SWIMMING PARTY ENDS IN MURDER

Dispute With Girl Bathers Resulted in Death of Frank McGlothlin.

TWO YOUTHS ARE IN JAIL

Irwin Jeter and B. Short Held by County Officials Until Futher Investigation.

INQUEST FAILS TO INDICT

Jury Does Not Indicate Slayer of Man Killed on Farm Near Sand Springs.

The name of the person responsible for the death of Frank McGlothlin, found dead near his home two miles west of Sand Springs Friday morning with a bullet through his head, was not fixed by the coroner's jury impaneled by Justice T. M. Griffith of Sand Springs, the verdict reading that the deceased came to his death as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted by a person unknown, to the jury. Irwin Jeter, 22 years of age, and Bernard Short, a witness before the jury, were arrested on warrants issued by Justice Griffith, charging the defendants with the murder of McGlothlin. Both defendants deny the charge. Jeter was transferred to the county jail at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and Short committed to jail several hours later after he had completed his testimony.

According to the story told by Short, 17 years of age, on the witness stand, Lillian Jeter, sister of the defendant, returned to her home in Sand Springs Thursday afternoon and related to her mother and brother an account of an assault made upon the girl and her two girl companions by McGlothlin and his wife when the girls came from a swim in Kiowa creek near the home of the deceased. The girl related to her mother and brother that the deceased, armed with a shotgun and accompanied by his wife, compelled the girls to leave the water and in an altercation which followed Mrs. McGlothlin was scratched about the face.

Short further testified that Irwin Jeter was engaged at the actions of McGlothlin and Jeter, the witness and two other youths agreed Thursday night to go to McGlothlin's home and whip the man who was responsible for driving the girls from the swimming place on his farm.

Early Friday morning the four youths met, Jeter being armed with a 12 caliber rifle. The boys took positions on the creek bank and fired several shots from the rifle, for the purpose according to the witness, of enticing McGlothlin to leave his home and go to the creek. Shortly after the shots were fired, Short stated that the boys saw McGlothlin coming along a bridle back armed with a shotgun. Jeter, according to the witness, persuaded Short and a companion to crawl along under the bank with instructions to surprise the deceased and obtain possession of the shotgun, after which Jeter would shoot McGlothlin as punishment for the manner in which he treated Mrs. Jeter and her two companions Thursday afternoon. McGlothlin, however, changed his course when some distance from the four boys and the latter were unable to surprise and disarm him.

Short said that when McGlothlin saw the party of youths he pointed his shotgun at them but did not fire. Jeter then raised his rifle, according to the witness, and commanded McGlothlin to stop. The latter refused and Jeter fired one shot from the rifle at the deceased. Me-

START TO ARBITRATE STRIKE AT WINNIPEG

Action Begun When Tension Is Almost at Breaking Point—Returned Soldiers Demand Action.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, May 30.—Arbitration of the differences between the metal trades council of Winnipeg and the leading industrial employers was begun officially this afternoon at an hour when tension caused by the general strike deadlock, which began May 15, seemed to be approaching the breaking point.

For the first time since the general walkout, crowds of idle men paraded the business district, jeering persons doing work usually performed by union men. Some marchers bore a placard signifying returned soldiers who went to the parliament building and insisted that the government do something at once. The men were told that the government was considering the advisability of legislation to enforce the principle of compulsory bargaining and that the offer of mediation by executives of the railway brotherhoods had been accepted by the leading factors concerned.

The war on the railway brotherhoods in initiating the first movement toward actual arbitration made since the strike began caused city officials to make changes in the program arranged for today. Nothing was done regarding resumption of street car service. The matter of the refusal of policemen to join the anti-sympathy strike was left for the anti-sympathy people to settle. The city council meeting, at which these matters were to be considered, was delayed by a special council meeting. The city commission also delayed its garbage collection campaign.

