TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

MODELL'S Universal Newspaper, where the enterprising salesman and newsboy gives you the minimum of service in salesmanship. Senator Wildman and Hon. The former said that he was one that had never his head well enough for the last seven years of his natural life, and the latter said, that he was one that was afraid to read it for the reason that his mother-in-law remarked that he was like a telegraph that the nearer had unknown after it had served for years that were developed with shocks. First Tulsa Woman Called as a Juror Gets Disappointed

When F. M. Haggerty's name was drawn from the tax rolls as a prospective juror, it wasn't know that the possessor of the name was a woman, and when Mrs. Haggerty answered the call of the roll of the new venire in the county court Monday, Judge L. J. Martin was visibly embarrassed.

The court would have been willing for Mrs. Haggerty to have taken a seat in the jury box for jurors were scarce and there are 500 cases awaiting trial, and Mrs. Haggerty offered no objection to serving, but unfortunately for both the court and the woman, the Oklahoma law does not permit women to serve on juries.

"You are excused, madam, a mistake has been made," said Judge Martin and Mrs. Haggerty gathered up her shopping bag and left the courtroom.

BORAH OPPOSES PACT WITH RECENT CHANGE

Idaho Senator Says He Will Continue Battle Against Proposed Covenant in Statement.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Senator Borah of Idaho, republican, upon his return tonight from a 10 days' speaking trip in opposition to the proposed league of nations, announced that his objections to the league constitution had not been removed by the amendments recently adopted, and that he still would oppose it.

Senator Borah in astatement said he was opposed to the covenant, even as amended, because it would commit the United States to alliance with European and Asiatic powers and oblige this country to take part in the "conflicts and turmoil," would compel the United States to assume the obligation of guaranteeing the territorial integrity and political inspirations of all nations, leaves the entire machinery of the league in European and Asiatic powers, contains ineffective provisions for disarmament, contains inappropriate and wholly inadequate safeguards for the Monroe doctrine; fails to provide any machinery for the application of the principle of self-determination of nations, and "fails to provide any check of control over the five or nine men within whose unlimited and undefinited discretion rests the question of peace or war."

TIGERT WILL HELP CITY'S YOUNG FOLKS

That Is Why Harry Kiskadden, Oil Man and Musician, Favors Helping New Church.

"No city can do too much to develop the young people who are to become its future citizens, and that means not only in the business opportunities that are afforded, but it should essentially include that which tends to make them better men and women morally and physically," said Harry Kiskadden, local oil and and musician.

"That is the outstanding reason I'm so heartily in favor of the building of the Tigert Memorial church. It not only will be a place where our people may gather for worship, but it will be a magnet to draw into the fields of church life the younger folks. With the fine swimming pool, the splendid gymnasium, the educational moving picture shows and the band hall court, you can expect to find the young men and the young women of the north side of the city around this great building at every opportunity.

"The average boy and girl wants to be good, but they get away from the proper environments and into bad company when they seek amusement. With the ideal surroundings of institutions like the proposed church and the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., it's mighty difficult for one to get into trouble. I feel that the church is needed on the north side, and its plan is so comprehensive, it is one of the most vitally needed things at this time to make Tulsa a real home city."

Mr. Kiskadden, who has considerable reputation as an organist, is particularly pleased that there is to be another fine instrument brought to the city. "It means more than mere serving the church as an instrument; it is helping to make Tulsa appreciate of the fine things in a musical way, and I look forward to the time when this church will be thrown open for free concerts on the organ by the great masters of the instrument, who will will be brought here through the agency of the men who are backing the institution. I'm strong for the 'pop' concert, and know they will some day become a Tulsa institution,' he said.
