In a letter received from F. Julius Fohs, he states that he will sail on May 29 for London. He expects to be gone about three months, having been designated by the Zionist organization of America, together with assistants, to make scientific investigations in Palestine and adjoining countries. During his absence his oil work will proceed as heretofore. Heath M. Robinson is in charge at his New York office and R. S. Prine in charge of field investigations at the Tulsa office while Earl Speed of Tulsa will be in charge of his business details. His staff will proceed to make oil investigations as heretofore, so that his absence will interrupt in no wise any investigations in hand or hereafter to be arranged for, the gentlemen above named having full authority to enter into any arrangements necessary during his absence.

A. G. Talbot and H. J. Jenkins of the Western Petroleum company are in the city for the purpose of installing Mr. Jenkins as resident manager for the Tulsa office. Mr. J. T. Winger, who has been in charge will hereafter make headquarters in Chicago, and will be greatly missed by his many friends here. Mr. Talbot who might so know says that the market for gasoline in June is likely to be much stronger, and conditions generally improve. He says, "Of course the only thing that has been holding us back is bad weather."

Arch Grider of the Midland Petroleum company is back from Detroit and other eastern towns, and is more than optimistic as to the outlook for gasoline, and says there will be no chance for a decline in the market with a few days of sunshine. Speaking of the price in Ohio Mr. Grider says, "The only cut in price in Ohio was the elimination of a differential of a half cent a gallon, and hereafter everybody will pay the same price, namely, 21 cents a gallon."