Commander of NC-4 Is Forced to Descend 100 Miles Out

GOES BACK TO FERROL

After Repairs Are Made Big Seaplane Goes to Spanish Port.

HOPES TO FLY AGAIN TODAY

Start Will Be Made This Morning for Plymouth If Weather Permits.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Motor trouble which caused the NC-4 to be regarded as the "lame duck" of the American trans-Atlantic flight squadron until she left Trepassey bay, Newfoundland, prevented completion today of her voyage from Lisbon to Plymouth. After covering 100 miles of the last leg of the history-making flight, the big seaplane was forced to descend at the Mondego river and she was held there too late to reach England.

With his engines repaired, Lieutenant Commander Albert C. Read drove his plane 225 miles to Ferrol, Spain, where he moored for the night, ready to get away early tomorrow if weather conditions were favorable. The course to be covered measures only a little more than 450 miles, and if all goes well, the NC-4 should be in the English harbor before 9 a. m., Washington time. Commander Read reported after landing in the Mondego river that he had to await high tide before starting again and officials here believed that but for this unforseen circumstance the first plane to cross the Atlantic ocean would have arrived in Plymouth in time for the great Memorial day welcome prepared for the flyers.

When the NC-4 finally floated again and was once more in the air at 13 28, G. M. T., (9 28 a. m. Washington time), Lieutenant Commander Read searched the coast for a safe harbor in which to spend the night, and finally landed at Ferrol at 4 35 G. M. T., (12 35 p. m. Washington time).

PLYMOUTH, England, May 30.—Members of the crew of the American seaplane NC-3, which was unable to complete its trans-Atlantic trip, declared today that they were willing to make another attempt. They said they believed it was possible to fly direct from Newfoundland to Ireland or England with the NC planes. The crew of the NC-3 are here on the cruiser Rochester.

The crews of the NC-1 and NC-3 came here on the cruiser, which is awaiting the coming of the NC-4.

W. T. DONOVAN, TULSA OIL MAN, SUCCUMBS

General Superintendent of Gasoline Department of Gypsy Company Dies in Philadelphia Friday.

After a fight for life which took him to the leading medical institutes of the United States, W. T. Donavon, prominent Tulsa oil operator, died at 4 20 o'clock Friday afternoon in the University hospital in West Philadelphia. The message conveying the news of Donovan's death was received by officials of the Gypsy Oil company late yesterday evening. Although the date was not given the message said the funeral services would be held at Franklin, Pa., his old home and where his father and mother now reside.

For the last five years Donovan had been general superintendent of the gasoline department of the Gypsy Oil company, and known throughout the oil fraternity as one of the most prominent factors in the industry of mid-continent field.

For several months Donovan had been in declining health as the result of a serious attack of influenza. Although he recovered sufficiently from the influenza to be able to attend to his duties he never was restored to his normal health. Early in April his health again began failing him and April 22 he went to the Mayo institute at Rochester, Minn., and from there he went to the University hospital at West Philadelphia where he died.

Although his condition was known to be serious his death came as a distinct shock to a wide circle of friends and business associates in Tulsa. For years Donovan had been identified in every movement for the upbuilding of Tulsa. He held membership in several of the city's most prominent clubs. Also he was a member of the board of directors of the Tulsa Motor Car company.

The only relatives in Tulsa were a brother, James J. Donovan, superintendent of a Gypsy Oil company gasoline plant and Miss Bessie McDermott, niece, who was living at the family home, 1204 South Cheyenne. Mrs. Donovan was present when her husband passed away. The brother of the deceased and niece of the deceased will leave Tulsa this morning for Franklin, Pa., to attend the burial services.

Hawker Misunderstood, He Says in Comment; Means No Criticism

LONDON, May 30.—Harry G. Hawker, in an interview in the Evening Globe regarding American press comments on the speech he made at a luncheon to newspaper men Wednesday, said:

"The Americans misunderstood my point. I was not criticising their attempt. It is impossible to compare the two flights. We did not wish to have battleships supplied by the government along the route.

