CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY WITH LOAN-GOVERNOR

Robertson Asks Oklahoma to Subscribe Quota on April 21 and Observe Anniversary Next Day.

PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED

State Formally Called On to Buy Bonds—Volunteer Day Is Declared Legal Holiday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 17.—That the unqualified success of the Victory loan campaign is a paramount issue in the state today and that subscriptions should be made voluntarily without requiring solicitation, was declared by Gov. J. B. A. Robertson in an official statement issued this afternoon.

Governor Robertson in a message to the citizens of Oklahoma says:

"Our quota of the new Victory loan should be voluntarily subscribed on the first day of the official drive, April 21, and April 22, Oklahoma's birthday could then be celebrated as a holiday to commemorate our victory in the war and our state's remarkable achievement in the subscription of our quota of this loan. The complete success in putting over this series of bonds is a matter of paramount interest in the establishment of a lasting peace and the early return of these heroic Americans who are still holding war's last frontier somewhere in Germany and France.

"They made their sacrifice for us when the world was aflame and now when victory through their efforts is proclaimed through all the world and peace for all the war weary nations is at hand, let us fulfill our sacred obligation to this victorious legion by lending our government, the best on earth, the money to bring these boys home in triumph and in health in order that they may be speedily returned to their loved ones and assume once more the pleasures and duties of American citizenship.

"Let us make this a thank offering for the return of peace and prosperity to the people of the world and not wait to be solicited and importuned. Remember, that it is the most attractive loan ever offered to the public in this or any other country and you are entitled to your share.

"Good roads speakers will give their time to make the Victory loan a success and those opposing the good roads bond issue have also, I understand, promised their support."

This message followed a proclamation which had been issued by Governor Robertson calling on all people in the state to make Tuesday, April 22, a public holiday to be designated as Volunteer day. In the course of his proclamation Governor Robertson said:

"In appreciation of the sacrifices made by our sons on the glorious fields in France in the cause of our national and state honor and liberty and in commemoration of the birthday of our state I, J. B. A. Robertson, by the authority vested in me as governor of the state of Oklahoma, do hereby declare Tuesday, April 22, 1919, to be a statewide public holiday and to be designated as Victory Volunteer day.

"I hereby call upon the patriotic citizens of Oklahoma to on this day answer the appeal of the national government and tender their support in its necessities by the voluntary purchase of Victory Liberty bonds in accordance with their ability to buy.

"The national government has appealed to our honor as a state of the union to do our part in meeting this emergency to help pay our debts and bring our soldiers back home.

"I appeal to all loyal citizens to quit their private business on this day and answer the call of our government by subscribing for and selling Victory bonds in the hope that Oklahoma may herald to the world its voluntary response to the last appeal of our country for aid in the great war."

CAPTAIN HENRY L. FIST ENTERS LAW FIRM HERE

Henry L. Fist, former newspaperman and for over a year before entering the first officers' training camp, city clerk of Muskogee, has come to Tulsa to engage in the practice of law with the firm of Brown and Yancey, with offices in the Mayo building.

Mr. Fist probably has the distinction of having been Oklahoma's youngest newspaper reporter. When 14 years of age, he began working on regular assignments out of school hours, for a newspaper in Muskogee. When he completed his high school course, he studied at the university of Missouri and later returned to Muskogee to continue his newspaper work. In 1915 he became active in politics and when J. E. Wyand was elected mayor of Muskogee, Fist was appointed city clerk. When war was declared upon Germany Fist went to Camp Pike and was later commissioned first lieutenant.

From Camp Pike, He was sent to Camp McArthur, Texas, where he was assigned to the quartermaster's department. He negotiated many contracts for the government in connection with the establishment of that camp and in addition to this service, won recognition by devising an early into effect a plan whereby immense quantities of material used in the camp which might otherwise have gone to waste, was turned to profit by his salvage process. He was honorably discharged from the army last week with the rank of captain.

LEGAL LIMIT HAD RUN ON NOTE HE ENDORSED

A verdict for the defendant was returned in superior court Thursday in the suit of the German Banking company of Toledo, Ohio, against F. D. Prentice, brought to recover $200 on a promissory note indorsed by the defendant in 1908. The defendant convinced the jury that the statutes of limitations had run against the note, the suit first having been filed against the defendant more than five years after the making of the instrument.

Andrew and Imogene

BY ROE FULKERSON

"LET us go to the picture show," said Imogene.

