Kennedy of the Central National of Okmulgee—all are head among the most prominent oil men in the state.

High Grade Lubricating Oil

The well of the Shepard oil corporation in the southeast corner of northeast of 9-12-11, on the Roberts farm, is making the finest oil so far found in Okmulgee district, and that means a lot, when it is known that some of the oil over there is super-fine. Experts believe it will run 80 per cent lubricants, while autoists go even further than that in their belief in its quality by using the oil in its crude state in their motor cars. The well is making about 60 to 75 barrels a day and all the tankage on the lease is full at this time and more is to be erected at once. Top of sand was found at 1,300 feet. Sixty feet of the formation was barren of oil or gas, then came 15 feet of pay, with a break of 20 feet of dry sand and below this a strata of five feet of very rich pay sand. Locations have been made for other tests on this property.

Marland Getting Deep Well

E. W. Marland has drilled in a well in the center of the west half of the northeast of 17-28-2 which is showing for from 10 to 15 barrels at 2 feet in the sand topped at 2,250 feet. This is the deepest test in the western fields, with the exception of the 3,900 foot test drilled into by Marland some time ago in the northwest corner of 9-23-2 on the Miller farm. The well was completed in the Mississippi lime topped at 2,925 feet.

ARKANSAS REFUSES DRY REFERENDUM PETITION

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 21.—Permission to file petitions for a referendum vote on ratification of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution was asked of Tom J. Terrel, secretary of state, today, by men having the petitions in charge.

Permission was denied on grounds that ratification of proposed amendments to the federal constitution was a matter for legislative action, and that the Arkansas constitution vested such authority exclusively in the legislature. The legislature last January ratified the proposed amendments.