"My remarks were intended for those who were criticising the government for not supplying them. I wish the Americans the very best of luck. Their flights have been beautifully organized jobs from beginning to end.

"I am very sorry, indeed, that the American press has misunderstood me. Nothing was further from my mind than to criticise them."

MEXICANS MEET TO PLAN BATTLE

Session Will Be Held Today by All Revolutionary Chieftains.

ANGELES TO BE NAMED HEAD

General Expected to Lead Organization to Be Formed Against Carranza.

FULLY WARNED BY THE U.S.

This Country Told Mexican President of Plans Made to Unseat Him.

General Angeles and General Villa have been notified to appear and it is regarded as certain that at least General Angeles will be present as the meeting is called for the avowed purpose of making him the supreme chief of the revolution. Angeles now signs himself "chief of the division of the north of the revolutionary army," and Villa is recognized as second in command of the same division.

Not only will Angeles be named the leader of the forces operating and to operate against Carranza but the meeting will indicate its choice for president of the republic of Mexico after Carranza has been overthrown. It is regarded certain that Dr. Gomez, now at San Antonio, Texas, will be unanimously named for this office.

CARRANZA WARNED BY U. S. OF REVOLT.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Although the Carranza government of Mexico was warned nearly a year ago by the United States of preparations for the present revolutionary campaign which has resulted in the proclaiming of General Felipe Angeles provisional president and Francisco Villa secretary of war, little attention was paid to information given by this country.

Specific warning of the threatened menace to his power were given President Carranza by the United states last October 5 and again last November 27, it was learned authoritatively today. President Carranza was reminded on these and other occasions particularly of his duty to protect Americans and American property in Mexico.

Started Year Ago.

Villa began the collection of arms, munitions and money a year ago for the campaign which, in the opinion of officials here, now has grown to constitute the gravest menace to Carranza's power since Villa was defeated by the government forces three years ago. Last winter, it is said, Villa notified his followers to plant their crops early as the campaign would begin as soon as the grass was green, to insure forage for their horses. Unusual activity was displayed through northern Mexico by the Villistas in getting their crops into the ground to provide against famine.

All this was learned by agents of the United States and formed the basis for the warnings sent to Carranza.

Just why Carranza paid little heed to these warnings or was unable to divert any military forces from other parts of the republic to the campaign in the north, is a mystery to officials here. In the opinion of some, the extra expense of such an undertaking may have deterred him, remembering that the campaign of Huerta, sent by Madero against Orozco in the same part of the country, cost the Mexican government approximately $6,000,000 pesos. The total revenue from all sources for the first four months of this year, according to official figures, brought to the Mexican treasury only about 23,000,000 pesos.

Did Not Move Force.

Six weeks ago Carranza had 6,000 men in Torreon, it is officially reported, with a large supply of arms and ammunition at Chihuahua. Officials here are unable to understand why he did move those troops north before Villa's men had been assembled in a large force at any point.

Nation-wide Strike of Telegraphers Is Asked Unless Men Re-instated

WASHINGTON, May 30.—According to announcement here by F. H. McDowell, chairman of the legislative committee of the Washington district council, President S. J. Konenkamp of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, tonight sanctioned an ultimatum sent today to officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and and other wire companies at Atlanta, Ga., in which a nation-wide strike of members of the telegraphers and electrical union workers is threatened unless a number of telephone operators recently discharged in Atlanta and vicinity are reinstated by noon Monday.

The strike, which would at the start involve more than 900,00 commercial telegraphers and telephone workers throughout the country, it was said, would be called as a protest against action of the companies in discharging about ten girls employed at Atlanta as operators because they had affiliated with the Commercial Telegraphers' union.

World's Greatest Soldier Welcomed by Tennessee Folk

Sergt. Alvin C. York of Pall Mall, Tenn., winner of the congressional medal and credited by General Pershing with the greatest single piece of heroism of the world war, and his mother.