"Huhum," dissented Andrew, "want to finish my book. He and she are just about to come to a clinch."

"Oh, put aside that book," protested Imogene. "It is nothing but trash Come on over to the picture show with me."

"Trash! Trash!" he demanded. "You want me to lay down this book and go with you to see a guy tied to a log in a sawmill and bisected like King Solomon did the baby?"

"You want me to go and watch a kitchen maid turned into a society bud after six months in a finishing school!

"You call this trash and expect me to believe the young millionaire in the film will marry the poor waitress at the seaside hotel after she swims out in the waves and rescues him from a watery grave, all nicely prepared in a glass tank?

"You call this book trash, and want me to go over there and see bull fights in Spain, cock fights in Mexico, tiger shotting in India and Indian shooting in California, and all pulled off in a town where they pull newsboys for shooting craps?

"My dear woman, you are trying to corrupt my morals when I am here at home reading a sweet book about a poor girl who is accused of murdering her father because the bloody finger marks are like the finger marks she left on the kitchen wall one time when she was adjusting the carburetor on the kitchen range.

"It is a highly moral book, where virtue emerges triumphant from the snares of the wicked, and I am on page 64, and only one man killed so far.

"I am trying to lead a life of sweet innocence and contentment, and am trying to encourage the naurally moral streak which dominates my whole life, and you want to lead me off to a movie where I will learn murder, arson, mayhem and things like that.

"Have I ever beat you?"

"Beaten me, you mean," corrected Imogene.

"Woman, this is cave-man stuff. This is a question of physical violence, not of grammar.

"Again I ask you, have I ever handed you a beautiful carved and engraved bust on the heezer?"

"No," said Imogene, patiently.

"Well, that's because I have kept away from the movies and stayed at home reading Mary Louise Alcott's 'Little Women' and similar books."

"I do not care particularly," said Imogene. "I noticed the News Weekly had a lot of pictures of the baseball team in one of its practice games."

Andrew shifted in his chair. He read half a page in his book, then laid it down and lighted a cigaret. Then he took up his book and glanced at it again. He closed it on his finger.

"Do you really want to go?" he asked.

"Not particularly."

"Oh, come on!" he said, rising. "I see I am not going to get any peace until I go."

She smiled as she left the room, but he was still trying to look impatient and fierce.

County to Round Up Tulsa Loafers for Road Crews

A plan to make Tulsa an unhealthy place for loafers is now being formulated. Thomas I. Munroe, county attorney, and Sheriff James Woolley having come to the conclusion that the state laws against vagrancy are sufficiently strong to allow the county to gather in all those who refuse to work, to the direct benefit of Tulsa county roads.

Munroe stated Thursday that under the latest session laws any prisoner held in the county jail on any charge whatever, can be compelled at the order of the county commissioners to perform labor on any public road or any other public project under the supervision of the proper authorities.

The county is put to the expense of 75 cents a day to feed each prisoner and since the men can be compelled to work for one dollar a day compensation, the county gains the benefit of the road work and is benefited to the extent of 25 cents a day for each prisoner employed in this manner. For 30 days' work the prisoner is allowed credit for $30 on a fine and it costs the county $22.50 to feed and care for the prisoner during that time.

Jack Slaughter, secretary of the Tulsa Automobile association, requested Munroe to place the former's name before the board of Tulsa county commissioners at the next meeting, April 21, as a candidate for special road supervisor for Tulsa city.

Slaughter advanced the idea that if half of the loafers in Tulsa could be convicted in the justice courts of vagrancy and put to work on the county and city roads and city streets a great improvement would result both in the roads and in a diminishing number of jobless persons in Tulsa.

Munroe said he would take the matter up with the sheriff and other county authorities and that in the near future a general cleanup of the city would begin. He further said that the drive would begin in the sections of the city generally considered the loafing place of those who refuse to work and extend into the best business section of the city, where, it was the opinion of Munroe, there are as many loafers of the first class as anywhere in the city.

WOMAN ASKS $10,000 FOR BUMP INTO WINDSHIELD

Injuries she received when she was thrown into the windshield of an automobile in which she was riding with her husband when the car collided with an auto driven by the defendant, occasioned a suit filed in district court Thursday by Martha A. Shipman against M. I. Frederick, in which the plaintiff asks personal damages of $10,000. The plaintiff's husband, J. P. Shipman, filed suit to recover $500, the alleged damage to his car resulting from the collision.

