members of the league thank the following for their generous support: Exchange National bank, cash $25; Smokewell Cigar company, Young Bros. cigar store and Jacobus & Daley, cigars, $10 each; Bass studio photographs, $10; Palace Office Supply company, fountain pens, $7; Mayo Furniture company, humidor, $6.50; B. B. shoe store, bowling shoes, $6.50; Mayo cigar store, cigars, $5; Tulsa Greenhouse, growing plants, $5; Akin Bootcrie, weekly prize for 25 weeks, sox at 25 cents; Arcade Bowling Parlor, bowling ball, $15; Indian Trading company, cigars, $15. One member of the prize committee was called out of town on business and those donating prizes to him cannot receive credit for same until his return, which will be early in the week probably. In addition to the above prizes, one-fourth of the money paid in by the players at each match will be turned over to the league treasurer, Charles E. Friend of the Exchange National bank, and will be added to the amount of the entrance fees of $1 per member for distribution in accordance with the number of games won by the several teams. This method of division even gives the tailenders a share of the prize money and shows a very unselfish attitude upon the part of the teams which hope to be in the hunt for the pennant from the very beginning.

The standing of the teams on Friday morning was as follows:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pilchers	3	0	1.000
Texacos	2	1	.667
Aetnaizers	1	2	.333
Indian Traders	0	3	.000
Exchange Nationals	0	0	.000
Gillettes	0	0	.000

This Week's Schedule.

Monday—Aetnaizers vs. Pilchers.
Wednesday—Gillettes vs. Texacos.
Friday—Exchange Nationals vs. Indian Traders.

LOCALS TAKE ON PAWNEE HI HERE

Coach Baker's Charges Are in for Hard Week of Practice.

TEAM SHOWS CLASS

Several Men Are Good for All-State Positions, Is Belief.

Association park will be the scene of much action this week on the part of Tulsa high boys in preparation for the game with the Pawnee high school next Friday. The game is certain to be fast and the score close.

After trouncing the Okmulgee high Friday afternoon on their own territory with a score of 47 to 0, the Tulsa huskies were given a rest and were not out to practice yesterday afternoon.

Coach Baker plans to bring the team up to championship form by the end of the ensuing week. The week will be filled with perfecting the old plays and working up a few new ones. The game Friday was just the acid test needed by the varsity team and the weak places on the eleven will be bolstered up by diligent work.

With the smoothing of the wrinkles in the present bunch and the appearance of several old football men the prospects were never better for a championship team since '14. Although the team will not reach the weight of last year's aggregation, the present team is without doubt the fastest team in the state.

Backfield Good.

In the speedy back field Price looms up as probably the greatest man in high school football in the state, his passing is great and the way he controls the ball is a sight well worth witnessing.

Hopping at full is a new find for the gridsters and promises to do some hard fighting for a berth on the all-state team. Hopping is a bear on receiving punts and his speed enables him to circle the end almost at will for long gains. Hopping is acknowledged to be the fastest fullback in the game.

Lautaret at half is a demon and tackles with little mercy for his opponents. Lautaret is a letter man of the last two years and runs interference perfectly; this in a measure accounts for the long gains made around the ends.

Keffer, a veteran of no little ability, is running the team at quarter and punts forty or fifty yards for several gains and will be of great value in dropkicking goals.

Chadwell and Aitken are showing up in fine shape and are great on tackling and breaking up passes and end runs.

Miller, Oliver, Cory, Bailey and Young are demons on the line and are exhibiting winning form on defensive work.

BOSTON WINNER IN FIRST GAME OF THE SERIES

favorable forecast made by the weather man. The sun, however, bothered the outfielders badly at times and several hits were lost that otherwise would have gone as sure outs.

Small Boys Saw It.

Viewed from the upper tiers of the huge stands the crowded park presented a most picturesque scene when Myers stepped to the plate to open the game. Beyond the center field a railroad freight-house roof was massed with gardmen and small boys while the Armory building, a block away photographers with telescopic lenses and with those inside in taking pictures.

The fans cheered their favorites with vim and enthusiasm from the moment the players appeared upon the field. It was a typical American baseball gathering which understood the intricacies of the sport and which followed the game from the grandstands and bleachers as only an American throng can.

There was a finish to Boston's work which was lacking in the play of the Brooklyn combination. Both in hitting and fielding the Boston's showed perfect concentration and judgment as was demonstrated by their four outstanding double plays and the manner in which they switched from bunting to hard hitting attack at just the proper moment.

Offensive Was Easy.

The National league contenders were not lacking in either spirit or playing to the out their hit and run offense was on the whole easy for the Red Sox to solve and turn back. There was also a noticeable lack of speed on the part of several of the Brooklyn players, which, combined with poor judgment as to who should handle batted balls at certain critical moments set Boston men on bases instead of turning the plays into outs.

Keen critics on the game also think evident that Manager Carrigan scored in his battle of wits and generalship with Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn clubs, for the former by sending Shore to the mound against Marquard saved his best left handers, Ruth and Leonard, for the games to follow. Marquard was considered by many to be Robinson's best card and the fact that he was defeated gives Carrigan the whip hand so far as pitchers go for the next game or two.

Both Teams Confident.

It was a narrow squeak, however, for the Red Sox and the Brooklyn players are far from being downcast tonight. They proclaimed boldly that they will not wait until the final inning to go after their opponents on Monday and that once they reimburse their bats there will be no question regarding the winner. All of which apparently fails to make any impression on the confidence of the Boston Americans.