Sergeant York went overseas with the 328th infantry, 82nd division. On October 8, 1918, he accomplished his great feat. Single handed he killed 25 Germans, captured 135 prisoners, including a major and three lieutenants, put 35 machine guns out of business and smashed the counter attack of a whole German battalion. Back in the mountains of Tennessee York received the call to war. He had shortly before that joined the Possum Trot church, and had been promoted to second elder. The sect he belonged to frowned on war, and York could have claimed exemption as sole support of his mother, sisters and brothers, but he didn't. When he went to France he still had his doubt about engaging actively in slaughter. But his commander read him some Scripture from Ezekiel, 33d chapter. Ten days later Sergeant York accomplished his great feat. Upon his return from France he was met by a delegation from Tennessee which presented him with a $2,000 Victory bond.

He returned to his home to "see mother" after being lavishly entertained in New York and Washington. He was given a great reception when he returned.

DECORATE MANY YANK GRAVES ON ENGLISH SOIL

LONDON, May 30.—The graves of 2,562 United States soldiers and sailors were decorated today in many parts of the United Kingdom. American flags were placed above them by army and navy officials and on each was placed a wreath by representatives of the Knights of Columbus.

There are 500 American graves on the Island of Islay, where were buried the victims of the Otranto and Tuscania disaster, 640 at Exeter and in Magdalon cemetery, Winchester, near the site of the former base American rest camps, 100 at Paignton, 112 at Glasgow, being those of American soldiers stricken by influenza and taken from the transport at that port, 47 in small towns and villages in England and Scotland and 47 in various parts of Ireland. In each cemetery there were impressive services conducted by the local clergy, large numbers of the townspeople turning out to pay tribute to the Americans.

Soldier Killed; 4 Hurt in Ohio Train Wreck

GREENFIELD, Ohio, May 30.—One soldier was killed and four others injured when Baltimore & Ohio westbound train No. 3, bearing Arizona and New Mexico troops from overseas, was wrecked four miles west of here late today. The troops were enroute to Fort Worth, Texas, for discharge.

ALL CITY HONORS HEROES OF WAR

Thousands of Employes Released at Noon to Pay Tribute to Dead.

CEREMONIES FOR SAILORS

Flowers Are Thrown on Owen Park Lake in Remembering the Navy.

MANY PICNIC PARTIES HELD

Hundreds of Persons Ate Basket Dinners in Beauty Spots Near Tulsa.

By noon of Decoration day in Tulsa the streets had taken on a different air from the work-a-day atmosphere of every-day life and people hurried hither and yon, not to the nearest restaurant or to their homes for a hurried lunch, but to big appointments made in view of the afternoon being free to do with as they pleased.

Flag poles on Tulsa's skyscrapers unfurled bright new flags to the winds, and buildings over the city were decorated with Old Glory and draperies of red, white and blue.

All business firms who are members of the Retail Merchants' association, as well as offices and other houses, gave forth hundreds of employes at the striking of the noon hour and the crowded throngs were found shortly afterward on the street corners where street car lines and interurbans leave for Sand Springs, parks, cemeteries and baseball grounds.

One of the unusual stops made by a cog of the city's busy life was the closing all day of the barber shops—something that took many men by surprise, although signs in the shops Thursday night announced that they were remaining open until 9 o'clock that night because of closing the next day.

Grade Schools Dismissed.

All grade schools of the city dismissed for half a day and many held appropriate exercises in the forenoon. Owing to examinations being in progress at the high school, they did not dismiss, but the hours from 10 to 2 were left free to be spent as the student pleased. The Red Cross closed its doors at 12 o'clock, but the Y. W. C. A. felt it necessary to remain at their great work of pushing the opening of the activities of the new building to the earliest date possible. A number of firms and banks spent a part of the day picnicking in nearby beauty spots, while at every sort of meeting that could not be postponed appropriate observances were made.