The plaintiffs in the two suits allege that they were riding in their automobile April 8, 1919, driving north on Main street, and at the intersection of Main and Twelfth street, Frederick, in violation of the city traffic ordinances, suddenly swerved around the corner, driving his car into the vehicle occupied by the plaintiffs.

EMPRESS BEGINS RUTH ROLAND'S SERIAL SUNDAY

Story by Arthur B. Reeves, Creator of "Craig Kennedy;" Better Even Than "Lightning Raider."

The thrilling new serial story, written by Arthur B. Reeves, creator of the famous "Craig Kennedy" detective stories, which have won him the soubriquet of the "Conan Doyle of America," begins its 15 weeks' run at the Empress Sunday, starring the beautiful and popular screen star, Ruth Roland.

A sample of what is promised in this remarkable serial is being shown at the Empress now in the form of a trailer of 250 feet, showing some of the thrilling scenes that are to come. Two or three of these fairly make the audience gasp for breath.

Ruth Roland, next to Pearl White, is perhaps the most fascinating serial star in the pictures. She has appeared in many and all with great success. The productions by Pathe, which is a guarantee of its excellence.

The new vaudeville show that accompanies the beginning of the new serial Sunday is one of unusual excellence. A Boyle Woolfolk girl act of seven people, "Sweethearts of Mine," composed mostly of girls, is the feature, and there are four other acts.

By the way, don't by any means miss seeing Bronson & Howard, fourth act on the present bill at the Empress. One of the cleverest teams that has ever been to Tulsa. They are Orpheum artists and are playing at the Empress on their return from the big time down in Texas.—Adv.

CONSORSHIP ON CABLES REMOVED BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Changes in the cable censorship regulations which will permit transmission without interference by the United States censorship of messages between the United States and Central America, South America and the West Indies, including Mexico and Cuba, were announced tonight by Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department. The new regulations, which will become effective tomorrow, will permit the sending of private code between the United States and those countries.

Censorship of cablegrams to or from points within British, French or Italian territory, irrespective of their route or termini, also has been removed by this government, as well as messages between all parts of the world and Central and South America, which pass through the United States or its possessions.

BROADWAY

"The Professor's Predicament," the new comedy playlet presented at the Broadway theater yesterday by the fearless Eve company, deals with prize fight, a raid by the police, a pretended missionary and an alleged lunatic. Dan Duncan made a big hit at the prize fight and almost broke up the show with his song, aided and abetted ably by the chorus. George Clark as the missionary, appeared at his best and demonstrated some real talent. Cheshire also appeared to splendid advantage in song and talk and was quite successful in getting the professor to accompany him to the prize ring. George Crump made a good policeman and Andy Duncan scored with his hard shoe dancing and made the "green grass" grow too fast. Miss Colson was exceptionally good in the role of the old maid sister, while Adda Driffle created a new sensation as a new member and made quite a hit in song, she having a splendid voice. The Belmont quartet responded to numerous encores. In fact, the members of this splendid singing aggregation scored their biggest success. They proved a regular riot. There is a classy five-reel photoplay featuring Violet Messereau in "The Nature Girl." Don't miss it today. Starts at 1 o'clock. Come early and get good seats.

CHARGE MISSIONARIES GIVE AID TO KOREANS

Japanese Contend That Americans Harbor Agitators and Permit Use of Premises for Purpose.

By The Associated Press

SEUL, Saturday, April 17.—The houses of seven American missionaries at Pyeng Yang in northern Korea were searched by the Japanese at the time of the arrest early this week of the Rev. Eli M. Mowrey, a Presbyterian missionary, according to official advices.

The official report says the Japanese authorities obtained knowledge that Koreans engaged in editing and circulating news of the independence movement were hiding in Rev. Mowrey's residence and were issuing newspapers and circulars from the house. More than 40 policemen were stationed around the house during the search to prevent the escape of the suspects. Eleven Koreans, including a girl, were arrested, it is stated, and three copying presses and documents relating to the independence movement were seized. Six of those arrested were found guilty and sent to prison. The others were freed.

Rev. Mowrey, the report adds, is charged with harboring persons actively engaged in propaganda instead of permitting the use of his premises for printing propaganda as at first reported.

Commenting on Rev. Mowrey's arrest, the newspapers of Seul charge that the conduct of some missionaries in Pyeng Yank and Syen C'hyun, northwest of Pyeng Yang had been anything but discreet and claims that notwithstanding their professions of neutrality, some of the missionaries have given the impression by their actions that they encourage the Korean agitators. The newspapers express the belief that the missionary body in Korea as a whole is not anti-Japanese and is not inclined to encourage the Koreans, but they fear the Pyeng Yang incident will give the jingoistic newspapers of Japan fresh material for further attacks on foreign missionaries.

