ADDITION OF 3 PLAYERS TO STRENGTHEN SLIPPING OILERS

BURKE IS BOUGHT FROM FT. WORTH

Dilts, Oklahoma City Fielder, and Slattery, First Baseman, Secured.

OKLAHOMA CITY WINS AGAIN

Dennis Beats Salisbury in Pitchers' Battle—Oilers Home Tomorrow.

By LARRY DAILEY.

That Specker Abbott and James R. Crawford, owners of the Tulsa baseball franchise, are determined to give Tulsa fans a winner now, is seen in the latest moves to strengthen the club. Jimmy Burke, local boy, who played splendid baseball on the northern road trip, Stewart, Dilts an outfielder, and Slattery, first baseman, have been purchased and are will be available by the time the club returns home Saturday to meet the Wichita Aces in a four game series.

Burke was purchased from Fort Worth, that club having a cold claim to him, due to a contract signed two years ago. Dilts played for Jack Holland last year and refused to report this season. Slattery was secured from the Memphis Southern association club.

Good Men Must Go.

Tulsa fans will find the return of Burke and the addition of Slattery and Dilts with renewed confidence in the club. Just how it is to effect the personnel is a problem.

With Burke and Dilts, there will be five outfielders, including Martin Davis and Brokaw. Dilts assumed that Slattery will go to first base. Burke may be regarded as a fixture. Dilts is also said to be a capable ball player. Selection of the other gardener then would lay between the last named three. Dilts is a good sun fielder and hits well, though his average has shrunk the last month. Brokaw is hitting well and played a nice game in the suburbs. Martin is one of the best natural hitters on the club. The task, then, that confronts Abbott will be to turn loose two good ball players.

May Retain Six Hurlers.

Haines, Bayne and Salisbury are, of course, certain to be retained. With the changing of the player limit to 15 men, six pitchers may be carried. Covington turned in a splendidly pitched game at Wichita, his last start, and must be reckoned with. This leaves Hewitt, Sparks and Young. Hewitt should come around into winning form, and is practically certain to be kept on the pay roll because of his good hitting and fielding. This means that Sparks or Young will have to go.

Offtrieu and Manion are all to be desired behind the bat and form one of the most capable catching staffs in the league. Goodwin, Cleveland and Wuffli form as competent an infield trio as there is in the league. Should Slattery fail to make good, Brokaw can be placed on first base. With either man on the sack, the inner defense quartet will be as classy as any in the league.

Viewed from any angle, no matter what players are retained, it looks as though a winning combination has at last been reached. The Oilers invade the north again in July, playing on the road during practically the entire month. Before leaving on that trip, they must be in a place close to the top if they hope to return home in shape for the final battle for the pennant.

Judging by efforts to bolster the club, predictions of the local moguls that it would be one-two-three and probably one-two, will be justified.

HOLLAND'S MEN WIN IN FIRST INNING.

Special to The World.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 5.—Hubert Dennis and Roy Salisbury former Western association pitchers engaged in a pitchers' battle here today, the former triumphing, thanks to a good sunoff of his mates and to timely batting in the first inning which scored two runs, enough to win.

Soviet in Slovenia

By The Associated Press

PARIS, June 5.—Reports from Vienna declare that a soviet government has been proclaimed in Slovenia and it is said that one-third of Slovenia is now in the hands of the Magyars. The Czechs who are advancing toward Pressburg are reported to be gaining steadily while the Slovenians are surrendering in large numbers.

MUTT AND JEFF—FROM THE LOOKS OF THINGS MUTT'S LANDED SOME JOB. BY BUD FISHER

For the first time in his life John Heisler is being "persuaded" to go to coaching in Tulsa. Heisler is probably the greatest baseball coach ever produced in the Southwest, having been confined mostly to New York. He started there years and years ago as a fighter—back in the bare knuckle days. From fighter he passed to manager and at the time of the repeal of the Frawley law in New York he was operating three of the big clubs of that state. What impressed Heisler with Tulsa was that it looked like "a little New York." He started boxing here in a New York manner, making such modifications as he thought would meet the difference in conditions between those of New York and those of Tulsa.

Naturally the first thing J. J. took under consideration was how to make receipts meet expenses and leave a fair compensation for his gate idle and his efforts. Totalling his necessary expenses he found that it would take a $2,000 gate to enable him to break the average cost on shows of the caliber he thought a city of Tulsa's tastes and abilities demanded. It would take considerably more to give him a profit and correspondingly larger sums as the quality of his entertainments advanced.

This ascertained, he next was called upon to judge the prices that would have to be charged to meet the mark. While admitting that Tulsa was considerably smaller than New York, some of his Tulsa advisers assured him that Tulsans were just as able and willing to pay top prices for fine shows as was New York, where the prices ranged up to $10 for the same kind of bouts he had planned on bringing here. Others insisted he would make more friends and have more money in the box office by charging cheaper prices and playing for larger houses. He thought he was about about right when he split the difference and made his ringside dickers $5.

So far the play has been disappointing. Deducting the expense he has been out on his numerous trips to St. Louis and New York in quest of material there has been no profit. It has come to a question of up or down or some kind of a shift in his program. Some advise him up, arguing that those who can afford $5 for a ringside seat would just about as soon pay $10. Others advise him to come down. Still others as well as many from both ups and downs have suggested a variation in his program.

Finally he has been persuaded not only to lower his gate book, the house, but to try out the small card proposition. Therefore, it is more or less experimental, that he has booked an eleven program for the next attraction of the Tulsa Sporting club on June 16, and is putting it on at prices from $1 to $3.

It would be next to impossible to gather together a better all-star assortment at anything like these prices than which he has secured for one week from next Monday night. For those who like to see the lads swap punches he has secured Kid Bartles and Kid George, both rugged, tough boys for the first event of the evening, a 10-round affair. Next will come Bobby Hughes and Mutt McKee in a 12-round scramble with Knockout Brown, winner of the flyweight championship in the inter-allied tournament at London, and Nate Jackson, one of the best boxers the southwest ever produced to top off the program. They go 15 rounds. If this arrangement fills to pack Convention hall then there is no hope for those who think they know more about boxing in Tulsa than Heisler.

After three days inactivity, due to rainy racing was renewed at Sapulpa yesterday with a fast card and exciting finishes again being served for the edification of the turf followers.

Ethel H. and F. C. Cole got away at the post in the first race of six furlongs in a closely bunched start and battled for the lead throughout the race, the latter winning by two lengths.

Dolala, Wood Maid and Louie Jaseek took the lead when the barrier dropped in the second race over the same distance after Gold Finish had been left at the post, due to her own refusal to break. Dolala held the lead throughout the going, winning by a neck. The place horse maintained second and third as they started.

Starter Arthur McKnight missing his first day, got them away to a perfect start in the third race, which was the last six furlong sprint. Shamrock Green took the inside rail and the rest and was never headed, winning the most hotly contested race of the meet.

Another good start in the fourth race of about five furlongs saw Doctor Zab and Kinkinix battle for the rail, with the former taking it at the quarter post. Hall & Edwards entry made a sensational rush the last furlong and lost by a nose to Doctor Zab.

After much post trouble in the final race of a half mile, Reclose got away ahead of the field and led all the way. Jimmie Dugan on Easter Tide, was slightly troubled when he fell from his mount in one of the false starts. He piloted the pony to a good second. Lord Preston was left at the post.

Another good card is presented today with the new track arrivals entered. The races start at 2:30 sharp and end in time for Tulsans to catch the 8 o'clock car.