The mark of respect was universal. For the first time in weeks the sun shone with an assurance of permanence, and families ventured out with lunch basket and kodak, relieved of thought of worry over possible showers, and gay parties of young people rode to the country sitting flat on the floor of big trucks for a look at the waving wheat or a tramp in the woods.

EDWARD BENSON DROWNS WHILE BATHING IN CREEK

Edward Benson, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Benson, 1001 East Second street, was drowned about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Coal creek, near Dawson, while out bathing with several boy friends.

Benson had gone with several of his school mates to the creek for an afternoon's outing. He had been in the water about 20 minutes when he was seized with cramps. His companions saw him go under the first time, but did not think he was in danger. After he went down the third time his companions became alarmed and notified several people on the shore.

Three of the boys recovered the body several minutes after it had gone down the last time. The victim was taken to the Moubray undertaking establishment, where a lung motor was used on the boy for over an hour, but to no avail.

This is the third drowning which has occurred this season.

Special to The World.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Oklahoma members of the units of the 36th division arriving today from France were officially welcomed by Representatives E. B. Howard and Jim McClintic, who came over from Washington Wednesday to meet a number of transports. The largest contingent was the 111th engineers, made up almost entirely of men from Oklahoma who arrived on the Great Northern a day ahead of schedule. A number of Oklahomans were with Company G of the 142nd infantry, which came in on the Saxonia. The engineers arrived at Camp Dix and should leave for Camp Bowie, arriving in 10 days. The regiment will parade in Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

In conjunction with Tulsa oil men in New York Congressmen McClintic and Howard today arranged to use a government boat in going down the river tomorrow to welcome the Pueblo, which is bringing another detachment of the 142nd infantry. They will display banners giving a welcome and take a band to furnish music as the big liner docks. In the party will be Ex-Governor and Mrs. C. N. Haskell and probably Will Rogers Fortney of Claremore.

THINK KERR JUMPED OVERBOARD.

Special to The World.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The vanguard of the Thirty-sixth division, comprising the national guard troops of Texas and Oklahoma, arrived here today on the Saxonia of the Cunard line from Brest. There were 1,273 officers and enlisted men on the Cunarder under the general command of Capt. Bartlett Henderson of Boston, who also commanded the 142nd infantry, Company B, which formed the first returning unit of the Oklahoma and Texas boys.

The captain wore the Belgian Croix de Guerre, although not belonging to the Thirty-sixth division.

Private Lynster N. Kerr of Tahlequah, Okla., 25 years old, formerly a farmer, took passage on the Saxonia as a casual when the Cunard vessel left Brest. At the regular morning roll call on Tuesday last Private Kerr was missing, and a search of the transport failed to locate him, although his personal possessions were found intact. It was recalled by others on board that the young soldier, who had been seriously caused in the fighting with the 36th ammunition train, to which he was attached, seemed to be fascinated by the water, as he stood repeatedly at the rail looking down into the sea. On one occasion Kerr remarked to another soldier that he would "hate to fall overboard, now that I am so near home." He was suffering from heart trouble since his gassing and it is believed that he jumped overboard, as it would have been difficult for him to have fallen over the rail, even had he sud-

SEES RULE HELD BY PEOPLE NOW

President Says in Memorial Address That Day of Secret Councils Pass

LEAGUE PACT IS DEFENDED

Covenant Compared With the Union of United States in Importance.

SOLDIERS ARE EULOGIZED

Tribute to Dead Heroes Paid by President at Suresnes Cemetery.

PARIS, May 30.—In the American cemetery at Suresnes, near Paris, today during the ceremony of paying tribute to the American dead on the occasion of Memorial day, President Wilson made his first reference to the league of nations since the covenant of society which will have as its object the prevention of future wars, was completed.

His words were delivered in the presence of thousands of American soldiers and many civilians and the official representatives of the French government, including Marshal Foch. Numerous distinguished members of allied officialdom who had come to pay tribute to the American dead, also heard the president's words.