TRANSPORT SINKS TUG ONE KONWN TO BE DEAD

NEW YORK, April 17.—The homecoming joy of 1,262 troops on the steamer Saxonia was dashed this morning when the soldiers clustered at the rail saw the naval tug Freehold sent to the bottom of the Hudson river by a blow from the Saxonia whaleback as she was working to warp the big liner into her pier.

A member of the Freehold's crew showed three men missing. Rescuing members of the crew said that they saw Larry Lanahan, chief machinist's mate, sink after a short struggle. It was thought possible that the other two men unaccounted for had been picked up by small boats and taken ashore.

THREE SOLDIERS ARE HELD FOR TAKING M'KAY AUTO

Detectives Brauns and Carmichael returned from Oklahoma City last night with the Chalmers chummy roadster that was stolen from C. W. McKay of 12 Henrietta apartments.

The police also brought back three soldiers who gave their names as H. L. Smith, Jess Smith and F. W. Smith, charged with stealing the machine.

GYMNASIUM FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS IS INSTALLED

A gymnasium for convalescent soldiers is the latest feature for Knights of Columbus war relief work. This has been installed by K. of C. secretary F. A. Wendle in base hospital No. 131 complex N. 1.

The equipment was installed with a view of providing means of entertainment and recreation for soldiers recovering from wounds or illness and who are not strong enough to participate in outdoor games or take the full course of exercise at a regular gymnasium. This latest K. of C. feature is right in the hospital building and of easy access to convalescents. That it is appreciated is evinced by the large number of men visiting it daily.

Farmer's Wife Gains Fifteen Pounds on Tanlac and Her Troubles Are Overcome

"My wife has been in a general run-down condition and gradually declining in health for the past seven years," said M. S. Biddle, a well-known and prosperous farmer of Altona, Okla., recently. "Her appetite was very poor and I don't see how she kept alive on the little she would eat. The least little thing would excite and upset her nerves and she couldn't get enough sound sleep to rest her. She couldn't do any housework at all and had to spend most of her time in bed. She would get up in the mornings and before noon have to go back to bed she felt so weak.

"Everything was done for her it seemed that could be. I spent over $1,300 for trips to health resorts, treatment and medicines, but she kept going down. She fell off until she weighed only 97 pounds and got so bad off that no one thought she could live more than a month or so at best. She was discouraged and despondent and I got mighty uneasy for fear the worst might come most any time.

"I hardly knew what to try next until I saw the Tanlac testimonials in the papers and I made up my mind from what others said to get my wife a bottle of Tanlac. Well, it proved to be just the right thing and I have no doubt but what it has saved her life. She began to eat something and relish it in just a few days and I could see a change for the better taking place. She has only taken two bottles of Tanlac so far, has a good appetite and what she eats is building her up in flesh and strength. Why just on these two bottles she has gained 15 pounds in weight and looks better than she has in five years. She sleeps well at night, her nerves are getting calm and steady and she is still improving right along. I recommend Tanlac because it has done my wife more good than everything else she has ever tried put together and I think everybody ought to know about a medicine that is doing so much good."

Tanlac is sold in Tulsa by Quaker Drug company, Puritan Drug company and by the leading druggists in practically every city, town and village in America.—Adv.

SHOOK WITH NERVOUSNESS

A Lady Was Flat on Her Back With Terrible Spells, But Her Husband Got Cardui—And Now She Is Grateful.

McKinney, Texas.—Mrs. Mary Stephenson, of this place, states: "About a year and a half ago I was down in bed for six weeks, not able to sit up. I was flat on my back and looked like I would die. At times I didn't know anything. I would get nervous, I couldn't bear any one to talk to me—I would just jerk and shook with nervousness . . . across my back was so sore and ached me all the time. I would have a dizzy feeling. My limbs ached me and I would get numb and feel so weak. . . . I said to my husband I knew Cardui was good and I had best try it.

He got me a bottle of Cardui, and when I had only taken one-half bottle of Cardui I felt stronger. I took a half dozen bottles altogether, then in two weeks after I began taking it was up. In three I was doing my work. I praise Cardui for I believe it saved my life and I am grateful."

For over 40 years Cardui has been helping weak, sick women back to health and strength. Try it.