Touching on the reasons which had brought the American troops across seas, the president said they had come to defeat the things for which the central powers stood—"the arrogant, selfish domination which they intended to establish; and they came, moreover, to see to it that there never should be a war like this again."

Would Stop War.

"It is for us, particularly for us who are civilized," the president continued, "to use our proper weapons of counsel and agreement to see to it that there never is such a war again. The nation that should now fling out of this common concord of counsel would betray the human race.

"So it is our duty to take and maintain the safeguards which will see to it that the mothers of America and the mothers of France and England and Italy and Belgium, and all other suffering nations should never be called upon for this sacrifice again. This can be done. It must be done; and it will be done.

"The things that these men left us though they did not in their counsels conceive it, is the great instrument which we have just erected in the league of nations. The league of nations is the covenant of government that the men shall not have died in vain. I look forward for the time when every man who now puts his counsel against the united service of mankind under the league

YEGGMAN JOHN BROWN IS EX-CONVICT RYAN

Yegg Who Shot Cop and Then Gave Police Name as John Brown, Found to Have Pen Connections.

Following a thorough investigation by the police Friday of the gun battle between several yeggmen and detectives Thursday night in which Detective F. S. Bissett was shot through the arm after he had entered the Arthur & McCune feed store at 127 West First street, and arrested the yeggmen, who gave his name as John Brown has been identified at Mat Ryan.

Ryan has been a leading character among the police in this part of the country for a long time, according to records. Ryan has served in the state prison in Texas and Indiana and the police believe they have arrested one of the leaders of a band of desperadoes who have been active in the state for some time.

It is not thought by the police that the gang which Ryan represents has been working in Tulsa but have been active in Muskogee and other Oklahoma towns. The remainder of the gang is thought to be in Tulsa now and a city-wide dragnet has been thrown out.

Cary Temple who was arrested later by the police after receiving information that he had been noticed driving back and forth before the police station in a Hudson car and who, it is said, speeded to the store in advance of the police and sounded his siren as a warning to the yeggmen who were operating in the store, is thought to be one of the members of the gang.

Temple is known to the police as "Cedar Lees." Temple and his been a taxi cab driver for one of the local taxi companies for some time. He is being held as an accomplice.

Detective Bissett, who was wounded in the right arm by Ryan, is still in the Tulsa hospital but probably will be released today according to the hospital attendent last night.

Temple and Ryan will be turned over to the county authorities this afternoon. Ryan will be held on the charge of burglary and assault with intent to kill and Temple will be held as a accomplice of the yeggman.

No Settlement in Prospect in Car Strike at Muskogee

Special to The World.

MUSKOGEE, May 30.—Not a street car moved from the barns today, following the union carmen's decree of a strike yesterday, and indications tonight were that the strike may be long drawn out and bitter. The strikers received support that they think will enable them to fight to a finish today when the central trades council endorsed the strike and decided to finance it. Every striker is to receive at least $30 a week while the strike is in operation.

Representatives of the union will meet with the city commissioners Saturday morning and seek intervention in behalf of the strikers. There were no disorders today and no effort was made by the company to operate cars. Manager E. D. Long of the traction company said he never would agree to the demands of the men even if he had to tear up the street car system and sell the equipment for junk.

MUSKOGEE, May 30.—Muskogee is without street car service today.

Following the strike order issued late yesterday by the newly organized union of motormen, jitneys and specially impressed every motor car did a thriving business.

The men have refused the compromise wage scale offered by Manager Long, and the latter asserts that he has absolutely made his last offer.

There was no semblance of trouble. It has been reported that the union men would vigorously contest any effort to operate the street cars with nonunion men, but Manager Long announced that he had decided not to run any cars.

The men are demanding a sliding scale of from 44c to 50c an hour. They refused to accept the company's offer of from 38c to 44c an hour. The former scale was from 24c to 30c.
